Eastside High School opened the 1968—69 basketball season with two losses last week end. West Noble's Chargers were the first to down the Blazers, winning 77 to 51. After a reasonably close first half, the Chargers opened up late in the third quarter and ran away in the fourth. The Blazers could only score 6 points in the final quarter. Two hot shooting guards, Anspaugh and Yeager, scored 31 and 19 points for the Chargers. Surprisingly, both teams hit 31% from the field, but West Noble got off 86 shots, while many ball handling errors cut down the Blazers' shots to 70. Eastside outrebounded West Noble 52 to 48. Wasson was the only Blazer in double figures with 12 points.

Saturday night the locals got off to a slightly better start, trailing by two, 11-13, at the end

[illegible] Zehr and Dunbar were [illegible] top guns for Leo with 27 and 21 points. None of the Blazers made double figures. Again [illegible] handling kept the Blazers as Leo got down 77 shots, hitting 30 of them to [illegible] 25 of 62. Eastside [illegible] on the free throw [illegible] hitting 17 of 21 for 73%.

The Blazer B team [illegible] two games in West Noble [illegible]

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

My brother in law and I have some opposite and conflicting opinions about politics, economics and social problems, but in one area we seem to be very close. That area is in sensitivity to people, what bothers them and what has meaning to them. The only difference would be that I fumble in trying to express myself, but he does such a touching and moving job of puting his thoughts into words.

A volume of poems, "Summer Love and Surf" by Philip Appleman, has just been published by Vanderbilt University Press. It is a collection of 60 poems which Phil has written in recent years.

One of the poems hit me hard when I read it and compelled me to tell you about it. You will have to forgive my sentimentality, because the poem was written about my father. It speaks so eloquently, however, that you would be led to believe that Phil was writing about his own flesh and blood relation, not an in-law. I think this shows the intense feeling for people which inspires him to write such things as will follow.

You may not appreciate how true—oh how true—this poem tells in a few short lines of the memories which we have in our family about Dad. You will have to know that we had a "family quartet" of our own, singing old barbershop songs for the fun of it. Dad was a barbershopper for a long, long time, singing in the old Summit City Four and later the Colonial Four. You will have to know also that he puttered around the yard, and that we had many family get togethers, including those held at Lake James.

So now perhaps you can understand how precious are these thoughts of Phil's:

"LAST LINES FOR A BARITONE
(Ted Haberkorn, 1903—1965)

"All of those songs—Dear Old Girl, Heart of My Heart, Indiana—are echoing there, out of hearing.

"Losing our baritone,
we lost the center of things, the heart of it all: no one else could ride that pitch, could carry the rest of us to music that moved on the moving water.

"At the river where we sang, a date he pressed in the fresh cement grows older. We, forever the same age, watch the gray transformations—nature methodically emptying things:
rain trenching out his paths,
the river gouging his bank,
rust on his careful roses.

"The last chords we sang together were long ones (the banks of the Wabash, far away away away) hugging the hurt of that closeness and resolving at last to a high clear magic released over water, of things never sung, never spoken:
far away over water away"

——and the tears will not stop.

Legion Gives Flags

With the pledge of allegiance a daily observance in local classrooms, there was a need expressed for the additional flags, and the local post responded through Mr. Koos who is service officer for the post and Mr. Ervin who is finance chairman.

The flags were accepted by Mr. George Bader, Riverdale Elementary principal.

Town Board Well-Attended; I&M Presents New Lighting Proposal

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the town hall. Present were board president Ted Haberkorn, members Jack Bowser and Lynn Lake, clerk treasurer Donald Kinsey, and visitors Joe Robinson, Bill Hubbard, Donald McCann, Richard Musser Roger Coburn and William Nimmo.

Following a review of the minutes of the November meeting, it was noted that the letter sent to nine residents of the town, having "junk" cars at or on their properties, had resulted in two removals thus far, either completed or in the process.

An agreement was reached with Roger Coburn for snow removal from all sidewalks in the town when the need arises.

Joe Robinson presented a copy of a letter from the state fire marshall concerning the improvement or removal of an old building at Saint Joe which poses a safety hazard at the present time. The matter is to be continued. Mr. Robinson also asked that the question of who owns the old fire truck be investigated. It was stated that some members of the fire department wish to keep the old truck for use in parades as a historical keepsake. An offer to purchase the truck had been received by the town board last month. The matter was carried over for clarification.

A request was made that overflow water from The Unicorn be channeled into a tile rather than allowed to flow across the sidewalk and in the street. An additional catch basin and application of crushed stone at the Hubbard corner to eliminate standing water from heavy rainfalls was tentatively approved, as was repair of a possible broken tile in a town drain at the Robinson residence.

Mr. Nimmo presented a proposal from Indiana & Michigan Electric Company for street lighting improvement next year. The proposal would include replacing 34 present light fixtures and installing 21 additional lights in the residential area. The new lights would be 7000 lumen mercury vapor enclosed luminaire units, providing approximately seven times more light than at present. In the business blocks, there would be five 21,000 lumen units installed to replace the present 4000 lumen units. The proposed new lighting would increase the monthly street lighting bill from $78.60 to $233.75.

Under the proposal, new lights would be placed not only at street intersections but also at half block intervals on side streets, to give a greatly improved system of lighting within the entire town. Also included in the proposal would be three additional lights at the south approach to Saint Joe on State Road 1, to give additional protective as well as safety lighting for the Riverdale School area.

Mr. Nimmo stated that due to the backlog of work facing I&M, it would be approximately nine months before the work could be completed following the town board's authorization. The proposal was received by the board for further consideration and can be adjusted or reduced as it deems necessary.

The board held a general discussion of town affairs, including wage scales, the need for a dog warden, the need for part time labor, the need for a new town hall, the possibility of a new location for a new town hall if and when such construction is undertaken, the possibility of a small park in the town for general improvement of the appearance of the town, and other related matters.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks—William Mansfield, labor $12.00; Frank Monroe, labor 8.00; Donald Kinsey, clerical services 100.00; B. E. Vinson, collection fee 2 months 30.00; I&M 31.73; William Mansfield, salary and postage 42.00; Indiana Department of Revenue, store license 3.50.

Town—John P. Lewis Construction Co., part payment on street work 1,448.50; Donald Kinsey, transportation 50.00; Williard Hurni, materials and outside labor for park 56.92; Elwood Savage, labor and materials 93.00; Donld Kinsey, clerk cemetery 25.00; Donald Kinsey, clerical services 100.00; DeKalb County Farm Bureau, fuel 24.44; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, 240.00; Jessie Cannady, labor 6.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas 3.60; Clyde Williams & Associates, sewage survey 1200.00; I&M 81.62; General Telephone, fire phones 127.00; Auburn Courier, advertising 46.34; Roger Coburn, mow cemetery 40.00.

Five Teachers Attend Workshop

On Wednesday, November 27, five elementary teachers from Riverdale and Butler elementary schools attended a Workshop Reading In-Service program at Indiana University, Fort Wayne campus. The workshop was designed for classroom teachers, reading teachers, specialists, supervisory personnel and administrators in the tri-state area of Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

This, the first of three such meetings, dealt with the problems of Dyslexia; Orientation and Spatial Difficulties; and Speech and Hearing Difficulties.

Mrs. Freida Guilford and Mrs. Dorothy Keller of Riverdale attended the meeting, as did Mrs. Zayda Coil, Mrs. Ellen Gobel and Mrs. Lois King of Butler Elementary School. There were nearly 300 in attendance at the all day session which featured several talks by well known educators.

Two other sessions, one in January dealing with Individualized Reading Instruction, and one in April dealing with Realistic Goals in the Total School Reading Program, complete the In-Service Program which the five local teachers expect to attend.

The participation in this workshop by the five teachers, as well as participation by other teachers in other workshops from time to time, is provided through the cooperation of the local school board. The board has made every possible effort to see that teachers are allowed the time and provided the funds for participation in education improvement meetings and workshops.

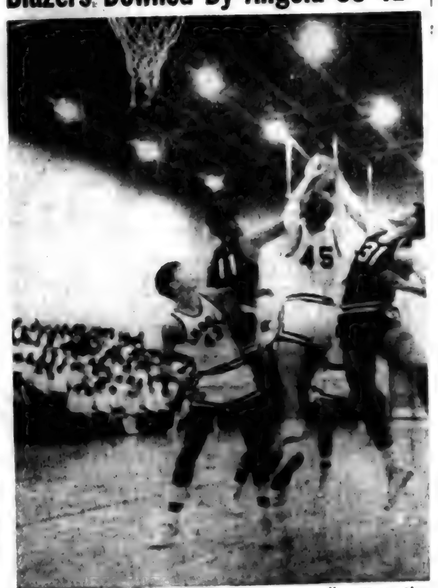
Blazers Downed By Angola 55-41



Action in the first quarter of the reserve squad's game at Angola last week end included Eastside's Mike Mast (11) and Hal Hansen (31) in a rebound struggle with one of the Hornets.

Steve Flood of Eastside's varsity outreaches teammate Dee Wasson and an Angola player in early action of the Friday game at Angola. Steve Cole is the other Blazer in the dark uniform at the right.

Erratic play cost the Eastside Blazers their third game of the season last week as Angola downed the locals 55-41. After falling behind in the first period, the Blazers held a steady deficit of 8 to 10 points through most of the first three periods. A spirited rally brought the Blazers back to within three points of the Hornets at the end of three quarters, but they only managed 6 points in the final stage. The teams matched field goal percentages, but the Blazers took fewer attempts at the goal with 56 shots. The Hornets outrebounded Eastside 51 to 36.

We Need A Depression

With a title like that, it should be obvious that Ye Ed is definitely not trying to win friends with this bit of writing. However, the conditions in our country today, both economic and social, are of such a nature that we seemingly should be looking for a longer-lasting solution than the "relief programs" which have characterized our national leadership for the last 25 or 30 years. We have been sold on the unrealistic idea that some sort of Utopian economic and social structure is possible if we just let the government administrate our living. And the government's approach to that end during this time has been "spend."

Political analysts have commented on the recent election with varying viewpoints as to why Richard Nixon's apparent wide lead over Hubert Humphrey weeks before the election dwindled to such a very small margin by November 5. Some people said they would not vote for either candidate because there really was no choice or difference between the two. In a sense, such a view was erroneous; the philosophies of the two men could hardly be called similar. Mr. Humphrey represents the collectivist approach to problems, andMr. Nixon, the individual approach to the same problems. At least, that is the way it appears. In another sense, however, the two candidates were similar: neither could be 100% honest with the people and get elected! And this is a sad reflection upon the average American who considers himself intelligent, level-headed, and full of common sense. If either of the two major candidates had been frank about our problems, he would have angered most American citizens.

Here's why.

There are two reasons why our economic picture is so frightening today, with inflation eating away at the purchasing power of the dollar bill with every passing month at a rate which ought to scare the pants off most of us—figuratively speaking. The first reason why we are in economic trouble is that we continue to follow the theory of John Maynard Keynes which advocates deficit spending to maintain a "healthy" economy. Under such a theory (and along with wars and police actions), we now have an astronomical federal debt which grows and grows because our federal government persists in spending more than it takes in.

The second reason why we are in trouble is that Americans make too much money. The average American family is not "earning" what it is being paid today; it is being paid an increasing amount of money each year because it, in combination with other families, can force its demands for more money in order to get the material possessions which Americans have been led to believe is their "right" to own. The plain truth of the matter is that the typical American worker today doesn't give a hoot about the quality of his labors; all he is concerned about is putting in his time and getting that paycheck. He doesn't care how much is taken out of it for the government's sake, just so there is plenty left for him and his extravagant wants.

If you think these are bitter words of falsehood, just remember that it is the typical American worker who produces the automobiles, appliances, tools and so on which must be taken back for repairs, sometimes within days of purchase. Sloppy workmanship is typical of today's American-made products; even the so-called name brands suffer from the condition. The price you pay makes no difference; high priced items are as faulty as the lower priced merchandise. There is only one reason for such unjustifiable defects: the people who make them don't give a hoot about anything except their paychecks.

Can you imagine what would have happened to either of the two major candidates if such statements as above had been made during the campaign? Sure you can; he would have been humiliated by the same kind of defeat as was suffered by Barry Goldwater in 1964. Americans showed in that election that a candidate cannot be honest and forthright with them; honesty will defeat the man who "tells it like it is," as the phrase went during the recent election. Truthfully speaking, however, NEITHER major candidate "told it like it is" in 1968 because neither offered any solution to inflation by pointing out as above that (1) the government is responsible for inflation because it spends more than it takes in, and (2) the people are responsible because they persist in asking for more money than their labors are worth.

There are only two ways that our financial problems will be solved, and some social problems along with the economic. One is that we continue as we are going now, with the public accepting the government's deficit spending theory and the public "bought off" by capitulating to its continuing demands for more money, for less work of inferior quality. The result will be a financial "crash" with inflation destroying any values in our past monetary system. Then we will have to start "working" again. The other way is that the government reduce its spending, reduce its involvement in the everyday existence of the average citizen. At the same time, the people themselves must stop demanding more reward than their efforts are worth. This means that the big labor unions, instead of making new demands with each contract renewal negotiation, should hold the line, even start cutting back in some of the fringe benefits which are now enjoyed by the average employee. It means, too, that the companies which price their products beyond reason, simply because people do have money and if they want something badly enough they will pay the asking price, begin reducing their prices.

Along with such practical efforts, there must be, however, a re-examination of attitudes. No stability in prices or wages can be accomplished unless the people involved appreciate the fact that there is a certain value to each job each person performs. The job does not become worth more because we do it for a longer and longer time. The job has worth in relation to other jobs, other services. It would be an obviously diffucult adjustment to make, that of accepting a set system of values which do not change. But it would seem that, if all groups in our society are to be protected in their ability to purchase, the purchasing power of our dollar bills must be steady and of little fluctuation.

The reason I say that "we need a depression" is that the type of "prosperity" we now have breeds contempt for one's responsibilities toward the interests of others. Despite the charitable aspects of our American society today as indicated by the millions and billions we give to others hopefully to help them better themselves, we in this country are on a "gimme" binge which has historically always led to self destruction. I hate to see a people and a society, with a heritage of sacrifice and dedication in its past history such as we have, turn its back on common sense for the sake of the almighty dollar. I hate to see ambitious people prostituted by the enticement of "we'll get it for you—you deserve more and we'll get it for you," those same people then puffed up with self-pride over what they think they are worth. There may not be many guilty consciences along this line, but there ought to be.

Are you teed off??? Maybe you ought to be. Quite possibly I'm talking about you!

Others say. . . .

BRITISH FINALLY CONCEDE END OF OLD ECONOMIC THEORY

"In England, the land of his birth, they have suddenly discovered that John Maynard Keynes is dead."

So began a piece in the New York Times of Nov. 6.

The piece took off from an article in the London Economist of Oct. 26, which recalled that at the end of his "General Theory of Employment, Interest and Money," published in 1936, Keynes declaimed in a famous passage on the hidden power of superannuated economic ideas: "Practical men, who believe themselves to be quite exempt from any intellectual influences, are usually the slaves of some defunct economist." And The Economist itself was then cruel enough to observe: "The piquant situation is that Keynes himself is now a defunct economist."

The observation, as The Times rightly judged, is news. And the reason it is news is that The Economist has long mirrored the most fashionable economic thinking in England. It has been part of the Establishment, and its verdict has probably called the turn.

It is about time. For 32 years not "practical men" but the vast majority of academic economists in Britain and the United States have been the slaves of the Keynesian ideology. The Economist itself was so enamored of this ideology that it considered in bad taste, if not positively blasphemous, any basic criticism of the patron saint of deficit spending.

I hope I may be forgiven a personal reference. In 1959 I wrote a book called "The Failure of the New Economics." It was an analysis of the Keynesian fallacies running to 459 pages. The Economist condescended to notice it in a 600-word review. But instead of answering any of the theoretical arguments I made, or even my corrections of Keynes' factual errors, the review preferred to assess me personally: "Mr. Hazlitt is a competent and fluent financial journalist whom a footnote to the history of economic thought might grade a longish way below Bastiat and a little above Harriet Martineau."

The reviewer especially objected to the tone of my book: "It is a dropsical pamphlet written to pamphleteering standards of debate." Of course, he conceded, "There was a large element of pamphleteering about the 'General Theory' itself" — but that apparently was a Keynesian prerogative, not permissible to mere journalists.

The Economist of 1959 moreover, had a low opinion not only of my criticism of Keynes but of anybody's: "It is the more unfortunate that the only all-round reassessments (of Keynes) which have in fact been attempted . . . resemble nothing so much as the continuing Fundamentalist attacks on Darwin."

This implication that all general criticisms of Keynes were ignorant and benighted was written when economists of world stature — like Jacques Rueff, F. A. Hayek, Ludwig von Mises, Frank Knight, Wilhelm Roepke and W. H. Hutt, to name only half a dozen — had already published such criticisms. An anthology I edited in 1960, "The Critics of Keynesian Economics," brought together 21 such "all-round reassessments" — all published before The Economist's stricture.

In 1936 Prof. W. H. Hutt published his brilliant and penetrating volume, "Keynesianism — Retrospect and Prospect." Here was no mere journalist but the dean of the faculty of commerce at the University of Capeown and a member of the academic establishment. But his criticisms met the same fate as mine. The Keynesians simply ignored their existence.

So The Economist's belated proclamation of the death of Keynesianism — even though that weekly now embraces the wrong alternative — is a real breakthrough.

—Henry Hazlitt, in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel

Former Residents Observe 57th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Gee of Jewell, Ohio, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on Saturday, November 30. Their children surprised them with a supper at a restaurant in Archbold, Ohio. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gee, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gee, all of Dayton, Mrs. Lucille Koch of Vandalia, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Grimes and Greg, Patty, Pam, and Penny, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gee.

They all returned to the Walter Gee home and renewed their memories of living in Saint Joe.

The Gees received a gift box from the H. J. Heinz Company, along with a letter of congratulations and good wishes.

Secure Lids Needed On Garbage Cans

Saint Joe residents should make certain that the garbage they put out for pickup Saturday morning is placed in garbage cans with secure lids to prevent dogs particularly from scattering refuse in yards. Tin cans and other trash may be placed in open type containers, but garbage requires a closed container for sanitary and appearance purposes.

Some instances of negligence in this respect have led to incidents of dogs' rummaging in open cans or containers and making a "mess" of yards.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 229

Our troop had the regular meeting Monday, November 18. We finished some requirements for the My Trefoil badge. We decided on our troop crest, the Purple Pansey. We played games and then had a going away party with refreshments for Joyce Bush, one of our leaders, and her daughter, Jane.

We would like to thank Delores Hicov, Pat Melchi, Joan Meek and Arden Dwyer for helping with the party.

Then we voted on having a Christmas party and going caroling. After our closing circle, the members were dismissed.

Almost everybody has a friend who has heard "electric heat is expensive."

Clyde Platt knows better

"Our house in Ft. Wayne is 15 years old. We switched to electric heat 2 years ago and it's costing us less than the heat we had. No worries—no maintenance." Mrs. Platt loves it. "Some people think you have to be rich to have electric heat. Instead, you feel rich—and save money at the same time." The comfort of flameless electric heat is incomparable—but cost is comparable to other forms of heating. Let us prove it. Get a free estimate—from us or your Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer.

County Prosecutor Warns Of Dangers In Court Decision

DeKalb County prosecuting attorney H. Charles Winans, concerned about an Indiana Supreme Court decision of recent date, has issued pertinent information to assist the public in evaluating the court's decision. The Supreme Court ruled that unauthorized entry of a person into a building is insufficient proof of intent to commit a crime. The decision brings a new trial for a man previously convicted of forced entry into a business establishment. He said he entered the building to get a drink of water.

Mr. Winans' comments are as follows:

"The criminal law of Indiana reads in part as follows:

" 'Burglary 2nd degree—whoever breaks and enters into any . . . building or structure other than a dwellinghouse or place of human habitation, with the intent to commit a felony therein, shall be guilty of burglary in the second degree, and upon conviction shall be imprisoned not less than two nor more than 5 years. . . .' (If a person breaks and enters a dwelling house, the law provides that it is first degree burglary.)

"Burglary (or breaking and entering as it is sometimes called) is by far the most prominent crime in our area today. The United States Supreme Court in recent decisions has eliminated the use of the 'confession' as a means of solving a crime today and as a result police officers have been limited to obtaining convictions in most instances in only those cases where the criminal burglar is caught red handed. Now the Supreme Court of Indiana; with Judge Donald Hunter of LaGrange, a Republican, and Judge Roger DeBruler of Angola, a Democrat, has said that the mere fact that a man is found to have broken a window to get into a building, and the mere fact that he is caught red handed inside does not make out enough evidence to convict him of burglary or breaking and entering because this evidence is insufficient to show that he intended to commit a felony. In the case which they had under consideration at the time they made this ruling, the defendant said he had broken into the building to get a drink of water."

United Press International news service reported the decision as follows:

"The Indiana Supreme Court, in a 3—2 decision, ruled Wednesday (November 20, 1968) that unauthorized entry of a person into a building is insufficient proof of intent to commit a crime.

"The decision brought a strongly dissenting opinion from Judge Norman Arterburn in which Judge Davis Lewis joined, which said that the ruling would hamper law enforcement.

"Judge Donald H. Hunter wrote the majority opinion which held that the mere finding of an intruder in an Indianapolis garage was not sufficient evidence that he had entered to commit a felony. The high court reversed the conviction of Theopolis Crawford, Indianapolis, in Marion County Criminal Court 1 and ordered a new trial.

"Crawford was sentenced to 1—10 years on a charge of entering to commit a felony. Evidence was that Crawford was seen inside a parts room of the garage by a watchman, who summoned the owners and the police. The building was locked at the time but a window had been broken through which entry could have been made.

"Crawford told different stories to explain his presence, including that he came in to get warm, to get a drink of water, and that he had been hired to clean out the garage. The owners testified he had not been hired.

"Hunter concluded the evidence might support a charge of trespass but proof of intent to commit a crime was absent.

Judge Roger DeBruler, who concurred in the result but not the reasoning of the majority opinion, said 'the mere unauthorized entry of a person into a building containing articles which could easily be carried away is insufficient to prove intent to steal those articles.'

"But Arterburn wrote that 'the majority opinion penalizes efficient methods of law enforcement, such as alarm systems. Police officers promptly alerted must wait until the intruder has first seized property or committed a rape or some other felony before the intruder may be convicted of a felony.' "

In connection with the problem of crime, Mr. Winans has contacted the town boards of Saint Joe and Waterloo, the mayors and city councils of Auburn, Butler and Garrett and the DeKalb County Commissioners, urging them to participate in a Crime Commission Conference at Indianapolis. The conference will be held January 6 and 7 as Governor-elect Edgar Whitcomb takes an immediate step to combat crime in the Hoosier state.

Ted Haberkorn, president of the Saint Joe town board, has announced that the local board will be represented at the January conference.

Christmas for twelve days!

Why not—as the folksong suggests—lengthen the season of giving and joy!

The popular Yuletide song, of course, celebrates long ago customs, when the great mid-winter festival really did last for twelve days. The song honors the days from Christmas to Epiphany (anuary 6), the day the Three Wise Men, laden with precious gifts, arrived from the East to visit the Child.

Partridges and pear trees are not very common Christmas gifts these days—if indeed they ever were. But giving, and gifts, are still cherished holiday customs. And the design of this year's Christmas Seal is a plump partridge in a tree of golden pears, the gift, in the folksong, for the first day of Christmas.

Using Christmas Seals lengthens the holiday spirit of giving far beyond twelve days. It lengthens these days into a relentless year-round struggle to combat emphysema, tuberculosis, and air pollution. The program of your local TB-RD association helps make life livable for a great many people with respiratory problems.

Partridges and pear trees are a symbol of generosity, good will, and joy. That is why they are this year's Christmas Seal.

Use Christmas Seals. It's a matter of life—and breath.

25th Anniversary

Their children, Bob, Becky, Dennis, and Rick took them to dinner Saturday evening at the Three Kings Restaurant in Hoagland. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and Shawn, Lynann Lake, and Jim Crig.

Relatives surprised them with a party Sunday afternoon. They were Mrs. Charles Kanning, Mrs. Faye Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fredo and Barbara, Janean, and Skeeter, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Kanning and Steven, Beth, and Jill, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Kanning and Andrea, Mrs. Jean Molvin and Kenny, Karen, and Jimmy.

Pastor Russell Snyder made the day much happier by reading in church a letter he had received from their son John, who is presently serving in Vietnam.

I got a letter from Rick Mumma. Rick sends his thanks for the Saint oe News. He's now stationed in Norfooik, Va. Two weeks ako he was in Boston, and two weks from now he should be in Florida. Sometime in January or February he will be in the Bahamas. I guess it's really true, "Join the Navy and see the world." Rick would like to know what the rest of Eastside's Class of '68 is doing. So if you know someone who was in Rick's class (whether or not he or she is in the service), please drop me a card or phone 337-3675, and I'll pass it on to him. He says he's not curious, just nosey!

Thanks for the letter, Rick, it's nice to know I have a fan.

Mrs. Renfrow called and said that son Dewey will be discharged this month. He has been stationed at Da Nang for the past eighteen months.

Dewey should be home around the 17th. Stop in to see us, Dewey.

I talked to Mrs. Russel Arnett of Spencerville Tuesday night at the laundromat in Saint Joe.

Mrs. Arnett says that son Bob will also be home for Christmas. Bob is in the Navy, and should arrive home around the 17th. He is due to be discharged in September 1969.

Mike Haberkorn, working for a Christmas leave from Hawaii, has been promoted to Specialist 5.

Second Lieutenant Sheldon S. Shafer was recently named the honor graduate from a student officers course in Communications and Electronic Security at Fort Devens, Mass. Sheldon is serving with the Army Security Agency, a branch of Military Intelligence. He is now stationed with the ASA Detachment at Fifth Army Headquarters, Fort Sheridan, Illinois. After graduating from the course at Fort Devens and a few days at home, he reported to ASA Headquarters at Arlington, Va., for further specialized training. He is the son of Mrs. Weldon Shafer, R1, Butler.

Army Private Mary H. Minnix, daughter of Mrs. Hazel L. Minnix, 412 N. Pearl Street, Butler, completed eight weeks of basic training at the omen's Army Corps Center, Fort, McClellan, Alabama, on November 1. She received instruction in Army history and traditions, administrative procedures, military justice, first aid, and field training.

See you next week, don't forget to drop a line! And don't forget information on the Class of '68.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The little dance band outfit I play with (Bob Snowball and the Snowflakes) had a job Saturday night at Club Olympia in Fort Wayne. It was the Cooper company's Christmas party for all employees.

Just before we started to play, a fella came up too me and said, "I bet you don't remember me." I studied his face for a half minute or so; there was something familiar but I couldn't place him. I thought perhaps he was some salesman who stops in occassionally at the News Office — but that was wrong. Then someone who was standing close by made a remark to this man, and just as he mentioned his brother, Dave, I came out with "Kenny Walters."

It has been longer than I thought since I last saw Kenny, evidently. He looked different for some reason, enough that I couldn't remember him. Maybe it's because he's now a man and I remember a boy playing basketball—back in the good old days when the Saint Joe Tigers were still going.

Just for the heck of it, I looked up the basketball scores of 1953, thinking that maybe Kenny played later for "Riverdale." But, no, there it was in the January 29, 1953, issue of The Saint Joe News, Kenny Walters listed as Saint Joe's leading scorer with an average of over 17 points per game. He was second high in the county.

Speaking of the good old days, R. L. Holben of Auburn called Saturday to comment about the memories brought to him by my remarks last week concerning barbershop quartets and my late father. Mr. Holben was in the Shrine Band in years past when Dad was singing with the Chanters and knew him quite well. Mr. Holben sang in a quartet called "The Rexalls," sponsered by a druggist from South Whitley, and he knows of the enjoyment that came with such activities "in the good old days."

It's quite rewarding to have people call or write to say that they know and understand the feelings which one attempts to convey by the written or spoken word. It is a sort of fellowship to share the joys—and the sorrows—that remain through the years as treasured memories.

Willard Maxwell sent a note this week to remind me that he has paid his subscription but the date hasn't been changed on his paper. He's not the only one. I have a stack of paid up subscribers not yet brought up to date, but they will be.

I got another note last week, a slip of paper with notations and sketches which are somewhat puzzling. I think there is a message in them but I don't know what it is. Maybe you can figure them out, if you stop in and take a look.

Another bit of mail last week had me thinking that someone had goofed in their mailing list. An announcement came from Memphis, Tennessee, of Russ Hellen's Cib Center Open House to observe 22 years of business in Memphis. I couldn't figure out why I would get such an announcement from so far away. Then a little bell started ringing. I looked it up in the November 28 issue and, sure enough, Audrey Wade went visiting her daughter's family, the Russ Hellens, of Memphis. So, I suppose she is responsible for letting us know of her son in law's achievement.

Mrs. Wade left a "sale bill" at the News Office when she was in recently. It was put out in 1937 as political campaign material. I'll print it here for you next week. There are some laughs in it.

Why is it that when I pull the "easy open" tabs on mailing cartons for books, the tab tears off before I'm even half way across the carton?!?!

Letter Brings Additional Information On Judicial Situation

(Editor's Note: The following letter was received in response to our offer to the county prosecutor to help in any way possible to combat the trend toward extreme leniency in court interpretations of civil law. We are indebted to Mr. Winans for his detailed comments which follow.)

Mr. Theodore Haberkorn
Saint Joe News
Saint Joe, Indiana

Dear Ted:

I appreciate your sincere concern and desire to personally do something about the combined problem of crime and judicial ridiculousness.

I have spent a great deal of my time studying the problems presented, and I must say at the outset that I do not have a cut and dried solution. I have had some experiences which I can discuss with you that certainly tend to point up the areas where some work might be done with fruitful results.

The rising crime rate is getting to be a topic like the weather. Everyone talks about it, but no one does anything about it. And for the most part the average citizen feels just as helpless about doing something about the one as he does about the other. The average citizen therefore does nothing but worry and complain.

A recent newspaper article is fairly typical. I refer to an editorial in the Fort Wayne Journal Gazette on the morning of November 26, 1968; the general theme of the article is that part of the problem can be resolved if we teach our young people morality. I heartily agree with this, but I find in my contacts with the youthful lawbreaker that in a great many cases the lack of homespun morality education is the result of a parent's inability to do the job. Sometimes this is because the family consists of poor, uneducated people who just don't understand morality. You may find this difficult to believe, but many times these people just simply don't know the difference between right and wrong.

However, let us clear up one factor right now, and that is that all lawbreakers do not come from the poor, underprivileged classes. At least in DeKalb County they don't. And I must gear my remarks to DeKalb County, because that is the area where I work. I have had little, if any, experience with the big city ghettos. The solutions for their problems may not in all probability be the solutions for our problems. And I think that this is most important to remember. When the big time politicians say they are going to eliminate crime by eliminating poverty, they are simply being politicians. An unending deposit of federal money in DeKalb County would not change our crime problems a noticeable scintilla.

There is no one problem and there is no one solution.

However, much of the national trend toward more crime, causing honest fear in the minds of our citizenry, seems to be directly related to the liberal swing of our courts. In other words, it appears to me that things began to get bad soon after our high courts began to find ways to turn lawbreakers loose into society. The present attorney general of the United States and his predecessor in that office say that there is no connection. But the Indiana prosecuting attorneys with whom I work every day say that when the courts began to get loose with criminals, crime began to get bad; and I think that these people know what they are talking about.

This leads us then to pin part of the blame on the judiciary. But you must separate the appeals courts, like the U.S. Supreme Court and the Indiana Supreme Court, from the trial judge. Their problems are not the same and their effect on crime are not the same.

For the most part the trial judge's hands are tied by the action of the appeals court. He can not do as he pleases. If the appeals court says that certain evidence shall no longer be admissible to convict a person charged with a crime, then the trial judge is bound by that rule, and often if curdles his stomach to have to rule against a prosecutor because of one of the latest decisions. The trial judge is vulnerable in one area, that is when it comes time to pronounce sentence after a case has been presented and the accused proven to be guilty. Then the trial judge must impose the sentence that is provided by law, but all too frequently he assumes the responsibility of altering that sentence by suspending part or all of it.

This has a tendency of doing several things. 1: It makes the lawbreaker in that case feel like he got off easy. 2: It makes other potential lawbreakers feel as if they can proceed with a little bit of illegal activity because the punishment is not too great on first time offenders. 3: Frequently a certain kind of defense attorney will gain a reputation in the underworld as a first class "mouthpiece," "because even if you are guilty, he can get you a suspended sentence."

Prosecutors are not without some blame in this area. Frequently a prosecuting attorney will "make a deal" with a defense lawyer just because he is too lazy to try the case, or maybe his case load is so heavy that his office couldn't try all of the cases it has, so deals are made to simply get rid of them. We have made it an absolute rule in my office to make no deals of any kind with defense lawyers regarding suspension of sentences. This does not mean that we do not change charges, as occasionally we find after getting into a case that our evidence may be good to prove a charge other than the one originally filed.

This leaves the question of the appelate judiciary. Why do they make some of these decisions? My personal answer to this is simply that they are in a great many cases just incompetent men.

The point here is that these people are placed in these positions by politics. They generally run with the ticket. Most people don't know who they are voting for or why. The politicians have difficulty in getting good qualified men to run, because the good qualified people don't care to mix into the rather dirty game of inter-party politics that must be played. Hence, many of us believe that the judiciary should be removed from the ballot. But this will not take them completely out of politics, because someone will still have to appoint them, presumably the governor, and he will be politically partisan, if he is a politician; and how do you get to be governor unless you are a politician.

I believe that this appointment system would work a little better than the elective system because of several factors. 1: If a person is going to be labeled as being responsible for a particular appointee, he is more likely to pick a good man than a bad one. 2: The better qualified might be more interested if they didn't have to get all tangled up in the inter-party politics glut. The thing that makes politics bad is not the governors, senators, representatives or other elected officials. It is the party hacks, the king makers, who crave the power of seeing to it that this person gets to run for an office and another person doesn't. It is a lousy game and the worst part of our democracy, and it exists in both political parties.

I would hope that we could improve our judicial stysem by changing the method of selection. Maybe this would solve nothing, but certainly what we have is not producing very good results.

As for local judges, I believe that the local bar association should submit the names of two Republicans and two Democrats to the people to vote for one to be judge with an absolute restriction that there shall be no campaigning by either party, save plenty of publicity paid for out of public funds as to the qualifications of each man proposed. The job should be for life or until retirement and should pay the very best salary, so that the very best lawyers would not be hesitant to give up a good practice to be a judge.

You will note that I have put the bar association into the situation. Why? Because it is high time that they recognized their responsibility for much of the problem and did something constructive about it.

Everyone says "we need stricter law enforcement" when what they mean to say is we need a better judiciary.

I believe that the moral training aspect mentioned earlier can best be resolved in our schools. The schools say that this is a parental problem. I say it is a community social problem and our teachers must realize that they have a responsibility to do something more than teach reading, writing and arithmetic. They must by precept and example teach morality and social responsibility. Indeed a special course should be taught at every grade level dealing with morality. Surely you can teach morality without offending anyone's religious affiliation. This would take some pretty well qualifed teachers, but since we are spending 70% of our tax dollars to run our schools, then I believe that we have a right to expect something more than a boy or girl who can read and write. I also think that many of our school people would like to do just what I am proposing. This would have to be by state law, a state law which someone is bound to attack, probably the Civil Liberties Union; and so again we are right back to the judiciary and how much support they would give such a law.

I have written a lot and said little, but from these ramblings maybe you can pick up some thoughts about what the average citizen could do.

I have often wondered what the result would be if the individual judges who write some of these weird decisions received a few thousand letters from irate citizens each time they put forth with a new loose liberal judicial opinion. That is interesting thought.

In the future I would be interested in hearing your thoughts on all of these things.

Very truly yours,
H. Charles Winans

Blazers Lose

by Phil Miller

Eastside's Blazers are still looking for their first win following Saturday's 63-37 loss to DeKalb Central. The Blazers put out a good effort the first half, hustling well and outrebounding the taller Barons by 24 to 18. However, they couldn't find the range on their shots and trailed 32 to 23 at the half.

In the last half, the Blazers came unglued and only managed 14 points, also losing the rebound battle 40 to 26.

Free throws especially hurt Eastside as the Barons shot 37, hitting 21, to the Blazers' 5 of 14. The Barons were only called for one foul the entire last half, while the Blazers were caught 17 times in this period.

This week the tough Westview team visits the locals on Saturday night. Westview has one of the area's top scorers, Thompson, who has scored over 40 points on two occasions. The Blazers are aiming to hold down Thompson and knock off Westview.

The reserves lost their game to DeKalb Central, 41 to 16.

I got a letter from Mike Haberkorn! I thought he forgot us, but he didn't. Mike says he'll be home for Christmas. His leave starts the 20th but he isn't sure that he'll leave then. Mike is on the basketball team on Ford Island and their tournament is from the 16th to the 22nd. How far they get in the tourney will determine when he can leave.

Mike said that the weather is getting pretty chilly. It went all the way down to 67 degrees the other night and he almost froze!! (What !)

20th Century Fox is getting ready to film "Tora Tora Tora," which is the story of Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, just 27 years ago last Sunday. When Mike gets home, he can tell us all how to make a movie.

Boy, this Christmas promises to be a very exciting one for our area with so many men home on leave and out for good. There should be quite a reunion! If you guys want to have a reunion party, I'll donate my house and the ham sandwiches.

Mike Loy will be home December 21.

SAINT JOE LIONS CLUB VISITS WIFF RADIO
—by Frank Amstuts

The 100% Night was a success. There were 28 members present. One new member, Mr. Richard Crow, was inducted into the club, and Mr. Forrest Bevington, who was out due to illness and convalescence, was reinstated. Mention was made by president Robert Wilder that we have two charter members, Willard Hurni and Clifford Billow, who helped organize the club 27 years ago.

Mr. Hurni then gave a short talk on Lionism. He said that members get many benefits, such as experience in office, committees, education by contacts, good times and fellowship, and the opportunity to meet influential persons who speak at meetings. However, he said, if you don't work, you will not be of much use to your club, nor will the club be useful to you.

Mr. Wayne Paradise of radio station WIFF was introduced, and by his invitation, the club adjourned to the radio station.

Mr. Paradise presented the station's "electric disc jockey," placing several large steric music tapes on the machine, along with some smaller tapes for commercials, as well as other tapes and gadgets to announce the exact time at the proper intervals. These are all timed and run by an electronic brain, and this is set by pressing a few buttons. Then he pushed another button, and we heard a portion of Tuesday morning's program. This machine sells for $30,00, and in its field is comparable to the Cadillac in the automotive industry. The station has another room full of machines. Mr. Paradise is a likeable person, and would probably like to show this station to groups who might be interested in a tour.

Have You Seen This Girl?

Norman and Ruth Ernstein
776 Crafton Avenue
Redlands, California 92373
December 5, 1968

Will you, please, help us find our daughter? My, wife, Ruth, and I are directing this plea to you and to the ten thousand other newspapers in the cities, towns, and hamlets of this country.

Our daughter, Elizabeth Lurene (Liz) Ernstein, was just two months short of her fifteenth birthday when she vanished without a trace last March 18.

She was last seen walking home from school along a lonely tree lined street amid the orange groves of suburban Redlands. In her arms, she carried a blue notebook and a red algebra textbook.

Since then, law enforcement agencies, family members, and friends have spent countless hours tracking down hundreds of tentative leads. But to no avail. Not one single, slender clue has brightened all our efforts. Seemingly, Liz has disappeared like a breath of air on a winter's day.

But, surely there is a simple explanation. Was she abducted? Did she run away from home? Is she dead? Or is she alive and, perhaps, in your town?

You can help us. Ruth and I are begging you to help us find an answer to our torment—to help us end the long nightmare of these past eight months—by releasing our story and Liz's picture in your paper.

The Lord willing, someone in your area may have seen her.

With sincere gratitude,
Norman and Ruth Ernstein

Additional information about the matter follows:

Monday, March 18, 1968, began as an ordinary day for Elizabeth Lurene Ernstein when she left home for classes at Moore Junior High School in Redlands, California. But this Monday on the 18th of March was not to be an ordinary day.

Elizabeth's school day passed without incident. She attended her last class, then left school at 3:40 p.m. to walk home, a two mile route through blossoming orange groves. She never arrived home. Somewhere along the lonely street, Elizabeth Ernstein vanished.

There are no clues to her whereabouts, or even to what happened to the 14 year old girl, other than a report from a Redlands businessman who was driving through the area. He thought he saw a girl resembling Elizabeth walking toward the corner of the street on which she lived.

To her parents, Norman and Ruth Ernstein, the months of uncertainty and anxiety over their missing daughter "are the deepest anguish a person can go through. It is a shock so deep you become wooden," the mother explained.

The Ernsteins are appealing nationwide for help in locating their daughter. Ernstein, a chemical engineer at Lockheed in Redlands, and his wife Ruth, a psychiatric social worker, have posted a $5,000 reward for information that will solve the mystery of their daughter's disappearance. They have vowed, "We will not rest until we know."

Neither parent has rested since that first long night when their young daughter failed to come home. They have tracked miles through orange groves, fields, foothills, and canyons in and around the Redlands area. They have followed every lead, no matter how slight, in the search for Elizabeth.

"I can face daytime better than the night," the distraught mother said. "At night I find myself saying: 'Is she safe? Is she warm? Is she fed? —and finally—is she alive?' "

When Elizabeth, nicknamed "Liz" by her friends, left for school that March morning, she had only 25 cents with her. She was dressed in a blue dress with white flowers, tennis shoes, and a dark olive corduroy coat. Around her neck she wore a small gold chain with a pendant gold and blue star. En route home, she carried a red algebra book and a blue looseleaf notebook. None of these has been found.

Elizabeth is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 105 pounds and has brown hair and brown eyes. She is one of five Ernstein children, one of whom died of polio in 1952.

"This, the second tragedy in our lives, is even greater because of the uncertainty," the desperate father said in his appeal to end the nightmare. "I can accept anything, even the worst, which I'm resigned to, but I must know."

Any information concerning young Liz Ernstein should be reported promptly to Captain Charles Callahan, San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office, San Bernardino, California, phone (714) 889-0111.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Here is that political "sale bill" brought in by Audrey Wade recently

"PUBLIC SALE

"Due to the fact that the owners probably will take back the management of their property, there will be offered at public sale to the highest bidder at the White House, next the empty Treasury Building at Washington, D.C., on

"JANUARY 8, 1937

"Beginning promptly at 10 A.M. the following:

"1 Democratic Platform, never used, therefore good as new.

"1 aged donkey, somewhat blemished, and too weak to kick.

"A miscellaneous number of charming smiles.

"1 car load mixed feeding cattle, if not shot before day of sale.

"Bones of 12,000,000 little pigs and sows slaughtered by A.A.A.

"1 boar, sired by doctrine of scarcity; damned by everybody.

"150,000 bushels seed corn, imported from South America.

"1 ship load cotton goods, imported from Japan.

"1,000 barrels of flour imported from Canada.

"500 hams imported from Poland.

"123,000 corn and hog contracts for what they will bring.

"Large quantity of steel imported from Germany, specified for government work.

"1 joke book containing all codes and the Russian alphabet.

"1 big chisel.

"Large quantity of PWA picks, spades, shovels, rakes, etc., etc., which have been used only to lean upon.

"Miscellaneous quantity of new fangled gadgets, brain trust brand, too numerous to mention.

"TERMS—All sums of $10 and under cash in 50-cent dollars. No gold accepted. All sums over $10, a credit of 300 years will be given to foreigners without interest, while 30 days time will be given to Americans with bankable notes to draw all the interest and taxes they can stand.

"Free lunch to hoboes, relief clients, underprivileged transients, any others who won't work, and those who have missed the social values of the more abundant life.

"Large number of European trained field hands, mostly Russian, available for other employment."

—In some respects, things haven't changed in 31 years.

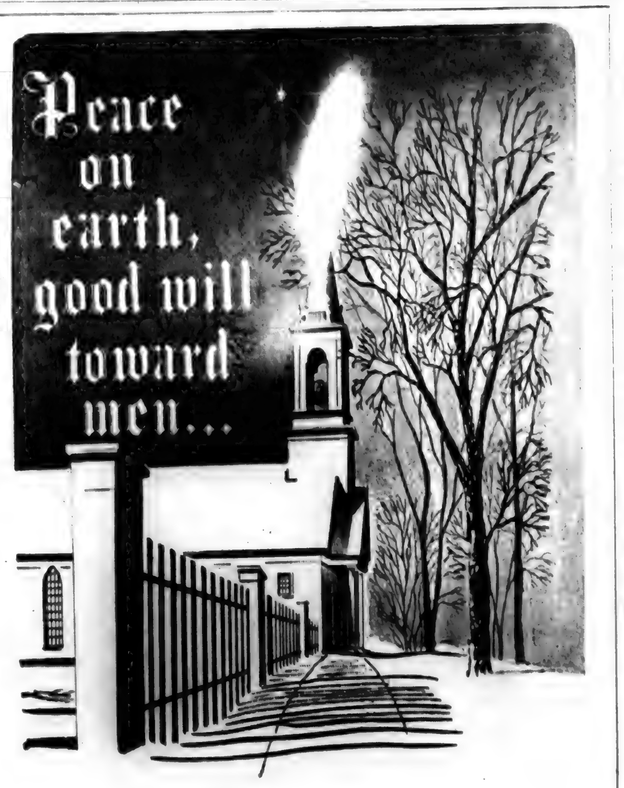
Wednesday afternoon Marty Loy stopped in with another young man of bigger stature. I had to look twice before I recognized Greg. Loy. I remembered him as a little squirt; now he must be a six-footer or close to it. He's visiting here for a month, now being a resident of California.

Dave Hager, the barber, says he wishes I had been around with the camera last week end. The Hagers had decorated their Christmas tree, a large one, and were sitting near it, watching TV. Dave was comfortably situated in a nesay chair, sort of half asleep, half awake. On one of those occasions when his eyes opened, his vision took in the top of the towering tree coming down toward him and the kids, the latter seated on the floor in front of the TV. The tree lost its balance, and Dave says it was quite a sensation when he opened his eyes and saw the thing coming down at him.

The decorating job had to be done all over.

The Saint Joe News

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, December 19, 1968 — NUMBER 49



Perhaps in this generation when "new" and "now" prevail as a way of life, there is a special message in the "old" story which is repeated year after year—and which will be repeated eternally. Those who accept the birth of the Christ Child as the ultimate showing of God's love for mankind bear a responsibility for preserving what is referred to as the "true meaning of Christmas." Too often these words are spoken sentimentally rather than as an indication of individual faith. If materialism overrides the true meaning of Christmas, it is because those who confess Christ as Saviour have themselves been swept into the ways of the world. "Be ye not conformed, but be ye transformed - -" are especially appropriate at Christmastime, to serve as a guide when all other things fail us.

As you enjoy the Christmas season, the joy of giving and of receiving, best wishes for a truly Merry Christmas come your way from—

The two new members, Richard Crow and Forrest Bevington, were assigned to Boys and Girls, Health and Welfare, and Safety Committee. Mr. Bullock advised that any Lion visiting should wear his Lion pin, give the Lion handshake, and they will give him a guided tour of the six story building and publication office, and press rooms.

The budget was passed after some slight changes. The club plans to spend a larger percent of this money on local projects this coming year.

Activities budget:

Income — ice cream social - $213.97; fair - 1590.84.

Disbursements — state projects (dancer control, leader dogs, eye bank) - $350.00; Lions local projects - 435.00; community projects - 1090.00; school projects - 315.00; county projects - 115.00.

The 1969 committees, chosen by the Executive Committee, were presented and approved.

Local business was transacted.

Bruce Provines, Membership Chairman, made a report, especially stressing February 1 as the date for the kickoff meeting, starting with a pancake and sausage supper. Present membership prospects are good.

At the planning meeting, with Mr. Bloch and Mrs. Perkins acting as chairmen, two local projects were chosen, the district projects with which the counties are expected to cooperate were listed, names were drawn for joint unit meetings, months in which special films will be shown by the county were named and November was set as the month in which the units will cooperate with extension and 4H councils in observing 4H Achievement Nights.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

—Katheryn Krieg, reporter

On December 11 the Newville Township Extension Homemakers Club met at the Newville United Methodist Church basement for their Christmas meeting.

The room and tables were beautifully decorated by the hostesses, Velma Zion, Lucille Nelson, Elva Hook, Zella Collins, Rozella Mickelson, and Shirley Spall.

After lunch, the business meeting opened with the reading of a Christmas poem by our president. History of the song of the month, "O Come All Ye Faithful," was read by Rozella Mickelson. Devotions were given by Bernisce Miller. Roll call was answered by giving hints about our Cheer sisters. The secretary's report was read by Rozella Mickelson. Cards were signed to be sent to several of our shut-ins. A report on visits to rest homes was given by Lita Shaffer. A thank you card was read from Zella Collins.

The president reported our club books for the new year would cost 40 cents each.

We voted to buy a T. B. Bond. We also bought a gift for the Country Cousins 4H Club. Velma Zion read several Christmas poems, then explained several Christmas items she had made.

Cheer sister gifts were given out, and new names for the coming year were selected.

The next meeting will be held January 8, 1969, at the Newville United Methodist Church, with Lita Shaffer and Elva Hook serving as hostesses.

Letters to the Editor

November 27, 1968

Dear Editor:

We know from our mail that countless Americans give to CARE because of stories in their newspapers. As the holidays approach, we take this occasion to assure the American press that we will do our best to continue to merit its confidence.

At this time, our big story is the CARE Food Crusade. To complete year-long plans that will help feed 25,000,000 persons on four continents, we must raise $6,000,000. Every dollar contributed will send a food package to save lives and help make hungry people capable of feeding themselves in the future.

In the hope you may remind your readers of the need, a suggested editorial is enclosed. Any message you can carry will help CARE express the good will of the American people towards all mankind.

We regret world conditions do not permit us to write simply to thank you for your past cooperation. But it is with deep appreciation that I extend to you and your staff, on behalf of the CARE organization, Holiday Greetings and Best Wishes for the New Year.

Sincerely,
Frank L. Goffio
Executive Director

I would like to thank you for sending me your paper each week. It helps me keep track of some of my former classmates, especially those in the service.

I have a new address now. It is:

I hope to be home for Christmas. I'll try to drop by and say hello while I'm home.

CONCORD JUNIOR HOMEMAKERS CLUB

—Kay Crow, reporter

Our December meeting was our Christmas party. Supper was served by the officers at the Laurel Carper home. We held our business meeting after we had eaten and cleared away the dishes.

We opened with the reading of the Club Collect. Then Betty Bevington gave what is known of the history of the song of the month, "O Come All Ye Faithful," and we all joined in singing it. Devotions were then given.

A report was given from the officers training meeting. Old and new business were taken care of in the usual manner.

New club books were passed around and filled out. An appropriate Christmas poem was read.

We closed the meeting by singing "Silent Night." We then played Bingo and sampled some home-made treats. We had a gift exchange before calling it an evening.

Sunday Dave Pemberton and his wife, Georgi, of Fort Wayne were visiting the Loys and Dave went out to Kerns' Christmas tree farm and cut down a very tall tree for The Unicorn.

Later the tree was decorated by Sandy and Jodi Wertman, Bill Holtaburg, Steve Evans, Dave and Georgi Pemberton and Loretta Loy.

Lynn Duke took care of the furnace last week and suggested that we invest in a stoker.

Mr. Kern donated the Christmas tree for The Unicorn.

We wish to thank all these people for all they have done for us.

SOMETHING NEW

There's something new in party-giving this holiday season.

It's based on the idea that you should be—

"First a friend, then a host."

In fact, this is the slogan proposed by the Chicago Motor Club-AAA for this season's merry-making.

Traditionally, of course, the host plies his guests with drinks. But the tradition of banking the cups has come into conflict with the reality of the here and now, when people know that at least half of all traffic fatalities involve drinking.

"We would prefer that partygoers not drink and drive," said Gerald W. Cavanaugh, president of the motor club. "But we know that many do. Although repeated over and over again, such slogans as 'If you drink, don't drive' seem to have little effect, particularly during the holiday season."

This poses a problem for the host. The following tips are offered for being "First a friend, then a host":

—Do not press drinks on guests who will be driving.

—Have a good selection of non-alcoholic beverages available.

—Prove you're a good host with a tempting display of food.

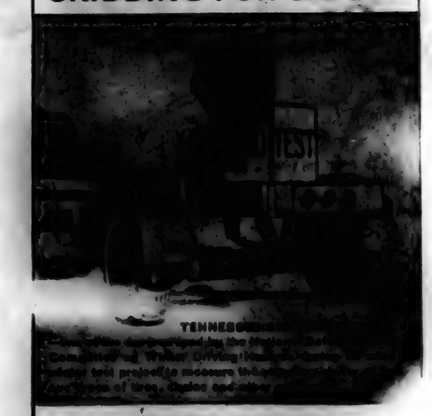
—Instead of mixing drinks, have a self-service bar.

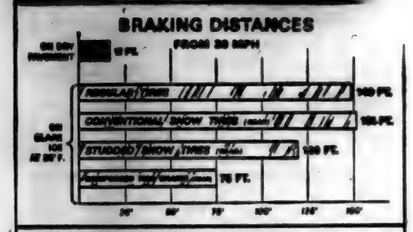
—Push food - and lessen emphasis on drinks - well before the end of the party.

—Make it non-alcoholic for the road.

—Encourage a guest who has had too much to drink to sober up before leaving, arranging his transportation home as a passenger, or try to persuade him too stay overnight.

SKIDDING FOR SAFETY





These findings point up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice—showing that with regular tires it may take close to nine times as far to stop as on dry pavement. The Safe Winter Driving League cautions drivers that regardless of the type of traction device employed —even with tire chains—far slower than normal speeds are essential on icy pavements.

School Board

The shool board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District met Monday for a regular session.

Following a review of claims and minutes of the previous meeting, discussion was held concerning glare problems in classrooms of the Butler and Riverdale elementary schools. The superintendent was directed to obtain blinds for the rooms with the most serious glare situation, using what monies are available in current appropriations. Payment of obligations to the end of 1968 were authorized through the superintendent.

An offer from Northern Indiana Fuel and Light Company was presented, in which the private utility offered to pay the difference in cost between an oil furnace and an oil-gas combination. Since equipment has already been ordered, the board left it to the utility as to whether or not such an offer could be accepted.

Miss Judy Washler sent a letter of thanks to the board for professional leave which allowed her to attend a music educator's conference.

Four members plan to attend the faculty breakfast December 20 at Riverdale Elementary cafetorium.

School attorney H. Charles Winans reported that no information of detailed and complete nature was yet available concerning the appraised values of school facilities in the district. Such information is relative to the proposal that the "Riverdale" townships, Concord, Newville and Spencer, be transferred to the DeKalb Central school district. A delay in the preparation of such information apparently is due to the illness of the attorney for the central district.

Board members Harold Kagey and Lynn Fisher stated that several complaints had been received concerning the hot lunch program at Riverdale. The superintendent stated that he would investigate those complaints and take whatever action necessary if problems are found in the program.

Gerald Murphy Is 4H Crop Winner

Wheat II—Wayne Funk, R3 Auburn.

Soybeans I—Jerry Trenary, R1 Butler.

Soybeans II—Jeff Johnson, R1 Auburn.

Corn I—Jerry Trenary, R1 Butler.

Corn II—Jeff Johnson, R1 Auburn.

Alfalfa I—George Brand, R1 Ashley.

Alfalfa II—Gerald Murphy, Spencerville.

The Grain Crops Achievement Plaque was awarded to Mike Sients of R2 Butler for his project work in crops. This is a total achievement award sponsored by the Robert Sliger family and may be won only once during a 4H career.

Blazers Win

by Phil Miller

Eastside's victory-hungry Blazers got their first win of the season Saturday night as they squeaked by Westview 58-57 on Tom Seltenright's basket with 7 seconds to go.

Starting fast, the Blazers ran up a 13-2 lead, but cooled off and only led 17-13 as the quarter ended.

In the second quarter, Eastside went completely sour, scoring only 3 points to trail 21-20 at the half.

The early part of the third quarter was similar to the first with the Blazers moving into a 32-23 lead. However, Westview pulled back in front 40-38 as the quarter ended.

In the final period, the lead changed hands several times, with both teams hitting well.

Eastside edged in front by 3 with a minute and a half to go, only to see the Warriors take a 1-point lead with 25 seconds to go. The Blazers got the ball to Seltenright, who hit a 15-footer from the baseline. Westview called time with 4 seconds to go, and got the ball downcourt too Yoder who hit just after the buzzer sounded.

Individually, several of the Blazers had their best night of the year. Charlie Ross hit 10 first quarter points to get things started, and grabbed 15 rebounds for the game. Keith Kessler pulled down 16 rebounds and scored 10 points. John Kochert played consistently, getting 10 points and 12 rebounds. Deo Wasson had trouble hitting at first, but came on strong at the end, hitting two clutch field goals and grabbing 12 rebounds. Ted Miller also came off the bench to hit two much-needed baskets in the final few minutes. Seltenright recovered from a shaky first half to score 10 points in the last half, including the final basket.

The Blazers outrebounded Westview 69-42, and hit 28 of 81 from the field for 37 per cent, including 10 of 38 for a 50% second half. Eastside only shot 8 free throws the entire game, hitting 2 of them for a poor 25%. Westview hit 17 of 33 from the free throw line and 20 of 85 from the field.

The B team also got on the right track, winning 46-26. 15 Blazers saw action in this game.

If electric rates are lower than ever, how come your bill is higher?

Yeah, how come?

Easy . . . you're living better. It works this way: our rates for electricity have gone down over the years. But you're using more power all the time.

These days, you not only use electricity for light, but you can use it to heat, cook, wash and dry clothes, tell time, entertain you with radio, TV, tape and records, shave, dry your hair, keep your bed warm, make your coffee, heat water, open cans, sharpen knives, wash dishes, even carve your Sunday roast.

That's why your bill is higher. Think about that next time you hear us say . . .

Electricity is your best dollar value.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Doris Yeiser for a pot luck dinner and Christmas party Friday, December 13, 1968.

Eleven members gathered around the table which had an abundance of good foods. The addition of another member after the dinner made a total attendance of twelve at the party.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Catherine Bowser, with all reciting the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Catherine Bowser. Her theme was "Loving, Giving, and Believing," and was very appropriate for the Christmas season.

The history of the song of the month was given by the song leader, Gertrude Borthwick, who led the club in singing the song.

Pat Roberts was called on for the Christmas Story, and she led with "What Christmas Means to Me" and "My Outstanding Christmas Day." Every member was asked to tell of their most memorable Christmas. It was easy to see that we were all among the elderly ladies, for we all were raised when money wasn't so plentyful and our Christmases didn't mean spending a lot of money, but remembering the Christ child's birthday and enjoying the companionship of those we love so dearly.

Roll call was answered with, "What I Want Most For Christmas," and the foremost wish was for World Peace and the return of our servicemen.

The secretary's report was given by Mary Baker, and was accepted as read.

It was reported by Edith Sailor that a plant had been sent to one of our members who is in the hospital.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the Club Prayer Song, and the exchange of gifts followed.

We all departed for our homes after a very enjoyable day by wishing everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDER

Mail, and Blackmail

In Washington, where examples of bureaucratic power politics are easy to come by, the Post Office has completed a classic turnabout which demonstrates how government agencies are able to get what they want from Congress.

Consider the Post Office's promises of last year and the threats of a few weeks ago.

Last year, when the Post Office was presenting its demand that Congress approve higher postage rates, the postal people were full of promises that mail delivery could be, and definitely would be, improved if rates were hiked.

They promised that some of the added revenue would be used to improve service, and that parcel post delivery might be increased from five to six days a week. A five-year modernization and improvement program would be started, they said, even though the postal brass knew that most of the extra revenue would go out in postal wage increases. In short, they managed to sweet-talk Congress into boosting rates.

Promises, promises. Now they have been replaced by even poorer service. Postal patrons are paying more and enjoying it less.

When Congress imposed a manpower cutback on all Federal agencies, calling for replacement of only three out of four job vacancies until 1968 employment levels are reached, the Post Office was immediately up in arms. Postmaster Marvin Watson, now to the job after serving as the President's appointments secretary, promptly turned his artillery on Congress. He threatened an immediate end to Saturday deliveries, nationwide, and closure of all fourth-class post offices, most of which serve scattered rural communities.

This bureaucratic blackmail exacted from Congress a quick exemption of the Post Office from the manpower cutback order. Exemptions for the FBI and air traffic controllers of the Federal Aviation Agency were also granted, and more exemptions are likely to come as other departments dramatize their "plight."

Businessmen, whose mail costs are up 30 per cent or more, are suffering from deteriorating mail service, as is the general public. And this despite the fact that the Post Office has more personnel in ratio to mail volume than ever before.

Austin Kiplinger, the newsletter publisher, suggests that the President should ask Betty Furness' Consumer Protection Committee to study the postal service in relation to postal rates. Consumer protection can start here.

The Post Office seems to refute the old saying "You get what you pay for." Obviously, postal patrons aren't.

PAST OFFICERS CLUB

The Past Offiers Club of the Federation of Clubs held their meeting at the home of Mrs. W. T. Morgan Thursday evening.

Mrs. Marian Dreibelbiss opened the meeting by reading a poem. Mrs. Baumgartner was in charge of devotions. She began by saying: "Let us meditate." After commenting on the meaning of The Lord's Prayer, she asked all to repeat the Lord's Prayer in unison.

For the Christmas program, Miss Martha McComas told of the Christmas season at the Fort Wayne State School. She has been a nurse there for three years. She has about 450 persons under her care. In the institution, there are about 2500 persons ranging in age from children to aged persons. Plans for the Christmas season begin in July. Clubs, organizations and individuals from eight counties are asked to participate by sending gifts and by helping to prepare for the Christmas party, which was held December 14. This year 47 persons are serving as sponsors. Two gifts for each person, valued at about three dollars, are needed. An attempt is made to give each person the gifts they have asked for. These gifts are distributed at the various parties held in the residence cottages.

Many of the residents have homes to go to on Christmas Day or have gifts from families.

Those who have no families are given gifts on Christmas that have been held from the gifts that have been contributed for the parties.

Throughout the year, birthday parties are given each month for those having birthdays during the month. Martha's mother, Mrs. John McComas, who is president of District 12 Federation of Clubs, is one of the sponsors who bakes cakes each month for the cottages in Martha's group. As a Christmas surprise to Mrs. McComas, each member of Past Officers Club came to the meeting with a package of chocolate or cherry chip cake mix to assist her in her cage baking. These were presented to her at the close of Martha's talk.

Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table.

VOL. LXXXIII — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, December 28, 1968 — NUMBER 50

Indiana State Library

Grief can take care of itself; but to get the full value of a joy you must have somebody to divide it with.
—Mark Twain

—by Eola Cooper

A new dimension has been added to Christmas decorations in DeKalb County. It seems altogether fitting that the county's great philanthropic institution, DeKalb Memorial Hospital, should be the means of conveying the symbolism to all passers-by.

"A star! A star! Shining in the night!" Approaching the hospital, one almost exclaims the words of the carol so much in the air and on the air at this season. To be sure, there are many earth-bound stars now in evidence, but it's the height and size of this hospital star, and the rays of light which lead from it too the ground on the west side of the building, and its significance as hovering over an institution, which plays its part in "bringing goodness and light" as the words of the carol conclude.

Credit for the idea and for the work involved in converting it to physical form and placement, must go to Bob King, hospital administrator, and Dave Jones, head of maintenance at DeKalb Memorial.

Congratulations to both, and may their hopes for additions to the display for another year be realized.

To appreciate, however, the full import of the Christmas season out there, those who have occasion to enter the hospital will appreciate the extent to which the staff goes to bring all the cheer they possibly can to all all who pass through the corridors or occupy the patient beds.

And once again is seen and appreciated the beatiful eleven bloom poinsettia plant placed by the staff in the main reception lounge for all to enjoy, donated by the Donald Schaabs in memory of their son and daughter, Don and Sue.

Such sharing is typical of the Schaab character, and the pink glow of the plant enhances the beauty of the other Christmas touches, including the five lovely trees donated by Ralph Howe of Auburn, all decorated with tender care by the staff. May the healing hand of Christmas touch them all—staff, doctors, and patients.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, reporter

The Ladies Literary Club met with Mrs. Carl Carpenter on December 4, 1968. The president, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m., and the collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Wayne Storer.

A most interesting history of money was given by Mrs. Walter Reinhart. She also had many samples of different coins wich added interest to the lesson.

For entertainment, Mrs. Russell Snyder conducted two unusual word scramble games dealing with winter and the Christmas season.

After a short business meeting the club was adjourned and the hostess served refreshments.

On December 18, at 6:30 p.m., the Ladies Literary Club held a Christmas party at Platner's Steak House. The theme was "Christmas Stars" and was beautifully carried out in the decorations and program.

The committee for the evening was Mrs. Weldon Shafer and Mrs. Walter Reinhart.

The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Russell Snyder on January 8.

Blazers Win Pair

by Phil Miller

Eastside's Blazers won their second and third straight games to close out 1968, defeating Fremont 40-31 and Southern Wells 70-57.

Fremont started off with a possession game against the Blazers, but the strategy backfired as the Blazers worked to a 6-0 lead in the first four minutes. The Eagles stuck to their game plan, constantly keeping the ball in their own hands and away from the basket. Charlie Ross and Keith Kessler each hit for four points and John Kochert for 2 as Eastside stayed in front 10-7 at the end of the first quarter. The Blazers had trouble solving the Fremont stall in the second quarter, hitting only two baskets and falling behind 15-14 at the half.

At the start of the third quarter, Eastside put on a zone press which caused Fremont to make many errors. Six quick points gave the Blazers a five-point lead, and although the Eagles kept close, they were never able to get back in front. The game was not decided until the last two minutes, when Eastside jumped from a 34-31 lead to the final margin. Ross led the Blazer scoring attack with 14 points. Kessler topped the rebounding with 10. John Kochert pitched in with four points, and along with Tom Seltenright did a good job feeding the ball through the Fremont defense. Deo Wasson and Dennis Ginder came off the bench to provide needed help, Wasson hitting four of eight field goal attempts, and Ginder stealing the ball and scoring to cut off Fremont's last threat.

Eastside hit 18 of 39 field goal atempts for 46 percent, and 4 of 13 from the free throw line for 31 percent. Fremont scored on 12 of 41 from the field, 30 percent, and 7 out of 12 free throws, 58 percent.

The B-team rolled over the smaller Eagles 56-26.

Saturday night's game was a complete contrast from the previous night's action, as the red hot Blazers hit from all angles to race to a 22-8 first quarter lead. All five starters scored in the period, with Kochert and Kessler pacing the attack with six points each. The Blazers used the first four minutes to run up a 13-2 lead, and the Raiders were as good as dead for the night. The Blazers kept up the steam in the second period, rolling to a 44-20 halftime lead. Good rebounding and quick passing set up several fast breaks to give the Blazers some easy lay-ups. The Blazers' accuracy from the field was 54 percent in the first half.

The Raiders hit a hot streak early in the third quarter, cutting the lead to 10 points before Eastside found the range again. Kessler and Wasson then led the Blazers in rebuilding their lead to 19 points as the quarter ended. Southern Wells outscored Eastside 17-11 in the last period, but never seriously threatened the Blazers' lead. In addition to leading in scoring, Kessler also did a fine rebounding job. Wasson, back in the starting lineup, had his best scoring night so far this year, contributing 13 points, equal to Charlies Ross' total. Kochert and Seltenright played well, scoring 6 and 7 respectively. Jerry Simanton and Ted Miller backed up the starters well, Simanton scoring 8 points in about a half game.

The Blazers hit 30 of 74 from the field for 41 percent, and added 10 of 18 free throws for 56 percent.

The B-team couldn't quite handle the Raiders, losing 43-40.

The Blazers' next action will be two home games, January 3 against Churubusco, and January 4 against Heritage. With a 3-4 record at this time, the Blazers are aiming to climb above the .500 mark with a pair of wins.

Blood from March of Dimes Center Proves Lifesaver for 5-Year-Old Girl

When most five-year-olds have an "off" day, as all children do from time to time, adults tend to blame it on a need for more rest.

But when pretty, brown-eyed Angela M. of Augusta, Ga., gets cranky, they're apt to think she needs a blood transfusion.

Angela has an hereditary birth defect of the blood called "thalassemia major" or Cooley's anemia. By the age of four, she had received a total of 60 pints of blood, and still requires a transfusion about every two to three weeks.

"Transfusions are such a 'way of life' for Angela that people tend to feel sorry for her and excuse perfectly normal misbehavior," says Dr. Dorothy Hahn, chief clinic physician of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at the Medical College of Georgia where Angela is a patient.

"Instead of the mild discipline needed at school or elsewhere, she often gets misplaced sympathy. Like all bright, observant children she quickly learns to take advantage of this with adults outside her home."

Angela's young parents, East Indians who came to Augusta from New Delhi, cope very well with her condition and upbringing. Her father, an Oxford-trained biochemist on the faculty of the Medical College, and her attractive, sari-clad mother, treat their youngest child as firmly as they do her brother and sister—despite the seriousness of Angela's condition. Good behavior is impartially expected of each member of the family.

Victims of thalassemia major tend to die in their first or second decade. Their red blood cells last only one-third to one-half of the normal length of time. Frequent transfusions help, but children with the disease are vulnerable to infections and even a mild cold can develop into fatal pneumonia. An estimated 25,000 children and young adults in the United States are believed to have thalassemia.

Angela is too young to understand the words 'survival' and 'transfusions' in the sense adults do. But she does understand that she is different from normal children and knows that something may happen to her.

A caller at her family's pleasant suburban home quickly realizes, however, how much Angela's parents have helped her to learn to live with her condition. While the little girl played beyond hearing, her mother spoke frankly to a visitor about Angela's sometimes disturbing questions.

"Last year, Angela asked her father, 'Am I going to live or die?' My husband answered, 'Child if you want to live, you will live.' I think that was a beautiful answer, full of wisdom. Angela told her father she very much wished to live."

At the March of Dimes Center, Dr. Hahn and colleagues are doing everything they can to enable Angela to live normally. They have helped her overcome a natural fear of needles, bottles of blood and bandages.

"She's a brave child," says Dr. Hahn. "She is no longer afraid of our white coats and equipment. She has learned to accept frequent transfusions and has come along to the point where she even 'supervises' us and gives transfusions to her dolls."

Research in thalassemia is proceeding in several directions. Today some patients can be helped to live into their thirties. This was not possible a few years ago. Some investigators theorize that it may soon be possible to transplant hemoglobin-producing bone marrow or to use other techniques to fight the disease.

If Angela is to be granted her wish for life, researchers working on the problem have no time to lose.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 229
—Shari Hook, Troop Scribe

The Troop had its Christmas party on December 13, caroling in Spencerville and enjoying a gathering afterwards. Santa Claus made a surprise visit and passed out presents.

The regular meeting was held Monday, December 16. The gifts for our families were finished, and we made some Christmas tree decorations. We had our closing circle and the meeting was dismissed.

Life Parallels Sports

The basketball season is upon us again. "Hoosier Madness" is another name for it. The success in basketball, like any other sport, is a frame of mind. Most players fail to make the grade in this great sport because of their mental attitudes. The boy who acquires a proper mental attitude toward the game, and along with it realizes that most successful basketball players are made, not born, will be on the road to success, and should have no difficulties in becoming a better than average player.

Most athletes fail because they don't know where they are going. They know they want to play the game, but a set pattern of training rules is often the real reason of their success or failure in the game. Anything in life worth having should bring out the best in any boy who wants to attain success.

Success in basketball, or in any walk of life, comes to that person who knows where he is going, determines what he should do to move in the right direction, works industriously toward the mastery of all details, and believes with all his heart that he can have anything he wants if he wants it enough.

The future of any boy in basketball is determined by the boy. He can talk a good game, read books on the game, but success will never come until the boy does something about it. Herein lies the secret of success. The greatest reward in life is the success that comes from work.

If boys playing under the leadership of respected coaches are taught fair play, and play the game fairly and squarely, never stooping to pettiness, they will pursue the same course in life.

SEAT BELT FACTS

Traffic accidents claimed 53,000 lives in 1966, 35,100 of which were drivers or passengers in automobiles. If they had been using seat belts, at least 8,000 to 10,000 of those lives would have been saved.

Three-fourths of all traffic accidents occur within 25 miles of home.

Half of all injury-producing accidents occur at impact speeds of 40 mph or less.

Your chance of survival is five times greater if you stay inside the car. Thousands of deaths and serious injuries are caused by being thrown from the car, being dragged or run over by another vehicle, or being run over by the victim's own vehicle.

A seat belt can help keep you from being knocked unconscious. Your chance of escaping if the car catches fire or goes into water is multiplied hundreds of times.

Only 20 percent of all serious accidents in a convertible involve a rollover. In the other 80 percent, belts would prevent ejection.

Seat belts can help prevent the "second collision," being thrown around inside the vehicle.

More than half of all passenger car occupants are now provided with seat belts, but those belts are only being used about half the time. This limited use saved about 2,000 lives in 1966.

You may need seat belts only once.
But which once?

HINTS ON HEALTH
by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

SNEEZIN' SEASON

It's the sneezin' season.

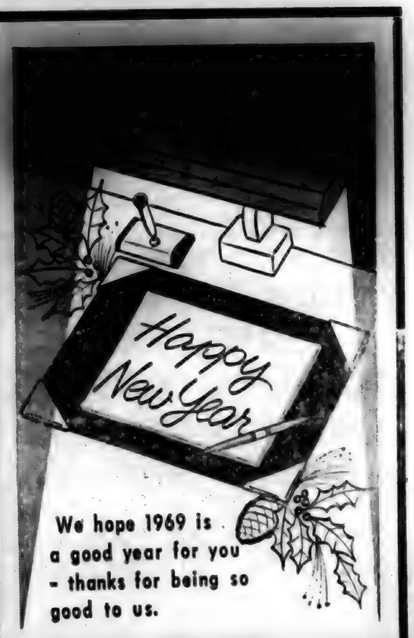
A sneeze is a symptom of the common cold. The cold is the commonest disease and outnumbers any other disease 25 to 1. Colds are transmitted from one person to another, usually by droplets given off from the mouth and nose in sneezing and coughing. And of course a kiss can pass a cold.

Because the sneeze expels mucus and germs into the atmosphere, it should be covered with a handkerchief, tissue or at least the hand. Colds seem inevitable, as the average person in this country contracts three colds a year. It isn't the cold itself that is so serious. It's the complications which often accompany the cold.

The infection may involve the sinuses, or a part of the respiratory system, the eyes and ears, even the kidneys. The most frequent and serious complication of a cold is pneumonia. The cure? Stay in bed rest. One day in bed may be enough if the victim follows this advice when the first familiar symptoms appear—chilliness and a dry, irritating feeling in the nose and behind the soft palate.

If the person with a cold feels particularly ill and symptoms continue after several days in bed, he should not get up, for the danger of pneumonia is greatest on the third or fourth day.

Some individuals are more susceptible to colds than others. In general, good health and rest offers some protection against infection. A person concerned with his health will avoid, whenever possible, a sneeze.



We hope 1969 is a good year for you - thanks for being so good to us.

Indiana State Library

Local Woman GetsAppointment

Mrs. Connie Hollabaugh of Spencerville has been named co-manager of the Auburn license bureau, as the DeKalb County Republican Central Committee announced the recommended people to fill several job openings due to the recent election of Edgar D. Whitcomb as Governor of Indiana. In addition, the following people have been cleared through the county, district and state Republican committees and will be appointed by Governor-elect Whitcomb when he takes office January 13.

The State Highway Superintendent at Waterloo District is Leonard Smith of Waterloo, now serving as an assistant to DeKalb County Surveyor Arnold Milks. Mr. Smith has been an active Republican for many years, as well as a major contributor. His assistant is yet to be named. The Unit Chairman for DeKalb County is Carl Edds of Butler, a former unit chairman under Governor Harold Handley. Head clerk at the Waterloo State Highway District will be Helen Morr of Waterloo. Mrs. Morr is the widow of the late Fern Morr, an active Republican. Mrs. Morr served as Republican clerk-treasurer of Waterloo until 1967. The assistant clerk for the Waterloo highway district will be Mrs. Dorothy Frazee, who served as clerk for the county highway department four years.

Recommended for the Butler license branch is Mrs. Clifford Parker of Butler, Republican Headquarters chairman in the past election. Mrs. Parker was the branch manager during Governor Handley's term, and was endorsed by Butler Mayor Raymond McCann for this position.

Mrs. Eileen Howiler was recommended as manager of the Garrett license branch. She has served as precinct vice-committeeman in Keyser township for the last four years, and has worked in Garrett Republican Headquarters. She is also active in Republican Women's Club activities. The Republican Committee stated that Mrs. Howiler is one of the best Republican workers in DeKalb County, and should do a capable job.

Two persons were suggested for the Auburn license branch because of the larger amount of business the Auburn branch processes during the year. Mrs. Mabel Lyons of Auburn and Mrs. Hollabaugh are the co-managers. Mrs. Lyons is well known throughout the state for her party achievements. She has served as precinct committeeman and Republican vice chairman for over 30 years. She also served as state vice chairman and was elected state-wide as clerk of the Supreme Court in 1954. Mrs. Hollabaugh is the widow of Jack Hollabaugh, an active Republican in Spencer township. Mrs. Hollabaugh is presently serving as Spencer township precinct vice committeeman, and is serving the township office of advisory board.

The County Committee also announced that each member of a license branch will serve for a set salary, and all profits will go into the county Republican treasury.

Reforms Appear To Have Support

According to a poll conducted by United Press International, the next Indiana Legislature will take positive action in government reforms which have been talked about for some time. Indiana legislators apparently believe that a governor should be permitted to serve two consecutive terms and that he and the lieutenant governor should be elected as a team.

Of 93 legislators who replied to questions in the poll, 85 said they favored such amendments, and only seven opposed the proposal, with eight undecided.

Of those voting for the constitutional change in the two administrative leaders' jobs, 17 were Republican senators, 39 were Republican representatives, eight were Democrat senators and 14 Democrat representatives.

Those opposed included two Republican senators, four Republican representatives and one lone Democrat, a representative.

At the present time, the Indiana governor may serve only one four-year term and cannot succeed himself. The lieutenant governor may serve more than one term but he is elected separately from the governor and can be—and has been—of opposite political faith.

Among the many major changes proposed in Indiana's 1851 Constitution by a bipartisan Constitutional Revision Commission were one which would permit the governor to be eligible to serve two consecutive terms, or a total of eight years, and another which would have the lieutenant governor run jointly in the general election with the governor on one ticket.

The commission was headed by two former governors, Harold Handley, a Republican, and Matthew Welsh, a Democrat, and included a variety of members, among them university presidents, law professors, public officials, and representatives of various segments of state life.

The work of the commission was considered so important and far-reaching that new committees have been created in the House and Senate solely to handle these proposed constitutional revisions.

The UPI poll covered only the questions of governor and lieutenant governor as outlined before. It appears that other proposals would also get favorable consideration.

One of the other proposals would reduce from five to three years the time required to amend the constitution.

Then any of the constitutional amendments passed by the next legislature must also be approved in 1971 and survive a referendum in 1972 before becoming effective.

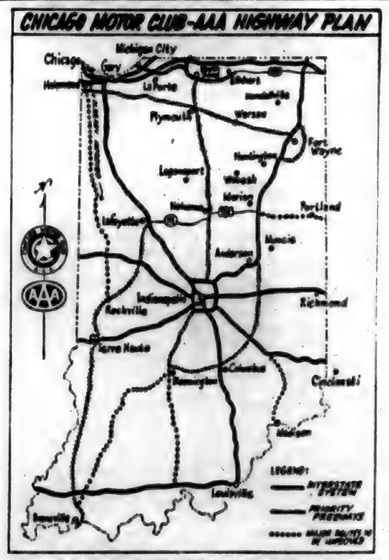
The Safe Winter Driving League presents the above findings of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. These tests, conducted on a glare ice course at Stevens Point, Wis., disclosed that conventional snow tires provided only a small improvement in pulling ability as compared with regular tires. Studded tires developed about three times the pull of regular tires, and reinforced tire chains developed about seven times the pull of regular tires.

Regardless of the type of traction device employed, however, the League reminds motorists that driving speeds on icy pavements must be sharply reduced.



Shown above are the 650 miles of priority freeways and 350 miles of major route improvements being advocated by the Indiana Division of the Chicago Motor Club-AAA in order to meet Indiana's immediate road needs. The motor club plan calls for early construction and upgrading of these priority routes under a proposed Indiana Emergency Highway Authority and financed by a special new tax—earmarked for this purpose—of 1 cent per gallon on gas and 2 cents per gallon on diesel fuel. The new and improved roads, when combined with the already open or under way Interstate System routes, will provide Indiana with the modern highway network necessary to meet the state's growing needs and reduce the steadily rising traffic death and accident rate.

So Near, So Far

There is something exciting—and something disappointing—about the Christmas season. I can't recall if the same sensations were felt years ago; perhaps it's a sign of growing old, when these mixed emotions seem to be more apparent.

One thing I do remember as being a pet gripe for some time is the early date on which we are reminded of the approach of the Christmas season. I think I saw a Christmas tree in a store window (not locally) 'way back in September. That's getting just too soon as far as I am concerned. It's no wonder the Christmas spirit—if any really does exist in the minds of the people—is gone already on December 26. Generally speaking, the day after Christmas is "blah," there having been such a prolonged prelude that people are admittedly glad it's over.

How sad that the religious meaning, the "real" meaning of Christmas, is overridden by the commercial involvement that establishes the Christmas "season." Actually, we are still in the Christmas season. The "merry" part of Christmas ought still to be ringing in the air; but it isn't.

This is a rather gloomy bit to write for the first week in the new year. But the blinking lights in the News Office windows reminded me of how out of place they seem already, how far in the past Christmas seems to be. And I wonder why I feel this way. Do you have an explanation? Do you have the same feelings???

KEEP, REVISE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Our Presidential cliff-hanger has once again loosed the forces in this country who have been working toward complete elimination of the Electoral College, urging election of the President by direct popular vote.

Our own Hoosier Senator Birch Bayh, in his typical get-there-first style, already has announced he is preparing legislation to do just that.

We would suggest that Mr. Bayh and those in his camp are running too fast, unsure of either their direction or the real location of the finish line.

Despite all of the dire predictions to the contrary, we managed to elect a President on Nov. 5 without any serious dislocation of the country and without any disastrous effects on our foreign committments about the globe.

Those, like Mr. Bayh, who profess to find something dangerous in the "time lag" that the Electoral College mechanism could force, have no real assurance the direct popular vote approach would be any faster. Indeed, we still wouldn't know for sure today who had been elected President over a week ago. The returns are still coming in and there is still a possibility, although little probability, that Humphrey may edge Nixon in the popular vote when all the returns have been certified and are in.

The time lag, under the Electoral College system, was but 12 hours after the last polls closed in Hawaii and Alaska. The News-Sentinel was able to say, without equivocation, that Richard Milhous Nixon had been elected this country's 37th President when we went to press with our area edition Wednesday (Nov. 6) at 11:50 a.m.

We are not suggesting that the present Electoral College system is without need for some face-lifting. We think it is. But in a nation with as many diverse interests as the United States, with as sharp a cleavage in philosophy between its urban and rural citizens, this nation must continue to be concerned with all of its people.

We would hate to see an electoral polarization of the popular vote which would permit the heavy urban concentrations in the large cities of our industrial north to become weighted factors which cross state lines. In effect, this would wipe out any role smaller states and rural areas have to play.

There are several viable methods for modernizing the Electoral College already in the hopper. We incline toward the allocation of electoral votes predominantly by Congressional districts. Under this system the number of electoral votes would correspond to the number of representatives and senators a state has in Congress. One vote would be given to the Presidential winner of each Congressional district, leaving two votes in each state to go to the Presidential nominee carrying the state.

We feel this would tend to greatly reduce the distortion admittedly present in the present system. But it would still preserve the status of the less populous states and it would keep this Republic from becoming a monolith which eliminates the diversity of interests and philosophies which has made this country strong.

MAN IS WISER THAN ANY MAN

I address you not as one white with wisdom or practiced in the ways of the world, but as a fellow student handicapped with age, yet as eager as ever to learn something between every rising and setting of the sun. You must season my platitudes with a grain of salt, and grant me the tolerant allowances that youth must always make for age.

My first request to you is: Be healthy. It is within your will. Barring inherited or childhood ailments, sickness is a crime; it means that you have done something physiologically foolish, and that nature is being hard put to repair your mistake.

Our bodies are what we eat, plus what our ancestors ate. Don't let restaurants lure you; they will burden your flesh in proportion as they lighten your purse. Perhaps one of the cardinal errors of our time and land is that we continue in a sedentary life the diet that served to provide muscle and heat. The hospitals are littered with people who have allowed an excess of imports over exports to disturb their internal economy.

And exercise! Nature intended thought to be a guide to action, not a substitute for it; thought unbalanced by action is unnatural. Do some physical work for at least an hour every day.

Sex, after hunger, is our strongest instinct and greatest problem. Nature is infatuated with continuance, and dolls up the woman with beauty and the man with money to lure them into continuing the species; and so it gives us males such sensitivity to the charms of women that we can go quite mad in their pursuit. Sex then becomes a fire and flame in the blood, and burns up the whole personality—which should be a hierarchy and harmony of desires.

Our ancestors knew how to play this sexual impulse down, knowing that it was strong enough without encouragement; we have blown it up with a thousand forms of incitation, advertisement, emphasis and display, and have armed it with the doctrine that inhibition is dangerous. Whereas inhibition—the control of impulse—is the first principle of civilization.

Don't let your choice of a mate be determined by the accident of propinquity or the pressure of physiological needs. Don't buy a grab bag in a coma. Let at least three months intervene between betrothal and marriage.

The difficulties of marriage are far less than its rewards. One touch of a woman's hand can be paradise, if the touch is not for too much. Napoleon said that the only happiness he had ever known was in loving his children; and I hope you won't have children without marriage.

Character comes second only to health. The greatest task assumed by schools is to transform egos into gentlemen. A gentleman, as my wife once defined it, is a person continually considerate.

Speak no evil of anyone; every unkind word will sooner or later fly back into your face and make you stumble in the race of life. To speak ill of others is a dishonest way of praising ourselves. If you can't say good and encouraging things, say nothing. Nothing is often a good thing to do, and always a clever thing to say.

Those of you who specialize in science will find it hard to understand religion unless you feel, as Voltaire did, that the harmony of the spheres reveals a cosmic mind.

We are such microscopic particles in so immense a universe that none of us is in a position to understand the world, much less to dogmatizze about it. Pascal trembled at the though of man's bewildered minuteness between the immensity of the whole and the complexity of each part. "These infinite spaces," he said, "frighten me!" Let us be careful how we pit our pitiful generalizations against the infinite variety, scope and subtlety of the world.

Build an economic basis under your life, but don't get caught in the rat-trap of money-making as a profession. That, like sex, can be a consuming fever which brings only fitful pleasures, no lasting happiness.

If you become an employer, your relation with your employes is more important than adding a zero to your wealth. Give every employe the full equivalent of his share in the product. Don't live in a boastful luxury based on taking more from the world than you give.

We have put too much stress in recent times on intellect, too little on character. We have sharpened our wits while weakening our restraints.

We exaggerate the value of newness in ideas and things. It is so much easier to be original and foolish than original and wise. The customs, conventions and beliefs of mankind are the product of trial-and-error experience through many centuries. It is unlikely that any individual, however intellectually brilliant, can come in one lifetime to such knowledge and depth of understanding as to sit safely and wisely in judgment on ancient ways.

Man is wser than any man. Hence there is something disagreeably shallow about sophistication; it suggests cleverness about the part and ignorance of the whole. Modesty makes wisdom wiser, as it makes beauty lovelier.

The whole world of knowledge, technology, morals, manners, government, literature, philosophy and art is your heritage, which has grown incredibly through the centuries and is so rich that you will never be able to exhaust it. Drink the brimming cup of life to the full and to the end—and thank God and nature for its trials and challenges, its punishments and rewards, its gifts of beauty, wisdom, labor and love.

Household Drugs May Cause Defects, March of Dimes Physician Warns

LSD and thalidomide come to mind immediately when we think of drugs which may cause birth defects. But more and more scientists are equally suspicious of the commonplace medications found in the family medicine chest.

Even simple remedies such as aspirin are under investigation. So are vitamins in excessive doses, nose drops and many other over-the-counter medicines.

Some experts fear that overemphasis on the dramatically dangerous drugs overshadows a far more important fact—until scientists understand more clearly how chemicals affect the child in the womb, all drugs are suspect.

A "terminology gap" in the popular definition of drugs has clouded this important point, according to Dr. Virginia Apgar, vice president for medical affairs of The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"The word 'drugs' has come to mean only the addicting narcotics and barbiturates, or the mind-expanding marijuana, LSD and 'speed.' But the truth is that drugs include the whole range of chemicals human beings may take in the form of pills, powders, capsules, injections, inhalents or by absorption through the skin," Dr. Apgar says.

One reason for increased suspicion of all drugs is the relatively recent medical awareness that the womb is not a perfectly safe haven. Physicians once thought it to be completely protected by the placenta, preventing harmful agents from being passed by the mother to the unborn child. Today, doctors who used to speak confidently of the "placental barrier" as an impervious, natural protective agent, know that the theory and the barrier are full of holes.

In its prenatal care literature, The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which entered the field of birth defects after the conquest of polio, warns all women of childbearing age against self-medication, home remedies, and "borrowing" pills from friends and relatives.

Even prescription drugs normally taken without ill effect should be re-evaluated by a physician when pregnancy is a possibility. No woman, of course, should refuse to take medicine which her doctor considers essential to her overall health. Indeed, failure to take needed medication may be as dangerous to a developing fetus as random self-medication.

MALFORMED ARMS AND LEGS of a patient at a March of Dimes Birth Defects Center resemble those of thalidomide victims. Scientists suspect that other drugs found in the average medicine cabinet may cause other birth defects.

If an expectant mother is under the care of more than one specialist, each doctor should know what has been prescribed by the other since some chemicals of relatively low risk by themselves may be hazardous in combination with other drugs. Taking exactly the prescribed amount is also important — twice what the doctor orders does not do twice as much good.

Many people are surprised that such things as vitamins are considered drugs. But vitamins are chemicals. Too much vitamin K, for example, sometimes causes jaundice which can damage an unborn child's central nervous system. Too much vitamin D during pregnancy can cause excess calcium in the baby, a condition which may be related to defects of the heart and bones as well as to mental retardation.

Using nose drops is not generally recognized as "taking drugs." Yet nose drops which are powerful enough to contract the blood vessels of the nose may also be strong enough to contract the blood vessels of the placenta and placental bed, reducing the oxygen and nutrition the fetus receives.

Many drugs, whether they have been available for a long time or are new developments, have great merit as aids to human health and comfort, Dr. Apgar admits.

"But before we take or freely prescribe any chemical, new or old, it behooves all of us—doctors, laymen and, especially potential parents—to consider first what the ultimate cost might be to future generations."

OUR JOB

OUR JOB is generating electricity and getting it to where it's used. We're in this business because it is concerned with the supply of a fundamental requirement of modern living, because it's an honorable one, because we like it, and because we want to earn a living at it. We aim to give one kind of service to everyone . . . the best that's possible. That means supplying our customers with what they want when they want it. It means being courteous at all times and maintaining attractive easy-to-do-business-with offices. It means doing everything we can to keep complaints from arising, and it means prompt and fair handling of those that do. We are a citizen of each community we serve and take an active part in its affairs. Like any other citizen, we want our neighbors to think well of us. Besides, it makes good business-sense. We can prosper only as the community prospers; so we help it thrive in every way we can. Such is our job as we see it. We are trying to do it well and to do it better all the time. ■ ■ ■ ■ ■ ■

We despise all reverences and all the objects of reverence which are outside the pale of our own list of sacred things. And yet, with strange inconsistency, we are shocked when other people despise and defile the things which are holy to us.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Last week Don Yeiser asked me to run his ad again concerning the Yeisers' missing Boston terrier. It slipped my mind until after last week's issue was out. So, as a last resort, I'll just mention here that the family pet has not turned up yet; the dog has been missing since December 13. If you have any information about the dog, the Yeisers would appreciate hearing from you.

A couple of weeks ago or so, the phone rang. When I answered I recognized the voice of Nelson Grills, our school dispute attorney, but he didn't say anything about school. His first words were, "I didn't know you liked 'Summer Love and Surf'."

He was referring to the book of poems which brother-in-law Phil Appleman authored. Nelson said there was a write-up in the Indianapolis papers about Phil and he sent me a clipping of it.

Later, Fern Carr came in and gave me a clipping from the Bloomington-Bedford Sunday "Herald-Times" about Phil, sent by daughter Andrea (Barber).

Some of the information in the clippings, which might interest you, follows:

"An Indiana University English professor who went to sea because World War II ended too soon for him to travel has a new book of poems which has just been published by Vanderbilt University Press.

"Dr. Philip Appleman, who teaches poetry and creative writing, recalls some of his Merchant Marine experiences in 'Summer Love and Surf.' This is the second book of poems Dr. Appleman has had published. He is also the author of 'The Silent Explosion,' which is a book about the world population explosion.

"With his glasses on, Dr. Appleman looks like a professor or perhaps a young business executive. Without his glasses, he looks like the kind of adventurer who is at home on the sea. This is no coincidence.

"During World War II, Dr. Appleman was an aviation cadet but the war ended before he completed his training. Disappointed because he did not get to travel, he joined the Merchant Marines in 1946 and became a deckhand. After a few voyages, he left the sea and went to school. In 1948-49, he served again in the Merchant Marine.

"Some of Dr. Appleman's poems reflect his sea experience. He is now writing a book in which he will draw from his experiences in the Merchant Marines.

"Travel has been both a business and a pleasure for him. In addition to his Merchant Marine voyages, Dr. Appleman visited and studied in 10 European countries while he was a Fulbright scholar in 1951-52. From 1960 until 1963, he was with the International School of America, and one of those years he served as director. The group takes students on round-the-world study trips.

"Writing poetry does not happen in a flash of inspiration, Dr. Appleman points out. He may be struck by an idea, which he puts down on paper, then 'the sweat begins as I try to shape the poem into its final form. He usually lets a poem age at least a month before showing it to anyone but his wife, who is his personal critic.

" 'She (Appleman's wife) loves me enough to forgive me and correct me if I get off the track with my poems,' Dr. Appleman says.

"Mrs. Appleman, who teaches French at the IU Indianapolis campus, is also a writer. She writes plays, one of which is being considered for professional production.

"Dr Appleman and his wife do the writing at home during the mornings when they are not teaching.

"Even though he is a successful poet whose works have appeared in many periodicals as well as in book form, Dr. Appleman points out that writing poetry is not financially rewarding.

" 'The thing that makes writing poetry worth while is the sense of achievement it brings,' Dr. Appleman says. 'You don't have to suffer at the moment of writing, but it makes you a more sympathetic human being if you have had suffering as a part of human experience.'

"Dr. Appleman is not always successful when he sits down to write. If he is not satisfied with a poem, he doesn't submit it for publication. He keeps some of his 'failures' around because this is 'good for the soul'."

For some reason, I'm not sure what it is, I have let my sideburns grow down to ear lobe level. Maybe it's some of the young blood still in me (I hope) that does some things just to irritate others and be "different."

Anyhow, last Sunday morning after church, Betty Bevington hesitantly commented about the sideburns and handed me a clipping which she cut out from the News-Sentinel several days ago. Husband Forrest said she busted out laughing when she read it and thought immediately about me.

Here's the article:

"MALE EGO ELEVATED WITH LONG SIDEBURNS

"Washington (UPI)—It is time someone explained why long sideburns have become fashionable again. I shall endeavor to perform this service.

"To understand the sideburn fad we must recognize that growing hair on the face is the only thing man can do that women can't.

"Woman, by contrast, can do a whole host of things man can't. Don't ask questions about this: just take my word for it.

"When man became aware of his comparative limitations, he felt inferior. His first attempts to remove the hair from his face reflected a subconscious desire to make himself more like woman.

"Later on, man realized that shaving was getting him nowhere. But by that time he was under the influence of shaving cream commercials. So he continued to scrape off the stubble.

"Then came the revolt against shaving cream commercials by beatniks, hippies and other protest groups. Beards began to appear in substantial numbers, and with them came a re-awakening of interest in man's only natural prerogative.

"Clean-shaved squares everywhere secretly longed to let their whiskers grow, too. And some did. But most lacked the courage to reclaim this symbol of masculine superiority.

"Beards, as you know, do not sprout full blown. They emerge in elegant languor. Five o'clock shadows gradually deepen into prickly eyesores. The entire face becomes a slum area.

"It is this period of transition men most dread. It subjects them to complaints from the women they nuzzle, and to crude jokes from the guys in the office.

"Sideburns are a happy compromise. Women cannot grow them. Thus they gratify the male ego, which is hard pressed to find any sort of gratification.

"Better yet, sideburns can be grown inconspicuously. Each day a fraction of an inch is left unshaved and the hairline creeps surreptitiously down the cheek. No complaints from the ladies. No jibes from the gentlemen.

"For sensitive souls who have been trying to get up enough nerve to grow mustaches, sideburns are a godsend.

"That embarrassing interlude when the upper lip is discolored with what appears to be a bristly fungus can be completely avoided.

"One simply lets his sideburns sneak down and across his face until they meet under his nose. Then he shaves his cheeks and —presto!—instant mustache."

One thing I don't like about letting the sideburns and hair grow longer: two people have commented about how much grayer I'm getting. That really hurts. I'm about ready to get back to normal, shave the sideburns—and get a crew cut!

—Normal!!!!!!

The central district's annexation committee, composed of Superintendent James Watson, Assistant Superintendent Roger Hess and attorney Donald Mefford, will meet with Eastside's Superintendent Kenneth Cole and attorney H. Charles Winans Friday, January 10. Consideration will be given to the details relative to annexation and the proper resolution which will be published for public consideration. Distribution of the proposal is planned Saturday of this week to the Eastside school board, which will then hold a special meeting Thursday, January 16, to review the annexation proposal. A meeting of the central and eastern school boards is tentatively planned, possibly for the week following the eastern district board's special meeting.

Meanwhile, in other school matters affecting the Eastside district, the Indiana Supreme Court rejected an appeal by a "remonstrating" group on a circuit court decision against the group which has contended that a proposed new junior-senior high school would be located on an inadequate site and in violation of state regulations. The ruling came on December 27. It was noted by the attorney representing the filers of the suit that the court vote was 3-1. In the past, the Supreme Court has been unanimous in its decisions in the local school dispute.

An appeal is being planned to the United States Supreme Court by Nelson Grills in behalf of the plaintiffs in the suit. Inasmuch as a proposed annexation of the Riverdale area has not been carried out as yet, it is planned to continue the protest against the use of the Butler site for new junior-senior high school construction.

However, if annexation of the Riverdale area is carried out, students in Concord, Newville and Spencer townships would attend the new high school facility in the central district. Elementary students would continue to attend school at the new Riverdale school located at Saint Joe. Junior high pupils in the three townships would attend school also at Saint Joe until a proposed new junior high unit is built on the central district's rural site.

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

Since this is my first column of 1969, I think I'd like to introduce a new look. People have said that they wouldn't like to have the column named because they always look for the question mark. Others say that it should have some kind of a name. So in an effort to please them all (which can't be done), we will henceforth be called "Dear Loretta ?".

All letters that I receive from you will be published in full, so you'll know everything that I know. Good idea?

"Dear Loretta,

"Hi, how are you? I'm fine and getting short.

"As you said in your column, you believe we forgot about you. We didn't really. It's just that we don't have time or have things to think aobut (like getting home.)

"I read your column every time I get the paper, to see where the other guys are and what they are doing. But it won't be long before I'll be on my way home!

"If you don't already know, I make my home in Ohio since I got married before I came over here.

"If things work out, I hope to go to International Business College to finish what I should have done 4 years ago (get a college education).

"The 14th of December, I made Sgt.

"Things around here are fairly quiet but all I want to do is get back home. I know I'll freeze my tail off, but I miss the snow.

"Christmas wasn't really Christmas. For one thing not being home and the other no snow.

"Bob Brown of Auburn is in a unit here on the same post as I am (Lai Khe) but I have only seen him a couple of times since he spends the greater part of the time in the fields.

"I hope everyone back home had Happy Holidays.

"I've run out of words so I'll close now. May God bless and protect you.

Sincerely yours,
Larry"

Dear Larry,

Thank you for your letter. We all congratulate you on becoming a Sgt. and we're glad that you are getting short.

This is Tuesday a.m., January 7. We are snowed in, and the schools are closed. Sorry, but I can't promise to hold the snow till you get here. We still have our Christmas decorations up. There were so many men home on leave for Christmas that we just can't seem to put them away till next year (the decorations, not the men).

The next time you see Bob Brown, ask him to send his address.

Take good care of yourself. God bless you.

Loretta

"Dear Loretta:

"Dan arrived in Okinawa December 30. His new address is:

AMN Dan R. Crow
CMR Box 1256 51st CES
APO S F Calif. 96235

"I know that he will enjoy getting the News.

Sincerely,
Katy Crow"

Dear Katie:

Dan's paper is on the way.

Thank you.

What Everyone Should Know About Smoking And Heart Disease

Are there more heart attacks among smokers han non-smoker?

In a study of the smoking habits of 4,120 men, observed over a period of 6 to 8 years, it was found that the heart attack rate in heavy cigarette smokers was three times as high as in non-smokers, pipe and cigar smokers, and former cigarette smokers.

Are there more deaths from heart attacks among cigarette smokers?

..In studies of various population groups, it was found that death rates from heart attacks in men range from 50 to 200 per cent higher among cigarette smokers than among non-smokers, depending on the amount smoked. The average increase is 70 per cent.

It can be estimated that about 60,000 men (40 to 69 years of age) die prematurely in the United States each year from heart attacks associated with smoking. This is approximately equal to the estimated number of men who will die prematurely from lung cancer and other diseases associated with smoking.

Smoking is an added risk for people who are more susceptible to conorary artery disease, such as those with high blood pressure, high blood cholestrol, signs of hardening of the arteries, a family hisory of heart attacks, and strokes in middle age, or a combination of any of these conditions.

Are cigarettes a health hazard for teen-agers?

Yes, there is enough evidence of harmful effects on the body to discourage smoking even in young, healthy people. Obviously, the earlier you begin to smoke, the greater the risk to your health in future years. You may even risk a shortened lifespan.

Smoking is a habit hard to break. Teen-agers who never smoke will never have the problem of trying to do without tobacco.

Does cigarette smoking cause heart disease?

It has not been proved that cigarette smoking is a direct cause of heart disease. However, studies strongly suggest that it contributes to or speeds up the development of coronary artery disease which leads to heart attacks.

What are the effects on the body of substances in tobacco smoke?

Tobacco contains nicotine which acts on the heart, blood vessels, digestive tract, kidneys and nervous system. It also contains minute amounts of tars and other substances which may produce cancer, and irritants which chiefly affect the bronchial tubes. Small amounts of carbon monoxide and arsenic, also present in tobacco smoke, have not been proven harmful.

Ninety per cent of the nicotine (and probably other substances in tobacco) is absorbed into the body when smoke is inhaled; 10 per cent is absorbed when smoke is puffed without inhaling.

How does smoking affect the circulatory system?

In most people who have been tested, smoking makes the heart beat faster, raises the blood pressure, and narrows blood vessels of the skin, especially in the fingers and toes. In normally healthy people, these changes are temporary and differ in degree according to othe individual's response to tobacco. Persons who are hypersensitive to tobacco have the most pronounced reactions.

Why is smoking especially dangerous for patients with diseases of blood vessels in the arms and legs (peripheral vascular diseases)?

Smoking aggravates their condition because it constricts blood vessels that are already narrowed and damaged. Patients with peripheral vascular disease are strongly warned against smoking, because those who continue to smoke increase their risk of gangrene, amputations and even death. The effects of smoking are especially evident in Buerger's disease which occurs most often in men who smoke.This diease affects the small arteries of toes and fingers in early stages, but may later involve larger blood vessels. When the patient stops smoking, the condition almost always is arrested, but a return to smoking causes it to recur.

Smoking is also dangerous for patients with atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) of the extremities, a disease which interferes with the circulation in legs and feet.

What other serious diseases appear frequently in smokers?

Lung cancer appears much more frequently in cigarette smokers than in non-smokers. A number of statistical studies indicate that cigarette smoking is the chief explanation for the increase in lung cancer since 1920. Studies have also shown that chronic bronchitis and emphysema (a destructive disease of the lungs) are often associated with smoking. Abnormal tissue changes related to these diseases have been observed in the lungs and bronchial tubes of heavy cigarette smokers.

Even young smokers sometimes develop a chronic cough. It is believed that a "cigarette cough" may predispose a person to emphysema or to the more serious forms of bronchitis.

How is emphysema related to heart disease?

Emphysema, a chronic disease which makes breathing difficult, may result in heart failure. Deaths in white males from this disease have doubled in the United States in the past 10 years. Smoking aggravates emphysema. In non-smokers who develop emphysema, the disease is apt to be less severe.

Are there other effects on health from smoking?

Tobacco may cause reactions in the stomach and intestines which affect normal digestion, or make gastro-intestinal disorders become worse. Smoking appears to slow down the healing of gastric and duodenal ulcers and tends to make them chronic. In some other digestive problems, symptoms may be relieved when smoking is stopped.

Is there any risk in moderate cigarette smoking?

All cigarette smokers run extra risk of coronary disease in proportion to the number of cigarettes smoked. Heavy cigarette smokers have higher death rates from heart attacks than moderate smokers. According to present evidence, smoking pipes and cigars does not increase the risk of heart disease, as does cigarette smoking.

Why is there less risk of heart disease among pipe or cigar smokers?

Probably because the pipe and cigar smoker usually does not inhale.

How effecaive are filtered cigarettes?

Most filters now in use reduce only moderately the amount of harmful substances in cigarette smoke. So far, there is no evidence that filters are the answer to "safe" smoking.

If you have been a heavy smoker, does it help to stop?

Yes, because the death rate from coronary artery disease decreases among those who give up smoking, and after a period of years, approaches that of people who never have smoked. Also, in individuals who stop smoking, abnormal changes in body tissues—such as occur in the lungs or bronchial tubes—gradually revert toward normal.

Blazers Split Pair

by Phil Miller

Eastside's basketball team broke even over the past week end, losing to Churubusco 68-63 Friday night and beating Heritage 64-62 Saturday night. The results were a little surprising as Heritage was considered to be the better of the two teams.

Friday night the 'Busco Eagles appeared to have the game under control early as they raced to a 23-11 lead early in the second quarter. However, Kochert and Ross paced the Blazers in a tremendous rally as Eastside scored 15 consecutive points, pulling into a 26-23 lead. From then on, the two teams fought a see-saw battle, with the lead changing hands many times.

At the half, the score was knotted at 35-35. At the third quarter end, 'Busco had edged in front 51-49, and with 34 seconds left in the game, the score was again tied, with the Eagles shooting 2 free throws. Daryl Rapp hit 3 free throws and a basket in the final half minute to gain the Eagles' victory.

John Kochert paced the Blazers atack with 21 points, as well as playing a good all-round game. Kessler pulled in 17 rebounds and hit for 14 points, and Ross scored 14 with 12 rebounds.

The Blazers couldn't contain Rapp as he hit from outside the foul circle for most of his 29 points.

Saturday night's game followed the same script as Friday's with Heritage getting an early lead and Eatsised catching up in the second quarter. As in Friday's game, the lead was exchanged and the score tied many times.

The Patriots held a 34-31 lead at the half, but Eastside had moved even at 47-47 at the end of the third quarter. The Blazers were ahead most of the last quarter, but never by more than 4 points.

Both teams lost their centers via personal fouls. Kessler fouling out with about 4 minutes to go and Meicher departing with 2 minutes left.

Kochert, Kessler and Ross scored in double figures for Eastside, while Meyer led the Eagles with 15 points. Deo Wasson came off the bench to score 9 first half points. Ted Miller played his best game of the season, feeding well, scoring 8 points and, although the smallest of the Blazers, grabbing 9 rebounds to tie Ross in this department. Steve Flood hit 2 from the field when needed and Ginder made a driving lay-in late in the game to put the Blazers into a 4-point lead.

It is said an Eastern monarch once charged his wise men to invent an aphorism to be ever in view, and which should be true and appropriate in all times and situations. They presented him the words, "And this, too, shall pass away."

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The last week or so has really seen a lot of people laid up with some kind of bug. TV commercials never say which one, it's just "the bug." Whatever it is, it has had Ivan Brown licked for a couple of weeks and finally Betty had to give up, too, and stay home. So, the local hardware was closed last Saturday and a couple of days this week.

As I approached the post office Wednesday, Kate Bowser informed me that her outside jaunt that morning was the first she had been out since December 20! She also said husband Roy had fun buying the groceries during that time.

We had to do some scrambling in our house Tuesday to get son Mike on his way back to Hawaii after his holiday leave. The airport at Fort Wayne was closed a week ago, so he asked for and got an extension of his leave. Then Tuesday when we got to Baer Field, the jet flights were cancelled because of sand on the runways fouling up the aircraft —or so they thought.

Since Mike had to be back by midnight Hawaiian time (he gains five hours going back), we drove a quick trip to O'Hare Field in Chicago and got there at 2:45 Chicago time. The "Royal Hawaiian" Flight 111 left at 3:00 and he was able to get on that one on military standby fare.

Esther and I stayed for a while, watching the activities at that field and enjoying a lunch in the restaurant. Besides, when you see your kids off on a plane, or a train, or in a car, even when they've gone, there is this compelling desire to linger. You know?

I felt like a country boy in the big city, because I was so fascinated by the tremendous amount of activity at that field which seems to go like clockwork. You never saw so many planes in your life, coming in and going out. And we saw only a part of the total operation; we were in the United Airlines complex.

I was really impressed—and pleased—by the courteous and concerned manner in which the airline passengers are treated. The United personnel really live up to the promise of their commercials—"Fly the friendly skies of United" which I hear often as I listen to WGN radio daily from Chicago. Immediately upon approaching the main ticket desk, a big fella came up, with a United emblem on his coat, and asked Mike if he had purchased a ticket. Mike said no and the man asked if he were going full fare or military standby. Mike said standby so the man pointed down the way and said go down to the sign for student and military fare and they will take care of you. And right away they did. And when the ticket man handed the ticket folder to Mike, he said, "Have a good flight!"

We went to United's E-5 gate where more United employees confirm your flight and assign your seat. They do everything possible to help passengers, no matter what the circumstances, from what I saw. An elderly lady was waiting at the seating area at gate 5 with a younger man whom I thought I recognized but I couldn't place him. When the flight was ready to go, a man from the desk came over, helped her from the chair and escorted her slowly into the plane. She needed assistance to walk that distance.

And just before the gate closed, two guys came running up, last second arrivals for the flight. One of those cute United hostesses ran to the gate passageway, held up to two fingers to signal the other end of two more passengers—and the plane waited—and the fellas got their flight!

Those passageways to the big jets are something else. They telescope and steer. So, when the plane parks at the gate, they just run these passageways out as far as necessary to hook onto the door of the plane and, presto, you walk right into the terminal! It's fascinating—to a small-town hick like me.

I imagine all the airlines give the same treatment to their passengers, but I can testify to the fact that at O'Hare Field in Chicago on Tuesday, January 14, 1969, the guys and gals of United more than made up for the inconveniences of flight cancellations and whatever else might hinder your air travel. From the main desk to the standby agent to the E-5 gate, United personnel were magnificent, and it just made me feel good. I'll have to check with Mike to see how it was on the plane.

That terminal at O'Hare is amazing. I could spend a day just watching the stew - — just watching the activities that go on.

And I found out there's something else I can do besides grow long sideburns, that the little woman can't do. — I can go to the restroom and it doesn't cost me a dime!

While Mike was home (Dave was, too, so we had the whole family together for the holidays), he got into a conversation with a fella out at the Oasis one night and the latter indicated he was home from Hawaii. Mike thought the man looked familiar but he couldn't remember why. Bob Hart then identified himself as a civilian security guard for the Navy and then Mike realized that he and Bob worked within feet of each other at Ford Island. So, you have to travel thousands of miles to come home and find out who's working next to you!

Bob's visit was not a pleasant one, however. He came home to attend the funeral of his mother, Alma Hart, who died January 6 at the age of 84. The funeral was held January 10.

So, all in all, our holidays were an adventure for all, including New Year's Eve—huh, Dave? —and Jerry?

PTO Cancelled

Mrs. Lynn Fisher, president of the Riverdale P.T.O., has announced that the regular monthly meeting of the organization, which would normally be held next Tuesday evening, will not be held.

Due to the prevalence of illness at the present time, officers of the organization decided that it would serve the health and welfare of all concerned to cancel the January meeting. Colds, flu of many varieties, fevers and so on have affected many people in this area, as is the case throughout the state and nation, and any efforts towards reducing the chances of exposure appear to be well-advised.

The Riverdale P.T.O. will meet in February, if conditions have improved.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish in this way to express my thanks and appreciation to all my friends, neighbors and relatives for cards, gifts, calls and prayers while I was confined in the hospital and at home, also to the hospital staff, Dr. Arata and Dr. DeMuth and Dr. Johnston.

My thanks also to Pastor Snyder, Pastor Hill and Pastor Bullock for calls and prayers.

Preparation Of Annexation Resolution Cancels Board Meeting

A meeting originally set for Thursday of this week by the local school board to review details of a proposed annexation of three townships into the Central United school district, was cancelled. The school board had set the special meeting date at its January 6 meeting. However, — due to the fact that all details of the proposal have not been clarified, it was necessary to cancel the special meeting.

A committee appointed from the central district, composed of Superintendent James Watson, Assistant Superintendent Roger Hess and Attorney Donald Mefford, has been assisted by Eastside Superintendent Kenneth Cole and Attorney H. Charles Winans in gathering pertinent information relative to disannexation by the eastern district and annexation of the same area by the central district.

Several weeks ago, the school board officially notified the central district board of the former's willingness to participate in such a joint endeavor. The central district immediately and officially appointed the committee to gather all pertinent information and prepare the necessary resolution for such a move.

The central board has not formally approved the annexation of the Riverdale area. It has, however, taken the initiative in providing for the legal requirements leading to adoption of the proposal. A resolution must be published for public inspection, containing all the details of an nexation including assets to be transferred, equipment, etc., before annexation can be carried out.

Whither 'The Unicorn'?

There is probably a combination of factors responsible for the apparent floundering of "The Unicorn," the teen-age hangout in Saint Joe which got underway last spring as a result of the inspiration of Loretta Loy. She and her husband, along with a group of teen agers and a small group of interested parents, struggled through repainting, redecorating, digging up furniture and other necessary items on a donation basis, before the facility finally got its feet off the ground last summer.

Recently, the project became too much of a burden for Mrs. Loy and she asked a returned serviceman, Kenneth Mathes, to assume managerial responsibilities, which he has done. She has admitted that part of the problem of keeping the facility in operation smoothly and efficiently has been her own lack of experience in management and in knowing, in a practical sense, how some things work. Other handicaps have included reluctance of the community to help the project to be a success. There appear to be more adults standing by, doing nothing, waiting to see if the effort will succeed than there are those who want to help it succeed. Certainly, there have been individuals who have chaperoned, who have donated furniture to the effort. But a community project like "The Unicorn" is not a one-shot deal; it takes a sustaining and continuing effort by many to make the thing work.

Another problem has been the unwillingness of some of the young people themselves to abide by the rules which the young people themselves have established for the facility. And the other young people have failed to help maintain the rules themselves. As a result, still other young people have no desire to make use of the teen-age hangout to the degree which had been anticipated. It has been a big disappointment, therefore, to the young woman who worked with the young people for so many hours in the past year, that some of these problems have remained unsolved.

There is one possibility that has not been expressed, to my knowledge; but we all ought to keep it in mind. That possibility is: maybe a teen-age hangout isn't needed! We have heard in the past, perhaps some of us have made the statement, that young people, with all the leisure time they have and the preoccupation of many parents in other things, need a place to go. This may be true. It is also possible that the solution to the teen "problem" ISN'T just a place to go; maybe there is something deeper involved. And if everyone does the best that they can to make the teen hangout work, but it doesn't work, there need not be any bitter disappointment.

At any rate, the new "manager" is making every effort to recruit adults for whatever help they can give. He is also trying to work with the young people, too, to get more numbers involved in the project. Chaperons and kids alike have shivered in "The Unicorn" this winter; heating has been a problem. Adults and kids have been chagrined by the abuse and misuse of facilities and privileges on occasion, but that is quickly overcome if the adults who serve as chaperones are supported by the young people themselves in doing most of the "policing" themselves. Juke boxes, bowling machines and what have you have been removed, changed and so on because the volume of use has not been overwhelming, but these problems can be overcome when everyone works together and makes the hangout a place where youth like to go when they feel like it. It seems like it takes money no matter what you do at the hangout, but revenue for the expenses must come from somewhere—and right on down the line of problems and obstacles which have faced "The Unicorn."

On the bright side is the fact that W. E. "Pete" Walter has made his building available to "The Unicorn" without financial obligation to the organization, except on a voluntary basis, for as long as the building is used for youth activities. You can't beat that!

If "The Unicorn" is going to work, adults and youth must recognize that it is not a one-shot affair; you don't help once this year and once next year. It may require once a week help by some people. This effort is no different from any other; it always takes a lot of time by a certain few, sometimes only one, to keep a project going. The need for continuous participation is no better illustrated than in the Spencerville Community Club where a list of 15 or 20 families who share in the chaperoning of their club activities attests to the success that comes with consistent and continuing cooperation.

Most of all, however, there is the need for the kids themselves, the teen agers who want to be treated like adults and want to be given the opportunity to run things themselves, to shape up and get the few "characters" who purposely ignore the rules back in line. "The Unicorn" is an excellent example of self-government being tested. It won't work if everyone doesn't pitch in—and the minute the rules are forgotten, the effort fails. It's as simple as that.

What will you do about "The Unicorn," Dad—Mom—Son—Daughter—Friend???

Johnsonian 'Soft Soap'

As the Mrs. and I viewed the closing portion of Lyndon B. Johnson's "state of the union" message to Congress Tuesday night; the thought ran through my mind: "How could we have rejected such a wonderful man. Listen to the great things done under him; listen to his appealing challenges to all Americans, to his down to earth 'chatty' comments and opinions about the problems of the country. How could anyone doubt his sincerity, how could anyone vote against him???"

If you know me, you will recognize that the above thought ran through my mind in mockery of those whose admiration of political leaders so often today runs overboard into idolatry. The devotion of these people to their leaders has the effect of being an admission of their inadequacy to exercise sound judgment, to make just decisions. It is significant, I think, that this mass idolatry has occurred exclusively in the ranks of those who support liberal Democrats. It is the kind of devotion that should be feared, because it has the demoralizing effect on the worshipper of seemingly to result in the "end of the world," so to speak, if a particular "savior" of the people does not get elected or does not get his way in his proposals for our American society.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first one in my lifetime who generated the "he's the ONLY one" emotional upheaval in American politics. John F. Kennedy was the recipient of the same devotion, but I do not think he sought it. The Kennedy family has somehow been able to infect a lot of people somehow, some way, to the point that ANY Kennedy is better than anyone else. Age and experience has nothing to do with it; "Kennedy" is the word.

Lyndon Johnson, in his documented promises of everything for everybody, has generated blind devotion to his supposed wisdom. His "wheeler-dealer" methods of the past, his iron-fisted control of all facets of government frighten his supporters not one whit; perhap it is because Mr. Johnson has traditionally rewarded devotion to him to such an extreme degree. When you are "in," you are IN.

Perhaps it is this inclination of so many people to be "bought off" that sickens me when I hear the smooth talk, such as was expounded Tuesday night in Washington. I am disappointed that people are willing to relinquish their right and responsibility to use their own intelligence, relying more on the appealing promises that make all our problems seem insignificant.

Although he did refer to some of the problems of today, the President's talk Tuesday night in its overall effect smothered the dangers which exist today in our society, politically, economically and socially. These problems have been aggravated by decisions at the top level, as far as I am concerned, and it frankly makes me boil to hear of the "progress" under the Johnson administration that has brought foreign involvement militarily which John Q. Public is puzzled over, higher taxes, more spending and, contrary to the President's conclusion, less freedom of the individual.

One thing really bothers me, too, and it has nothing to do with politics. I am bothered that I question so strongly someone like Lyndon B. Johnson, or anyone else, when I see the love and admiration in the faces of my "enemies' " families, Mrs. Johnson and daughters admire and respect their husband and father; they are human beings, just like me. So, sometimes it bothers me to think that maybe—just maybe—my "enemies" are human, too, and not as bad as I think they are.

Perhaps the crux of the problem is that I, and others, do not necessarily get upset over differences in outlook as much as we do over the "soft soapy" way in which opposite views are foisted on the public. And such a technique is an insult to human intelligence.

VOTERS NEED TO BE INFORMED ABOUT DISTORTED POWELL CASE

(Washington)—While the House of Representatives by majority vote permitted Adam Clayton Powell to take his seat and decided to deduct a $25,000 fine from his pay check over the next two years, this doesn't solve the problems raised by the controversy.

Why, for instance, did the voters in the Harlem district—which is predominantly Negro—ignore the resolution adopted by the House in 1967 and proceed thereafter to elect Powell twice? Why did the parishioners of the church of which Powell is pastor continue to support him, even though the House formally declared he had misused $40,000 of public funds?

The answers are to be found in a single word—distortion. The Negroes were led to believe that it was merely a racial conflict, and that the charges were untrue or that similar misdeeds allegedly committed by other members of Congress had been condoned.

But the American people are entitled to the truth, and the voters in the Harlem district especially need to be thoroughly informed. For if the violations of law by Adam Clayton Powell are to be disregarded merely because he is a Negro, the resentment among the whites in America will intensify.

It may be debated at length just what motivated the members of Congress, Republican or Democrat, to deal firmly with Powell. But there can be no doubt that public opinion throughout America has been indignant over the previous revelations in the case. To attempt, as Powell did in his Saturday news conference, to charge that the large number of Republicans who voted against him were engaged in a "sellout" to southern Democrats is to seek to put not only a racial but a political emphasis on the whole matter.

The real question, however, is what can be done to inform Negro and white voters in congressional districts about their responsibilities. How can they expect efficient or impartial action if they themselves are so readily misled and if they gloss over misdeeds when the evidence of wrongdoing is proclaimed by the House of Representatives itself?

It is easy enough for Negro leaders privately to look upon Powell's behavior as wrong, but they hesitate to say so openly for fear they will be denounced by the militants. At the very time when extraordinary efforts are being made by responsible citizens in all racial groups to promote understanding and harmony, the indifference of many Negro leaders to what Powell did will unquestionably increase the difficulties. Will America win or lose its battle against discrimination suffered by Negroes by setting up a system of favoritism for Negroes in what might be called "discrimination in reverse"?

So far as discipline is concerned, the House of Representatives, under the Constitution, is the judge of the qualifications of its members and what is meant by "disorderly behavior." Many people are asking, however, why the Department of Justice has refrained from pressing effectively any prosecution since 1967, when the misuse of funds was officially disclosed. The talk around Washington is that fear of the ill effects on the Democratic Administration's political fortunes was an important reason for the prolonged inaction. On Dec. 9, a press release was issued stating that a Federal Grand Jury had been investigating the allegations against Powell and that "The Department of Justice didn't recommend an indictment and none was returned."

Junior League

—by Forrest Bevington

An improvement in the ability of the Junior League boys to play basketball was somewhat surprising to those who watched the games Saturday.

Team 4 had to play its best game of the year to win from Team 1. The score was 22-13.

Team 2 gave team 1 a scare in the first half, but could not find the basket in the second half. The final score was 36-14.

NEWVILLE TWP. HOMEMAKERS EXTENSION
—Kathryn Krieg, Reporter

The Newville Township Homemakers Extension Club met January 9 in the Newville United Methodist Church basement. Hostesses were Leta Shaffer and Elva Hook. A carry-in dinner was enjoyed during the noon hour.

1969 officers were installed with a candle service by past president Cythia Sipe. The retiring president, Shirley Spall, was presented a past president's pin by the incoming president, Zella Collins. Bertha Rickette read devotional selections from Billy Graham's publication, "Decision." New program books were distributed and reviewed. History of "Home, Sweet Home" was read by Rozella Mickelson, then all sang the song.

Special topics roll call was answered by 17 members. Special reports were: "Man In the Next 30 Years" by Outlook leader Charlotte Kimmel; and "Influenza" by Health leader Bernice Miller. Lesson topics were read and lesson leaders selected. Thank you notes received from 4-H girls and their leaders, also Needlework Guild, were read by the secretary.

Gifts were presented to 1968 perfect attendance members Shirley Spall, Elva Hook, Zella Collins, Myrtle Mills, Bernice Miller, Freda Engle and Anna Hursey. "Happy birthday" was sung to Lucile Nelson. Dorine Singer conducted oral contests.

The meeting was closed by singing the Homemakers Prayer Song.

The February 12 meeting will be held in the home of Dorine Singer.

Car Inspection Dates

January and February are voluntary inspection months in the new Indiana Vehicle Inspection Program. A motorist may have his vehicle inspected during these months while still operating with a 1968 license plate.

However, after February 28, the vehicle must have a 1969 license plate. The schedule for such vehicles is as follows:

If the last number of the 1969 license plate is a 1 or 2, the inspection deadline is March 31; if the last digit is a 3, 4 or 5, the deadline is April 30; vehicles with plates ending with a 6, 7, or 8 must be inspected by May 31; if the last digit is a 9 or 0, the deadline is June 30.

It is suggested by the Department of Vehicle Inspection that motorists phone the particular station before going to the location for the inspection, since many locations are making appointments.

New State Park Fees

A new schedule of outdoor recreation fees and charges, announced by the Indiana Department of Natural Resources, went into effect at state-operated properties January 1.

The changes are expected to provide additional revenue to help operate the properties under the same policy of "user charge" which was established when the Indiana State Park system was begun 52 years ago.

Continued without change is the $10 annual entrance permit, which admits the purchaser and all occupants of his non-commercial-type automobile to all State Parks and State Memorials an unlimited number of times throughout 1969. This annual pass started in 1968 is described as "America's biggest recreation bargain."

The daily single vehicle charge, for a driver and all passengers in a non-commercial-type vehicle, or a horse with a single rider, is increased from $1 to $1.25 at all State Parks.

Unchanged at State Parks is the daily entrance fee of 25 cents for one person 12 years of age or older when he is a passenger on a comercial-type vehicle, or a pedestrian, or a person riding a bicycle.

Pheasant hunting charges at State Fish and Game Areas have been increased from $3 to $5 per person per day. Duck hunting charges continue as $1 per person per blind, as do goose hunting charges at $1 per person per pit. There is a charge of $1 for lost arm bands or badges.

A newly-established permit will cost $1 for the use of one horse or of one motor-powered wheeled recreational vehicle for all or any part of a day at any gated or such designated property where such use is not prohibited.

No privately owned toboggans are permitted on the Pokagon State Park chute. New charges, double those formerly in effect, will be $1 per hour plus 10 cents per person per ride. Snowmobiles may be rented at the Pokagon Saddle Barn at $4 per hour.

Campsite charges have been increased from $1.50 (Class A) and $1 (Class B) per night to $2.50 and $2. A new Class C schedule will be $1.50 per campsite per night.

Details are available at the State Parks or at 616 State Office Building, Indianapolis.

Inauguration Portrait

Berkeley G. Burrell, chairman of concessions for the 1969 Inaugural Committee, has announced that the official inaugural portrait of President-elect Richard M. Nixon is now on sale.

This is the first time that an official lithographed portrait of the incoming President has been offered for sale by the inaugural committee. The committee hopes that the portrait will become an inaugural tradition.

The official Nixon portrait is a lithograph of an original oil by New York portraitist Gloria Schumann. It is printed on 12x16 inch art paper and will be sold in a parchment paper folio. The folio features a reproduction of the 1969 inaugural seal on the front cover. The back cover contains a biographical sketch of Mr. Nixon.

The folio will be sold at Inaugural Committee Headquarters, 440 G Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20025, for $2.00. Mail orders may be sent to the Inaugural Concessions Committee at the same address.

A smaller edition of the portrait folio, in a five by seven inch size, will also be sold. The smaller folio will sell for 50 cents.

How solemn and beautiful is the thought that the earliest pioneer of civilization, the van-leader of civilization, is never the steamboat, never the railroad, never the newspaper, never the Sabbath-school teacher, never the missionary—but always whisky!
—Mark Twain

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Kenneth Roberts passes along a word of warning to parents of young ones who may be playing on the ice in the lowlands behind the houses along Widney Avenue. It's very dangerous now, what with water on top of the ice, and other places where a cavity exists under the ice when the water recedes. The cold weather made a good crust when the water was higher, but now that it has receded somewhat, you cannot be certain how solid the ice is where you walk.

He also commented that, during a conversation with Lynn Lake Monday at dusk, a flock of geese flew overhead along the river. This is supposed to be an indication that the geese are coming north already—an indication of an early spring, they say.

Now watch—just about the time this paper gets out, we'll have below-zero weather. It happens every time. All you have to do is say something.

Gaynelle Lake got back from Florida last week. Her father, Cliff Janke, is improved, following a heart seizure in Florida where he is residing.

Gaynelle read my bit about the airlines last week and called to say she had the same pleasant experience as a passenger with Delta.

County Auditor Dorsie Likens told me Wednesday when I was in Auburn that he read the same article twice, then considered it worthy of sending to the public relations director of United. Dorsie has an interest in United from several years ago when he was qualified to get into commercial flying with United but did not undertake that profession. He also has a good friend who is an executive with that airline.

When Effiebelle McCann decides to do something, it's right now she does it.

Last week on Friday night, she attended club and nobody dreamed that six hours later, at three o'clock in the morning, she would decide to have her appendix out. But that's what she did. There was no waiting till morning for her.

Like I said, when she makes up her mind, it's right now.

Someone has evidently expressed the fear that a quit claim deed for The Unicorn is not adequate to guarantee from Pete Walter the use of his building by the kids as long as they continue to function as an organization devoted to youth activities.

Certainly, Pete has an advantage in turning the building over to The Unicorn; it relieves him of a tax obligation, and The Unicorn can be exempt as a non-profit organization. But the building was standing empty, it was bringing in no income, so why not get it off your hands as an obligation?

The agreement is that the building "belongs" to The Unicorn as long as the organization functions in the building. What's wrong with having a quit claim deed? You've got the use of the building!

The abuses which the recreation equipment has suffered are also evident in the building itself. Mr. Walter isn't trying to "take" anybody, by any manner or means. If people knew the entire story, they would see that he has been exceedingly patient, considerate and understanding.

Butler Hosts Music Contest

The Butler Elementary School will be the site of the District Solo and Ensemble Contest this Saturday, January 25. The contest is conducted under the auspices of the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra and Vocal Association.

According to information from the Eastside Music Department, more than 1,500 participants will start arriving for the contest by early Saturday morning. The first event is scheduled for 8:30 a.m., and there will be soloists and ensembles performing every five minutes throughout the day in 17 rooms of the elementary building until 3:30 p.m.

The DeKalb County Eastern Community School District will be represented by 72 instrumentalists.

Four counties, DeKalb, LaGrange, Noble and Steuben, comprise the Eleventh District. From these counties, the following schools will participate:

Westview, Garrett, West Noble Junior High, LaGrange Junior High, Avilla Junior High, Wolcottville Elementary and Junior High, DeKalb Central High School, McIntosh Junior High, East Noble, Lakeland, Ashley Junior High, Prairie Heights, Fremont, West Noble High School, Rome City Junior High, Lima Junior High, Angola, Brighton, Kendallville Junior High, Eastside High School, Riverdale Elementary and Junior High, Eastside Junior High and Butler Elementary.

17 judges, drawn from Ohio and Indiana, have been assigned to this contest site by Robert Ralston, Elkhart High School, president of NISBOVA.

Students from the Eastside Vocal and Instrumental Music Department will serve as secretaries to the judges, as door guards and tabulators, and will assist in parking of cars.

Members of the Music Boosters have volunteered to serve food to the contestants and guests at the elementary cafetorium which will be open from 8:00 a.m. until the close of the contest.

All pianos for the contest are furnished by the Fred Myer Piano Company of Fort Wayne.

No admission is charged for the contest, and it is open to the public. Eastside parents and friends are invited to help the student body boost their musicians by attending the contest. State competition will be held February 15 at Butler University in Indianapolis.

Tom Hollabaugh Scores 38 In Junior League

—by Forrest Bevington

The Saturday Junior League games were full of desire, but the scores may not indicate this to be true.

Team 3 could not find the basket in the first half, but this fault was corrected in the second half. The final score was 20 to 13.

Team 4 had too much power and ran up a score of 65 to 20. Tom Hollabaugh scored 38 points for a new high in the Junior League competition.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club again enjoyed a fine meal at the Methodist Church in Spencerville January 13 at 6:30 p.m. Attendance was good.

Pastor Bullock offered prayer before the meal. Mr. Smith, a teacher of industrial arts and agriculture at Eastside and Riverdale, complimented the club on its interest, attendance and accomplishments. He is a former agriculture advisor to Southeast Asia and has worked in China, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India and other smaller countries. His talk made history really "come alive." He also said that club president Bob Wilder had told him that he could speak as long as he liked but that the membership would go home promptly at 9 o'clock.

One of the highlights of the talk was that one section in one of the mountains has 200 inches of rainfall and that this all runs through one of the deltas and floods the entire delta of Bengal for six months of the year; that 962 people live on each square mile of that delta, all living off the land; that is, they are all farmers; that there is one doctor for each five million people over there.

This was all very interesting, but after due consideration, I believe that I will remain in the Saint Joe-Spencerville community.

The club voted to receive Mr. Andrew Crow into the club. We are especially happy to be getting a number of young men into the club. We feel that a little new blood will do us good.

The next meeting is to be Monday evening, January 27. This is a 100% night. All club members please take note and be present.

The Panther and Flaming Arrow patrols put on skits. Later, refreshments were served.

This coming Saturday, the troop is going to the Klondike Derby at Pokagon Park. This will be an overnight campout with activities on Saturday. The Scouts will return home Sunday.

Legislative Report From '99'----

by State Rep. Floyd B. Coleman

The 96th General Assembly of Indiana legislators started with a boom on January 9, and by the end of the first full week, approximately 700 bills had been introduced. The great opportunity for learning by serving in this capacity makes it a very rewarding experience.

I've been advised by experienced legislators to avoid introducing more bills than can be nurtured along (through committees, etc), but already I've introduced 8 bills, and many are requesting that I need to introduce other bills relating to public health and safety.

The vehicle inspection law in effect since January 1, 1969, was passed hurriedly in the last session under pressure of "Federal blackmail" (Hoosier fund witholding threats), and has many "bugs" in it. To help relieve the backlog of inspection demands, I've introduced a bill to exclude cars less than two years of age, hoping that incentive-motivated dealers will provide new cars with all possible "bugs" removed.

Because of my experiences as Coroner, I had a bill ready to introduce on "implied consent", but a more experienced legislator desired to introduce this and I'll help him all I can. I did introduce a bill to reduce the top legal limit of blood alcohol from 0.15% to 0.10% and got a "Do Pass" vote in the first committee hearing. Dr. Robert Forney of the I.U. Toxicology Department spoke eloquently for this bill and the Farm Bureau also supported it in the first public hearing.

Much pressure is being exerted by the "Federal Blackmail tactics" (the threat of withholding funds) to force passage of the Title 19 Medicaid. I'm opposed to this law because it is designed to destroy incentive and help "bury you so gently you won't even know you're dead." This bill has been introduced by Roger Jessup and according to yesterday's (Friday) budget message is advised by Governor Whitcomb to be passed because of the threat of withholding federal funds. I hope that we Hoosiers can do something to stop the socializers and re-establish an incentive oriented society. Our present trustee and welfare system is superior to Medicaid.

By chance I drew seat No. 99 after more experienced legislators chose the front rows. This makes me a member of the exclusive "back-row club" with a good experienced legislator on each side of me, but at this late hour it's only help from above and beyond that can save us. I solicit your help.

Governor Branigin's veto was sustained on the vetoed bills of the last session.

Editor's note: It is suggested that readers write to Dr. Coleman to express opposition or support concerning these and any other bills which will come before the state legislature. Correspondence should also be directed to State Senators Dean Kruse and Allan Bloom. These three men are this area's "voices" in passing or defeating legislation to be proposed. Voters' dissatisfaction with the trend of governmental affairs can often be traced to a lack of communication starting from the "grass roots" and conveyed to elected officials by the average citizen —who after all must pay the bills and knuckle under to the expenses and regulations which these elected officials bring upon the public.

Cafeteria Supper

A Cafeteria Supper featuring real "hand cranked" ice cream is planned at Spencerville United Methodist Church for Saturday, February 8, 1969.

A complete supper will be available with a selection of sandwiches (chicken, ham or hot dog), potato salad and baked beans. To go with the homemade ice cream will be pie or cake, and coffee, milk, orange drink or chocolate milk.

Any food may be purchased by the portion, cafeteria style. Carry-outs will be available.

Serving begins at 5 p.m. and will continue until ??—that's Saturday, evening February 8.

"Make it a family affair!"

We should make a special effort because Mr. Carroll Schroeder, our District Governor, will be the speaker.

The Unicorn

Thanks to everyone who helped with the bake sale Saturday. Mrs. Rush Holtzberg was in charge, with assistance from Loretta Loy and Sally Wolfe.

"The Duhill Union" appeared at The Unicorn Sunday afternoon. 41 young people attended. Members of the group are Jerry Daniels, lead guitar, of Waterloo; Rod Walker, rhythm guitar, of Auburn; Tom Lambert, organ, of Butler; Kim "Henay" Hendrix, drums, of Butler; Greg McClure, bass, of Auburn; and Bruce Holtzberg, lead singer, of Saint Joe.

A sock hop is planned for this coming Sunday, January 26, from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents.

Others say. . . .

LET'S STOP WINCING, WEEPING FOR CRIMINAL; THINK OF VICTIM

Women waiting for public transportation in Chicago dragged into cars or alleys and raped. Or, in two recent instances—one on an elevated train platform and one in a subway terminal—raped on the spot.

Why not? What is the penalty?

While monsters such as Richard Speck—who butchered eight student nurses in July of 1966—are still kept fed, clothed, sheltered and comfortable at your expense, what deterrent is there to these ultimately egomaniacal crimes?

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says it is appeasement, mollycoddling of criminals, that's producing our soaring crime rate. He says our "courts are filling the streets with criminals who ought to be in jail."

He urges fair but vigorous enforcement of the law, prompt and decisive prosecution and realistic punishment.

Otherwise, says Director Hoover, "we permit criminals to deprive the rest of us of our rights."

A generation of experiment with permissiveness, free discussion of sex, flagrant publication of pornography, acceptance of what once were considered lewd dances and lascivious films promised to minimize depravity.

The opposite happened. Reported instances of forcible rape increased 17 per cent in 1968. Unreported instances are incalculable.

Following most every abduction and assault—and many murders — you'll read "known sex criminals are being rounded up for questioning."

If they are "known sex criminals," what are they doing running around loose?

It is axiomatic among law enforcement and prison officials that two types of criminals "will always come back"—the narcotics addict and the sex criminal.

In a pattern familiar to lawmen, the man arrested for exhibiting himself is subsequently arrested for molestation, then rape, then murder.

Why do the courts persist in releasing rapists? Many jurists are convinced that the sex offender is "sick," that his offense should be treated as a sickness rather than punished as a crime.

Also, some courts have been disinclined to punish convicted rapists severely because of "the questionable veracity of the testimony of a highly emotional witness."

Some jurists will confide that they have gone easy on the boys because many young girls these days invite attack by their provocative comportment and revealing attire.

So the convicted rapist gets probation, or a brief period of confinement, and the result is an open season on rape.

Whether they are hopelessly criminal or helplessly sick, mandatory punishment for the chronic sex offender should include surgery.

Let's stop wincing and weeping for the criminal; it's time we get back to having a little more compassion for his victims.

—Paul Harvey in the Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

Store Opening

A Saint Joe man and two brothers who formerly resided at Spencerville have combined to open a television and appliance sales and service store at Grabill. The three are Orville (Babe) Coburn and Lynn and Bob, Jr., Witt. The firm is known as Witt's TV & Appliance, Inc.

The business is housed in a new 70x80 foot steel building located on Fairview Drive in Grabill across from a restaurant. 3200 square feet of the building are utilized for the business and the remaining area will be available for office rental.

The firm, which opened for business last Friday, handles RCA Victor and Motorola television, RCA Whirlpool and Westinghouse large appliances and Westinghouse and Sunbeam small appliances.

Mr. Coburn, who resides at Saint Joe, formerly was employed at Oberlin TV of Butler for approximately 15 years and will be responsible for appliance sales and service in the new firm. Lynn Witt, with six years' experience, handles television sales and service. Bob Witt takes care of antenna installation and general service.

A grand opening is planned for the near future and will be announced in this paper.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, January 30, 1969 — NUMBER 5

Indiana State Library

To be honest, to be kind—to earn a little and to spend a little less, to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence, to renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered, to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation—above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.
—Robert Louis Stevenson

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

Congratulations to Stan Robinson, who has received the Presidential Unit Citation. Stan is the son of Joe and Ralphine Robinson of Saint Joe. Congratulations to you too, Mom and Dad.

Kent Imhoff of Butler was discharged about two weeks ago. He was serving in the Army with the 82nd Airborn. Welcome home, Kent!

I would like to thank the person who sent me an anonymous letter this week. Sorry that I couldn't print it, but you made it so complimenary that everyone would swear that I wroote it myself!

Terry Wilson of Butler left for the army this week. He will be going into communications. We will print his address as soon as it is received.

Mike Beebe and Larry Shuff will leave for the Army February 4.

Son Mike will probably shoot me for this, but I can't refrain from printing this any longer (my relatives won't let me). Michael Loy received his wings January 14. He graduated No. 2 in his class of 73 men, with an average of 90 (the highest was 92). He will report to San Francisco February 21 for service in Vietnam.

Peg Hudson Debates

". . . .therefore, we urge the rejection of the affirmative's plan. . . ." These words seemed to be heeded January 10 and 11 as judges concurred with the negative more times than not in collegiate debate at Illinois State University.

Stan Deets of Ashley and Miss Marcia Sowles of Elkhart favored the retention of the President's power in foreign polity. Miss Peg Hudson of Spencerville and Miss Sharon Weises of Hobart urged a curtailment of the Chief Executive's power in international affairs. They presented a plan to that effect.

All are students at Manchster College at North Manchester.

Miss Sowles and Deets, the negative team, upheld the status quo. Their knowledge of the topic enabled them to defend the nation's Administrator's hand in foreign affairs. Attacking the proposed remedy for curtailing his powers also enabled the coed team to defeat the opposition.

Downing Northeastern Illinois State College, University of Illinois, Rock Valley College, Eastern Illinois University and Clarion State College, Marcia and Stan were rewarded with a 5-1 record. Concordia College, Illinois, won the judge's decision from the M.C. debators, granting them their only loss.

Results of the tournament were based on team achievement. The record of both the affirmative and negative was combined to determine the Number One unit in argumentation. Miss Sowles and Deets defeated Clarion State, which placed in the top three at I.S.U.

Miss Weises and Miss Hudson mastered Illinois Wesleyan University. Although their efforts stood at 1-5, they too debated a championship team, Augustana Colllege. Augustana was also a unit in the top three.

Teachers Attend Workshop

Five teachers of the DeKalb Eastern School District were granted professional leave by the school board to attend a Workshop Reading In-Service January 23 at Indiana University, Fort Wayne. The workshop was designed for classroom teachers, reading teachers, specialists, supervisory personnel, and administrators in the tri-state area of Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio.

Those attending were Dorothy Keller, Freida Guilford, Zayda Coil, Lois King, and Ellen Gobel.

Nearly 200 were in attendance at the all-day meeting which featured several talks by well-known educators.

Dr. Joseph Lillich, assistant professor of education at I.U.-Fort Wayne, acted as co-ordinator of the workshop. Dr. Robert Doan and Dr. Larry L. Blue, assistant professors of education, acted as director and supervisor, respectively.

Community Club

The Spencerville Community Club is planning a pot luck supper for Monday, March 17, at 6:00 p.m.

The program for the evening will include a speaker from the Social Security office to lecture and answer questions.

The club is also planning a "Teeny Bopper" record hop and would like to find someone locally to conduct the hop and furnish the records. Mrs. William Hudson will welcome any information in this respect.

Also, the club is seeking donations of roller skates, shoe or clamp-on types, for use at the community building. Call 238-4344 or 238-4381.

Hoosier Tax Share Near $5 Billion

Indiana taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $4,823,910,000 in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal spending budget of $195.3 billion proposed by President Johnson.

This estimate by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce is based on calculations that Indiana taxpayers bear 2.47 per cent of all Federal taxes.

Any change which Congress may make in the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 will reduce or increase the amount Hoosiers will have to bear.

The $4.824 billion share of the President's budget to be paid by Indiana taxpayers is more than 5¼ times the amount of state taxes collected by Indiana last year.

President Johnson's $195.3 billion spending estimate for fiscal 1970 represents an increase of $11.6 billion over the current estimate of $183.7 billion for fiscal 1969, the State Chamber noted. Despite substantial increases in Vietnam costs and certain uncontrollable outlays, the revised 1969 estimate is less than the original 1969 budget estimate of $186.1 billion because of spending restraints imposed by Congress last year.

John V. Barnett, executive vice president of the state chamber, expressed regret that the Johnson administration is again proposing a huge increase in spending. Both the new Nixon administration and Congress should be urged to make every effort to reduce the 1970 spending total and thereby permit a significant reduction of the temporary 10 per cent surtax, he said.

Town Board Moves To Reduce Dog Menace, Enforce Ordinance

The Town Board of Saint Joe has taken steps to enforce Ordinance Number 34, pertaining to the control of the dog population in the town limits.

An agreement has tentatively been reached between the board and Roger Schlegel of Saint Joe whereby the latter will be the officially appointed dog warden for the town. Though the ordinance has been in effect since November 7, 1960, it has not been continuously enforced due to the difficulty in obtaining the services of an individual on a regular basis to carry out the regulations stated in the ordinance.

Dog owners are advised to keep their pets confined at the owners' premises or under control otherwise. Under the ordinance, the dog warden is authorized to pick up any stray and unattended dogs, post a notice at the town hall and hold the dog for three days. If the dog is not claimed within the three day period, it will be disposed of in the most convenient and humane manner.

When reclaiming their dogs, owners will be required to pay a $3.00 fee for the first pickup. Any subsequent instances of the same dog caught wandering and requiring a pickup by the dog warden will cost $5.00 for reclaiming.

The town board, composed of Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn, have been attempting for some time to obtain the services of a dog warden and have considered the presence of stray and unattended dogs one of the primary problems of the community. The board requests the cooperation of all citizens in upholding and enforcing the ordinance.

The ordinance in its entirety is quoted as follows:

"ORDINANCE NO. 34

"An ordinance defining the rights and duties of the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, with regard to stray and unattended dogs, and prescribing methods and means of handling said stray and unattended dogs within said town.

"Be it ordained by the Town Board of Saint Joe, DeKalb County, Indiana, as follows:

"Section 1. From and after the date of the passage of this ordinance, whenever the properly appointed officer shall find a dog of any kind roaming over the streets, alleys, or sidewalks of said town, or roaming over the property of any person not the owner of said dog, the said officer or his duly qualified agents or deputies shall have the right to and it shall be their duty to pick up and hold said dog and securely keep him or her as the case may be in a suitable box, kennel or place for the period of three days.

"After such roaming dog has been placed in said kennel, or box or other place for the keeping of such dogs, and within twelve (12) hours, a notice of the taking up of such dog shall be posted at the door of the Town Hall in the town of Saint Joe, Indiana, which notice shall reasonably describe such dog, when picked up, and when said dog will be disposed of if not taken up by its owner as hereinafter provided.

"If, during the said three day period as hereinabove set out, the rightful owner of such dog shall make request of said duly appointed officer charged with the enforcement of the ordinance, for the return of such dog so picked up, and shall pay to the Clerk-Treasurer of said Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, the sum of $3.00 for the first such taking up, then such officer shall deliver said dog to its rightful owner.

"If the same dog is picked up on a second occasion or more occasions, then the rightful owner or claimant shall pay the sum of $5.00 for each taking up of said dog after the first such taking up by the duly appointed officer.

"Section 2. In the event any dog found running the streets, alleys or sidewalks or any other place owned by any person other than the rightful owner of such dog, in the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall not be called for and claimed by its rightful owner as hereinabove set forth in Section 1 hereof, then the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, shall have the right to and it shall be his duty to dispose of such dog in any humane manner, proper and expedient, and the owner or claimant of such dog or dogs shall have no further rights in or to said dog or dogs, and the manner or method of disposition of such dogs shall be entirely at the discretion of the duly appointed officer of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and the expense incurred thereby shall be paid to said officer or his deputy and-or agent by the Clerk-Treasurer out of the General Fund of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana.

"Section 3. It is hereby expressly ordained that the purpose of this ordinance is to eliminate the running at large of dogs within the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, and more particularly to protect the lives of the citizens of said town and the private property within the town. This ordinance shall be carried out to that end and with as little expense to all parties concerned as possible.

"Section 4. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage.

"This ordinance passed and adopted by the Town Board of the Town of Saint Joe, Indiana, at their regular meeting the 7th day of November, 1960.

About The School Situation.....

At the risk of offending the school boards of both the eastern and central districts of DeKalb County, I would like to attempt to clarify some of the circumstances concerning school matters as they now stand. Enough people have asked me in the last couple of weeks, "How's the school situation?", that some sort of public answer is appropriate. Both school boards have been reluctant to produce any information about the disannexation-annexation proposal, under the belief that the less said, the better until the whole story is ready to be told. Both boards have been critical at times of the job that local newspapers do when it comes to school affairs, seeming to lay the blame for misunderstandings and dissension at the feet of the news media. No one knows better than a newspaper editor that you can print "black" and somewhere somebody is going to read "white." News stories ARE misread and misinterpreted. However, it is also true that the lack of public information also leads to misunderstanding and misinterpretation. Being a firm believer in the right of the public to know what is going on in a general nature, I prefer to follow the philosophy that it's better to have the public exposed to the facts and go from there than to withhold information from the public and have the dissent of ignorance to contend with.

Had there been more inclination of both boards to seek to inform the public in the past few weeks about the disannexation-annexation proposal, there possibly would not have been the misleading comment published in the Butler Record-Herald in the issue of January 16, 1969. In a news story written after consultation with the superintendent of schools, that paper reported the Indiana Supreme Court rulings of recent date which went against the "remonstrators" in the school district and that all legal questions which had been raised in the site controversy could not be raised again. This was accurate accounting of the situation.

Unfortunately, however, the lack of information from the boards of both districts apparently led the writer of that story to make the following concluding statement:

"In the meantime nothing definite has developed in regards to the proposal that the Riverdale district withdraw from the Eastern School District, and annex with the Central School District."

Is a motion to release the Riverdale area, passed by the eastern board, considered "nothing definite"?

Is the appointment of a committee by the central district to prepare all necessary information, including a resolution for public scrutiny, considered "nothing definite"?

Are the hours of deliberation by that committee, along with the superintendent and attorney for the eastern district, considered "nothing definite"?

It is certainly true that the best interests of everyone are often served by leaving some details of public matters up to the wisdom of the elected or appointed officials. However, it is not fair, in my opinion, to be critical of a newspaper which prints facts which it is able to gather "on its own" and present to the public. And one of the facts is that something definite HAS developed about disannexation-annexation. A "proposal" is something definite. A proposal has been made by the eastern district and action has been taken by the central district as a result. That, in my book, is "something definite." Take note, I did not say the proposal has been ACCEPTED by the central board, and I have never made such a statement. Perhaps to some people, final acceptance is properly placed in the category of "something definite."

There is a delay in the disannexation-annexation proceedings. Originally it was due to the illness of the central district's legal counsel. However, there is now another reason for delay, and it is reasonable and logical and, therefore, ought to be known to the public. The current delay has been due to the question: how shall we determine the amount of money to be transferred with the Riverdale area? Should it be on the basis of proportionate assessed valuation or proportionate school population? There are logical arguments for both possibilities, and a conclusion ought to be reached soon. Adequate time has been allowed for such deliberation.

Another thing. It appears there is a subtle attempt being made to change the appearance of this disannexation-annexation possibility. A comment was reportedly made recently by an eastern school board member (who has been a staunch Butler-site supporter in the eastern district's site discussion) that he was still not in favor of splitting the district, but if that's what Riverdale wants, he is willing to let them go. That magnanimous declaration (reflected also in the use of the word "withdrawal" in the news story quoted above) contradicts the true circumstances and is an almost obvious attempt to get the Butler majority on the eastern school board "off the hook" as far as "splitting the district" is concerned. Lest anyone be deceived, about the matter, let me point out that:

The Riverdale area has never requested release from the district, though there certainly has been little opposition expressed since the matter has come up.

The RELEASE, not "withdrawal," of the Riverdale area was proposed by a member of the Butler majority on the school board, proposed with a motion prepared earlier in anticipation of the October 7, 1968, meeting attended by several citizens from the school district.

The proposal came after a discussion of the site controversy led to opinions just short of "throw them out so we can go ahead and build a school the way we want to."

The idea of "divorce" came just the week before the meeting from the columns of the Butler newspaper.

From the above, two points should be remembered:

The disannexation-annexation proposal has been delayed by reasonable causes: health of a primary participant and agreement on a primary point;

The proposal was not sought by the Riverdale area but came from the Butler interests on the school board who proposed to RELEASE the three townships involved—apparently for the sake of Butler City's interests, not the school district's interests.

These points are significant in events of the past, present—and future, concerning the alignment of schools in DeKalb County.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS
—Katy Crow, Reporter

The January meeting was held January 20 at the Harry Strong residence. Meeting was opened with repeating the pledge to the flag. Margaret Carper read to us "The Peace of God" for devotions and all prayed the Lord's Prayer.

Betty Bevington read the interesting history of the song, "Home, Sweet Home," then led it in singing. Roll call was answered with "A new Christmas recipe I tried." New cakes were in the majority. Secretary's report was read by Doris Prentice and approved. The president conducted the business meeting.

The president then gave a report from the County Council meeting. She told of the Kraft lesson for February 27. She reminded the club of the conference. The shower will be held Sunday, February 2, at 2:00 p.m.

The buses will leave the schools at 8:00 a.m. and return at about 1:15 p.m. Two teachers and two Shriners will act as chaperones. The buses will have a police escort to and from Fort Wayne.

—that keeping your car's gas tank full is one way to avoid trouble in winter, according to "Petroleum Today." Moist winter air can cause condensation on the inside walls of the gas tank if it's nearly empty. From there, the water can get into the fuel line or carburetor and cause trouble. The battery should also be checked frequently. Battery fluid evaporates quickly in cold, dry air just as well as in hot weather.

—that for most Americans, the private car is the favorite, and most practical, means of transportation, according to "Petroleum Today." But in medium-sized and large cities, the bus is often an advantageous supplement to automobiles. Making bus transit more efficient is of major concern to traffic engineers. In Baltimore, for example, an exclusive bus lane was set aside during rush hours. The result: a 17 to 22 percent speedup for buses, with other traffic moving 30 percent faster as well.

—that a massive non-partisan campaign to lower the legal voting age for local, state, and national elections is being launched at Ball State University. John Burns, Evansville sophomore at Ball State, is spearheading the drive which includes contacting federal, state, and local authorities concerning the need to lower the legal voting age from 21 to 18 or 19 years.

—that 827 personal interviews were held at Oaklawn Psychiatric Center at Elkhart to assist in treatment of mental health problems affecting DeKalb County residents. A total of $668 in county funds was used in financial assistance to ten county patients, three of whom are under 18 years of age.

—that Spencerville Girl Scout Troop 229 and the adult leaders toured Holsom Dairy and The News Office Monday for a look at small industry in operation.

—that Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City will be the featured speaker next month at the Indiana Republican Party's first fund-raising event of 1969. Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

There were 25 members and two visitors present at the regular meeting January 27. President Roobert Wilder reminded the club that the next meeting will be ladies' night, and that the club dues should be paid.

Gene Casebere reported that he made up a meeting by attending a Lions Club meeting in the Bahamas while he was there on a business trip and vacation. There were 15 countries represented in this 28 member club. Mr. Thomas O'Keefe, who was Gene's host at the meeting and gave him a tour of the island, was originally from Ireland, and had moved to Scotland and Canada before going to the island. The club has only one money making project; they made $7000 by conducting a golf tournament.

The plans for providing the Riverdale area with a sports and recreation program are progressing. The club had appropriated $500, and that much or more is hoped to be forthcoming from other sources.

Lavon Hart introduced Carroll Schroeder of Decatur, the Governor of District 25B. In his address, Governor Schroeder gave much information and statistics that were of special interest to Lions. He also reported on the International Convention at Dallas, Texas.

Blazers Lose Two

by Phil Miller

Eastside's Blazers suffered a disastrous weekend as they were overwhelmed by Adams Central, 71-47, and Garrett, 79-53. Lack of hustle, inconsistent play, poor shooting, and too many errors combined to bury the Blazers under the Jet and Railroader deluge of points.

At Adam Central, both teams started slow, with Adams Central moving into a 14-10 first quarter lead. They increased their lead to 35-22 in the second period. In the third period, Eastside came to life momentarily, outscoring the Jets 17-11 going into the last quarter. At one point the Blazers had closed to within five points and were shooting two free throws. Both shots were missed, and the Blazers fell apart, outscored by the Jets 25-8.

In the first three periods, Eastside outscored Adams Central by two field goals, but the Jets' 80 percent free throw accuracy kept them in front. The Blazers could manage only 7 of 19 free throws in the entire game. Four Jets finished in double figures, while only Kochert and Wasson scored over 10 for the Blazers.

Against Garrett the Blazers started fast, opening up a 5-0 lead in the first 1½ minutes. However, the Railroaders then outscored Eastside 17-2 to move into a 17-7 lead, which they increased to 25-12 by the end of the quarter. For all practical purposes, the game was over then as the Blazers could never get back into contention. Tony Miller, Garrett's flashy guard, was the leading scorer with 20 points, a low total compared to his other performances. Ted Miller paced the Blazers with 14.

Legislative Report From '99'----

by State Rep. Floyd R. Coleman

Another week of experience as a freshman legislator is past, and I still feel I do not know all that should and could be done to help give us a better place to learn and to serve.

It becomes more apparent that we need more than ever to realize that it's "not in man to direct his own steps" and that we must learn better how to look above and beyond ourselves for guidance. So many of our laws (there are over 32 million in the books) could be replaced by the practice of the Golden Rule. It would be a great stride forward if we could stop trying to legislate morality. But until our society develops more respect for doing right than doing what is expedient, we may have to continue in our groping for the correct way.

Against the advice of some experienced legislators, I have introduced two bills that may never get a hearing, but I feel both are needed. One of these would take patronage out of our highway maintenance and the other would provide for two permanent plates on vehicles as long as they are in our state.

So far, about 800 bills have been prepared, but many will not likely go further than the first committee hearing. I have personally introduced 12 bills and have 10 more being prepared, including one requiring a driver's license for snowmobiles when driven on highway right-of-ways.

Hopes to avoid any general tax increase may be slim. I feel we need to reduce property taxes and eliminate inventory taxes, therefore a bill is being prepared for a 2% increase in sales and adjusted gross taxes with a 25% reduction of property taxes, with increased state aid to schools to 45%.

Your advice and sincere concern is solicited. I hope with God's help to be worthy of your continued support and confidence.

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXIV | Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana | Thursday, February 6, 1969 | NUMBER 6

Universal idleness would speedily result in universal ruin.
—Abraham Lincoln

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Mrs. William Douglas stopped in last week to give me some items for the paper. She said, "I caught heck for writing items for the Auburn paper and not for the Saint Joe paper."

Mrs. Douglas had answered the Auburn papers' ad for news reporters from all the outlying areas of the county. The new owners of the Auburn Printing Company are trying to get as complete coverage as possible for readers in every community. That's why they are trying to get a few individuals to help out in gathering local news items, and Mrs. Douglas is Saint Joe's correspondent.

I know how valuable news items are to a paper, so I don't really mind if Don Nixon, the Auburn papers' new manager, hires someone from here as a reporter. But I'll have to admit that it made me feel kinda good to know that somebody's loyalty to the Saint Joe News led to Mrs. Douglas' catching heck!

If she calls you for items, I suggest that you cooperate with her. Or if you want to call her, the number is 337-2878.

Mark and I went to the Shrine circus Sunday evening. Afterwards, we stopped at MacDonald's for some eats, his favorite place for overcoming the pangs of hunger—other than home. Then as we headed for home around 8:30 p.m., he climbed into the back seat to lie down. For some reason, I started singing a nonsense ditty from my childhood days:

"I went to the animal fair,
The birds and the beasts were there;
The old raccoon, by the light of the moon,
Was combing his auburn hair.
"The monkey, he got drunk,
And sat on the elephant's trunk,
The elephant sneezed and fell on his knees,
And that was the end of the monk, the monk, the monk,
And that was the end of the monk."

From the back seat came a giggle and the request, "Sing it again, Dad."

I did, and another giggle came forth. Then I switched to:

"Peanut sittin' on a railroad track,
Little heart all a-flutter;
Big freight train comin' down the track,
Whoo-whoo - - - peanut butter!"

"Sing it again, Dad," and I did. Then I reminisced with Mark, telling him that what we were doing reminded me of the times when I was a little boy and my Dad would sing as he drove the trips from Illinois to Fort Wayne when the family came back for visits with relatives and for vacations, and I suppose he got a little sleepy during the five hour jaunts; singing kept him alert, and we got free entertainment. His repertoir was infinitely larger than mine, when it comes to the number of songs to sing. But the pleasure and satisfaction was the same, despite the interval of a generation.

Thereafter the silence in the car led me to believe that Mark had fallen asleep. I was wrong. After a few minutes, from the back seat came, "Dad - - - don't you ever get drunk and sit on an elephant's trunk."

Cheerleaders' Car Wash Saturday

The cheerleaders of Eastside High School will hold a car wash this coming Saturday, February 8, 1969, at the Shell Station in Butler. Cost is $1.50 per car.

The car wash will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and pick-ups will be available by calling 868-7514.

Boards Drop Annexation Talks

(The following is the text of the official announcement concerning the Riverdale annexation proposal, quoted verbatim as requested. —Ed.)

"Joint News Release By the DeKalb County Central United School District and the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Boards of School Trustees.

"The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Central United School District and the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District met as a committee of the whole Monday evening, February 3, 1969, to receive a sub-committee report on the investigation of disannexation proceedings which were initiated a few months ago which investigation concerns the possible disannexation of Concord, Spencer and Newville townships from the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District to the DeKalb County Central United School District. The Committee Members making the report were Mr. Kenneth L. Cole, Superintendent of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, Mr. H. Charles Winans, Attorney for the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, Dr. James Watson, Superintendent of the DeKalb County Central United School District, Mr. Roger Hess, Assistant Superintendent of the DeKalb County Central United School District, and Mr. Donald T. Mefford, Attorney for the DeKalb County Central United School District.

"After a thorough discussion of the findings of the committee, it was decided, by unanimous consent of both Boards of Education, with all members present, not to proceed further with the investigation. A complete copy of the committee report is on file in the office of each Superintendent of Schools and is available to any person upon request."

Following the above action, the DeKalb Eastern school board passed a motion to "take all of the necessary action to continue with the junior-senior high school building program including the renegotiation of and-or re-advertizing and re-letting of construction and equipment bids and the necessary action to sell school building bonds to finance same."

By such motion, the board will proceed with plans to use the Butler site for construction of a new junior-senior high school.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Mildred Jarrett, reporter

Floyd Pfiorman, the new President, directed the regular meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors, January 27.

Irene Nelson read from Isaiah, and used "Peace" as the theme for devotions.

The proposed 1969 general budget, presented and explained by vice-president Norman Gerig, was accepted.

Meeting Next Thursday For Protest Group; Referendum Petition Being Prepared

A public meeting will be held Thursday of next week, February 13, 1969, at 8 p.m. at the Spencerville Community Building for the purpose of organizing the interest of patrons of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District about the status of the school situation as it relates to the "remonstrating" group in the school district. All interested patrons are urged and invited to attend.

A financial report will be given at the meeting as well as information concerning future efforts by the group.

Ted Haberkorn, spokesman for the group, announced that the efforts of the group are far from dead, plans now being carried out to circulate petitions in the eastern and central school districts of DeKalb County requesting that a public referendum be held on the question of whether or not the two districts should be combined.

"This petition," Mr. Haberkorn stated, "will not be for the purpose of compelling the districts to merge; the petition will be to grant the citizens of both districts the privilege of voicing their preference.

"It is unfortunate," he continued, "that such a move is necessary. However, the issue of equal educational opportunities within our county has been clouded by the site dispute in our eastern district and this week's announcement that the annexation proposal for the Riverdale area into the central district has been dropped by both boards. We are compelled to continue our efforts. Students in DeKalb County are not enjoying equal opportunities, specifically students in the eastern district. There is no reason why there should be any difference in our county; it is not that large as to be unwieldly even under a single administrative unit for the entire county.

"It is obvious that the joint rejection of the annexation proposal will influence the judgment of citizens in the central district inasmuch as an explanation of the situation is not officially available. However, it is hoped that any negative feelings may be overridden by the desire to do as much as possible to fulfill [illegible] public budget [illegible] with [illegible] education [illegible] school district [illegible] Eastside to give today's high school student an equal chance in higher education. Even in the segment of the student body which will not go on to college, the selectivity in academic and vocational areas is to the advantage of the student at DeKalb Central and to the disadvantage of the student of DeKalb East side.

"It has been eight years already since the county reorganization proposals were 'ceased' and discussed," Mr. Haberkorn contiued. "A single unit for the county was the original recommendation by the county reorganization committee. Despite the undercurrent feeling that ultimately a single unit was probably the logical answer, the committee was pressured to change its recommendation on two different occasions thereafter. Four school units were then established, probably as equal as could be expected. However, in less than two years the handicaps of small size and duplication of facilities were obvious to the Auburn and Waterloo areas, and they wisely united. Now our 'remonstrating' group, which originally formed to seek a central location for a proposed new school in the eastern district as is a fact now in the central district, seeks not to upset present educational conditions in the county but to equalize them. The purpose of reorganization in DeKalb County was to provide equal educational opportunities. That goal has not been achieved and we urge citizens in the central and eastern districts to give reasonable time and thought to mutual educational responsibilities, before condemning and rejecting our coming petition for a referendum."

Legislative Report From '99'----

by State Rep. Floyd R. Coleman

After three weeks and two days of freshman experience in the General Assembly, I realize even more than before the great need to seek superior wisdom if we are to survive in an orderly society. Evil forces are busily trying to legislate contrary to many of God's laws.

The House through January 30, 1969, had passed 77 bills and defeated only one. Your representative was glad to speak against this H.B. 1230, because it was designed to break a fundamental basic principle separating responsibility from privilege It was intended to remove the necessity for town council approval in cities less than 5,000 inhabitants regarding alcoholic beverage permits. It is the opinion of your legislator that we need more decisions affecting local people to be in the control of the local people whom it most affects.

I've introduced 13 bills and have asked for about 12 more for introduction, but we have only five more days to introduce bills in the House and the limit is now one per day. The legislative council who prepare bills for introduction were unable to prepare any of mine for approximately 10 days. Among those which could not be prepared was one to increase both sales tax and adjusted gross income tax by 2% and to eliminate inventory taxes and reduce property taxes to 75% of the 1969 rates, and increase state aid to schools to 45%. Some such formula seems needful, but such decisions may need to be made by more experienced legislators. The local option taxes, in my opinion, would work a hardship and create confusion, especially for the least populous counties.

It has been my privilege to introduce the following bills:

H.B. 1667 concerning a medical course at Ball State—assigned to Committee On Public Health, it authorizes Ball State University to establish a two-year course of instruction in medicine and related fields, requiring no additional funds.

H.B. 1212—requiring two plates on vehicles, and H.B. 1483 aiming for semi or permanent plates.

H.B. 1427—assigned to Committee On Roads, would remove our highway construction and maintenance from patronage. Our party strength must rely on doing right and not upon patronage.

H.B. 1149—to exempt Indiana from D.S.T. and permit us to legalize our stable E.S.T. has some opponents. Your support of this bill by a letter to Rep. John Coppes, chairman of Public Policy Committee, might be helpful.

H.C.R. 42—memorializing Congress to amend the Highway Safety Act of 1966 to require limiting of red lights to brakes or danger should make night driving safer when it is implemented.

Thanks for permitting me to represent you. Your letters of concern regarding the many problems facing the general assembly are greatly appreciated. All of your letters do register with me, though it is not always possible to answer all immediately.

Yours for doing all that's good and right without concern for credit.

Dear Loretta,

Your column has been real interesting to me. I enjoy keeping up on the activities of the other guys from "The Old Hometown" while they are in the service.

To let you know a little about what I am doing here at Sheppard: I was assigned here as my first duty station to attend undergraduate pilot training. This program consists of 130 hours of instruction in the T-37 jet trainer, then transition to the T-38 supersonic jet trainer for another 130 hours. In all, the flying, academic and military training portions of the course takes 53 weeks. Then, pending my satisfactory completion of the program, I will be rated a USAF pilot.

Presently myself and my other 28 classmates are approaching the solo stage in the T-37.

The experiences I am having here will undoubtedly be remembered for a long time for 16 of my class mates are officers in other NATO air forces, who train here to learn to fly the F-104 as part of our common European air defenses. The association with the other men of a similar educational and military background is very enjoyable for me.

Keep up the good work on the column.

Sincerely,
Michael A. Hudson

P.S. Please have Ted note my complete address above so that I may get the paper on time.

Thanks.

Dear Mike,

I was sure glad to get your letter. I know how busy you must be, and knowing the high standards the Air Force sets for its pilots, we are very proud of you for being a part of it.

Thank you for writing. Keep us informed. Good luck and God bless you.

Sincerely,
Loretta

Dear Loretta, 29 Jan.

I have received my first edition of the St. Joe News. I read your column and noticed my Mom had sent in my address.

I'm now stationed at Naha Air Base on Okinawa. I'm far from being short. I have 17 months to go before I will get to come back to good ol' Indiana. The weather here is not too bad. It's fairly cool today and threatening to rain. I sure would like to see some more snow.

I have enrolled in USAFI courses here on base and will start with an accounting course. The work here is good. I work a 24 hour shift with 3 days off every 2 weeks. I'm getting terribly lazy. Well, that's about all for now. I know everyone is enjoying the cold weather and hope all are feeling fine.

I'd like to say hi to the Crows Nest knowing there'll be a lot of work to get me back in shape when I get home.

Take care everybody.
See you in 17 mo.
AMN Dan Crow

Dear Dan,

Glad to get your letter. Lately we, back here in good ol' Indiana, have been in the same weather boat as you. We've seen a lot more rain than snow!

I know that this must be a stupid question but how can you work a twenty-four hour shift, when do you sleep? During the 3 days that you have off every 2 weeks?!!

And how can you get lazy when you are working 24 hours? I just don't understand.

Work hard on that accounting course. I'll bet Crows Nest could use an acountant that works 24 hours.

God bless you.
Loretta

—See y'all next week. Don't forget to write.

Negotiations Bill

A professional negotiations bill, prepared by the Indiana School Boards Association, was introduced in the House of Representatives January 16 and assigned to the Education Committee. Sponsors of the bill are Education Committee Chairman Joe Cloud of Richmond and Fred Bauer, House Minority Leader from Terre Haute.

The bill provides procedures to be used by representatives of school boards and teachers in negotiations on questions involving teacher compensation. It prodives for an exclusive bargaining agent to be selected to represent teachers in each school corporation with elections provided in those school corporations with more than one teacher organization.

No new state agencies are created as a part of the provisions of the bill although the Governor of Indiana is authorized to designate individuals to serve in assisting local negotiators in cases where agreement cannot be reached. The bill provides that negotiations must be completed prior to the time for advertising school budgets and voids any agreement which would place the school corporation into a deficit financing position contrary to Indiana law. A no-strike provision with penalties is also included.

The ISBA bill is the second bill to be introduced to provide negotiations rights for teachers. A third bill would include teachers with all other public employees. The introduction of several other similar bills is anticipated.

Blazers Win Two

by Phil Miller

Keith Kessler's 6 free throws in the closing minutes of Eastside's Friday night basketball game at Prairie Heights provided the Blazers' 88-82 margin of victory. With 5 earlier free throws and 7 field goals, Kessler was high scorer for Eastside with 35 points.

In a fast-break first half, the Blazers gained leads of up to 9 points, dropped to 3-point margins, then regained big leads which eventually reached 17 points at 68-51 in the third period.

Then with the bench giving the regulars a rest, Prairie Heights began picking away at the lead. The regulars were gradually reinserted in the lineup, but Prairie Heights was rolling and pulled up to an 80-all tie. Then a basket by John Kochert accompanied Kessler's heroics at the free throw line to give Eastside the win.

Charlie Ross had 17 points and Dennis Ginder had a 100% night, hitting 5 of 5 from the field and 1 for 1 at the free throw line. Jerry Simanton hit for 8 points in the final quarter and Ted Miller played a steady all-round game. Kochert, recovering from the flu, played only part time but sniped 7 timely points. Kessler, Wasson and Ross led in rebounds with 13, 9 and 9.

Saturday night the Blazers continued their improvement, moving into a 19-12 first quarter lead and staying out in front the remainder of the game, as they defeated Norwell 74-69. Norwell rallied several times to close the gap to 3 or 4 points, but could never pull even with the Blazers.

The victory evened the Blazers' ACAC record at 3-3.

Kessler again paced the Blazer scoring attack with 21, closely followed by diminuitive Ted Miller with 17. Deo Wasson had his best game defensively as well as scoring 14 points and pulling in 9 rebounds. All of the Blazers hustled well and kept moving in better fashion than in previous games.

In both games last week the Blazers hit well from the field and at the free throw line. At Prairie Heights they hit 40% from the field and 73% on free throws. Against Norwell they had 41% from the field and again 73% from the free throw line. Although they gave up 151 points in the two games, they were working as well on defense as any game this year. Their opponents were high scoring teams but the Blazer offense was good for 162 points and the two victories.

The reserves lost both their games.

This week Edgerton brings a fine team to Eastside. If the Blazers continue their hustle and desire, they should upset the Bulldogs.

Town Board

The Town Board met Monday night for its monthly session. Clerk Donald Kinsey was absent due to illness.

The board authorized City National Bank of Auburn to serve as depository for town and waterworks funds. Another motion established higher wage rates for labor hired by the town.

Remuneration for the services of Roger Schlegel of Saint Joe as town dog warden was established. Mr. Schlegel is now officially authorized to carry out the provisions of the town's dog ordinance. Owners of dogs are urged to cooperate in keeping their canine pets confined or under control at all times. Stray or wandering dogs will be picked up by the dog warden, who will post a description of such dogs on the door of the town hall within 12 hours after pickup. If the owner does not claim his dog in three days after the posting of such a notice, the dog will be disposed of in a humane manner.

A $3.00 fee must be paid to clerk Donald Kinsey before the dog can be released. A receipt for the fee should be obtained from the clerk and given to Mr. Schlegel. After the first pickup, the fee becomes $5.00 for each time it is necessary to pick up the dog.

Discussion was held on the board's tentative plans to build a new town hall at a new location when adequate funds are available for such purpose. The present building is in poor repair and is not adequate in size for the needs of the town.

The board plans to survey the local cemetery for more accurate identification of cemetery lots. It also tentatively plans to redefine the boundaries of the town, adding more area to the present corporate limits.

Bills allowed were as follows:

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 229
—Shari Hook, Troop Scribe

Spencerville Junior Girl Scout Troop 229 held its regular meeting February 3 with 23 members and two leaders in attendance. Plans were discussed for the song fest February 22, Fine Arts Day March 8, and family night program March 15. We also did some badge work.

On January 27, 16 members and three leaders enjoyed pleasant and interesting tours through Holsom Dairy and St. Joe News printing office. We would like to again thank Mr. and Mrs. Kline, Mrs. Baker and Mr. Haberkorn for their time and kindness. On this day the troop made up a "sunshine box" for one of our members, Ricki Jo Meek. We are very happy Ricki is improving nicely.

CADETTE TROOP 192
—Rita Fish, News Reporter

The regular meeting of the Cadette Troop 192 was held in the Church of Christ at Saint Joe. We discussed having a paper drive. We decided the date would be March 1. We appointed a committee for trucks and a committee for publicity. We are going to the song fest in Auburn at the Presbyterian Church February 22, 1969. Ruth Cannon has just recently jointed Scout Troop 192.

Accident Causes Serious Injuries

Mrs. Glenn Conley of Saint Joe suffered a broken neck in a one-car accident Thursday afternoon of last week. Jeanene Hudson of R1 Saint Joe, driver of the car, suffered multiple lacerations to her face. The accident occurred a mile south of Saint Joe on State Road 1. The Hudson 1962 Chevrolet went out of control on a curve and crashed broadside into a utility pole. The car was cut almost in two by the force of the impact.

Mrs. Conley was taken to DeKalb Memorial Hospital, then transferred to Parkview Hospital in Fort Wayne where she is listed in fair condition. Miss Hudson was treated at DeKalb Memorial Hospital, then released.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
Loretta Musser, Reporter

On February 5, 1969, the Ladies Literary Club met with Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. and the collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Wayne Storer.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer presented the lesson, "Abraham, the Friend of God," which covered Abraham's wanderings as told in the National Georgaphic Magazine by writers who re-traced the journies. Each member was furnished a map for reference which added much to the interest of the lesson.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Robert Musser who read two poems about the Bible and conducted a "hymn sing" with the assistance of Mrs. Storer at the piano.

At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker, critic, gave her commendation of the lesson and also an article which contained many facts about February.

The meeting was adjourned to meet with Mrs. Shafer February 26. The hostess served light refreshments.

Blazers Lose

by Phil Miller

The Edgerton Bulldogs, sporting a classy 14-3 record, had their hands full Friday night before downing the Eastside Blazers 59-53. The Bulldogs trailed for 3 quarters before moving in front 41-40 early in the 4th quarter.

For the next 4 minutes, the teams traded leads and were tied several times. Edgerton moved ahead to stay with 3½ minutes left in the game.

The Blazers led 15-14 at the end of the first quarter and 27-23 at the half. Midway through the third quarter, they moved ahead by 11 points, 40-29 only to see their lead dwindle to 40-39 at the end of the period.

The Blazers took more shots than Edgerton, 78 to 73, hit a better percentage, 30% to 26%, and outrebounded the Bulldogs 47 to 34. However, the Bulldogs had a wide margin at the free throw line, hitting on 21 of 29 attempts to the Blazers' 7 of 13.

Four of the Bulldogs were in double figures, paced by Sito with 15. Only two Blazers were able to find the range consistently, Wasson scoring 15 and Ross 14. Ross and Kessler pulled in 14 and 13 rebounds, respectively.

This week the Blazers finish their home season, playing Hamilton Friday night. Saturday night, they play ACAC leader Carroll on the Eastside floor. The Blazers are in a 3-way tie for 4th place with Norwell and Woodlan in the ACAC.

The Blazer reserves lost to the Bulldogs 50-40.

Letters to the Editor

January 29, 1969

At the present time, there are two bills, House Bill 1469 and Senate Bill 113, pending in the Indiana State Legislature, which provides for a direct primary election for the selection of candidates for United States Senator, Governor and Lieutenant Governor and the other top state offices. At the present time, these public officials are nominated by their respective Democratic and Republican State conventions. Indiana and Connecticut are the only two states in the union which do not provide for nominations in the state conventions by direct primary for state offices. In Indiana, we hold a primary election to determine our preference for President of the United States and select our candidates for congressional, legislative, county and municipal offices by direct primary. However, in the state offices we make an exception. This exception allows for political power to be controlled by a few hands rather than by the people. The loyalty of the delegates are difficult to ascertain and when the people vote for them, they actually have no knowledge for whom they are voting. Approximately twenty per cent of the votes cast in the state convention are cast by proxies.

Thus as the law now stands, the people have no real choice in the selection of their top state candidates.

Sincerely,
Phillip H. Willkie

Dog Ordinance Being Enforced

Roger Schlegel has begun pickup duties as dog warden for Saint Joe. A notice was posted on the door of the town hall Saturday morning concerning a dog picked up last week end, the first since Mr. Schlegel assumed dog warden duties. Limited facilities at the present time prevent his picking up more strays. However, additional kennels are being prepared to accommodate the several dogs which are yet seen on the streets. Citizens may report strays directly to Mr. Schlegel at 337-2935. Since he is employed full time elsewhere on the second shift, calls should be made preferably in the morning or early afternoon.

When a dog is picked up, the owner has three days after the posting of the dog's description on the town hall door to obtain a receipt from Town Clerk Donold Kinsey for the three-dollar pickup fee, take it to the dog warden and regain possesion of his dog. After the first pickup, the fee goes to five dollars to regain possession of the dog.

It appears thus far that owners are cooperating in keeping their pets confined or under control at all times. Such cooperation serves to protect the public, public property—and the pets themselves.

Almost everybody has a friend who has heard "electric heat is expensive."

Clyde Platt knows better

"Our house in Ft. Wayne is 15 years old. We switched to electric heat 2 years ago and it's costing us less than the heat we had. No worries—no maintenance." Mrs. Platt loves it. "Some people think you have to be rich to have electric heat. Instead, you feel rich—and save money at the same time." The comfort of flameless electric heat is incomparable—but cost is comparable to other forms of heating. Let us prove it. Get a free estimate—from us or your Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer.

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, February 20, 1969 — NUMBER 8

Indiana State Library

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A couple of weeks ago when I mentioned reminiscing with Mark on the way home from the circus, it prompted Pauline Baumgartner to call me on the phone and comment about fond memories of the past. Betty Brown also commented about her memories as far as Saint Joe is concerned, remembering the good old days, not too far gone, when coming to town was still a treat for rural boys and girls, and seeing the free movies at Saint Joe was a particular treat.

"Everybody came to town on Saturday night," Betty said. And she remembers her girlhood days when she visited in the house we now live in.

The free movies were still going when we came to Saint Joe in 1948. At that time they were being shown in the area between the town hall and what is now Hep's Dairy Store. I can remember that, as a newcomer, I assisted in a small way in erecting or repairing (I forget which) the large wooden backboard on which the movie screen was hung. I remember Clifford Billow with a hammer in hand asking how the top board lined up before nails were driven. I said it was crooked, raise one end a little. When they checked, it was level and Cliff said, "Well, the new editor has a good eye."

Then the movies were shown on Wednesday nights with Forrest Harding of Auburn providing films and the projector. Originally the businessmen used their own projector, but it got out of repair. The location was changed, too, movies being shown in the early fifties on the lot just across from the hardware and furniture store. Still later, the conservation club took over the movies and used the conservation grounds for a "theater." Frosty Brattain was the projectionist, then.

When did the movies stop?!?

Rush Holtzberg apparently is responsible for the thorough cleanup job done in the basement of The Unicorn. I was down there Tuesday, checking on the drain and sump pump problem in the building, and I know the basement looks a heck of a lot better than it did before Rush got busy. Maybe he had helpers; I don't know who they were, if he did. But anyhow, it's a lot neater now in the basement.

Gertrude Reinhart brought in the article about the trip she and Pock took out west. She didn't include an interesting sidelight about the trip.

You know how it is when you are traveling, you start conversations with strangers for the pleasure of their company and often find common interests to share. Well, the Reinharts got into a conversation with a couple who got on the train at Albuquerque, New Mexico. The other couple was also on a western pleasure trip. The gentleman ultimately asked the Reinharts where they were from and Gertrude said Fort Wayne, figuring as most of us do that the large city will locate "home" quicker than the exact small town or community name. The man said, "You don't happen to know of a little town called Saint Joe, do you?" Of course, he was immediately informed that the Reinharts are from here. The man turned out to be Von Knisely who was born at Saint Joe around 1908 and lived here until he was five years old, at which time the family moved. He and his wife now live at Ypsilanti, Michigan, and they have four daughters.

Do any oldtimers remember him?!?

Not to detract from the presentations made by the other three faculty members, but after Tuesday's P.T.O. meeting I have the impression that Kathleen Flesher is a "hard nose" when it comes to her English classes—and we're fortunate to have her on our faculty at Riverdale.

All Ages Invited To Make Use Of The Unicorn

—by Ken Mathes

The Unicorn has several announcements to make this week.

We want to thank Thelma Holtzberg, Pat Roberts and Sally Wolfe for planning our bake sale. We are very grateful to everyone who contributed, as well as those who came to buy. We made $43.15! This puts The Unicorn out of the red; now we will be able to grow, and plan for the future.

We had an attendance of 50 at last Sunday's afternoon dance. We have selected "The Verse" and the "Dunhill Union" for house bands. They will be appearing on alternate Sundays from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. "The Verse" consists of Clinton Politti, guitar and sax; John Politti, guitar and bass; Glen Politti, drums; Glen Newman, sax; Jeff Paske, vocal. In our opinion, these are the best bands we have had.

We will open The Unicorn from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. beginning Wednesday, February 26, and every Wednesday afternoon thereafter, to the men of the community. We have mailed 40 personal invitations to retired men, the remainder of you fellows come on down and join them. We will furnish a deck of cards and coffee. No charge, of course.

If the ladies are interested in using the club for cards or bingo games, please call me, Ken Mathes, at 238-4531, or my assistant, Dave Hubbard at 357-2944. We will arrange to open an afternoon for them.

We hope to make our club serve all age groups, not just teenagers. Let us know your ideas.

Next Sunday we will feature The Dunhill Union from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

See you there, guys and gals.

100 Attend PTO Tuesday

—Irma Camp, Reporter

One hundred persons attended Tuesday's meeting of the Riverdale P.T.O. held in the school cafetorium.

Mrs. Connie Hollabaugh, vice president of the organization, called the meeting to order and led the pledge to the flag and the Lord's Prayer.

Secretary Mrs. Jerry Keener gave her report of the previous meeting and, treasurer Mrs. Franklyn Sechler presented the financial report.

Bud Shockley gave a report from the Ways and Means Committee which had been authorized to make use of P.T.O. monies in whatever way it saw appropriate. The committee has, therefore, designated all funds, except approximately $4.00, to be spent for books or film strips.

To replenish the treasury for next year's officers, a bake sale will be held at the March meeting with all parents and patrons asked to participate.

Mrs. Jack Bowser and Mrs. Norman Morr will be co-chairmen of the March bake sale.

Mrs. Sechler has made special note that P.T.O. funds have been used totally in the past year for Riverdale school needs.

Mrs. Max Markle gave a report as chairman of the Room Mothers Committee. She thanked mothers and Principal Rader for their cooperation in holding classroom parties.

Mr. Rader then introduced the four faculty members who in turn presented a brief resume of certain areas of Riverdale's educational program. Mrs. Freida Guilford reviewed the challenges offered the student in the reading program, starting in the first grade. Mr. Forrest Bevington reviewed the physical education program in the school, limited in its scope due to lack of facilities and time. Students Leo Carper, Jr., Mike Mansfield and Paul Roberts assisted Mr. Bevington in the demonstration. Mrs. Kenneth Flesher reviewed some of the most common errors in the use of the English language, after which Mr. Richard Snyder showed a filmstrip to demonstrate the current events aspect of the social studies program in the junior high.

Room 8B was the winner of the attendance contest.

Refreshments and a social hour concluded the meeting.

Petition Being Circulated In Two School Districts For Merger

A petition is currently being circulated in both the eastern and central school districts of DeKalb County, requesting the consolidation of the two districts into one. The petition and its request have been prepared under the terms of Section 12 of Chapter 226 of the Acts of 1949, as last amended by Section 2 of Chapter 261 of the Acts of 1959. (Burns Ind. Annot. Stats. sec. 28-2442.)

Registered voters residing in the two school districts are eligible to sign the petition. When the number of signers in each district reaches 5% of the total vote cast in each district for Secretary of State of Indiana at the 1968 election, the petition is valid for presentation to the respective school boards for action.

The petition establishes the makeup of the proposed newly-created school board by utilizing the present Central United district's selection of members and adding one member from the city of Butler and one from the total township area of the present eastern district with the exception of Butler. Thus the proposed board would be made up as follows:

1. City of Auburn.
2. Fairfield and Smithfield townships.
3. Grant and Richland townships.
4. Union and Jackson townships with the exception of the City of Auburn.
5. City of Butler.
6. Concord, Stafford, Troy, Newville, Spencer and Wilmington townships with the exception of the City of Butler.
7. At large.

It was stated in this paper two weeks ago that the petition would directly mandate a referendum on the consolidation question. The statement was partially in error. The petition is a request for consolidation, not for a referendum. However, a referendum is provided for under the act of 1949 should the petitioners' request not be followed or should there be a remonstrance against the actions of the school boards in carrying out the petitioners' request.

Though the name of the district is partially established under the Indiana statute, it is still possible to utilize the name of the central district as it is currently in popular use, incorporating it in the statute's designation of such a new district as a metropolitan school district. However, under the act, the official and final designation of the name is the duty of the newly-formed school board.

The possibility of the current petition was announced a few months ago, and the circulation of the petition comes on the heels of a scathing three-page letter sent to the entire eastern school district by Superintendent Kenneth Cole, singling out the Riverdale area and particularly the editor of the Saint Joe News and alleging or infering their responsibility for not getting a proposed new junior-senior high school under construction.

At a public meeting last Thursday, it was voted by a slight majority to circulate the petitions.

Visitors at the meeting, in an unofficial capacity, were Robert Ball, president of the DeKalb County Central United School District board of education, and Mr. Donald Mefford, legal counsel for the central school district.

SPENCER TWP. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met Tuesday, February 11, in the home of Lois Fisher at noon.

Nine members and one guest enjoyed the delicious luncheon in Valentine motif and the exchange of surprise packages wrapped in the traditional color of the day.

During the business meeting, the president read excerpts of a letter from Marian Adair, wife of Cong. E. Ross Adair. Chairmen of committees gave reports and plans for coming meetings were discussed. The lesson for today was a resume on the five courthouses which have served DeKalb County since 1836.

For the response to roll call, each named her favorite president, giving a few facts concerning his life and her reasons for her choice. This proved to be both entertaining and informative.

Coins for friendship were collected and the meeting closed with a Chinese auction for birthdays during February to April inclusive.

The March 11 meeting will be at the home of Hermices Wilder, who will be hostessing for her mother, Gladys Hart.

Blazers Lose

by Phil Miller

Eastside's Blazers lost two close games over the past weekend, as the Hamilton Marines edged the Blazers 67-62, and Carroll's Chargers won 70-62. In both games the Blazers were either ahead or tied in the last quarter, but errors and crucial missed shots kept them from winning. Since both Hamilton and Carroll have fine teams, Eastside's play was really respectable, but not quite good enough to nail down a win.

Against the Hamilton Marines, the Blazers moved into an 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter, dropped behind to 37-33 at the half, and regained the lead at 48-47 before Blomeke of Hamilton was fouled as the third period ended. He made both free throws to give his team a 49-48 lead to carry into the final quarter. The lead changed hands several times in the next 5 minutes, but Hamilton moved ahead to stay in the last three minutes. Keith Kessler paced the Blazers with 22 points, while sophomore Charlie Ross was the only other Eastsider to score in double figures, totalling 11. Kessler and Ross had 15 and 13 rebounds, respectively.

The Blazer B-team lost to Hamilton 43-34.

The Carroll game was almost a carbon copy of the Hamilton contest as Eastside held a first-period 18-14 lead, dropped back to a halftime disadvantage of 33-30, and moved even at 45 after three quarters. In the fourth period the Blazers couldn't quite find the go-ahead basket, although they were tied and were within one point several times. Late in the quarter, the Blazers were forced to go without Kessler and Ross, as Kessler twisted an ankle and Ross fouled out. Ross and John Kochert were the leading scorers for eastside with 14 and 11. Kessler pulled down 10 rebounds to lead in that department.

The Blazer reserves lost to Carrol, 60-32.

The Eastside Varsity hit on 21 field goals and 20 free throws both nights, hitting 30 percent from the field both nights, and 67 and 77 percent at the free throw line.

Friday night, the Blazers carry a 6-11 record to Woodlan for a previously postponed game with the Warriors, the current conference tourney champs. Saturday, the Blazers go to Monroeville to play a return game with Heritage, which will not count in the ACAC standings.

Junior League

—by Forrest Bevington

"Kill the umpire" became the the battle cry as the Saturday Junior League games were played with spirit, desire, and broken hearts.

Team 2 had many chances in trying to win, but the ball would not fall through the hoop. Team 3, with the fine play of Rick Rinard, ran out the clock winning 29-20.

Team 4, trying to even their slate against Team 1, missed 18 free throw chances. The final score was 29-28. Leo Carper was high scorer for the winners, while Tom Hallobaugh led all teams with 22 points.

Reinharts Back Home

The Walter Reinharts have returned from California where they flew a month ago to visit with Roger; Rock and family including a new granddaughter, Dawn Renee, of Los Angeles; and Rita Penny and family of Oakland. All were found in good health and send greetings to their friends back home.

Other points of interest visited by the Reinharts while in western states were: Berkley Campus; several productive valleys of orange and lemon groves; the Santa Barbara coast; mud slides of Los Angeles; Disneyland; Marineland; Busch Gardens; Knotts Berry Farm; Art and Movieland Wax Museum; Farmers Market; Griffith Observatory; San Diego Zoo; and Tijuana, Mexico. They also visited all decks of the helicopter ship, the USS Princeton, on which son Rock had just returned from eight months' duty.

On the way home by bus, they visited Hoover Dam, Las Vegas, and the Grand Canyon. They boarded the Santa Fe train at Flagstaff, Arizona, for Chicago, and flew then to Fort Wayne, met there by son Randy who, with the help of Merlin Simanton, kept the home fires burning during the trip.

The Reinharts report a "wonderful time with the children," enjoying the beautiful western sights—but glad now to be "back home again in Indiana."

Lions Club

by Frank Amrein

There were 44 present at the Ladies Night meeting February 10.

Howard Timmerman, chairman for this dinner meeting, engaged a room at the Gerber Haus Motel. Following the dinner, president Bob Wilder told us that William Staman, one of our past presidents, would be 85 Wednesday, so everyone joined in singing "Happy Birthday" and wishing him many more.

President Bob gave Richard Crow and Willard Maxwell each a Lioness pin and they in turn pinned them on their wives. He also read a letter from the Leader Dog organization thanking us for our recent donation.

Chairman Timmerman then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. James Hunnion, a native of Ohio, graduate of Ohio State University, former jet fighter pilot and now home office sales consultant for the Lincoln Life Insurance Company. His speech consisted mostly of jokes and numerous stories. He did speculate on way we became Lions and concluded that it was the combination of fellowship, the good times and the worthwhile projects that we work on.

Just before closing the meeting Mr. Timmerman and the president drew a name, and Mrs. Karl Hart won the floral centerpiece.

DeKalb Memorial Hospital News Notes

—by Bola Cooper

Careers in the field of health services are among the most promising of all careers to be considered by young people today, and to those other than young people. The openings are almost numberless, and the work itself has its own rewards, both monetarily and in personal satisfaction. And all too few persons are aware of the scholarship loans available in this field.

Right here in DeKalb County, there is a scholarship loan fund eagerly awaiting more applications for its use. Furthermore, the fund itself is growing month by month as women contribute to it by means of life memberships in the DeKalb Memorial Hospital Guild.

To date, 35 women have invested (the word invested is thoughtfully chosen) $100 each in this group of the Guild. These are "investments in futures" — future careers, future services to mankind, future returns, in some instances, for DeKalb Memorial Hospital itself, because if the recipient of a scholarship loan from this fund returns to DeKalb Memorial Hospital as a qualified professional for a specified time, 50 percent of the loan will become a grant.

Who are these women who make such investments? They are any women. They could be you. Their names are not important. They invite you to join them on the same terms.

Who are those who are already making use of these loans, semester by semester? Neither are their names important to the public, but the results being achieved are highly important both to them and to the various fields of service. Let it be noted - they may be either men or women.

Such an activity must have management. The committee in charge this year are: Mrs. E. E. Rogers, chairman; Mrs. Marshall Link, both of Auburn; Mrs. Charles Overmeyer of Waterloo; and Mrs. Forrest Bevington of Saint Joe.

Whether for a loan or for a life membership, with no further Guild dues payable, let your desires be known to any member of this committee serving the Guild of DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

Apollo 8 Rocket Almost As High As Detroit's Famous Fisher Building

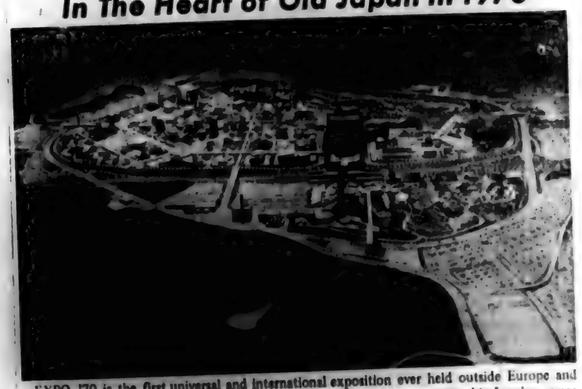
Here's how the Saturn 5 rocket, which launched astronauts Borman, Lovell and Anders on their trip around the moon, compares in height with Detroit's Fisher Building. This composite picture shows the rocket as though it is resting on West Grand Boulevard adjacent to the famous office building in Detroit's New Center area. The Saturn 5 is only 78 feet shorter than the Fisher Building, whose golden tower reaches 441 feet high. The rocket which blasted the Apollo 8 into space was loaded with 960,000 gallons of fuel for the historic moon-circling trip.

New World Comes To Life

In The Heart of Old Japan in 1970



EXPO '70 is the first universal and international exposition ever held outside Europe and North America. Ever since 1851 when the first modern world fair was staged in London, more than a score of expositions have been held, but all in Europe and North America.

In the late 19th century Japan planned to hold a world exhibition in 1890, but it proved abortive. The Japan World Exposition in 1970, therefore, should take a prominent place in the history of world culture, for it is the first to be held in Asia and the realization of an 80-year old Japanese dream.

Many nations from Asia, Africa, South and Central America, not to mention European and North American nations, will participate in EXPO '70. Thus far 40 different nations have indicated their intent to participate.

The central theme of EXPO '70 is "Progress and Harmony for Mankind." The site of EXPO '70 has been chosen and planned to reflect this theme; it will accommodate a model city of the future which is in line with it.

The site of EXPO '70 will be located at Senri Hills near Osaka, Japan. Taking advantage of the geography of the surrounding hillside, the site will be a natural amphitheater covering 815 acres.

A new world will come to life here in the heart of old Japan in 1970.

They Didn't Get Away

Once again, a few Hoosier anglers have proved their fishing abilities by shattering records in the official listing of Indiana Record Fish.

Each year it is felt that existing records will not be surpassed. But each year the Indiana Department of Natural Resources is surprised and pleased to receive entries of larger fish.

The most spectacular fish, and a new record, was an 11 pound, 11 ounce Largemouth Bass, caught by Curt Reynolds of Ferdinand. The bass topped the previous record by 1 pound, 3 ounces.

Chester Janik of Hammond more than doubled the Steelhead record of 7 pounds with a 14 pound 10 ounce catch in Lake Michigan.

A new category was posted with the advent of Coho Salmon in Indiana's waters. A coho entered by Toby Bocanegra of Gary established the record of 14 pounds and 3 ounce for this species.

Frank Cousens, Jr. of South Head captured the honors in the Brown Trout division and shattered a record of 7 pounds and 4 ounces that had stood since 1963. His fish weighed in at 10 pounds 9 ounces.

Bill Gahl of North Vernon beat his home town fishing buddy out of the Spotted Bass record by entering a 1 pound 12 ounces. This fish topped the existing record by only 8 ounces.

In addition to the "Record Fish" listing, the Department of Naturdal Resources also maintains a "Fish-of-the-Year" award. Those fish entries that do not top a previous record are still honored if they are the largest fish reported during the calendar year. Winners of the 1968 "Fish-of-the-Year" awards are:

Sunger—3 lb. 2 oz.—O. L. Hoffman, Rosedale.

Crappie—1 lb. 4 oz.—Viola Crockett, Michigan City.

Walley—9 lb.—Roy Conrad, DeMotte.

White Bass (Silver)—4 lb.—Charles L. Smith, Logansee.

Bluegill—1 lb. 12 oz.—Oren A. Haynes, Fairmount.

Get Heart Checkup

With a Heart Fund campaign set for February, the DeKalb County Heart Association has opened the drive with a strong suggestion that adults, especially men, get a pysical checkup soon, to reduce the risk of a heart attack.

More than ever before, doctors are equipped to identify coronary-prone individuals, for whom a regimen of risk reduction is vital. Others, during the course of an examination by their physician, may acquire valuable information regarding what can be done to improve their chances of avoiding or delaying heart attack.

New diagnostic tools, as well as new knowledge, now enable the physician to offer suggestions which may add years to the individual's life, the association said.

People can get the full benefit of these new advances only through periodic medical examinations.

Physicians may recommend such steps as avoidance of cigarettes, maintenance of normal weight, regular physical activities, an intake of less saturated fats and foods high in cholesterol, and, importantly, control of high blood pressure if present.

Of the nation's 25 million persons living with some form of cardiovascular disease, more than 19 million suffer either from high blood pressure or its result—hypertensive heart disease. This means that, nationally, high blood pressure is associated with about 77 per cent of all known cardiovascular illness.

It is a tragic fact, the association reports, that many millions of people are unknowingly walking around with high blood pressure, which not only triggers hypertensive heart disease, but also accelerates conditions which set the stage for heart attack and stroke. In most instances, the physician can bring high blood pressure under control.

Routine physical checkups also can disclose inborn heart abnormalities, or heart damage resulting from rheumatic fever.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Mrs. Harvey Rennecker called Tuesday to place an ad in the paper. But the contents of her "ad" are such that I told her it would appear as a news item — and this is it.

The reason is that volunteer help is needed to give "pattern therapy" to Kathleen Harding, 9 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harding. The family resides at the intersection of County Road 45 and 60. Kathleen is a student at Riverdale, but is physically handicapped because she is a victim of cerebral palsy.

Mrs. Rennecker informed me that there are four other children she knows of in the Auburn area who suffer from the same condition. Two families she was able to identify, one the Don Walters family, the other the Jim Sims family, the latter the sheriff of our county.

These young people require special medical treatment from time to time and travel to Cincinnati, Chicago and elsewhere for such professional treatment. However, the need here at home is for volunteers who will give an hour and a half, from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m., in the evening, Monday through Friday, to assist in giving pattern therapy for Kathleen's benefit.

So, if you can give your time and services from time to time to help this young lady cope with her physical handicap, please call Mrs. Rennecker at 337-2777 and she will gladly make arrangements for your help or give any necessary additional information.

A note came in the mail Wednesday morning from Mrs. Frank Bowman. It was short and not so sweet. It said:

"Please cancel our subscription."

Concerned that perhaps there was an offense on my part that prompted long-time subscribers like the Bowmans to stop the paper, I called Mrs. Bowman. She explained that Frank is now 90 years old and she is 85 and both are not able to read. They rely on TV now for keeping up with the news—and they had cancelled other papers, too.

I'm not happy that they cannot see to read, but I also am happy that their cancellation is not because of discontent with the paper.

While talking to Mrs. Bowman, she recalled the days when she and Frank ran the drug store in Saint Joe. Married in 1901 in Spencerville, they lived there for ten years before moving to Saint Joe. Frank was a registered pharmacist, having graduated from Northwestern. But he did not go into pharmacy work at first; instead he worked in the Saint Joe Valley Bank in Saint Joe for twenty years as cashier. In 1933, the bank "cashed in" as many did in the depression days, according to Mrs. Bowman, and in 1936 the couple opened the drug store in the building which now rocks and rolls with "The Unicorn" activities. In 1946 the Bowmans sold the business, resided here until 1951 and then moved to Butler. In Saint Joe they lived in the big house which formerly stood on the corner east of the Roy Bowser home; the house was burned down a few years ago. In the good old days, though, the Bowman house was a center of club activities, from what I have heard and from I have seen of old issues of the paper reporting community affairs.

The Bowmans now reside at 127 Depot in Butler, next to a nursing home, and they are happy and well taken care of.

They probably would appreciate visits from friends in Saint Joe since they no longer can go when and where they want to by car.

I got a chuckle out of the following headline and sub-headline last week:

"POPE GIVES WARNING TO PRIESTS WHO MARRY
"Those Who Want To Marry or Enter Into Ordinary Life Have Fallen Into Grave Error"

—How does he know?!!?

—Or—if you've never tried it, don't knock it.

Mark asked me last week how he could help me. I said, "Write a story." Here is the result:

"MY GREAT FALL.

Well, this is what happened. Some third graders pushed me off the slide, and I went way, way down.

Mark H."

Cite Need For Sportsmanship

The following news release came from Eastside High School for publication this week:
"SPORTSMANSHIP

"The conduct of some of our fans at basketball games has been very poor during recent weeks. Adult action often times is the cause for student action that is undesirable.

"The administration of East Side High School asks that all patrons and students remember that the school is responsible for the behavior and action of all their people at season games and tournaments.

"The Coach and Principal are required to sign a form before entering the Sectional tourney in which they agree to abide by the decisions of the officials. Fans are expected to abide by this ruling also.

"Back the Eastside Blazer team, but display good sports manship at all times."

Frank Sechler Named To Aviation Board

Frank Sechler of Saint Joe has been named by the DeKalb County commissioners as a member of the county aviation board of directors. The appointment is for four years.

Mr. Sechler replaces Mr. Wendell Cooper on the board. Other members include Clayton Bailey of Garrett, and Edward Proksa and Robert White of Auburn.

The Limberlost Girl Scout Council, including the Riverdale area, endorses the Girl Scouts who will be calling at homes in the area to take cookie orders from February 28 through March 9. The public is urged to support the Girl Scouts through cookie purchases.

The cookies freeze well and make tasty additions to recipes.

You may phone orders to Pat Osmun 347-3401, or Marge Fish at her 5, 238-1315.

The Unicorn

by Ken Mathes

The Unicorn featured the Dunhill Union band last Sunday. We had an attendance of 33 young people.

We have a new juke box and have been working on our redecorating. We hung curtains and are planning new lighting for our dance floor. Come in and look us over!

Now that the club is out of the red, we have dropped the 15 cent admission charge. We will continue admission charges for sock hops or bands, however.

We hope the men of the community respond well to our invitation for Wednesday afternoons. We hope to hear from some of the ladies with their ideas for using the club. We are planning a white elephant sale, and bake sale the Saturday before Easter. More about that later.

Saturday, March 1, we will feature the "Warmed Over Death" band from 7:00 until 10:00 p.m. The club will be open until 11:00 as usual but the band will stop at 10:00 so we don't keep our neighbors awake.

We will feature the Dunhill Union Sunday, March 2, from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

We want to thank Sally Wolfe for her cash donation. It was much appreciated.

See all you guys and gals at The Unicorn.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

One thing is sure and that is that you are sure to have a fine meal at every Lions Club meeting but you are never sure what it will be. This same thing seems to hold true for the entertainment portion of the meeting. On the evening of February 24, we saw and listened to a travelogue picture and lecture on the most primitive people of North America, the eskimos of Victoria Island. This is a place 1,500 miles north of Winnipeg, Alberta, Canada, at the mouth of a river that runs into the Arctic Ocean.

Our narrator was Dr. Robert Heffner, a former resident of our community who is now a veterinarian at Huntington.

These eskimos put on their caribou clothes about the first of August and don't take them off until June of the next year. Then as it gets colder, they just put on another fur suit. The temperature in the igloos is about 32 degrees all winter so they just put off taking a bath until the next summer.

During the six weeks of summer the sun goes down about 11 p.m., then after about two hours of twilight, it comes up again.

The landscape consists of rock, water, ice and tundra. The tundra is a thick carpet like mat of alpine flowers (little spring flowers) and similar plants. These people resemble Asiatics; they are small, dark, talented artists, furriers, seamstresses. They are friendly, honest, very religious (Christian) and, like their dogs, are very easily spooked. They live on raw fish, raw caribou, raw seal, raw everything except some sort of greens made from plants from the tundra which are cooked on oil lamps which are used more for light than for heat. Fish eyes and fish cheeks are considered a delicacy. Travel is on foot, on snowshoes, dog sled and by canoe.

Dr. Heffner said the trip was no picnic, they had snow or sleet four of the ten summer days they were there and it was expensive, so expensive that he says his wife never finds out it cost. In the winter they have running water for plumbing and household use because they build their igloos on the ice on the river and all they have to do is have a few holes in the floor for plumbing, for drinking water and for ice fishing. These pictures, the artifacts and the talk by Dr. Heffner are something to be remembered.

NFO ELECTS OFFICERS

DeKalb County NFO members met February 13 in the court house to elect new officers.

Those serving for the next year include:

Max Heffley, president.

Vic Timmerman, vice president.

Mrs. Clarence Bry, Jr., secretary.

Howard Hine, treasurer.

Ralph Seller is third year trustee and serving on the meat board are Mr. Timmerman, Wayne Heffley, Mr. Hine, Richard Hissong and Stanley Washler.

A closed meeting will be held March 4 at LaOtto. Glen Utley, national director, will hear opinions and answer questions.

Bell Replica On Display At Riverdale Next Week

One of the limited edition, hand cast replica's of the Liberty Bell will be on display at the Riverdale Elementary School through the courtesy of the Mary Penrose Wayne Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Wolf and Dessauer Company of Fort Wayne. The miniature bell will be on display March 3 through 8.

The bell was hand cast by the original Whitechapel Bell Foundry in London, which cast the Liberty Bell. The four hundred year old firm, predating the founding of the American colonies, will cast only 2400 of these replica bells, one representing each month of American independence.

The bell pictured above is number 17. It stands 14½ inches in height, is mounted on an oak base and is tuned to B-flat, echoing the sound of the original bell.

This bell, however, has no crack. The original crack, according to the Whitechapel Foundry, was the cause of useless tone almost as soon as it was cast. However, the reason for the crack, the very reason for the "Proclamation of Liberty throughout the land and all the inhabitants thereof" is the reason for the Riverdale Elementary School and even the Liberty Bell replica on display March 3 through 8.

Blazers Lose

by Phil Miller

Eastside's Blazers sank to their lowest point in several weeks last week end as they lost to Woodlan 78-63 and were swamped by Heritage 85-53. In contrast to the past few weeks when they were beaten in close ball games, the Blazers were never a serious threat after the midpoint of the third quarter.

In the Woodlan game, East side started well, opening up a 12-4 lead on the Warriors. By the end of the quarter, Woodlan had moved into a 14-14 tie and then went to a 37-27 halftime lead.

Midway through the third quarter the Blazers closed the gap to 4 points, but never could get closer.

Kochert and Wasson paced the Blazers' scoring with 16 and 13 points. John Kammeyer was the big gun for the Warriors with 25.

Saturday night the Blazers started out cold, dropped behind 16-11 at the end of the first quarter, and then with Wasson and Kochert sizzling the nets in the second quarter, moved to within 1 point as the half ended. Heritage had a narrow 32-31 lead at the half and 25 of the Blazers' 31 points were scored by Wasson and Kochert.

At the start of the second half, Ross hit from the corner to give Eastside its first lead and Kochert stole the throw-in and scored to increase the Blazers' lead to 5. However, at this point the Blazers died offensively and defensively and the rout began. With little opposition and a red hot hand, the Patriots scored 53 second half points.

Wasson had 15 points and Kochert 14 for the Blazers. Ochler, who didn't play against the Blazers when Heritage lost to them previously, led the Patriots with 23 points.

Late in January, the Blazers suffered through a terrible week end, losing to a poor Adams Central team by 24 points and to Garrett by 27. They bounced back the next week end, scoring 102 points and winning two games. With the chips down this week in the sectional, the big question is, "Can the Blazers make another comeback for the tourney crown?"

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB

Pat Roberts, News Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Pat Roberts, February 21, with 19 members and one visitor attending.

Due to the illness of the president, the meeting was opened by first vice president Eva Custer with the reading of the club creed in unison.

Devotions were given by Myrtle Pugsley, taken from Matthew 17, reminding us again to have Faith. She closed devotions with prayer.

Mary Baker gave the history of the song of the month, "America," and also led us in the singing.

Doris Yeiser gave the secretary's report and it was approved as read.

Roll call was answered by "something I don't do as often as I should," and many interesting thoughts were brought to our minds.

Doris Yeiser reminded us of the County Rummage Sale March 25, also that the Bloodmobile will be in Saint Joe in the near future. More information will be given at the next meeting.

The meeting was closed with the club prayer song, after which a lunch was served with much visiting over the coffee cups.

The penalty is suspension.

Students playing independent, league, recreation or organized basketball games, before November 1 or after the closing date of the sectional basketball tourney of the State Basketball Championship Series, make themselves ineligible for all interscolastic athletics until the closing date of the State Basketball Championship tournament of the following year. A prospective student athlete who engages in a practice, scrimmage tryout or otherwise demonstrates his athletic ability either on or off the campus for a college shall be considered in violation of this rule.

A scrimmage or practice by students with or against teams or players not belonging to their school is considered a game. A tryout or demonstration of athletic ability as a prospective student athlete for a college shall beconsidered a violation of this rule.

FARM BUREAU BOARD —Mildren Jarrett, Pub. Chm.

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting February 24 with President Floyd Pfierman presiding.

Gerald Anthony, substituting for Dale Armstrong, gave devotions.

Bruce Provines, chairman of the Membership Committee for 1969, reported 1587 members for DeKalb County, of whom 42 are new members, and a county achievement of 100.6% of its goal at the time of the report supper.

Arlo King, Chairman of Local Affairs, suggested that local interest indicated that this would be a good time to appoint a committee to study the local school situation.

The Officers Training School scheduled for February 24 was cancelled and five representatives of our local group, county president Pfierman, county woman leader Edna Perkins, Carl Carpenter, a member of the legislative committee, and Oscar Neel and Mrs. Carpenter, plan to attend the State Legislature in the interest of tax relief for real estate and personal property.

The group voted to again support the Wayne Rothgeb show on WKJG featuring the FFA Quiz. These shows will be seen on March 17, 18, 20 21, 24, 25, 27 and 28 and the winners against the Fathers April 2.

Mr. Pfierman told of attending a meeting with the sheriff's department at which the local drug and narcotic situation was discussed and plans were suggested to combat the threat.

The County Farm Bureau will again contribute to the IFFE Program.

The state is sponsoring awards for County Farm Bureau Information.

Mrs. Perkins said that due to the reorganization of the Extension program, there will be no district junior leader training school this year.

Secretary books, also tickets for the Golden Anniversary Celebration in Indianapolis March 19, were distributed.

Howard McDaniel of Farm Bureau Insurance told of the new Crop Mail Policy.

Farm Bureau voted to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in promoting safety by endeavoring to have the proper authorities install adequate lights at the I-69 and SR8 and I-69 and SR6 intersections.

James Goller will have devotions in March.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Fern Carr passes the word along that the Bloodmobile will be at Riverdale Tuesday, March 25, from 1 to 6 p.m. Blood donors will make their contribution of a pint of blood in the cafetorium.

Keep March 25 in mind—or mark it on the calendar.

Katy Crow says that son Dan, who is stationed on Okinawa, had a surprise visit from Gary Sible a couple of weeks ago. Dan said if anybody else wants to drop in, any time is fine with him.

Alice Hollabaugh called to say that the Spencerville Community Club will have its annual Spring Fish Fry Saturday, April 19, with the usual tasty menu, plus bingo and other games. Carryout service will be available between 4 and 5 p.m. only. Adults are $1.50 and children under 12 are 50 cents.

Mrs. Roland "Jack" Harding called, giving additional information about volunteer workers to give Kathleen Harding pattern therapy. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts can give such help and it applies in their work toward a merit badge. Also, I goofed in saying that Kathleen attends Riverdale; she atends the Allen County Crippled Children's School at Fort Wayne.

Sunday morning as I sat in one of our church pews, before our Church School session began, and the members of the "old" class came in one by one and said cheery hellos to one another and to me, I was struck by the spry walk evident as they came in. The others were perky, of course, but I noticed particularly Mrs. Lake and Mrs. Burley. It made me feel good—and glad for them—that their resolute walk said, "I've got someplace to go and something to do."

Then there are Ray and Huldah Reasoner who don't walk as fast as the other oldsters, but he drives and by gosh they get to church every Sunday morning.

Margaret Drerup called this week to say she likes the idea of the "Community Directory" in the paper last week for the first time. It really wasn't my idea. Don Robinson, editor of "The American Press," suggested something like it recently. I sort of added to his idea by including local community names and numbers. He suggested a list of legislators to encourage the voice of the people to speak up in their government.

Margaret said she thought the Saint Joe News ought to be listed. What do you think?

With the manner in which the teachers of Indiana are going about it, I cannot help but feel somewhat dismayed and disappointed in them. The threat of a one-day strike in Indiana, heard last week and again this week—it may be going on before this gets to print—I am a little fed up with the pressure being exerted on the governor and the legislators. The teachers' story that their efforts are for "education" rings a little hollow to me. The cry for more money for education just happens to come when they have a proposal ready to raise the state minimum salary scale again.

If they were fully concerned about education money, our teachers from here would seem to be working on the question: "Do we need another high school in DeKalb County?" Of course, that only involves a couple of million bucks and what's a couple of million bucks as far as the taxpayers' pocketbooks are concerned. Then, too, at home they might get into trouble; they're supposed to be "neutral." At Indianapolis, it's different, evidently. Away from home, they can do what they want—even as teachers.

I don't buy it.

An Editorial -

Official Misinformation Prevents Possible Educational Equality

A news release appearing elsewhere in this issue indicates that the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District voted "unanimously" against any partial or whole merger with the DeKalb County Central United District. It should be noted, for those who may wonder, that the "unanimous" was due to the fact that two board members, both from the Riverdale area, were by coincidence absent from the community for business reasons and could not attend Monday's board meeting.

Inasmuch as the five members present at Monday's meeting have never indicated any desire whatsoever to objectively investigate the possibility of consolidating the eastern district with the central district (at an October meeting of last year, said members were absolutely unwilling to discuss consolidation), Monday's vote is not any surprise nor is it particularly significant, except to indicate a negative attitude toward total education. An explanation follows:

The reasons cited in the news release as reasons for not merging show the illogical approach being taken to the matter by the five man majority now exercising its power. To quote from the release:

". . . . .the DeKalb County Central United School District is carrying quite a large indebtedness while the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District is free of such debt."

Of course the central district has a large indebtedness; they have a new high school! The eastern district IS free of such debt; it has no new high school! But when and if it does get a new high school, the tax rate will require an increase, under present conditions, of at least $1.50—just for new construction.

If the purpose of pointing out indebtedness is to justify avoiding consolidation, ALL the facts should be noted for the sake of public knowledge; then perhaps a different outlook will result. It boils down to a simple fact: whether you built two years ago or build two years from now, the taxpayers are going to pay for it.

Another quote from the news release:

". . . . .some persons closely associated with the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Central United School District have been quoted as having some plans to add still more to the already existing indebtedness the school corporation has with the construction of a junior high school to take care of the students the Central Corporation already has within its present school district."

What is not pointed out, in comparison, is that the eastern district also plans to add to its indebtedness for a proposed new high school the indebtedness also for new junior high facilities. Both districts need junior high construction and it will cost both districts to provide them, whether it is done separately or together.

Another quote from the release:

"It was also pointed out that new school facilities would have to be constructed to take care of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School district students in grades 7 through 12 regardless of whether or not a merger with the DeKalb County Central United School District came about. It was pointed out that the DeKalb County Central United school facilities could not house the 850 to 1000 students the DeKalb County Eastern system would need housing for."

WRONG!

Where are all these students? 850 to 1000? It has been practiced in the past by the eastern administration to include junior high students numerically when a discussion is held about high school construction. The eastern district high school has 499 students in the top four grades, according to enrollment figures released last September by the school administration. (Total enrollment increased by only 18 students over last year in all grades.) Let's keep that 499 in mind when we discuss high school matters because official statistical and curriculum data are based on grades 9 through 12. We are not as big as we have been made out to be!

The DeKalb central district has a reported 1,200 students in the top four grades at their present new building. That building, according to their superintendent, can accommodate 1,500 students at the present time. The central district plans, in conjunction with new junior high school construction, to establish a 6-3-3 division of grades. The elementary will be through the sixth grade, the junior high will be 7 through 9, and the high school will be top three grades, 10 through 12. If we take three fourths of 1,200 for a round average to represent the top three grades at DeKalb Central, we get 900. If we take three fourths of 499 to represent the top three grades at Eastside, we get 375. The total of the two figures is 1,275, only 75 more than the current number now using the new [illegible]

It is true that such [illegible] to transfer our students [illegible] adequate facilities for [illegible] with two to three [illegible] speak, no matter what [illegible] up the prime question [illegible] districts need new construction and [illegible] districts could be [illegible] as the students. That question [illegible]

IS ANOTHER NEW HIGH SCHOOL FACILITY IN DEKALB COUNTY JUSTIFIABLE UNDER PRESENT CIRCUMSTANCES?

In what way do you see public funds more effectively [illegible] another high school complex requiring duplication of [illegible] faculty, gymnasium, auditorium (if it can be afforded!), administration, and so on — or combine present resources AND [illegible] and adjust what both district now have to serve the needs of a united and larger unit? Why spend $3½ to 4 million in the eastern district now for new construction, including high school facilities, when facilities already in existence can be utilized and duplication eliminated? Whenever you duplicate, you pay twice, where schools are concerned.

The news release from the eastern board concludes with the observation that eastern board members could not see the advisability of "throwing away" the $125,000 which has already been spent for architect's fees. That IS a lot of money. But when you look at it another way, IT IS ONLY 3½ PER CENT OF THE TOTAL COST ANTICIPATED FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION IN THE EASTERN DISTRICT!

It is a strange condition, to be sure, but it is typical of today's economic conditions: it is cheaper to buy a new one than hang on to the old and try to repair it. The analogy may not be exactly accurate, but it may be cheaper to "throw away" $125,000 in fees than to go ahead with previous plans. That is why a petition is being circulated in both the central and the eastern districts requesting that the two districts be united. Statistics have shown broader educational opportunities available to students in high schools having enrollments in the area of 1,500. School administrators generally recognize that when enrollment reaches 2,000 at the high school level, it is time to provide separate high school facilities. Even if the two districts are combined, the total enrollment will be sufficiently below these figures to indicate probable long use of high school facilities before another high school unit will be necessary. And it is infinitely less costly to add to present facilities at DeKalb Central High School as the need arises than to duplicate total facilities with another new high school.

These are the reasons why those who are interested in education and the efficient use of educational tax dollars should give serious consideration to the petitions now being circulated. They present an opportunity to accomplish what many thought best seven years ago at the time of reorganization, but it was not accomplished. Even more are of the opinion today that further consolidation should be carried out.

The negative approach of the eastern board majority should not deter those who believe that the best interests of the students and the best interests of the taxpayers will be served by uniting the central and eastern districts of DeKalb County.

What Is Wrong With The Unicorn?

by Sally Wolfe and Thelma Holtsberg

Some of the people in Saint Joe who wanted to see The Unicorn succeed won't even give it a chance. If more of the adults would come in and look it over and see for themselves what it is really like and what kind of a place it is, they would appreciate what some of the teenagers and other adults are doing.

Ken Mathis and Dave Hubbard have donated their time trying to keep the Unicorn going. Do the people in Saint Joe think their teenagers are too good to come to the Unicorn?

It really is a nice place for the teens to go.

We are really disappointed in our home town. The Unicorn is about to close up. Please don't let this happen. We think The Unicorn is the best thing that has ever happened to Saint Joe youth.

We would also like to thank Loretta Lay for the hard work and long hours she put into getting The Unicorn started. The whole thing was her idea, and it was a good one.

Some adults that have given their time and efforts have also donated money towards The Unicorn, in order to keep it going so that the teenagers might have a decent place to go. Other adults who have done likewise don't even have teen agers.

Where would you prefer the teenagers of your community to be? We hope not out on the streets or in a tavern somewhere.

Other communities have done the same for their teen agers so why can't we? These teen agers do need the help and support of the adults.

A few of the teen agers along with their parents have worked very hard to get this Unicorn going and to try and keep it going. If you are interested in the teen agers of your community please help them to keep the Unicorn open by giving them a little of your time and moral support.

Don't let the teen agers of your community down and they won't let you down.

We are sure that with a little more help and cooperation from more of the adults and teen agers that the Unicorn would not have to be closed.

Thelma Holtsberg

We left Fort Wayne at 7:30 a.m. and arrived home at 9:30 p.m. Forty-seven girls went on the trip. We visited the State Library, the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, and the State Capitol building. BUTLER HEART ASSOCIATION SAYS "THANK YOU"

The Butler Heart Association would like to say thank you to a small group of women in the Butler community for a job well done.

These women, on very short notice, gave freely of their time and energy to canvas the Butler homes. They collected $211, much of it in small change for a very good cause. Their efforts are greatly appreciated.

We who believe in the saying, "Give so more will live," say:

"A heart-felt thank you to each of these women and to every Butler citizen who gave."

Evaluation Team At EHS

Eastside High School will undergo a four-day visit and evaluation during the week of March 11 to 14 by the North Central Association, according to an announcement by Principal Robert Williams. This is a regular visit and self-evaluation required of member North Central schools every seven years.

The visit by the 11-man team headed by Mr. Max Shaw, Superintendent of the Metropolitan School District of Pike Township of Indianapolis, will climax approximately a year of self-study by the Eastside faculty members, administrators and patrons of the school.

During the week, the committee will study the areas of activities, instructional materials, guidance, health services, physical plant, school staff, and the administration. Examiners will be placed in the area most appropriate for their training and background.

The evaluation will be conducted in a non-critical manner and the committee will advise the school so that the total school program will be improved and become more effective as a result of the visitation.

Those members of the evaluating committee, in addition to Mr. Shaw, are Mr. Merlin Clinkenbeard of Highland Senior High School, Highland; Mr. James Early, Principal of Jackson High School, South Bend; Mr. Steve Georgakis, Assistant Principal of Edison High School, Gary; Mr. John Hammel, Principal of Angola High School; Mr. Alvin Harris of North Side High School, Fort Wayne; Mr. Vermont Harter of Washington High School, South Bend; Mr. Harold Muncie of John Glenn High School, Walkerton; Mr. John Pagin of Howe Military Academy, Howe; Mr. Keith Piper, Principal of South Central High School, Union Mills; and Mr. John R. To Old Friends and New—Envoy—

Thoughtlessly I caused the editor of your newspaper a moment of unhappiness for which I present my regrets. Age causes many blunders.

"There is a destiny that makes us brothers
None goes his way alone
All that we send into the lives of others
Comes back into our own."

It has been 18 years since we moved from St. Joe and there are many changes. Your newspaper is filled with names unfamiliar to us. It is not the old town. We never had the pleasure of acquaintance with Mr. Habercorn but he has promised to come to see us and we are very pleased. We hope any one from St. Joe and Spencerville will also come here to see us.

"O the days gone by! O the days gone by!
The music of the laughing lip, the lustre of the eye!
The childish faith in fairies, and Aladdins magic ring—
The simple, soul reposing, glad belief in everything—
When life was like a story, holding neither sob nor sigh
In the golden olden glory of the days gone by—"

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Katy Crow, Reporter

We had our March 3 meeting at the home of Mrs. Dick Crow.

The opening exercise was the installation of officers by Mrs. Carl Perkins. These people were re-elected for a second term last fall:

Margaret Carper, president.
Betty Bevington, first vice president.
Lois Strong, second vice president.
Hazel Schrader, treasurer.
Doris Prentice, secretary.

Edna used the candlelight ceremony which was very impressive.

Mrs. Carper read an article on St. Patrick's Day and a poem about a leprechaun.

Mrs. Bevington gave us her devotions a story about Mary pertaining to her life before Christ's death. She also invited us to the World Day of Prayer services at the Lutheran Church in Spencerville Friday, March 7. Betty read the history of the song, "My Wild Irish Rose," and we sang it. She also told us about the interesting things she saw at the Craft School. Margaret had information on this, too.

Doris Prentice read the secretary's report and called the roll which was answered by showing off a homemade Easter bonnet. They all were attractive and original but the one chosen as the prettiest by our judge, Miss Peggy Crow, was a delightful concoction made by Mrs. Bevington!

Old business was discussed. We agreed to donate to the IFYE program. Mrs. Carper gave us her report from County Council Meeting which was most interesting. Rummage sale will be on April 24 and 25. She told us about the contest to be held on Indiana history.

On April 1 there will be a meeting at the court house on self protection and home protection. On March 10 the lesson will be on medical quackery. Money will be sent in for Pennies For Friendship.

The meeting was closed in the usual manner by singing the prayer song. We had as our guest Mrs. Margie Crow from Spencerville. Refreshments of "red and white" salad, crackers with cheese and beverage were served.

The April meeting will be with Mrs. Lloyd Schrader.

Board 'Rejects' Merger

(Editor's Note: The following news release appears verbatim as it was received from the office of the superintendent. Its contents, therefore, do not reflect the reporting efforts of this newspaper.)

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District for the second time in less than four months voted unanimously against any merger with the DeKalb County Central United School District, either in the form of a partial merger of only a few townships from the Eastern District to the Central District or the merger of the entire Eastern District with the Central District.

Having been informed of an effort by a small group of people from the Concord-Spencer Township area to force a merger of the two districts, the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Board of School Trustees did in their regular meeting on March 3, 1969, enter into a general discussion of the possibilities and considerations connected with any merger of the two school districts, and after a motion duly made and seconded, a vote was taken and all Board Members in attendance unanimously voted against any merger of the two school districts.

Board members cited as reasons for not merging such matters as the fact that the DeKalb County Central United School District is carrying quite a large indebtedness while the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District is free of such debt. Also mentioned was the fact that some persons closely associated with the Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Central United School District have been quoted as having some plans to add still more to the already existing indebtedness the school corporation has with the construction of a junior high school to take care of the students the Central Corporation already has within its present school district.

It was also pointed out that new school facilities would have to be constructed to take care of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District students in grades 7-12 regardless of whether or not a merger with the DeKalb County Central United School District came about. It was pointed out that the DeKalb County Central United School school facilities could not house the 850 to 1000 students the DeKalb County Eastern system would need housing for. This, it was pointed out, would cause the DeKalb County Eastern students to be housed in their present school facilities for 3 or 4 more years. The Board members from the DeKalb County Eastern District could not see the advisability of throwing away the $125,000.00 that has already been paid to architects and which $125,000.00 could not be regained if the proposed new DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Junior-Senior High School is not constructed.

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District points out that progress is being made for the construction of the proposed new junior-senior high school in the City of Butler. The Eastern School Board is to receive bids for the new school facility on March 18, 1969.

PLAYERS LOSE IN TOURNEY

Garrett's Railroaders proved to be too much for Eastside in the sectional tourney Saturday as they took the Blazers out of the tourney by a score of 89-57.

For a quarter and a half, the Blazers looked as if they might be ready to pull an upset. Twice they came from 5 points behind to take 4 point leads, and were leading 19-16 at the end of the first quarter.

Midway through the second quarter, it was still even, but the Blazers made several quick errors against Garrett's press and the Railroaders shot into a 16-point lead in 3 minutes.

From then on, Garrett maintained a comfortable margin as the Blazers were never able to regain their poise.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Mary Baker gave me a chuckle with her club report of the Rural Housewives in the "Did you know—" column. She wrote the details of the meeting on a piece of paper, then at the bottom put:

"So says Mary Baker, club reporter. Ha Ha"

When John Coburn went past the shop last week on his way to the post office, after his recent hospital visit, I went to the door and called, "Hey, you can't keep a good man down, can you?" He smiled and acknowledged the greeting. He seemed to further appreciate my observation that, as long as he can walk, he's o.k.

18 and 19 year olds can "do their thing" for the Bloodmobile this year and gain special recognition. A certificate with the names of such teen age donors will be utilized at Riverdale's Bloodmobile visit Tuesday, March 25, under a new program of the county Red Cross to promote greater participation in the blood donor program. High schoolers and grads of 18 and 19 can bring recognition for themselves and their area by coming to the Riverdale cafetorium on the Bloodmobile day and giving a pint of blood. Their names will be placed on a special certificate in recognition of their cooperation.

Call Betty Bovingon if you want to know more about it.

'America,' Bake Sale At PTO Tuesday

Mrs. Jack Bowser and Mrs. Norman Morr are co-chairmen of the bake sale to be held at the March meeting of the Riverdale P.T.O. next Tuesday evening, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium. Parents are invited to donate to the sale and purchase for their own home use.

The program of the regular meeting will include a presentation by students of Robert Wilder's government classes, assisted by the Eastside choir. The theme will be "America and the Americans." One of the presentations will involve the use of three projectors and three screens.

Other regular business will complete the program.

Parents, patrons and students are urged to continue the good attendance record for this year and give support to the P.T.O.

Community Club

Mrs. William Hudson, president of the Spencerville Community Club, has announced that a meeting of the organization will be held Monday, March 17, at 8 p.m. at the Community Building in Spencerville.

A potluck supper will be served with drink furnished by the club.

Regular business and plans for the April 19 fish fry are on Monday's agenda.

A speaker from the Social Security Office in Fort Wayne will lecture and answer any questions.

The annual Fish Fry of the Spencerville Community Club will be held Saturday, April 19, starting at 5 p.m. The fry will be held at the Community Building in Spencerville.

Carryouts will be available between 4 and 5 p.m. only, for those who may wish to obtain take-home servings.

An Answer To The Superintendent - Part I

NELSON G. GRILLS
Attorney At Law
Suite 802 Board of Trade Building
Indianapolis, Indiana 46204
March 12, 1969

Mr. Kenneth L. Cole, Superintendent
DeKalb County Eastern Community School District
East Green Street
Butler, Indiana 46721

Dear Superintendent Cole:

I am writing this letter more in sorrow than in anger. I have a high regard for your ability as an educator, and I am disappointed with what I believe is an unfair and injudicious attack upon my clients. I agreed to represent those persons who were opposed to the "Butler Site" for the junior-senior high school only after they had agreed to base their claim upon the law and to pursue their remedy in an orderly fashion which would not disrupt the school corporation, and divide its citizens. Prior to undertaking litigation, I met with your Board and my clients accompanied me. We pledged ourselves to the pursuit of orderly procedures. Several briefs were provided the school board you represent presenting our position. These briefs were designed to express our position, educationally and legally in an ethical manner. I, and my clients, have received not one word of criticism from the attorney representing the board and from the members of the board.

Two letters which you have written have been brought to my attention by my clients. One letter was addressed to the "patrons and taxpayers of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District." It was forwarded about February 13, 1969. The other letter was forwarded to the President of the Board of School Trustees of DeKalb County Central United School District an March 5, 1969. In each of these letters, you have impugned the integrity of my clients, and have accused me of engaging in unethical conduct. It is not my purpose by this letter to either question your right to express yourself freely or to criticize you personally for what I regard as irresponsible statements. This letter is to set the record straight.

You have informed the patrons and taxpayers of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District that "in my opinion, Mr. Haberkorn has performed a great disservice to all who followed him in three lawsuits which lawsuits the courts have five times (including the State Supreme Court) labeled as nuisance suits." The Canon Thirty of Professional Ethics of the American Bar Association provides in part:

"The lawyer must decline to conduct a civil cause or to make a defense when convinced that it is intended merely to harass or to injure the opposite party or to work oppression or wrong."

It was the position of my clients with which I concur that:

1. They had the right to question the decision of the Board of School Commissioners in selecting the "Butler Site."

2. That the selection of the Butler Site did not meet the requirements of either the law or the regulations of the General Commission on Education.

The Constitution of Indiana provides in Article I, Section 12:

"All courts shall be open; and every man, for injury done to him and his person, property, or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law."

None of the cases filed on behalf of my clients was "labeled as nuisance suits" by the courts. For your information, the Judge of the Circuit Court of your county in the first cause of action in finding that we were not using the proper procedures stated:

"Plaintiffs' contention that the plaintiffs are interested persons in the ultimate selection of a construction site for the school building cannot be questioned, as plaintiffs alleged that they are affected taxpayers, parents of affected school children, and school patrons within the geographical limits of the school district. As such, they are certainly interested persons in the site that is ultimately selected, and are clothed with the unalienable right to seek judicial relief to protect those rights.

"This court is entirely in accord with the Plaintiffs' contention that 'Indiana has always recognized that in the selection of school sites, there should be an opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities.' "

In the second suit which was filed, the plaintiffs have never been accorded an opportunity to be heard on the merits of the issues.

I challenge you to establish to those persons to whom your letter was addressed any statement by any court that the lawsuits which were filed to question the location of the proposed school were "nuisance suits." In the event you cannot provide this information, an honorable person would forward a letter to the people to whom your letter was addressed correcting the erroneous impression. In your letter to Mr. Ball, President of the DeKalb Central School District of March 5, 1969, you state:

"I have never been very successful fighting unethical conduct with ethical techniques. Ethics or no ethics, I intend to make every effort to see to it that no minority group from our school district is successful in playing 'footsie' with some minority in the DeKalb Central District and thereby completing a successful coup that would cause our entire school district or any part thereof to join with DeKalb County Central."

You state further in explaining your letter:

"I am motivated to do this because it is my considered professional opinion that there has been continued activity, behind the scenes, on the part of a very few people from our school district, including one school board member, and either some of your school board members or some person or persons very closely associated with your school board to commit what I consider almost acts of piracy."

Canon of Professional Ethics, No. 16 states in part:

"A lawyer should use his best efforts to restrain and prevent his clients from doing those things which the lawyer himself ought not to do, ..."

Canon, No. 26 states in part:

"A lawyer openly, and in his true character may render professional services before legislative or other bodies, regarding proposed legislation and in advocacy of claims before departments of government, upon the same principle of ethics which justifies appearance before courts; but it is unprofessional for a lawyer so engaged to conceal his attorneyship, or to employ secret personal solicitations, or to use means other than those addressed to the reason and understanding, to influence action."

I have never appeared before the DeKalb County Central United School District Board, and I have never discussed a proposed consolidation of your school corporation or any part of it with these board members. At the time a consolidation was proposed, I did upon several occasions offer my assistance to the attorney for the DeKalb County Central United School District, and each time, discussed the telephone call with the attorney for your school district. I have investigated the discussions which have taken place between my clients and the school board members of the DeKalb County Central United School District. My investigation leads me to believe the members of the Board of the DeKalb County Central United School District were most ethical in their behavior. They neither encouraged my clients to seek consolidation nor engaged in any action which was not brought to the attention of the school board for which you are Superintendent. Charging school board members and attorneys with engaging in "unethical conduct" is a serious charge. Either you should provide the evidence to establish the truth of your allegations or you should apologize to the board members of the DeKalb County Central United School District.

The first amendment limits Congress in making laws abridging the freedom of speech or of the press. The 14th Amendment applies this principle to state government. Article I, Section 9 of the Indiana Constitution provides in part:

"That no law shall be passed, restraining the free interchange of thought and opinion, or restricting the right to speak, write, or print, freely, on any subject whatever."

The Acts of the Indiana General Assembly of 1949, Chapter 226 permit 5% of the registered voters of any school corporation to petition for a consolidation of that school crporation with another school corporation. Ted Haberkorn, Jr. has the right to advocate what he believes best for the school corporation in his newspaper and is constitutionally protected in that right. The registered voters of your school corporation have the right under the law to petition for the consolidation of your school corporation with De Kalb Central. Your knowledge of the laws on education should cause you to realize that no "coup" by a minority of the DeKalb Central District could cause your school district or any part thereof to join DeKalb County Central. In the event either board objected, such consolidation could result only after an election. If you are correct in your position that "the majority of our people do not want to merge with your school corporation" their vote could prevent such a merger.

If you are confident that your position is based upon facts, you should welcome an election in the two school corporations to determine whether or not a consolidation is desired by a majority of the people.

In your letter of February 13, 1969, you refer to an article written by Mr. Haberkorn in the St. Joe News on February 6, 1969, you state:

"I believe that this particular bit of attempted undermining is the most despicable piece of journalism that has ever come to my attention."

For a person who has been trained as a professional educator in english and literature this charge is most disturbing. I have read that article carefully. You may disagree with the statements in the article, but there is nothing in this article which causes it to deserve to be despised. Mr. Haberkorn has suggested that a consolidation of your school corporation with DeKalb Central would provide greater educational opportunities to the students attending the consolidated school than are available at the same cost to students attending the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation. I find no criticism of you, the faculty or the facilities in your school corporation. He states as a matter of principle that a school of the size of DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern combined can provide a wider variety of subjects and a greater opportunity for education. This is a principle that was not newly discovered by Mr. Haberkorn. It has been recognized by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the head of the Division of Schoolhouse Planning, and the Commission for the Reorganization of Schools. I challenge you to establish that the same variety of subject matter and quality of education can be provided in a school the size of DeKalb Eastern School Corporation that could be provided by a school corporation of the combined size of the DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern School Districts for the same cost per student, and at the same tax rate. In your letter of February 13, 1969, you state::

"Certainly the tax rate would not have been cheaper in DeKalb Central."

To provide the same quantity and quality of education in the DeKalb Eastern School District that would be provided by the consolidated school corporation will require a higher per capita cost per student both for capital construction and operational expenses to provide comparable education. The tax rate in the foreseeable future of the consolidated school corporation will be less than the tax rate should DeKalb Eastern remain a separate school corporation.

I also prefer small schools. However, each school corporation must be of a size which permits the efficient operation of the corporation at a minimum charge for education to the taxpayer.

The DeKalb County Eastern Community School District is fortunate to have as its Superintendent a man of your ability, your dedication and your loyalty. I regret that your loyalty and your enthusiastic defense of the position your school board has taken led you to engage in attacks upon individuals and groups. I hope that time, the opportunity to reread your two letters and some of the information I have made available will induce you to place the question of the consolidation of the two school corporations in proper perspective. The people, and particularly the overburdened taxpayers, still have the right to determine for themselves their destinies and the future of their school corporation.

Sincerely yours,
Nelson G. Grills

Junior League

—by Forrest Bevington

The Blue and Green Junior League All-Star basketball teams played before a good-sized crowd at the Eastside High School gym. The game was one of the best played this year. The final score does not give a true picture of the battle put up by both teams. All players played two quarters of the game.

Tom Hollabaugh was able to keep the Blue ahead by playing an excellent game on offense as well as defense. Paul Roberts gave the game all he had in a losing cause.

The final score was 29-21 in favor of the Blue All-Stars

FRIENDS

"I have a thousand friends," he said,
Today the paper states he's dead.
Alone he died, he died alone,
With not one friend to call his own.
He took them out to dance and dine,
He paid the "fiddlers," bought the wine,
They called him "friend" and ate his bread,
"I have a thousand friends," he said.

Red was the wine, the toast was gay,
"Here's to my friends," I heard him say.
They laughed with him, his joys they shared,
But when he wept, then no one cared.
A "thousand," yes, will share your smile,
But who will go the last long mile?
He died in want, unwept, unsung,
No farewell word from mortal tongue.

He slipped beneath life's ebbing tide,
And not ONE friend stood by his side,
Not ONE stood by to still his fear,
Not ONE stood by to shed a tear.
Friend is a word that's much abused,
It's overworked and lightly used.
"I have a thousand friends," he said,
Today the paper states he's dead!

Count all life's pleasures so much dross,
Count every gain as so much loss,
If you can say as near life's end,
"Life has been good, I've had ONE friend."

Lions Club

by Frank Amtuts

President Bob Wilder stated that "we are pleased to welcome the players, managers, coaches and cheerleaders from Eastside High School to our annual basketball night. We are also pleased to have members of the Butler Lions Club meeting with us tonight." The meeting was held Monday night at the Methodist Church in Spencerville.

I knew we would have a whole room full of people present, but I was mildly surprised to see Judge Harold Stump there and I wondered if he was an avid basketball fan or perhaps a has-been player like some of the rest of us.

Coach Phil Miller introduced all of the boys and the five cheerleaders (girls). If I were to judge by what Mr. Miller said about each man and the different games played, I would figure that every one had been a star at some special time during the season. Coach Miller also stated that he was always proud to take those boys to public places like restaurants and Lions Clubs because they always looked and acted like gentlemen.

President Bob then introduced Judge Stump. The judge started out by saying that most of his contacts with young folks are with delinquents and that he was happy that this contact with these young people was at a time of achievement. He said that growing up was not easy even in his day and that it is even more difficult today. He then discussed the subject of achievement, of status and the symbols of status. I wish that I had copied his definition of a beetle but this is the thought: a beetle is not an insect but a somewhat unkempt individual and a hairy fugitive from the barber shop. The judge seemed to prefer the achievements of the boys on the team, the student managers, the cheerleaders, the glee club, the choir, the band and such, to the accomplishments of the far-out and beetle-type individuals.

Do you know, I never did find out if the judge is or is not a basketball fan. But I did find out that the judge has something to say to and about young folks and that he can hold the attention of his listeners whether they be 16 or 60.

Next month we will host the Auburn Lions Club.

The nominating committee, Lavon Hart, Forrest Bevington and Hearsel Shockley, will report at the next meeting.

October of 1970 will be our 30th anniversary and Wayne Storer, Harold Kagey and historian Lavon Hart were instructed to start thinking about it.

Forrest Bevington, the recreation director of summer activities of all the boys and girls of the Riverdale area, reported that already there are 72 boys who want to participate in the softball league. And this is without any other publicity except the grapevine.

The Unicorn

—by Ken Mathes

We are encouraged by the offer of help from a couple parents this week. Also, our attendance was up slightly. We have ordered new lights for our dance floor. We will have the Black Rose Band March 15. This will be a rare opportunity to hear a well-known band at a reasonable price. So take advantage of it, kids.

We also plan a bake sale for April 5, and a white elephant sale at that time. If you have items for the white elephant sale, please contact Thelma Holtzberg.

See you at The Unicorn.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 220
—Shari Hook, Troop Scribe

Monday, March 3, we had our regular meeting. After the opening ceremony, the songs and the games, we divided into our five patrols. Explorer Patrol worked on their patrol badge. The Wildlife Patrol and the Camping Patrol worked on invitations for our Family Night Supper. The Makers Patrol worked on decorations for our supper while the Observer Patrol worked on a program arrangement. We had our closing circle and the members were dismissed.

Saturday was Girl Scout Fine Arts Day. Our troop traveled to North Side High School in Fort Wayne for the play, "Wizard of Oz." Then it was to McDonald's for lunch and the Fort Wayne Art Museum. Next we went to Snider High School for a puppet show. We had 20 girls and three adults attending.

On Sunday, March 9, seven girls and two leaders attended St. Peter Lutheran Church in honor of Girl Scout Sunday.

Assessment Info Up To Owner

Clayton Hartman, DeKalb County assessor, advises residents that assessing forms must be completed and returned to their respective trustees by May 15. Late filing will bring an automatic penalty.

Residents must list all motor vehicles, trailers, campers, boat trailers, camper bodies, boats and motors owned as of March 1, 1969, regardless of whether or not such possessions are licensed for use. On the return, the colmn "K"—true cash value—should be left blank. The assessor will fill in the amount from the official Red Book of cash values.

Dog tags must also be purchased. Any dog six months and older, is required to have a license. Males and spayed females are licensed for $1.00; unspayed female, $3.00; each additional dog owned, harbored or kept, $5.00; minor kennel up to 15 dogs, $15.00; major kennel, 15 or more dogs, $25.00.

Tags may be purchased from the assessor or trustee or by mail. A self-addressed stamped envelope should be enclosed along with a description of the dog and a check for the proper amount.

Those who are not contacted by their assessor or trustee by May 1 should make the contact themselves. It is the duty of the taxpayer to report his personal property for assessment.

Local assessors and their deputies include:

Federation Convention Monday

The 45th annual convention of the DeKalb County Federation of Clubs will be held at the Presbyterian Church in Garrett Monday, March 17, with Garrett Delphian Chapter, the Athene, Twentieth Century and Viginiti Matres clubs of Garrett serving as hostesses for the event. Mrs. Kenneth Crowe and Mrs. Marion A. Dreibelbis of Garrett are co-chairmen of the day. The members of the DeKalb County Past Officers Club will serve on the welcoming committee.

Registration fee will be twenty-five cents, with registration from nine until ten o'clock in the morning. The convention will convene at ten o'clock with Mrs. Walter C. Pepple, president of the DeKalb County Federation of Clubs, presiding. Rev. Allen Reed, pastor of the host church, will give the invocation. Two minute reports from the club presidents and departmental chairmen will precede a five minute President's report. Mrs. Leland Miner of Auburn will serve as official time keeper. Mrs. John W. McComas of Auburn, 12th District President, will then deliver her message of the morning, outlining her district project and other matters of interest to DeKalb County clubwomen.

Luncheon will be served promptly at noon in the dining room of the lower church by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church. Awarding of door prizes presented by merchants of the various communities in DeKalb County will follow the luncheon. Reservations are $1.75 and are to be made with Mrs. Kenneth Crowe, 610 S. Cowen Street, Garrett, telephone FL 7-5295.

The afternoon session will be called to order at 1:30 p.m. State Trooper J. M. Colgate of Garrett will speak on "Defensive Driving," a public driver improvement training course under the direction of the Indiana Bureau of Traffic Safety. This is one phase of a three-fold project that was unanimously adopted at a Mid-Winter Council Meeting held at the home of Mrs. Walter Peppie in Auburn on February 17. The DeKalb County Federation of Clubs will sponor a Defensive Driver Trainign Course, open to all of the citizens of DeKalb County. The cost of the course will be $5.00, a charge that is set by the Indiana Bureau of Traffic Safety, and this bureau will also furnish instructors trained by that bureau. Dates for holding the training session are to be announced at a later time. Mrs. Wendell Graffis of Waterloo, Departmental Chairman of Safety for the federation, will be in charge of this project. Anyone interested in taking the course may contact either Mrs. Graffis or Mrs. Pepple.

DeKalb County Sheriff James Sims of Auburn will speak on the project of the DeKalb County Sheriff's Department, the purchase of films on drug addiction and other necessary equipment for showing the films. Cooperation with and support of the DeKalb County Sheriff's Department in this project was also unanimously adopted at the mid-winter council meeting. Drug addiction and the use of narcotics is a matter that is of grave concern both to the general federation and the Indiana Federation of Clubs, and DeKalb County Federation is happy to be of help in this matter.

A third phase of the project is the establishment of a 911 "hot line" emergency call system in DeKalb County. By the establishment of such a line in the county, instant help can be made available in a matter of a very few minutes in case of any sort of emergency. This service has been established and promoted by the federal government. This project will entail enlisting the cooperation of service clubs, police departments, the sheriff's department, sororities, Chambers of Commerce, JayCees and various other clubs and organizations within the county, together with the telephone company and the citizens themselves to promote this and bring it to fruition.

Rev. Stanley Tobias, Minister of Education of First Methodist Church, will be the speaker of the day. His theme will be the county theme: Become Involved. Involvement is concern for others, for situations, for conditions. It is love in action.

Mrs. Pepple announced the following program:

Pledges to the American and Christian flags led by Mrs. Mearl Bisel of Waterloo.

Collect for clubwomen led by Mrs. Robert Eldrige of Kendallville, 1st vice president.

Welcome by Mrs. John Grogg of Garrett, president of the Twentieth Century Club.

Response by Mrs. Cecil Pitch of Waterloo, president-elect of Minerva Club.

Introduction of guests by the president will be followed by reports of the recording secretary, Mrs. Dale Heitz of Auburn, and treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth Crowe of Garrett. Mrs. Granville Deaton of Waterloo, district and county chairman of Aid for the Blind, will report for that department. Various phases of registration will be under the direction of Mrs. W. T. Morgan of Garrett, Mrs. John Dye of Auburn, president of the Auburn Culture Club, Mrs. Charles Rowe, president-elect of Athene Club of Garrett, and Mrs. John Fulk, president of Athene Club.

Reports of the registration committee and of the resolutions committee, the latter with Miss Mildred Evard, president-elect of Twentieth Century Club, Garrett, chairman, Mrs. H. W. Schomberg, Garrett, and Mrs. Anna Surfus, president-elect of Garrett Delphian Chapter, Garrett, will be given in the afternoon.

Mrs. Pepple has announced three new departmental chairmanships: Mrs. Dan Clapham of Auburn as Magazine Chairman, Mrs. H. W. Schomberg of Garrett as Community Improvement Chairman, and Mrs. John Grogg of Garrett, Legislation Chairman.

Reva Armstrong Is All Star Band Member

Reva Armstrong, a member of the Eastside High School Band, directed by Richard Foster, was a participant in the Indiana All State High School Band sponsored by the Indiana Bandmasters Association at Clowes Hall in Indianapolis March 16.

Reva earned her position by participating in a highly competitive audition on a technically difficult solo last January. She was then selected by a committee of thirteen bandmasters from a total of over 300 entries.

The All State Band spent two days in rehearsal before being presented in concert with John P. Paynter, Director of Bands, Northwestern University, as conductor.

All of the students were housed in the homes of bandsmen of North Central High School.

March 25 Bloodmobile Struggles To Reduce County Deficit

"HELP!"

That one word plea comes from Deiores Hicov and Betty Bevington who are in charge of efforts to obtain an adequate number of potential blood donors to fulfill Riverdale's quota of 100 pints. The Bloodmobile will be at the Riverdale Cafetorium next Tuesday, March 25, from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Mrs. Hicov has estimated that approximately 150 potential donors are needed in order to obtain the 100 pints. Illness still provailing in the community plus the normal percentage of rejections for medical reasons have made the current effort to recruit donors a particularly difficult one.

Teen agers who are able and willing to donate are reminded to have the yellow parent's permission slip with them when they appear at the Bloodmobile to donate a pint of blood. A special certificate, recognizing the teen agers who do contribute blood, will be filled in with the names of the participating teen agers.

DeKalb County is behind in its replacement program for the Blood Bank. Only 61.7% of the blood withdrawn for county patients has been replaced. For this reason, a special plea is made for donors at Riverdale next Tuesday to help bring the county closer to full replacement.

Additional information can be obtained from Mrs. Bevington at 837-3142 and Mrs. Hicov at 238-4891.

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

It's been four weeks since I've written my column. I guess I've just been too lazy! But now that son Mike is in Vietnam, I guess I better get back on the ball.

Knowing how much the men over there look forward to mail-call, The Saint Joe News is pretty welcome. They say that home-town papers are passed all around, and The News takes a pretty good ribbing because of its size, but they sure enjoy reading it.

So all you Moms and Pops and wives here at home, let's get together and tell all those guys over there where your serviceman is and what he's doing! I'm kind of out of touch with things as far as this column goes, so help me out and maybe we can get back in the groove. Where is he?? (If you guys over there know where you are, you can write, too!)

Captain Gary Sible is due home from Guam by Saturday, March 22. Welcome home, Gary!

Army Pfc. Steve Baughman of Butler, while a patient at the Army Hospital, Camp Zama, Japan, received a visit from Joe Namath, quarterback for the New York Jets. Namath was leading a group of other football players on a 17-day USO tour of military hospitals in Japan, Okinawa, Guam, the Philippines, and Hawaii.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

As a citizen of the Butler community I would like to say thank you for your kindness. The St. Joe area people are very fortunate to have an editor who will listen to a rather confused housewife and citizen.

My article thanking the Butler citizens for their cooperation may or may not be printed in my local paper. This will depend on whether or not it is read, and important enough to be printed.

This really amazes me as what could be more important than people caring and giving to one another? How can a community work together when we are denied our main source of communication? No wonder we have problems. What town wouldn't have under the same conditions?

Again I say thank you very much for your consideration. I really had no other SURE way of letting the people in Butler know how much their cooperation is appreciated.

Believe me it is hard to swallow the pride a person has in their community and admit a very great deficiency, by having to impose on the generosity and kindness of a local community.

If only more eyes could be opened to a very ugly problem we have to work around to remain an honest and a Christian town.

Many thanks.

Marlene Wasson

The article referred to was a "thank you" for donations given by residents of the city of Butler in the Butler Heart Fund drive. The publication of the notice was no imposition; that's what we're here for. —Ed.

LADIES' LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, reporter

The Ladies' Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Lola Northrup, with Mrs. Carl Perkins as hostess on March 13, at 7:30 p.m. The president called the meeting to order and the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

Mrs. Albert Wade gave a lesson on Alaska, covering the geography, history, climate, customs, and schools.

For entertainment, Mrs. Carl Carpenter provided two thought-provoking games, naming trees and flowers.

The parliamentarian, Mrs. Hassel Snyder, gave a review concerning objection to consideration of motion or question.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker gave the article report, commending Mrs. Wade on the lesson and adding to the subject with an article on Christian missionaries in Alaska.

The meeting was adjourned and the hostess served light refreshments.

Waterloo Press Adds Support To Petition For School Merger

In an article published Thursday, March 6, 1969, "The Waterloo Press" added its support to the petitions being circulated in the DeKalb County eastern and central school districts seeking the unification of the two districts into one administrative unit. Waterloo is located in the present boundaries of the central district.

Gene Stafford, editor and publisher of the newspaper, reported the recent action of the eastern board in rejecting the merger proposal, reviewing the makeup of a school board in the possible merger of the two districts and giving a few other statistical data. The closing paragraphs then offered a challenge to residents of the central district in behalf of the students of the eastern district, as follows:

"The people of DeKalb Central had many a heated disagreement when they were thinking about consolidation. The storm was weathered and our ultimate goal stands between Auburn and Waterloo combining these communities along with Ashley and Corunna. A glorious masterpiece the result of people settling their differences and compromising for the good of their children, the students at DeKalb High School. There are some who would still disagree, this is what keeps the ball rolling. We are never fully satisfied and the results are better and better. Now the battleground is switching to the east. Are we willing to stand up and be counted? Are we willing to get involved?

"The people involved would like your opinion. Please give this school situation some real soul searching thought. Are you so satisfied that you are not willing to raise your voice, for or against, helping the students concerned? Every signature on the petition helps them toward their goal of getting an education equal to our children. This they apparently are not getting, as many have reported having to attend summer school to meet college standards. These people have waited for over four years for the opportunity to equal education for their children. Apparently this will not be forthcoming in the near future."

Ethel B. Webb

Ethel B. Webb of Spencerville died at 3 a.m. Thursday, March 14, in DeKalb Memorial Hospital after an illness of two years' duration. Mrs. Webb was 72.

Mrs. Webb was born in DeKalb County on June 3, 1896, to George and Claudia Provines Shutt, and lived all her life in the area.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Speaks of Hamilton, and Mrs. Maxine Jordan of Fort Wayne; three sons, Dayton of Spencerville, Lewis of New Haven, and James of New Haven; a stepson, Dean Webb of Denver, Colorado; a brother, John Shutt of Spencerville; and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude House of Newport Beach, California. Also surviving are 11 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Webb was a member of the Spencerville Methodist Church and Spencerville O.E.S.

Funeral services were held at the Baldinger and Walter funeral home in Spencerville Saturday, with Rev. Ivea, Pusey, pastor of the Spencerville Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in White City Cemetery at Spencerville.

Airport Shows Growth In '68

Jim Eyster, manager of the Auburn-DeKalb Airport, has made a report of activities at the field, located south of Auburn and west of Saint Joe on County Road 60. Among the statistics were the 34 aircraf now based at the field and the 87,960 gallons of gasoline pumped into the tanks of aircraft. The report was given to the County Aviation Committee, the County Council and he County Commissioners. Frank Seehler of Saint Joe is a member of the aviation commission.

In the report, Mr. Eyster stated:

"The activity and utilization of the Auburn DeKalb Airport increased substantially in 1968. We feel that the most outstanding of these increases were made by Transit Traffic who are visiting our industries and local people. Inasmuch as these aircraft are not required to register, a definite percentage increase cannot be stated, however it has increased very substantially this year.

"Attached to this report is a copy of one of the many letters that we received from people who have used the airport complimenting on the fine facilities that are available."

The letter referred to reads as follows:

"Dear Mr. Gerber:

"Belated thanks for the courtesies extended during my unscheduled weather stop on August 15.

"During 20 yrs. of private flying (solo OX5 Robin) I've touched down at countless airports. Unfortunately, for the past few years I've had the feeling that many operators are resigned to the fact that occasional transients must be tolerated. So, it was indeed pleasant to feel welcome at Auburn and receive guest treatment from management to line boys.

"You are to be complimented on your operation and you may rest assured that Auburn Airport is on my preferred list.

Cordially,
Herman Teeter
Naples, Fla. 33940"

The complete list of statistics in the report is as follows:

	1966	1967	1968
1. Aircraft Based	22	30	34
2. Aircraft Hangared	22	29	34
3. Gallons of Fuel Pumped	80,000	85,000	87,960

Answer To Three Letters

In recent weeks, there have been three writings from the office of the Superintendent of Schools of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District of extreme importance to the efforts of "remonstrators" in the district. The total substance of the writings is, in my opinion, an indication of the hopeless situation which exists and has existed in our school corporation when interests motivated toward the city of Butler control the administration of the school system. When it is necessary to publicly attack persons and ideas with which disagreement is held, then the justification for such attacks very often is weak or totally unreasonable. Such is the case with the efforts of our present superintendent surprisingly similar to those of the previous holder of that office. It should be noted that a continuing effort has been made to make one person responsible for our troubles, to make the situation a conflict of personalities rather than a compromise of opinions. Reference has been made repeatedly to an alleged "selfish," "small" "minority" group by those who represent the Butler city interests. However, there has never been a willingness to submit the original question of site location to the public to determine the will of the majority. Now that a more significant question has been proposed, that concerned with uniting two school districts for a more effective use of the total assets of the two districts, the same unwillingness to objectively explore all phases of such a proposal is apparent.

In making lengthy attempts to destroy the objective ideas presented in this newspaper, the superintendent has contradicted himself while charging contradiction, substantiated a point while trying to destroy that very point, spoken insults while charging insults, appealed to the selfish nature of the public while trying to give the impression of an unselfish motivation, charged unethical conduct by others while resorting to unethical use of his office in publicizing those charges. An explanation follows.

On February 18, 1969, the superintendent stated:

"Probably uppermost in the minds of the citizenry is what really went on as concerns the proposal to consider the possibility of disannexing Newville, Concord and Spencer Townships from our school district to the DeKalb Central District."

If there is some doubt about what "really went on," the superintendent's lengthy explanation does not clear the matter any more than it has been cleared by reports published in this paper. It is rather late now to have a report of "what really went on." A more appropriate time was concurrent with the developments. This statement of the superintendent strengthens the position which I have taken in the past, such position expressed to members of the school boards from both districts and to the superintendents of both districts. Not only does the public have the right to know at least the generalities, but it is entitled to the benefits of public knowledge of public affairs. It is generally less difficult to cope with misinterpretation of published reports than to attempt to counteract the rumors which always come with the lack of public information. I have been criticized for some of the reporting which I have done concerning the school situation in following the above-mentioned principle. Under the circumstances, the superintendent's use of the words "what really went on" justifies my position. As a matter of fact, his letter gives no more information than that which has appeared in The Saint Joe News and in the Butler Record-Herald!

The superintendent appears to attempt to establish the Riverdale area as the instigator of the disannexation-annexation proposal which was eventually turned down by both boards. He refers to board member Harold Kagey's request for a discussion of consolidation of the two districts. It then sounds as if discussion of the matter brought the Riverdale "divorce" into the picture. This is misleading; there was no discussion of consolidation of the two districts. The Butler majority on the board wanted no part of any such proposal. Mr. Kagey attempted to have the board discuss the pros and cons of such a move, but there was no such discussion. Then, a motion was made by a Butler board member to release Riverdale, and Mr. Kagey seconded it. The point is: the release of Riverdale was proposed by the Butler interests on the board who wanted to "get rid" of Riverdale so much that they would have signed the papers that night, if it had been humanly possible.

Then "what really happened" was that the Butlerites realized the mistake they had made in offering such a release. They would have been too small a school district. It was, therefore, a very welcome and convenient opportunity to not agree to terms in the disannexation-annexation proposal involving the central district. A former school board president from the city of Butler is on public record as having warned the board a few months ago of its mistake if it released Riverdale. That is "what really happened," but you will not find it all recorded in the minutes!

The point is that Riverdale never sought divorce, as might be assumed from reading the superintendent's explanation. But Riverdale accepted divorce since nothing else was offered. Of course, this proposal was not fair to the many patrons of the Butler area who have given their support to the "remonstrators" and have in fact been a part of the "remonstrators." These people would have been left with nothing better than before, and it has been indicated that, had the Riverdale area been released, Wilmington Township patrons would have presented their own "remonstrance" to the school board. Contrary to what former Superintendent Ernest Zeller, present Superintendent Cole, and the Butler newspaper have been preaching, the "remonstrators" are not just from the southern end of the district.

Another quote from the superintendent's letter of February 13, 1969:

"Regardless of what Mr. Haberkorn thinks, the committee at least, if not in fact both Boards, thought it best in the interest of all concerned that no infant 'Proposal to Disannex' be circulated to the public."

The superintendent is wrong. I did not ask, and I never have asked, that an "infant Proposal to Disannex" be circulated. Suggesting and recommending that the public be informed of the undertaking of negotiations, of the developments as they occur in the preparation of the proposal, is not a request for an "infant proposal." The superintendent's inference is misleading and contrary to fact.

The superintendent suggests that an article in this paper hurt Riverdale's chances for release to the central district, that the school boards perhaps retaliated against my remarks by throwing out the proposal. If the superintendent is correct in his suggestion, if the school board members of either district are so emotional and unstable that one little newspaper article could sway them, then it's no wonder we are having problems. He further states that I almost insulted the faculty and that I invaded the privacy of a "fine family" by referring to a student transfer. It is regrettable that an honest opinion cannot be expressed, with reasons to support that opinion, without someone making a personal matter of such opinion. I have the right to criticize the faculty of my school or any other school if I so choose. But that is clouding the issue. The fact is, no reference was made to the Eastside faculty. Criticism of a total school program is not an insult to faculty members. Nor is the reference to a student transfer an invasion of anyone's privacy. Names were not used; individuals were not picked on or picked out. It is not an insult or an invasion of privacy to point out the plight of a school district and, therefore, the plight of the individuals in it. The superintendent wrongly appeals to the emotions, and emotion is something that we have been trying to overcome for years and years when it comes to school affairs. The true "personal" involvement is that instituted in the past in the city of Butler, and now carried on by the present superintendent in attempting to place on the shoulders of one individual the blame for everybody's troubles. This continues to be, at the instigation of the Butler interests which now obviously include the superintendent, an attempt to make a singularly personal conflict out of what has always been a public matter. This newspaper is not alone in its stand on the school situation.

The superintendent quotes (and if you are beginning to think this is becoming "personal" by continued references to the superintendent, remember that these quotes and references are from a letter sent throughout the entire eastern district through the superintendent's office):

"If Haberkorn had spent his efforts in the last year in a positive manner instead of the negativism he espouses, we would right now be only worrying about whether or not the various contractors were in fact finishing up properly on the inside of our proposed five new buildings, and the taxpayers would not have been penalized an estimated $350,000.00 or more."

How "negative" I have been is a matter of opinion, but the above quotation does indicate which "side" the superintendent now openly supports. Personally, I think the negative attitude has come from the powerful influences in Butler which have had the businessmen and private citizens scared to death to say that they think the Butler site is a mistake. They have been, and still are, so frightened that they cannot stand up and be counted. The "remonstrators" know of this fear; refusals to sign past petitions, accompanied by the comment ". . .but I agree with your efforts. . ." have attested to this fact.

As far as the additional cost we have been penalized, the superintendent conveniently overlooks the original reason for the "remonstrators" to rise in protest. That reason is that a Butler-dominated school board rescinded the original selection of a central site, almost immediately after taking office following an election in which the makeup of the board was changed. And there are indications from the city of Butler that those who voted for board members almost three years ago on the basis of keeping the school in Butler have now changed their minds. A few weeks ago, a Butler city official was reportedly heard to say in an informal remark, "We all ought to be coming over here." He was in the DeKalb Central United School District school building!

The remonstrating group hears these things both directly and indirectly, but cannot use them with identification of individuals. Fear smothers those people. We face the expenditure of $3½ or $4 million under the handicap of fear.

A Butler businessman telephoned me last October, when the suggestion concerning unification of the two districts came up. He said, "We ought to go in with central; our school is too small. I'll get you 100 or 200 names on your petition to merge, from in and close around Butler. —But don't mention my name to anyone." He has had a copy of the petition; he has been able to gain only a handful of signers. The reason, as he stated last week: "They're afraid." Are efforts to get patrons to say what they think properly classified under the term "negativism"?

The letter of the superintendent then attempts to discredit the "remonstrators' " purpose by asking, "What is wrong with building in Butler?", after pointing out this district's solvency. An answer to the question could be another question which has never been answered by the board or anyone else, using the important and significant circumstances accompanying the construction of a new school. That answer-question: "What is RIGHT with building in Butler?"

Aside from the physical attributes of the Butler site which make it undesirable at the outset, it is a matter of fact that 40% of the total school enrollment in the entire eastern district resides in the Riverdale area at the southern end of the district. What is wrong with Butler is that 40% of the students would travel to the extreme northern end of the major portion of the school district for half their school life. Whether anyone likes it or not, distance IS a significant factor in determining the number of students who participate in the total school program and the degree to which they participate. Thus, "equal" educational opportunities do not exist now and would not exist in the future within the eastern district itself, with the "center" of high school activities located in the city of Butler.

If you ask, "Why are you willing, then, to go a couple of miles farther for high school activities, if you join the two districts and use the central building?", my own answer is in the tone of the superintendent's writings of late, showing contempt for patrons in his own district and disrespect toward school officials outside this district. Riverdale patrons in particular have been looked down upon by our eastern administration since reorganization was first carried out. Wilmington Township residents have recalled their own experiences with the city of Butler in school affairs even before reorganization. A lack of respect for anyone outside the city limits of Butler has been characteristic of Butler-dominated leadership in school, business and other affairs. Not all Butler leadership has been characterized by such a confined attitude, but enough that these particular remarks do not reflect one person's opinion so much as a reaction heard many times from residents in that area. Since distance is measured not merely in miles, a closer school relationship appears an almost certainty in a merger of the two districts. It would be worth a couple of miles to be relieved of the "outsider" attitude towards many school patrons. The superintendent's letters do not dispell that attitude.

The superintendent again appeals to the emotions by referring to a student's being "gobbled up" in a large high school. He also refers to "791" students and the matter of housing. This figure includes the junior high students and is therefore misleading. It is an attempt to frighten with numbers. Our high school (and let's remember that when we talk about curriculum selectivity, we are talking basically about the high school program) numbers something like 500. The central district has something like 1200 in high school, top four grades. I am as afraid of bigness as much as I am fearful of smallness. But if you did combine the two high schools, we would still be smaller than many of the high schools in large cities. And statistically it has been shown that the educational opportunities are more readily available in the larger school district than in the smaller. The "closeness' of the student and teacher which we usually associate with the smaller school depends not so much on the size of the school but more on the individuals themselves. The fact that a limit of 2000 in a high school is generally recognized for the best results from a high school program indicates the knowledge among school administrators of the dangers of bigness.

With the central district planning for a 6-3-3 setup in their system, that is kindergarten and six grades of elementary, three years of junior high and three years of high school, combining the two districts would leave a lot of room before 2000 students would be involved at the high school level. At the present time, it would be approximately 1275 students. Since junior high facilities are needed in both districts, the cost to the taxpayer is going to be evident no matter how the districts are set up.

In reference to taxes, the superintendent states:

"Certainly the tax rate would not have been cheaper in DeKalb Central, especially not if they build a new junior high school."

Since no effort has been made officially to investigate taxes or anything else in connection with the two districts, such a statement is only conjecture. In opposition to such a statement, it can be pointed out that if only one high school complex can serve an area in which two high schools now function and if replacement of one of those high schools can be eliminated by consolidation, there would appear to be a saving of the cost of construction of one high school. It does appear unwise, in view of the cost of construction today and of maintaining a facility, to duplicate classrooms, gym facilities, cafeterias, administration and faculty, when one installation is sufficient for the present and for some time into the future.

The superintendent again appeals to the emotions by referring to the participation of students in a pep session which, in his opinion, would have been on a much more limited basis in a larger school. Emotions had to be overcome in the state of Indiana under reorganization in order for reorganization to be carried out successfully. The appeal to the emotions is, in my opinion, the greatest deterent to carrying out progressive consolidation of school districts. The orderly and efficient manner in which the central district and the northwest district united, even after county reorganization, is a positive indication of the importance of factual presentation of the merits of large numbers. Some people "lost" their identity in that consolidation, but they certainly gained a great deal more than they lost—and many of them now openly admit it.

Ten years ago, emotions flared when reorganization came upon us. In DeKalb County, emotions prevented the fullest benefits of reorganization from being accomplished. We kept our "identity" by establishing four separate school districts. Within two years, the importance of "identity," magnified by emotions, was overcome by common sense related to dollars and cents; two of the original four districts united. The movement to consolidate the central and eastern districts now presents the same situation—we must overcome our emotions with dollars and cents common sense.

The superintendent then attempts to console the Riverdale area by pointing out how much has been done for Riverdale, how many benefits have been derived presumably due to the efforts of the superintendent. However, an analysis of those benefits reveals that they are almost totally what can be called routine needs of any school building. The fact that the faculty at Riverdale has been granted leave is not unusual; Butler faculty members also are granted the same privilege. Repairing the driveway, landscaping, adequate lighting, equipment for maintenance purposes - are these something Riverdale should bow down for in gratitude? Certainly not; these are needs which ought to be provided for without making such a point of it. If they are not provided for, the school administration is not living up to its responsibilities.

A belittling of the Riverdale area appears in the superintendent's reference to the area's share of the assessed valuation in the school district, or rather he points out the share of the remainder of the district, that being 70.18%. In other words, shame on you Riverdale folks for being so unappreciative of what I have or we have done for you. The idea behind it all is that, with only 29.19% of the assessed value in the district, Riverdale should not be causing all the trouble about the location of the school. If this is the manner in which we are going the justify a voice in the operation of the school and in the location of a new building, then the superintendent has answered his own question quoted earlier, "What is wrong with building in Butler?" The answer is: Butler does not have the biggest share of the assessed value of the total district.

If assessed value is the standard, then the people of Wilmington Township are suffering an injustice. They have 28.77% MORE assessed value than the city of Butler. Properly, then, under the superintendent's approach, Wilmington Township should be naming the site for the proposed new school, or deciding whether to unite or not with the central district. According to the auditor's office, Wilmington Township has $3,976,540 in assessed value. Butler has $3,088,170.

Can you see what a fight is promoted when such things as assessed values are used to justify a position? Instead of overall needs and responsibilities, we begin thinking in terms of selfish interests, of our "share" in something in order to justify a segregated benefit. The belittling of Riverdale by the superintendent is divisive, not unifying.

The next to last paragraph of the superintendent's letter is quoted in its entirety:

"I do not think too many people really listen to what Mr. Haberkorn preaches, but I wish even those few would stop and think. Mr. Haberkorn certainly has changed his tune since reorganization days. If you do not think he has, just go back and read Haberkorn's editorials which were written during the County School Reorganization era. In these editorials Haberkorn many times made a big issue of and stressed the dozens of reasons that made him think the Eastern School Corporation should be formed separate from the Central School Corporation. Now Mr. Haberkorn seems possessed with any idea that comes along -- provided it is in no way connected with Butler. In my opinion Mr. Haberkorn has performed a great disservice to all who have followed him in three lawsuits which lawsuits the courts have five times (including the State Supreme Court) labeled as NUISANCE SUITS. Haberkorn knows that he cannot defeat a School Board; and his attorney knows the same thing. I also know that there are not too many more openings for lawsuits. I am almost positive that more lawsuits will lead to nothing but the expenditures of more money, and that students, teachers, and taxpayers will be further penalized."

My "preaching" has been as a representative of people in our district who were aggrieved by the action of a prejudiced school board. Those people had no way of expressing themselves publicly. Freedom of the press was denied them elsewhere and is yet being denied, even when attempts are made to state facts and give explanations.

As for my changing my tune, the superintendent is absolutely in error and has misled any patrons of this school district who have not been able to read this newspaper since reorganization was first undertaken. The following editorials and articles appeared in the Saint Joe News on the indicated dates:

March 12, 1959 - editorial, "What ARE We Going to Do?" - review of Riverdale's school situation in view of fears expressed over the proposed reorganization bill. While reviewing the resentment toward change, the editorial slants toward favorable consideration of reorganization.

May 14, 1959 - news article, "School Unrest Shown at Club Meeting" - report of Saint Joe Lions Club members' concern over SB6 relative to county reorganization. Board member Frank Laub revealed that the Riverdale board was considering construction of a high school unit costing $500,000.

June 11, 1959 - news article, "School Bill Explained" - report of public meeting at Garrett with Dr. Marion McGhehey, executive secretary of Indiana School Boards Association, as speaker.

October 8, 1959 - news article, "School Study Act To Be Set In Motion Wednesday" - concerning county-wide meeting at Auburn with school officials from the county explaining the provisions of reorganization.

Editorial in the same issue - "School Act In Motion" - urges public to attend meeting. Points out that building restrictions under reorganization do not apply to elementary construction. Quote from the editorial: " ..... It appears that there can be a lot of good gained from it if we set aside personal and often selfish considerations and think in terms of improved education. It behooves all Riverdale patrons to attend next Wednesday's meeting."

December 10, 1959 - editorial, "Administrative Unit Not A Building" - explanation that apprehension over having all students in one location, due to misinterpretation of the words "administrative unit," is unnecesary. Warning that we should not make decisions on the basis of what was adequate 15, 20 or 25 years ago, also that we should be careful that we do not get too big.

May 4, 1961 - editorial, "Reorganization - Second Best?" - suggests that the four-unit plan finally recommended by the county reorganization committee is not the best plan overall, inasmuch as the committee originally voted for a single unit in the county, then was pressured into another vote for three units, finally settled with another vote for four units. EDITORIAL SUPPORTS SINGLE COUNTY UNIT.

May 18, 1961 - editorial, "Reorganization - Second Best? II" - further discussion of circumstances surrounding county reorganization. Points out that equalizing educational opportunities in DeKalb County will not result from four units. Quote from editorial: "As the gentleman at Auburn put it, 'We're working toward a county unit anyhow; why wait?' I buy that."

November 30, 1961 - editorial, "Reorganization Statistics Substantiate Concern For Local Education" - encouragement given to Riverdale area that reorganization offers greater opportunities in education. Statistics used from county committee to show where improvements can result. Praise given for opportunities in Butler system, based on county reorganization committee's official statistical data.

January 4, 1362 - news article, "Editorial Brings Reply From Riverdale High School Faculty" - twelve members of the Riverdale faculty defend Riverdale High School and question accuracy of November 30, 1961, editorial which was based on information from the county reorganization committee.

March 8, 1962 - series of articles begins on reorganization, written by the editors of the Butler Record-Herald and published in this newspaper in cooperation with them.

May 3 and June 7, 1962 - articles on "Making school marriage a success."

There are numerous other articles and editorials from the past ten years which show that, far from a negative atitude, this newspaper and the editor thereof have displayed positive challenges to the school community.

As far as changing my tune, the only change evident in the writings in this paper, which are a matter of public record, is that I changed from suspicious apprehension to enthusiastic support of reorganization. Depending on the speed and frequency with which a person changes his mind, I would consider changing one's mind a virtue, not a fault. It would seem to indicate an open mind, willing to listen and consider.

Whether or not you agree with my convictions is not a major point. The point is that these convictions and conclusions have always been explained through specific references to conditions and circumstances, not on the basis of emotions and personalities. There have been few instances in which the public has not known why this paper and the editor were for or against or indifferent concerning school matters. And, to the best of my knowledge, I have never resorted to attacks upon individuals to substantiate my reasoning. Criticism has been directed toward offices and the actions of those who fill the offices, not upon personalities. Attacks upon persons reflect a lack of confidence in one's own position or stand, and a weakness therein.

The attempt to show that I have "changed" by referring to praise of the Butler school system completely overlooks the fact that such comments were given AFTER the county committee had made its final recommendation, even though I disagreed with the recommendation. And the public made the final decision. Every possible effort was made to make reorganization a success, inasmuch as the Riverdale area had more votes against than for reorganization with Butler. The Butler area carried the vote. Even if they had not, with the other areas of the county accepting their respective plans, there was, in effect, nothing else for the eastern side of the county to do but unite. I leave it to the public to decide whether or not there has been a "change" in my tune on school matters that would indicate unsound reasoning. I leave it to the public to decide if my writings and efforts reflect a "negative" attitude. Further investigation is invited by anyone. Bound volumes of this paper can be inspected at the News Office and in the office of the superintendent. The latter office has kept its own file of this newspaper for several years.

As for the "nuisance" charge made by the superintendent concerning legal actions, an eloquent reply appeared last week in this paper from Nelson Grills, attorney for the "remonstrators." It is repeated this week for those who did not have the opportunity to see its original publication.

On March 5, 1969, the second writing from the superintendent in recent weeks was addressed to the president of the DeKalb central school district with copies sent to all board members of both districts, plus administrators and attorneys. In the letter our superintendent stated that he suspicioned activity "behind the scenes" by board members of both districts and-or persons closely associated with the boards. The superintendent charged "almost acts of piracy." He accused an eastern district "minority group" of playing "footsie" with persons in the central district. He indicated that he would fight any efforts toward annexation of the eastern district or any part of it with the central district.

Not only did the superintendent attack the officials of the neighboring school corporation in this letter (a copy of which was sent to this newspaper by an unknown person or persons), he also did a complete about-face. An explanation follows.

When the superintendent and the attorney for the eastern school board attended a meeting of the central board last October to inform the central board of the eastern group's willingness to release the Riverdale area to the central district, the superintendent said in almost these exact words: "The only way to resolve the situation is to split the district." He was speaking in favor of releasing Riverdale to the central district. This statement was made in the presence of the central board and some eight or nine Riverdale patrons attending the meeting. Now, five months later, in a letter to the president of the central board, our superintendent says he will make every effort to oppose not only merger of the two districts but also splitting the district. Who HAS changed his tune - - - and why? Is it in the interest of total education????

The third writing by the superintendent was sent March 14, 1969, but apparently not distributed as extensively as the first letter to local patrons. The letter contains the following attempts to destroy one individual and divert attention from the prime question now challenging both the eastern and central districts. Referring to an editorial in this paper on March 6, 1969, the superintendent says: "Haberkorn screams foul. . . ." - ". . . school board news release which Haberkorn attacks . . ."

FACT: the editorial which appeared March 6, 1969, did not "attack the news release." It pointed out the circumstances relative to the use of the word "unanimous." I am well aware of voting procedures, that the recording of votes involves only those present, unless otherwise stipulated.

A rather lengthy paragraph attempts then to create the impression that I lack personal interest in the eastern district because I did not use the word "our" in reference to the local corporation. The superintendent says that such failure "would indicate that Mr. Haberkorn does not consider himself a part of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District."

I will leave the decision of my interest in the school district up to those parents - and students - and faculty - with whom I have participated in the graduation thus far of two sons from Eastside High School and a third who will graduate in not too many weeks. Number Four son is on his way up through the grades. There were the $25 donations to the Spanish Club Scholarship Fund when it started, and the band uniform fund when it started, and the jacket fund for the football team. At least one of those was the first donation received by the school organization when money was publicly sought. Then there were those, mostly Butlerites, who were on the Butler-Eastside P.T.A. executive committee three years ago when I was oddly enough elected president of that organization and we had one of the largest member-years ever, the most publicized year of activities ever; and the most widely varied programs ever with one of the best attendance records ever. Then there was a special miniature edition of this paper, run off in Sunday "spare time" to add to Eastside's glory attained with a sectional basketball championship a few years ago. Then there were those four CONSECUTIVE years as president of the Riverdale P.T.O. Pardon my boasting — but — I don't consider myself a part of the district??????

Then the superintendent, in his March 14, letter, attempts to convict me of "slaughtering" the truth by admitting that a $1.50 increase in our tax rate would be necessary to retire the costs of construction of the proposed new junior-senior high school, and then suggesting that my use of the term "new construction" purposely led patrons to believe it referred only to classrooms. At no time in the past have I ever used the term "new construction" in a limited sense, nor has anyone else. The superintendent's inference of trickery is a reflection of his own desperation and forgetfulness, apparently. An explanation follows:

In the recorded testimony held during the course of a hearing in the court room of the DeKalb Circuit Court at the beginning of the "remonstrators' " legal efforts, it was the superintendent himself who was asked to read the definition of "school buildings" as established by the Indiana Commission On General Education. That definition of "school buildings" includes not only the physical structures we literally refer to as "buildings" but also sidewalks, athletic fields, parking lots, driveways, and so on - in short, everything associated with the use of a school, other than the ground itself, comes under the definition of "school buildings." In common practice, then, the use of the term "new construction" in connection with "school buildings" includes all the facilities relative to the needs of education.

The superintendent's attempt to discredit my statements by inferring a play on words is almost unbelievable. In truth, his words strengthen the point which I made, which is really no point but a statement of fact: it WILL require at least a $1.50 increase in the eastern district's school tax rate just to pay for new construction, if we build a new junior-senior high school. The follow-up point is: it would NOT cost that much in a tax increase to help pay for high school facilities already in existence and capable of providing for the needs of both the eastern and central districts, if we unite with central.

The superintendent then attempts to use figures to frighten patrons, concerning enrollment at the junior high level and the costs involved in paying for new facilities Those who read the March 6, 1969, editorial will recall that it pointed out the need for junior high facilities in both districts. While the central board indicated a few months ago that it planned to house all junior high students at its present high school site, it was so stated as a point of information for the Riverdale area which was to be annexed. No plans were indicated for the junior high level with the entire eastern district joined to the central. No one can say that the central board would change its plans about junior high construction. However, their decisions in the past have been so open-minded that, should our superintendent's concern for high numbers at the junior high level be a valid concern - and it is a valid concern - I am confident that a proper decision would be made concerning the provision of junior high facilities in a merged district.

Anyone can speculate. If the two districts merged, the school board might go ahead with its plans for one location for all junior high students. It also might adjust to new enrollment figures and provide junior high facilities at two locations - or even three - if such adjustment is economically feasible and educationally desirable. Such a decision is, however, a function of the board and, again, the central district's leadership has been so progressive and so successful that I personally am not fearful of the details relative to junior high. This paper has never intended to infer that certain things WILL be done if the two districts merge. All that can be presented is what COULD be done, as far as details are concerned. However, one thing that WOULD result from merging the two districts would be an expanded program of education for all students in the two districts.

As far as the comparative costs and "losses" which the superintendent presents in the March 14 letter, I well remember the statement made by the eastern district's attorney at an open board meeting many months ago in discrediting computations by Mr. Grills who justified the "remonstrators' " position: "Figures don't lie, but liars do figure." I am not calling the superintendent a liar. I am using the words of his own legal counsel to say that statistics can be manipulated to prove or disprove a point. Getting deeply involved in arguments over where figures came from does not accomplish the overall purpose of a program. If our goal is improved total education for all students in DeKalb County, then the goal should not be lost sight of in the planning that follows. My reasoning is this: students from smaller schools do not have equal opportunities in education; they come out short whether they go to college or not. Combining the resources - and liabilities - of the eastern and central districts will give a student enrollment to make a broader program of total education possible for students in both districts. It will provide a broader tax base on which to place the costs of providing that broader program to more students. The details of carrying out such a move are up to the board which would serve the merged district.

Incidentally, how can you "lose" $350,000.00 in increased costs if you don't build the building????

The closing paragraphs of the superintendent's March 14 letter refer to the curriculum at Eastside High School. It is not possible to argue the merits of a program in any school solely on the basis of a listing of courses available. It is necessary also to consider WHEN the courses are available; that is, can the student effectively program his or her high school career when they enter high school. It is a matter of fact that Eastside has had problems in offering courses to the students in a given year when the students have sought such courses. The larger high schools do not have such problems because of one simple statistical fact: numbers.

From the experience of graduates themselves and their parents' knowledge of the circumstances, a school the size of Eastside cannot fulfill the needs of its students as readily as the larger schools. A member of the Eastside faculty has stated this fact. A graduate of last year had something like 42 credits (something like 34 credits are required), then had to go to summer school for a course which could not be programmed during four years of high school. A graduate of the former Saint Joe High School, or Concord Township High School, whichever was the proper and accepted term in its time, needed a three-month preparatory course before being qualified to enter a technical school. True, that was some time ago, when the high school numbered only around 100 or so. However, today Eastside's 500 student enrollment is relatively as small because larger schools have also grown bigger and often at a faster rate.

I, too, would like to have "our own" high school, even back to the good old days of Saint Joe and Spencerville and Butler and Auburn and Waterloo and Ashley. However, the cost of providing appropriate educational programs to fit the needs of the students today has become economically impossible for small school corporations. With an administrative unit numbering 1200 to 1300 students at the present time through merger of the central and eastern districts, it would indeed make "our own" school even more a thing of the past as far as local association is concerned. However, under such a merger "our own" sons and daughters would have a broader total educational program, competitive with that enjoyed by students in the larger communities? Isn't that what we want in our schools, broader opportunities? And, when the cost of providing such a program is shared by more people, more efficient use is made of taxpayers' money.

In closing, it must be pointed out that the recent writings of the present superintendent have followed the same pattern of abuse which began under the former superintendent, and echoed thereafter by the Butler newspaper and the present eastern school board majority. His use of the word "vendetta" in referring to my efforts and "one or two close associates" is totally unjust and indicative of an unwillingness to be objective in school matters. I am not trying to get even with anyone; I am trying to get a better break for everyone in our educational program. The many "remonstrators" have been trying for the same thing. There has not been an appeal to the emotions. Rather, there has been an appeal to objectivity in the educational program in the district originally, then "changed" to the county level when the opportunity and the challenge was recognized.

The "remonstrators" have had an uphill struggle from the very beginning. The strong influence of prejudiced superintendents, moneyed interests in the city of Butler, and the power vested in a school board have prevented greater progress in the total educational process for students in the local high school.

Patrons of both the eastern and central districts have a challenge to rise above the smoke screen of the eastern district's original site dispute, fired most recently by the letter writing of the superintendent of the eastern district, and act objectively for the benefit of students in the high schools and for the benefit of their own pocketbooks.

Signing the petition requesting the merger of the eastern and central districts is the most positive action for the progress of education that has been offered to the patrons of the county since the beginning of reorganization - ten years ago! It is not a new proposal; we almost gained it county-wide at the beginning of reorganization but "our own" emotions overrode our insight as to what was best.

The opportunity is once again at hand.

EHS Evaluation

Eleven distinguished Indiana educators, representing the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, spent three and one-half days last week reviewing faculty evaluations of the Eastside educational offerings. In preparation for the past six months, the study represents the most extensive review of the local educational plant and its offerings ever undertaken, according to information from the Eastside superintendent's office.

Involving all members of the high school staff and some lay people from the community, the study involves nine major areas relating to such general divisions as school health, school plant, guidance, philosophy, and program of studies; nineteen possible subject areas, such as English, foreign languages, mathematics, girls and boys physical education, and industrial arts; and individual evaluations of every member of the staff, self-conducted.

First day activities included: a brief organizational meeting of the visiting committee; a one-hour interductory session with the school's steering committee; a social hour with the entire faculty; dinner with the School Board, Student Council officers, administrators and members of the steering committee; and further organizational meetings of the visiting committee.

In successive days, the committee reviewed the general area reports, visited repeatedly in the classrooms, reviewed the subject area reports and interviewed the teachers seeking clarification and correlation on the nearly 14,000 questions and value judgments involved in the total study.

The purpose and nature of the study was brought sharply into focus at Tuesday's dinner meeting by the Visiting Committee Chairman, Superintendent Max Shaw of Pike Township Schools of the Indianapolis area. The substance of his commentary was: "We're here for two purposes: to help you improve on an already good program, and to correlate our (NCA's) value judgments on these 14,000 questions with your faculty. We expect, as a result of our study, to give you realistic recommendations for the improvement of your program. We are NOT here to rate anyone individual's performance, whether teacher, administrator, or board member. The principal value of this entire activity will not be our report to you, but what your staff has experienced and learned throughout their preparation."

Mr. Shaw also stressed that membership in the NCA is self-initiated and entirely voluntary and that every NCA school now undergoes the self-evaluation every seven years and furnishes administrators and other experienced school personnel to other schools as they undertake the self-evaluation process in their turn. He strongly complimented the administration and steering committee, as well as the faculty, for their efforts in the study.

On the last day of the visitation, the committee briefly reviewed their findings with the administration. This information was in turn passed on to the faculty.

Although the finalized report will not be availalbe for four to six weeks, the oral report was very favorable as to the quality of instruction and offerings afforded by Eastside Jr.-Sr. High School.

The school has reported received notification from the State Chairman of the North Central Association that the State Committee is recommending that Eastside High School be accredited for the school year 1969-1970.

An Answer To The Superintendent - Part I

NELSON G. GRILLS
Attorney At Law
Suite 802 Board of Trade Building
Indianapolis, Indiana 46204
March 12, 1969

Mr. Kenneth L. Cole, Superintendent
DeKalb County Eastern Community School District
East Green Street
Butler, Indiana 46721

Dear Superintendent Cole:

I am writing this letter more in sorrow than in anger. I have a high regard for your ability as an educator, and I am disappointed with what I believe is an unfair and injudicious attack upon my clients. I agreed to represent those persons who were opposed to the "Butler Site" for the junior-senior high school only after they had agreed to base their claim upon the law and to pursue their remedy in an orderly fashion which would not disrupt the school corporation, and divide its citizens. Prior to undertaking litigation, I met with your Board and my clients accompanied me. We pledged ourselves to the pursuit of orderly procedures. Several briefs were provided the school board you represent presenting our position. These briefs were designed to express our position, educationally and legally in an ethical manner. I, and my clients, have received not one word of criticism from the attorney representing the board and from the members of the board.

Two letters which you have written have been brought to my attention by my clients. One letter was addressed to the "patrons and taxpayers of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District." It was forwarded about February 13, 1969. The other letter was forwarded to the President of the Board of School Trustees of DeKalb County Central United School District an March 5, 1969. In each of those letters, you have impugned the integrity of my clients, and have accused me of engaging in unethical conduct. It is not my purpose by this letter to either question your right to express yourself freely or to criticize you personally for what I regard as irresponsible statements. This letter is to set the record straight.

You have informed the patrons and taxpayers of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District that "in my opinion, Mr. Haberkorn has performed a great disservice to all who followed him in three lawsuits which lawsuits the courts have five times (including the State Supreme Court) labeled as nuisance suits." The Canon Thirty of Profcssional Ethics of the American Bar Association provides in part:

"The lawyer must decline to conduct a civil cause or to make a defense when convinced that it is intended merely to harass or to injure the opposite party or to work oppression or wrong."

It was the position of my clients with which I concur that:

1. They had the right to question the decision of the Board of School Commissioners in selecting the "Butler Site."

2. That the selection of the Butler Site did not meet the requirements of either the law or the regulations of the General Commission on Education.

The Constitution of Indiana provides in Article I, Section 12:

"All courts shall be open; and every man, for injury done to him and his person, property, or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law."

None of the cases filed on behalf of my clients was "labeled as nuisance suits" by the courts. For your information, the Judge of the Circuit Court of your county in the first cause of action in finding that we were not using the proper procedures stated:

"Plaintiffs' contention that the plaintiffs are interested persons in the ultimate selection of a construction site for the school building cannot be questioned, as plaintiffs alleged that they are affected taxpayers, parents of affected school children, and school patrons within the geographical limits of the school district. As such, they are certainly interested persons in the site that is ultimately selected, and are clothed with the unalienable right to seek judicial relief to protect those rights.

"This court is entirely in accord with the Plaintiffs' contention that Indiana has always recognized that in the selection of school sites, there should be an opportunity for a hearing and for an appeal from the decision of the local school authorities."

In the second suit which was filed, the plaintiffs have never been accorded an opportunity to be heard on the merits of the issues.

I challenge you to establish to those persons to whom your letter was addressed any statement by any court that the lawsuits which were filed to question the location of the proposed school were "nuisance suits." In the event you cannot provide this information, an honorable person would forward a letter to the people to whom your letter was addressed correcting the erroneous impression. In your letter to Mr. Ball, President of the DeKalb Central School District of March 5, 1969, you state:

"I have never been very successful fighting unethical conduct with ethical techniques. Ethics or no ethics, I intend to make every effort to see to it that no minority group from our school district is successful in playing 'footsie' with some minority in the DeKalb Central District and thereby completing a successful coup that would cause our entire school district or any part thereof to join with DeKalb County Central."

You state further in explaining your letter:

"I am motivated to do this because it is my considered professional opinion that there has been continued activity, behind the scenes, on the part of a very few people from our school district, including one school board member, and other some of your school board members or some person or persons very closely associated with your school board to commit what I consider almost acts of piracy."

Canon of Professional Ethics, No. 16 states in part:

"A lawyer should use his best efforts to restrain and prevent his clients from doing those things which the lawyer himself ought not to do, ..."

Canon, No. 26 states in part:

"A lawyer openly, and in his true character may render professional services before legislative or other bodies, regarding proposed legislation and in advocacy of claims before departments of government, upon the same principle of ethics which justifies appearance before courts; but it is unprofessional for a lawyer so engaged to conceal his attorneyship, or to employ secret personal solicitations, or to use means other than those addressed to the reason and understanding, to influence action."

I have never appeared before the DeKalb County Central United School District Board, and I have never discussed a proposed consolidation of your school corporation or any part of it with these board members. At the time a consolidation was proposed, I did upon several occasions offer my assistance to the attorney for the DeKalb County Central United School District, and each time, discussed the telephone call with the attorney for your school district. I have investigated the discussions which have taken place between my clients and the school board members of the DeKalb County Central United School District. My investigation leads me to believe the members of the Board of the DeKalb County Central United School District were most ethical in their behavior. They neither encouraged my clients to seek consolidation nor engaged in any action which was not brought to the attention of the school board for which you are Superintendent. Charging school board members and attorneys with engaging in "unethical conduct" is a serious charge. Either you should provide the evidence to establish the truth of your allegations or you should apologize to the board members of the DeKalb County Central United School District.

The first amendment limits Congress in making laws abridging the freedom of speech or of the press. The 14th Amendment applies this principle to state government. Article I, Section 9 of the Indiana Constitution provides in part:

"That no law shall be passed, restraining the free interchange of thought and opinion, or restricting the right to speak, write, or print, freely, on any subject whatever."

The Acts of the Indiana General Assembly of 1949, Chapter 226 permit 5% of the registered voters of any school corporation to petition for a consolidation of that school erporation with another school corporation. Ted Haberkorn, Jr. has the right to advocate what he believes best for the school corporation in his newspaper and is constitutionally protected in that right. The registered voters of your school corporation have the right under the law to petition for the consolidation of your school corporation with DeKalb Central. Your knowledge of the laws on education should cause you to realize that no "coup" by a minority of the DeKalb Central District could cause your school district or any part thereof to join DeKalb County Central. In the event either board objected, such consolidation could result only after an election. If you are correct in your position that "the majority of our people do not want to merge with your school corporation" their vote could prevent such a merger.

If you are confident that your position is based upon facts, you should welcome an election in the two school corporations to determine whether or not a consolidation is desired by a majority of the people.

In your letter of February 13, 1969, you refer to an article written by Mr. Haberkorn in the St. Joe News on February 6, 1969, you state:

"I believe that this particular bit of attempted undermining is the most despicable piece of journalism that has ever come to my attention."

English and literature this charge is most disturbing. I have read english and literature this charge is most disturbing. I have read that article carefully. You may disagree with the statements in the article, but there is nothing in this article which causes it to deserve to be despised. Mr. Haberkorn has suggested that a consolidation of your school corporation with DeKalb Central would provide greater educational opportunities to the students attending the consolidated school than are available at the same cost to students attending the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation. I find no criticism of you, the faculty or the facilities in your school corporation. He states as a matter of principle that a school of the size of DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern combined can provide a wider variety of subjects and a greater opportunity for education. This is a principle that was not newly discovered by Mr. Haberkorn. It has been recognized by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the head of the Division of Schoolhouse Planning, and the Commission for the Reorganization of Schools. I challenge you to establish that the same variety of subject matter and quality of education can be provided in a school the size of DeKalb Eastern School Corporation that could be provided by a school corporation of the combined size of the DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern School Districts for the same cost per student, and at the same tax rate. In your letter of February 13, 1969, you state:

"Certainly the tax rate would not have been cheaper in DeKalb Central."

To provide the same quantity and quality of education in the DeKalb Eastern School District that would be provided by the consolidated school corporation will require a higher per capita cost per student both for capital construction and operational expenses to provide comparable education. The tax rate in the foreseeable future of the consolidated school corporation will be less than the tax rate should DeKalb Eastern remain a separate school corporation.

I also prefer small schools. However, each school corporation must be of a size which permits the efficient operation of the corporation at a minimum charge for education to the taxpayer.

The DeKalb County Eastern Community School District is fortunate to have as its Superintendent a man of your ability, your dedication and your loyalty. I regret that your loyalty and your enthusiastic defense of the position your school board has taken led you to engage in attacks upon individuals and groups. I hope that time, the opportunity to reread your two letters and some of the information I have made available will induce you to place the question of the consolidation of the two school corporations in proper perspective. The people, and particularly the overburdened taxpayers, still have the right to determine for themselves their destinies and the future of their school corporation.

Sincerely yours,
Nelson G. Grills

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXIV Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, March 27, 1969 NUMBER 13

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Those who wish to sign the petition for merging the eastern and central districts can do so at the News Office, Brown Furniture & Hardware, Yeiser Standard Service and Chaney's Restaurant. Jerry Keener has a copy in Newville Township and there are others out, including in the central district. But until individuals can be officially identified, we can only say that Gene and Annabelle Stafford at the Waterloo newspaper have a copy in the central district.

Parlia Hull rather sheepishly asked to have a thank you put in the paper for our fire department. She wanted her rubbish pile burned last week end. So Mevie Coburn offered to help. It was so dry, though, that the fire got away from them and a call had to be put in for assistance.

The firemen had so many calls last week end that they finally just left the big doors open after returning from a run, to save time and effort when the next call came in—and it did.

The rain and snow this week has momentarily nullified the need to warn people of the danger in burning trash or brush.

Speaking of burning brush, it certainly is obvious that many citizens consider the highway right of way a trash can. With the burning of brush along the roadways, literally dozens of beer and pop cans as well as bottles are easily seen at the side of the road.

If you see anyone throwing trash along the road, get the license number and turn 'em in to the sheriff. You're no "squealer", you're a public-minded citizen to report such characters. In addition to being unsightly, the bottles and cans are a safety hazard when the highway department sends out its mowing machines.

I finally got the subscription renewals up to date this week. If you have not been credited with a renewal (check your address stamp on this issue, the month and year of expiration are there) let me know so the proper date can be recorded.

I got a chuckle out of the following notice in a recent issue of the Auburn Evening Star:

"On or after this date, March 14, 1969, I will be responsible for all debts contracted by my wife. Happy Anniversary Dear. Bob Mennie."

Ain't that cute?

Barbara Vest of California is my brother-in-law's sister. She sent a little poem back to Indiana University recently, to my sis and Phil. It went as follows.

"The bee's a busy little soul,
He has no time for birth control,
Which is why, in times like these,
There are so many sons of bees."

Ain't THAT cute?

Dick Shook, a native of Spencerville and now an attorney in Washington, D.C., was in the territory a week or so ago. He recently took the time to write to Mrs. Frank Bowman after he saw the item in this paper about her note to me. She greatly appreciated Dick's thoughtfulness in remembering her with a letter, and he is very conscious of not just his friends in this area but also those of his late parents.

Mayola Walter called me up a couple of weeks ago and said she had gotten possession of an autograph book from the late Judge Lloyd Hartzler's father-in-law, and the book contained a poem to Hanna Bodenbock from Anna Haberkorn. The date on the poem was March 11, 1882.

After checking with my mother, it appears that the "Anna Haberkorn" in the book was my father's mother. She was dead before my time, so I never knew her, or "Grandpa Haberkorn," either since he died before I came on the scene. The other German names in the book make it probable that Mayola came upon a page from our family tree.

The poem goes:

"To Hanna
Don't forget me when you're happy
Keep one little spot for me
In the middle of your affection
Plant one sweet 'Forget me not."

Thy Friend
Anna Haberkorn
Fort Wayne
March 11th, 1882"

I don't know—is it a sign of old age when ancestors and the family become more meaningful? Naw — my gosh, it can't be old age — heck, I still like short skirts and bikinis.

—Dave Snyder says he's all for 'em, too — short skirts, not ancestors!

Rev. William Billow sent me a copy of the "Asahi Evening News" of January 22, 1969. He picked that issue because of a special feature on the history of newspapers in Japan, as well as for the current events.

The paper is much like a typical stateside newspaper; it has an editorial page, features by local writers as well as syndicated features like Ann Landers' column. If you would like to see it, stop in at the News Office.

Bill, his wife Doris, and their family are now on his third five-year hitch as a missionary in Japan. In a recent letter to friends back home, Pastor Bill reviewed his work as follows:

"At the Lutheran Home for the Aged and Bethany Home for Widows and Children in Tokyo, I work as staff consultant on Social Group Work. In addition to lectures and discussions in staff meetings, I lead one Interest Group in each institution. At the Konodai Day Nursery, I'm helping Mr. Tomoda, the principal, in some work he has been doing with mongoloid children and their parents. For two years, four of these children attended his day nursery and the results have been excellent. Only one of the children is left in the nursery now but Mr. Tomoda has become so interested in their needs and growth potential that he wants to begin a school for parents of such children in order to share with them what he's learned. Negotiations are underway with the leader of an association of parents of retarded children with the goal of establishing the school. We want to enlist the help of the other professions which give help to these families in order to present a total picture of the needs of the special child and pass on self-help information to these parents who have faced a pretty hopeless situation thus far. At Asahigaoka our rural day nursery and home for widows and children are about to be swallowed up by the city. New buildings for both institutions have been completed and the day nursery is being used as a center for community work.

"Stimuli from this changing society are reaching the church and it seems now to be reaching out to respond to the stimulation rather than drawing into itself for protection against the powerful forces which buffet it. A few years back the church in Japan seemed to be, from a somewhat self-imposed position of weakness, only ready to care for its own. Now I could cite at least a half dozen congregations where concern is more than lip-service. I don't like to overwork the word but it is 'exciting' to be back in Japan again and more so because signs of growth are popping out all over."

The Billows' address is Rev. and Mrs. William D. Billow 1-106-11 Higashi-cho Koganei-shi, Tokyo 184, Japan

Lettermen And CC Fish Frys

The Eastside Lettermen's Club is sponsoring a Family Fish Fry on Saturday, March 29, from 5:00 until 7:30 p.m. in the Butler Elemestary Cafetorium, 503 East Green Street, Butler.

This is the second Lettermen fish fry this year, and attendance is expected to be heavier than in October. A special treat will be watching the Eastside coaching staff slave behind the fryers. The coaches, who have jum lost the weight gained from the last fish fry, predict that the food will be excellent.

The annual Fish Fry of the Spencerville Community Club will be held Saturday, April 19, starting at 5 p.m. The fry will be held at the Community Building in Spencerville.

Carryouts will be available between 4 and 5 p.m. only, for those who may wish to obtain take-home servings.

Prices will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

Bingo and other games will be conducted for entertainment.

Senior Play

"Lilacs In the Rain" is the name of the play to be presented by the Senior Class of Eastside High School Friday and Saturday, April 11 and 12.

It is the story of John Lambert's four daughters and their sweet but turbulent romances.

Lavell, the eldest daughter, returns from college to find her family eagerly anticipating her marriage to Charles, her girlhood sweetheart. But she has fallen in love with another man.

However, Paul, the new man, tells her that she reminds him of lilacs in the rain, then uses the same line on her younger sister, so disillusionment follows and the brief infatuation comes to an end. A happy conclusion is brought about by Shauna, the youngest of the Lamberts.

The pathos of the play is provided by Lotty Lambert, the thirteen-year-old daughter who feels that she is rejected by her family.

Complicated and mixed up prom dates of Laurie's result in the father tossing three boy friends out.

Case Of Distemper Emphasizes Need To Observe Dog Confinement

Roger Schlegel, local dog warden, has reported that a dog suffering from distemper was picked up last week in Saint Joe. Two other dogs and a pup were exposed to the infected dog during the time they were confined after being picked up as strays, and all have been disposed of.

Diagonsis of the disease was made at the Dog Shelter in Fort Wayne. Officials at the shelter stated that other dogs exposed to the disease for five minutes are subject to infection. Mr. Schlegel passes a suggestion along to local dog owners that they observe their pets in case such exposure has ocurred before the infected dog was picked up, if owners have not observed the local ordinance and have allowed their dogs to run loose.

Although some cooperation has been noted in observing the local dog ordinance which requires confinement or control of a dog at all times, it has also been obvious that dog owners have taken advantage of the dog warden's absence from home during regular working hours by allowing their pets to run loose late in the afternoon and in the evening. Such laxity may result in the loss of the pet, since exposure to a diseased animal can occur during such periods of non-confinement.

Old Letter Describes Pioneer Days

W. L. Hurst of Saint Joe, who is one of those particularly interested in the historical background of community, state and nation, has received a letter from his uncle, Ross Baker, of Cortland, Ohio. Mr. Baker is 80 years old. The letter merits mention because it was written to his late wife, the former Menta Wildeson, by her cousin, Gracie E. Miller. The letter was written in 1893.

A portion of the letter shows that the good old days were not always "good" in every respect. Death was, and is, an ever-present possibility in pioneering efforts.

The letter follows:

"Edna, Kas.
Sept. 17th, 1893

"Miss Menta Wildeson:
"Dear Cousin:

"I will now try and answer your kind and welcome letter which I received a couple days ago.

"It has been very hot, dry and windy the last week and evry thing is burned nearly up. Unless it rains in a few days our cabbage will make nothing. There are not hardly any heads larger than a tea cup. The turnips were up thick and nice but now are burned off till we cannot see a trace of any.

"The tomatoes are ripening and doing splendid for the kind of weather we are having. We have canned 18 quarts since I wrote to you.

"Well we went to a picnic yesterday. But about all they had was dinner. Although we had a nice time. There was only one swing and no jumping ropes or nothing of the kind.

"There has been a (merry go round) at town all week. We did not go only one night. It is a kind of swing run by steam. In the center of the platform is an organ and a little negro playing it and there is a row of U.S. flags all around it and at the edge of the platform are wooden horses and seats and when the thing turns the horses gallop. Nora and Elroy rode horses but I rode in a basket. It is quite amusing.

"Della has a 10¼ pound girl and calls her Ivy Fay. It is right pretty and fat as a pig. She will be three weeks old Tuesday.

"Our school will commence two weeks from tomorrow. I expect to start. We go to town to school. I go up stairs. But I like country school much better. We are weaving our carpet now. We have about eleven yards wove now. It is light but right pretty.

"We have a measure we use and we weave so much hitten miss and then put in three threads of white then four of black then four of red and three of green thread about the four of black again the three of white so you can guess what it is like. The warf is orange and blue.

"I measure 5 ft. in height, 25 inches around the waist, wear number 3 shoes, weigh 99 pounds and am 15 years old. Now I want your dimensions.

"Papa and mamma went to church. It is so hot and windy I didn't care about going.

"Are you going to school this winter? Do you know where uncle Harrison Miller is and what they are doing? We haven't heard a word from them since they went back there. If you know their address I wish you would tell me what it is.

"Just about all the talk now is about the strip which was opened for settlement yesterday at noon.

"They say the people are camped four miles deep all around it and water is so scarce that they have to pay 5 cents a pint or 25 cts. a canteen for it and food is so scarce that they are stealing and fighting for each others provisions.

"It being so hot and them so thickly settled they are dying rapidly. There was 105 deaths in one day of last week.

"Well as I have nothing more to write this time I will close hoping these few and poorly written lines may find you well and enjoying the best of health as we are at present.

"Ans. Soon, Sooner, Soonest.
Good bye.
Love to all.
Ever your Cousin,
Gracie E. Miller

Blue & Gold Banquet

The Spencerville Cub Scout Troop held its Blue and Gold Banquet recently at the Spencerville Methodist Church.

The theme of the program was "Cub Scout Spirit." The "Star Spangled Banner" was sung by the group and the invocation was given by Rev. Irvin Pusey. After the dinner was served by the ladies of the church, toastmaster G. L. Rader led the program. The welcome to the parents was given by Tom Dwyer with the response in behalf of the parents given by Ben Krafft.

Cub Scout awards were presented by James Dwyer as follows:

Bobcat pin—Mike Duke, Chris Emenhiser, Fred Rayle and Davey Meek.

Wolf badge—Kim Krafft and Jack McHenry.

1 year pin—Kenny Kinsey and Jack McHenry.

Webelos badge—Mike Carper.

The closing ceremony was given by Den 1 and the closing prayer by Rev. Pusey.

Others say. . . .

PERSON TO PERSON

The beginning of a new year is traditionally a time to take stock, a time to assess what we've got going for us. I firmly believe the biggest plus owned by each of us is FREEDOM.

Strange as it seems, the Declaration of Independence assured us of nothing but life, liberty and PURSUIT of happiness. Happiness wasn't guaranteed, just the pursuit of it, and that pursuit usually spells hard work.

Too many people today like to think that our American brand of Freedom means automatic freedom from worry, fear and work. Look again, friend. Nothing in that Declaration or in the Constitution promises anything like that. The only thing you've inherited is the freedom to work for the things you want in life.

Think about it a while and you'll agree that the only man who has complete security is the one in prison.

The folks who have freedom, independence and self-respect are those who are willing to stand up on their own two feet and work for it. That's the AMERICAN WAY. Universal believes that this is the way of most Americans. We believe it would be the way of most Americans if they understood both the principals and the rewards.

Freedom doesn't need any security other than that which you are willing to build for yourself. The harder you pursue your own brand of happiness, the more difficult it will be for any one to take it away from you. Take stock today of what you've done with your freedom and how much security you've been able to build with it ..... and ..... have a HAPPY NEW YEAR.

—Norman "Buck" Ritenour, in the "Universal News," January 1969.

THE 'OTHER SIDE'

A cursory reading of the local paper sometimes gives the impression that college campuses everywhere are in a state of turmoil and all student groups have as their main goal the destruction of the university. Obviously, this isn't true.

For example, a group called SPASM, Society for the Prevention of Asinine Student Movements, has formed at Wichita State University and performs constructive tasks on campus.

At Michigan State University, over 10,000 students have signed a petition condemning the "intimidation, violence and disruption" which has occurred there recently.

On the campus of Purdue University, a group of Marines studying there organized a drive to collect some 500 pints of blood which they planned to give to local hospitals.

One hundred members of the Columbia University faculty, including some of the most prominent professors on the campus, have signed a statement calling for strong action against students who disrupt classes.

And in New York, philosophy professor Sidney Rock has announced the formation of a group of 400 professors at more than 36 campuses calling itself the Organization of University Centers for Rational Alternatives. Says Hook: "There's a danger to academic freedom when you substitute the methods of violence for free inquiry."

A Note of Gratitude To You

I wish to thank you sincerely for your kindness printing some of the feeble efforts to be newsworthy during the 69th General Assembly. I'm very sorry that I couldn't do a better job learning and serving, from "seat 99."

There was, is, and apparently always will be, much undone work in government; but it seems to me we may be trying too hard in government especially when we consider the cost. I do wonder how long we can afford the cost of government to drive our taxes to the brink of National demise. Couldn't some of the responsibilities now thrust upon government be better handled by a person to person relationship? Shouldn't families, neighbors, and churches all composed of individuals, first do all they can or will to solve their own problems, before looking to the most extravagant method of solving any problem? Then should not the government at the most local level feasible do all they can before looking to a distant bureaucracy for "superior" wisdom in problem solving?

Seems to me that big government has become our national problem rather than a solution. Sure hope we can all be a part of the solutions and less a part of our problems.

Sincerely,
Floyd B. Coleman, M.D.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau board of directors held their regular monthly meeting March 24, 1969. President Floyd Pfierman presided.

James Goller read from II Corinthians 13 and offered prayer.

Arlo King, chairman of local affairs, reported having written to Mr. Kruse and Mr. Coleman concerning proper lighting at the intersections of 100 and state roads 8 and 6. As a result, he was taken for a ride over the mentioned areas and was told about the needs, expense and lack of laborers for fulfilling the request. He also read a letter which he had received from Mr. Stuckey, district traffic engineer, and suggested that Farm Bureau might help by providing labor to help with a protective paint job.

Mr. Pfierman announced that Mr. McDaniel has been pricing carpets for the Farm Bureau building.

Mrs. Perkins asked that board members taking papers in which DeKalb County Farm Bureau news appears clip such items and turn them in to be used in a scrap book for the State Publicity Contest.

There will be a District Women's Meeting at the church north of Albion April 7 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Committees appointed for the County Amateur Contest Saturday, April 26, at 7:45 p.m. in the court house assembly room are: song leader and devotions, 4T; entertainment, Richland; table decorations, Fairfield; and refreshments, Smithfield.

Mr. Pfierman reported being on the Wayne Rothgeb show and acting as time keeper for the FFA contest March 20. Woodlan and Columbia City were the contestants. The result was a tie until two extra questions were asked. Woodlan won. Mr. Pfierman and Mr. William Goings, one of our county's 50 Year Members, who spoke briefly, took the contestants to breakfast.

Martha Johnson will have devotions in April.

Following roll call, light refreshments were served.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB
—Pat Roberts, Reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Edith Sailer March 21, 1969, with 12 members attending.

Due to the illness of our president, Cora Funk, the meeting was opened by the first vice president, Evt Clauser, with the reciting of the club collect in unison.

Mary Baker led the devotions, her theme being, "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother." She read about the lack of discipline among the children of today. Christ set down rules and laws of obedience in the Garden of Eden and punished those who disobeyed. Those same rules should be carried out in the homes of today.

Mary Baker gave the history of the song, "My Wild Irish Rose," and also led us in the singing. Doris Yeiser gave the secretary's report which was accepted as read. The treasurer's report was given by Catherine Bowser and was accepted.

Roll call was answered with, "What my membership in the club has meant to me." We were all happy to hear all say they were glad to belong to the Saint Joe Valley Club.

Doris Yeiser told of the Bloodmobile being in Saint Joe March 25 and asked for volunteers to help that day. Several ladies responded to her call.

We were reminded of the conference that will be held at Purdue University June 13-15. An invitation was read asking us to join the Happy Chicks Club at the Exhibition Hall in Auburn May 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Doris Yeiser showed how to make artificial flowers, and many in our group were interested in learning the project.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the club prayer song. After the close of the meeting, an auction sale was held, led by the Ways and Means Committee.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Worry Clinic April 15

The DeKalb County Association For Mental Health and Church Women United are co-sponsors of the second annual Worry Clinic to be held Tuesday, April 15, at the Auburn Presbyterian Church. Due to popular demand, the program has been planned as an evening meeting to afford both men and women the opportunity to attend.

Registration fee will be 75 cents per person, and men and women in this area have been invited to attend the meeting which will be held from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m.

The meeting is not the lecture type, but rather an open discussion group in which problems may be shared. The classes have been arranged to allow participants to attend more than one session if they so desire.

"Let's Worry Together" is the theme for the entire program and it has been subdivided into 1—Novice, "Oh! Those Preschoolers"; 2—1st through 8th grades, "We're Growing Up"; 3—High school and college, "Beginning and Complete Chaos"; 4—Adult, "Life Begins At 1".

Mrs. Shirley Roscoe, Speech Therapist of DeKalb Central United Schools, and Mrs. Martha Hemphill, Director of the Crescent Avenue Nursery School in Fort Wayne, will serve as leaders for the novice discussion group.

DeKalb County Sheriff James Sims and Miss Roscoe will lead the grade school age discussion group while Mr. Sims and Mrs. Myrtle Overmyer, Guidance Counselor at DeKalb Central, will lead the high school and college level discussion.

Leader for the over 40 discussion group will be Rev. Carl Wirey, retired Methodist minister. Mrs. Tom Poiglase will serve as moderator.

Those who wish to attend are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Larry Yarian, Executive Secretary, as soon as possible.

New Refuse Law

All Indiana peace officers, including Conservation Enforcement Officers, are directed by the State Legislature to enforce a new law regarding unlawful disposal of refuse. The law is effective April 1, 1969.

Addition of the department's Enforcement Officers augments the efforts of local authorities in the war on dumping.

The law (HB 1079) makes it "unlawful for any person to put, throw, dump or leave refuse in, upon or within the limits of or adjacent to any public highway, State Park or recreation area, or in or immediately adjacent to any lake or stream, except in proper containers provided for sanitary storage of such refuse or except as a part of land fill operation otherwise premitted by law to reclaim submerged land."

The only other exception is that the refuse is "part of a waste discharge approved by the Indiana Stream Pollution Control Board," or "any body of water created specifically for the purposes of industrial waste disposal."

The penalty is a fine up to $100 and in addition imprisonment up to 30 days.

Refuse is defined as "all putrescible and nonputrescible solid and semisolid wastes, including garbage, rubbish, ashes, street cleanings, dead animals, offal and solid commercial industrial and institutional wastes."

The new law applies to any individual, partnership, company, corporation, association or estate, and also to any unit of government.

Cooperation of all agencies of government and of all Indiana citizens is needed in order to make the law fully effective.

Lions Host Auburn Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met March 24 in the Spencerville Methodist Sunday School rooms with the Auburn Lions Club as guests. There were 67 men present.

Bob Wilder, president of the local club, had checked up on some old minutes and found that these two clubs have been holding occasional joint meetings since the year that he was born but he neglected to mention what year that was.

Bob then turned the floor over to President Ron Ball of the Auburn Club who wished to call on some committee chairmen for reports. Bob Cutter reported that the boys of the Chain of Lakes Camp are in need of some items such as clothing, cooking utensils, silverware, etc. I gather that this is a new camp and that these boys are problem (delinquent) boys who are in the process of rehabilitation, that is the process of making good boys out of bad boys. Some of these boys have talked at meetings with the object of informing other young folks that being a Peeka Bad Boy gets you into all kinds of trouble.

Arie VanStraten reported on the sale of brooms, the profit from which will be used for the benefit of the blind. Arie is a good brother Lion, an immigrant from Holland and I am sure a good American citizen as soon as he gets his final citizenship papers.

President Bob then called on Lavon Hart to report on nominations for next year.

For President—Harold Curie.
1st Vice President—Howard Timmerman.
2nd Vice President—Harold Kagey.
3rd Vice President—Glen Moore.
Secretary-treasurer — Clifford Billow.

We must get this election over because we always close down for two months vacation during the summer and we will expect our new officers to start off under full steam in September.

Delegates to the District Convention April 20 at New Haven are Bob Wilder, Harold Curie and Howard Timmerman.

$25.00 was voted to the Spanish Club of Eastside High School.

Karl Hart then introduced the speaker, Larry Lichtsinn, who is a State Forester and is in charge of forestry work in 13 counties in the northeast section of Indiana. He reported that all of the eleven state forests and much of the privately owned woodlot acreage is in the southern part of the state, the reason for this being that there is much land down there that is not suited for farming. We do not have many classified and other woodlots in northern Indiana and we do produce some of the finest hardwood lumber.

The foresters job is to advise woodlot owners on woodlot management, tree planting and marketing. He thinks of a woods as another crop that should be cared for by stopping all grazing, selling mature trees, cutting crooked trees, wolf trees, weed trees and forked trees, for the purpose of making room for desirable trees and new growth. However, he does have a warm spot in his heart for wild animals and coon hunters and would save some coon den trees for their benefit.

WITH THE EDITOR

Betty Brown adds her "card of thanks" to Parlia Hull's of last week, for the assistance given by our fire department monday when a trash fire got out of control. Roy Reidenbach gave Betty the warning; she didn't notice the spreading fire.

And the fire department put the fire out.

Fire Chief Andy Monroe cautions everyone that the snow and rain of last week didn't soak in too much. It is drier than you think and the danger is still present from quickly spreading grass and brush fires. Those who burn trash should exercise extreme caution to prevent the spread of fire.

Jim Fore's mother and brother stopped in last week to give me his new address in service. They also had a green duck egg which Jim's six-year-old brother had found when he gathered eggs from the Fores' chickens and ducks.

Sonny Ray had a birthday on a recent Friday, and was gathering eggs for the first time when he found the green one.

I'm no duck egg expert, so I don't know the significance of the light green egg, if there is any. Maybe it's like brown-shelled hen's eggs.

Jim's new address is:
PFC James E. Fore 2443334
H&S Co., 100 Plt. 1/1
FPO San Francisco 96602.

Nicki Brown, little son of Carol and Nick Brown, is the beneficiary of Mom and Dad's generosity when it comes to the change they have in their pockets or pocketbook; they give it to Nicki to put in his money bag which is periodically taken to Knisely Bank for deposit in the young man's account.

There was a problem a week or so ago, however, that had Carol somewhat embarrassed—and Dad, too. The money bag was dumped in the sorting machine—and all heck broke loose. Little Nicki had put some ball bearings and a few nails in the money bag along with the money.

—Nuff sed.

Connie "Stilt" Hollabaugh is sporting a hobble these days. She was out showing her boys how to shoot baskets and came down the wrong way on her foot. She got a split bone out of it.

If anyone comes in the shop at the wrong time, they'll think I've flipped—like last week when I was in tears—laughing about the shenanigans of Dick Leishbrook of WGN radio in Chicago as he subbed for Eddie Hubbard who is in Scotsdale, Arizona, on vacation and watching the Cubs in spring training.

Dick "put on" a couple of store managers in the Chicago area by telephoning while on the air and complaining that he had bought a "chicken kit" in their stores "and it won't work." A young lady who answered at one of the stores said, "A what? — just a moment, our service manager is coming."

Then in the background you could hear her ask, "Do we have any chicken kits??"

Dick then complained to the service manager that he had bought the kit, taken it home and tried to put it together with his son, but it wouldn't work. He said he bought in the store in a department towards the rear where they had all the other kits packaged and wrapped in cellophane. Dick said he put the body and the wings and the legs together but the thing wouldn't fly—and the head and feet were missing.

One of the managers said, "Bring it back—we'll give you a new one or your money back." The other caught on after a few minutes and then went along with the gag.

Whoever wrote that April 1 spoof in the Auburn Star really has a sense of humor. The headline said Auburn would get the 1971 gymnastics competition and the news story sounded legitimate—for a time. Then the laughs begin.

If you haven't read it, find a copy of the April 1 Auburn Star. It's really funny.

'Letter To Editor' Brings Revealing Statements---

'68 EHS Grad, Now In Service, Urges Uniting With Central District; Regrets 'Diploma Without Education' Conditions

26 March 69

Ted Haberkorn
St. Joe News
Editor
Dear Ted,

I have just read your edition of the St. Joe News March 13. I read the article entitled "An answer to the Superintendent Part I." I am very disappointed in how my old high school is acting, especially our superintendent, Mr. Kenneth L. Cole. I have received my diploma, but I feel, not my education.

To explain further, during my four years at Eastside, I feel a lack of education. I realize I didn't study to my full ability, but, while I was in high school, the teachers weren't very encouraging. I don't really know how to explain myself completely. My feelings are to the effect that our school teachers were not qualified to teach some of the subjects they were teaching. I know that during my senior year, one of my teachers, not to mention names or subject, did not know the book he was teaching. I passed the subject not knowing anything about it.

I learned the basic principles of my subjects. I feel that if my fellow students or myself would've had better teachers, better paid teachers, we would have received a better education. I am now in the Air Force and am taking a college course to broaden my education. I feel that education is one of the most important factors in any man's life.

I am sincerely hoping that the students at Eastside from the Riverdale area will be able to go to DeKalb Central to get a good education and prove that tax payer's money can be used to a good outcome.

My appeal to you Ted is that you try to stir up something or other about the lousy education I know you can put things in better words than I can.

Maybe I'm a little forward at such statements, but I'm upset. Oh well, at least I said my part. I hope things will go better for Riverdale.

If by any chance you want to print any of this letter its O.K. by me, just in case you wanted my view.

Thanks for taking time to read this.

Sincerely
A/C Dan R. Crow

The Case For Uniting

Elsewhere in this issue is quoted a letter received March 29, 1969, from an Eastside graduate, now serving in the armed forces, in response to a recent editorial-letter from Nelson Grills, legal counsel for the citizens group in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District. Those citizens have been directing their efforts toward obtaining equal educational opportunities for the students of the entire DeKalb County area.

An effort is being made at the present time to gain public support for the petition being circulated in the eastern and central districts to have the two districts united into a single administrative unit. The letter from the local serviceman gives impetus to the movement and serves as a reminder to parents and adults to examine the situation thoroughly.

If a parent thinks the district would be too big, consider the inability of the smaller school to provide the selectivity of courses found in the larger school. Is local identification with a school more important than the educational opportunities of your son or daughter, or your neighbors'?

If a parent still wants to get a new school in the eastern district, is the $3½ million or more cost justified when the size of the school in enrollment cannot provide the student numbers and the tax base to compete with larger schools, including the central high school just ten miles away?

If a parent still wants to get a better location for a new school in the eastern district, consider the situation. Barring some miracle, there is no chance for a change in the site location. The citizens group made such an attempt but was prevented from any progress because of the requirement that a large bond be posted. You may believe all you want that the site in the city of Butler is totally unsatisfactory; your conviction is not going to change anything. Unequal educational opportunities within the eastern district itself will continue to exist even with a new school; the location of the site is now and always will be a deterent to participation by patrons in the entire district.

The situation boils down to one point: the only possibility now available to patrons in the eastern district to improve the educational opportunities for their high school students is to support the petition to unite the two districts. The boldness with which the young serviceman writes in his letter stands as a challenge, with these words:

"I have received my diploma, but I feel, not my education."

These are not words of bitterness; they are an expression of concern for others as he also states:

"I am sincerely hoping that the students at Eastside from the Riverdale area will be able to go to DeKalb Central to get a good education and prove that taxpayer's money can be used to a good outcome."

The petition of the citizen's group goes beyond his hope for Riverdale; it encompasses EVERY student in the eastern district, as well as those in the central district.

Patrons of the central district stand to gain fully as much as those in the eastern district. Although the central students now enjoy an expanded curriculum, they have the opportunity of even more growth in school programs through the unification of the two districts.

In addition to the opportunity for curriculum growth, which after all is the most important consideration in the education of high school students (assuming that a capable faculty is available), patrons of both the central and the eastern districts have the opportunity to share in the benefit of fewer dollars spent for such an expanded high school program. With eastern patrons sharing the cost of central's new building under unification of the two districts, it stands to reason that central patrons will pay less for their school building. They will lose nothing, they will forfeit nothing they already have; even the name need not be changed!

Eastern patrons stand to pay less for their high school facilities, if they join with the central district and pay for a building already in use and ready for additional use. In addition, it will be less costly to add to the new central building when the need arises in the future than to build another new high school complex in the eastern district now, with both districts then adding to their facilities when the need arises.

As to size, when a combined central-eastern high school gets large enough that another high school IS needed, the same shared responsibilities and benefits will be evident for all concerned.

It has been difficult to get the message circulated throughout the two districts thus far, but the message is there, as it was ten years ago when reorganization was first undertaken; the citizens group is proposing nothing new or drastic. Better educational opportunities for the high school students of DeKalb County wil come when all students are under a single administration. The uniting of the central and eastern districts is a step which brings the county as close to that goal as is presently possible.

The original northwest and central districts under reorganization learned a lesson shortly after county reorganization several years ago: it cost both districts too much to keep separate schools in operation and build for separate needs. That lesson is the most valuable experience available to support the petitions to unite now the central united and eastern districts of DeKalb County.

That Time Bill Veto

Edgar Whitcomb, governor of the State of Indiana, has Hoosiers shaking or scratching their heads, trying to understand the motivation behind certain of his actions since he took office and particularly since the 1969 session of the Indiana General Assembly.

While finances are of prime importance in government, the most surprising and puzzling action of the governor was his veto of a bill which would have given Hoosiers the opportunity to decide for themselves what time it will be and when in their respective communities. Because of his veto, we will now set our clocks ahead another hour for the summer months, since we are now placed in the Eastern time zone and must adopt Eastern Daylight Time when the proper time comes.

I use the word "another" inasmuch as Indiana had in the past been in the Central time zone and it was not until only recently that we began to observe year-round Central Daylight Time, which is the same as Eastern Standard Time.

Many justifications are being given now for the new setup. More time for after work pleasure and puttering around is the most-often heard good side of Eastern Daylight Time. However, the governor has yet to tell why he vetoed the time bill, although he has been asked the question more than once. His answers thus far have sidestepped a legitimate reason, giving cause for some to infer his being "bought off" by, for instance, the television industry which wanted the new setup to avoid TV programming problems. If people do not think television reaches into their lives every day, they ought to think twice under the present circumstances in Indiana. The governor's explanation that the veto now establishes a "uniform" time pattern is rather weak. Criticism of the Hoosier state's splitting down the middle under its own time zone choices overlooked the fact that dividing lines must be set somewhere and it does not necessarily follow that the best division is at a state line.

It would be unfortunate if there were some illegitimate or illegal behind-the-scenes pressure on the governor. For all the excuses given to justify that will o' the wisp, "one more hour of daylight," there seems to have been some forgetfulness about the social implications for the young people - and their parents.

Can you imagine any less temptation facing our youth when they attend a drive-in which opens even later with the new time in order to have the darkness necessary for showing films? Can you imagine the frustration for both parent and child when, while it is still light, Mom or Dad must call in the small fry while it is still light, in order to get them to bed at a decent hour? The Bible has some very positive statements about the evils of darkness; and the later our daylight activities can be followed, the later the nighttime activities begin.

Or am I really square? Is there no such thing as a decent hour any more for teen agers and the small fry?

Personally, I think the governor blew this one. I, as a parent, think he really blew it.

Plans June 1 Wedding

SANDRA KAY BISSELL

Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Bissell of Spencerville have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra Kay, to Mr. Shurl Lechleidner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lechleidner of Butler.

Miss Bissell is a senior at Eastside High School. Her fiance is a graduate of Eastside and is employed by Chorpenning Plumbing, Heating and Cooling of Hamilton.

A June 1, 1969, wedding is planned by the couple.

Sunrise Services

Easter Sunday sunrise services are planned by the churches of the area for April 6.

The local Lutheran parish will have a joint sunrise service at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe at 6:00 a.m. Following the worship service, a beakrfast will be served in the church basement.

The Spencerville Methodist Church will have its sunrise service at 6:00 a.m., and a breakfast will be served. The youth of the congregation are in charge of preparations.

Good Friday services for the community will be held at the Methodist Church at 1:00 p.m.

Coburn Corners Church of Christ will hold its sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. The Christian Endeavor is in charge of the program. Breakfast will then be served in the church basement.

Mt. Pleasant United Methodist Church will hold its sunrise service at 6:00 a.m. Breakfast will also be served at this church church at 7:00 a.m. The youth are in charge of the service.

A county-wide Easter sunrise service will be held in the auditorium of DeKalb Central High School at 6:00 a.m. Claude Wolf will be the speaker and the school's choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Omer Hansen of Saint Joe, faculty member of that school.

The public is invited to attend any of the above services and breakfasts.

Father-Son Banquet

Approximately 45 fathers and sons heard Sheriff James Sims address his remarks towards the mutual respect and responsibility in the father-son relationship at a dinner held at St. Mark Lutheran Church Friday evening of last week. The occasion was the annual Fater and Son Banquet, served by the women of the church.

Sheriff Sims pointed out that a son enjoys the benefits of his father's good name as the young man takes his place in society and he ought to be aware of this and appreciate this by practicing good manners and good conduct. The sheriff pointed out the need for discipline in society in order to preserve order in society.

Forrest Bevington served as toastmaster for the evening and Mrs. Bovington was in charge of the arrangements.

Bloodmobile Falls Short Of Quota; Teens Give

Apparently due to widespread illness, the Bloodmobile's appearance at Riverdale on March 25 did not live up to expectations, with only 60 pints of blood donated. A quota of 100 pints had been sought.

There were, however, bright spots in the total picture, with five teen agers giving a pint of blood each and four adults reaching the one-gallon mark in blood donations.

The five young people who responded to the urgent plea for blood were Rowena Moore, Mike Storer, Dale Haster, Randy Rediger and Mark Strong.

The gallon donors include Dorothy Vendrely, Charlotte Hudson, Vance Hook and Michael Hicov.

Mrs. Michael Hicov reports that there were 66 persons who appeared at the Bloodmobile out of 131 who were scheduled to appear. Of the 66 who appeared, six were rejected for various medical reasons.

Nine of the 60 donors were "first timers." 40 men and 20 women made up the total of 60.

The complete list of donors is as follows:

Town Board Moves To Purchase Town Hall Site; Sewage Funds To Be Requested

The March meeting of the Saint Joe Town Board was attended by three visitors, including W. L. Hurni and Maurice Kline of Saint Joe and Howard Andress of Auburn.

Mr. Andress reviewed portions of the town's insurance program and made suggestions for areas of review.

Mr. Hurni expressed the hope that there would be greater diligence in the future in maintaining an attractive appearance in the town.

The board passed a motion to have the cemetery surveyed and marked to avoid the occasional confusion experienced in locating cemetery lot boundaries.

The board reviewed the possibility of a blanket sidewalk replacement program in which a cooperative effort could be made to contract for replacing worn and broken sidewalks. The town has the authority to order replacement of sidewalks by the property owner. If this is not done by the owner, the town can order the work done and the cost paid by the property owner.

Several years ago a survey was made of the sidewalks in Saint Joe. At that time approximately two-thirds of the walks were considered unsafe. A few new walks have been installed by property owners in the past few years. However, a large portion still remains sub-standard.

A motion was passed to make a deposit on two lots located on the main street, the purchase of which would be for the ultimate construction of a new town hall.

Bills allowed were as follows: Waterworks— Economics Laboratory, chemicals $23.25; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.36; Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., service 45.46; Indiana Department of Revenue, income tax 167.93; Indiana Department of Revenue, sales tax 114.45; Robert Barkman, refund 5.10; Waldo Roseabury, rent 60.00.

Town—Howard Andress, insurance 706.84; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, 240.00; DeKalb County Farm Bureau, fuel 17.56; Kenneth Roberts, labor 46.25; I&M 94.70; Rowan Lumber Co., lumber 15.48; William Mansfield, labor 10.00; Brinkmeyn Office Supply, materials 5.26; Kenneth Roberts, labor 27.50.

The board will meet Monday, April 7, for its regular monthly session.

The board is proceeding with an authorization to Clyde E. Williams & Associates of South Bend to prepare applications for government grants in connection with the installation of a sewage treatment plant for Saint Joe. The engineering firm prepared a preliminary survey a year ago showing four possible sewage treatment installations. Average cost at that time was in the area of $300,000.00.

The monthly cost per household was estimated at $11.50.

The board is proceeding somewhat reluctantly, due to the addition to the cost of living represented by the sewage disposal rate. However, it appears that with the growth in population, the responsibility for polution control is passing from a relatively small segment of society to the total society.

The winners of the DeKalb County 4H and FFA Dairy Judging Contest have been announced by Miss Paula Hamilton, Youth Agent.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 29 —Linda McHenry, troop scribe

At the Court of Honor meeting held before the regular meeting, it was decided that the troop would go to Bevington's on Saturday, April 12, to prepare a campsite. Girls are to meet at the church at 10:30 a.m. and bring a sack lunch and permission notes.

Litter-Guessing Contest To Raise Rec'n Money

Forrest Bevington, who is assuming the duties of recreation director for the Riverdale area, has announced that boys of the area will be seen in a couple of weeks along the county roads. Saturday, April 26, has been selected as the date for the turn out against the public nuisance called "Litterbug."

Along with the collection of litter by the boys will be a gimmick, in the traditional American way. The Riverdale area needs a recreation program. To have one will cost money. This is also an American way.

Boys will be offering anyone a chance to win a radio. The amount of litter collected by the boys will be tallied. The person guessing the nearest number of pieces of litter picked up will win the radio. This is another American way. The cost of a chance on the radio will be $1.00.

Littering of the country roads is becoming the American way of life. Littering seems as widespread as people. Men are worse litterbugs than women. People bewteen the ages of 21 and 35 litter more than those 35 through 49 years of age. George Gallup, the poll taker, has said, "People litter because they are careless, lazy, or don't have any trash basket handy."

Residents of the area are urged to help raise funds for recreation equipment by buying a $1.00 entry in the litter-guessing contest when contacted by the young men of the community.

The boys will collect litter from the roads in the area and contest entrants will guess the total number of pieces of litter collected Saturday, April 26.

TooManyDefense Attorneys---

IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY?? — PERHAPS

Since 1939 Indiana Law has permitted 0.15% blood alcohol as minimum prima facia evidence of under the influence. In common language this means that a 200 lb. person could drink within 2 hours, 12 oz. of 86 proof whiskey, or 8 beers, followed by about ½ oz. 86 proof per hour or 8 oz. of beer per hour continuously and would never develop an illegal blood alcohol for driving. This permissiveness is far too generous, and should urgently be reduced to 0.10% blood alcohol or reduced by one-third when allowed to drive legally.

HB 1213 which passed the House on 2-13-69 was sent to the Senate, where it was assigned to Judiciary Committee consisting I understand of 100% defense attorneys. The bill was not allowed out of committee for passage, until after a pointed letter was written to the chairman of that committe and then it was put out of committee with recommendation "Do NOT Pass." In talking with certain members of the committee I learned that they had an appalling lack of understanding of the merits of this bill and that they had not bothered to get any qualified advise, available free for the asking, from our State Toxicologist, our State Police Crime Laboratory, the Indiana State Medical Association or other interested parties.

May I suggest that in the interest of public safety on our highways, that all concerned for the cause of right please contact all members of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate for a full explanation for the defeat of this overdue legislation. It would also be good to know why this was assigned to Judiciary instead of Public Safety Committee, where it surely would have had a fairer chance.

The final battle against intolerance is to be fought—not in the chambers of any legislature—but in the hearts of men.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Larry Uehlein and his cute little Mrs. stopped in this week for a visit. He got out of service February. 17 and the couple reside in Burtis Dickman's mobile home court at the south edge of Auburn.

We had a nice little talk about a lot of things.

Somebody lost their car and house keys this week. Some boys brought the clear plastic key case to the News Office Wednesday and the owner can claim it here. One key has the notation "Side door home" and another either "Front door" or "Front store." The third key is a General Motors car key. The 1968 license tag identification has the plate number 17 A 1382.

Bill Hurni passes the word along that Inez Smith, secretary of the Spencer Township Homemakers Club, gave him a check for $5 recently in behalf of the club. It will be used to purchase a new American flag for the local park.

Also, Anna Hursey and Mrs. Jay Hart donated a red maple tree to the park.

Also, Bill caught a couple of kids in the act Monday at the park. They were tearing shingles off a roof of one of the buildings. They were promptly taken home by Bill and their parents informed of the vandalism—which the parents willingly agreed to repair.

Jake Longacher of west of Harlan is doing some slate roof and spouting repair on our house this week. He informed us of the death of his father on April 1 and the fact that the funeral day saw some 1,500 people pay their respects to the 75-year-old Amishman—who obviously was a respected member of his community.

Mrs. Wayne Fogle called to ask that a notice be put in the paper informing the public that no dumping will be allowed at their farm. The County Plan Commission and the Board of Health rejected their request to allow dumping at the site.

When I was in Spencerville Monday, Ehelyn Miller gave me the word that some boys were painting the Spencerville covered bridge. So I went out to investigate—and sure enough, they were, although two of them had gone in to town for some pop or something.

I talked, then, to Greg Bohl who was applying a coat of white paint to the west end of the bridge. He said they were doing the good deed because "it needed it"—and there were some dirty words" painted by some individuals whose maturity is subject to question.

Greg, his brother Steve, and Denny Akey were the conscientious trio who thought enough of their community to do something about its appearance.

I don't know—there are those who say teen agers are more "mature" nowadays than teen agers were 25 years ago. What with the prevelance of names and school class graduating years visible in all communities nowadays, spray painted or brushed on buildings, signs and what have you, I would argue the point long and hard. High school teenagers hardly can be classifed as "mature" when they behave like idots with a can of paint, defacing property and showing disrespect for property with their artistic effarts.

Forrest Bevington and a group of boys made a "dry run" last week end in preparation for the litter-guessing contest later this month to raise money for recreation activities. Last Friday, on State Board 1, in one mile, the group picked up THREE THOUSAND, FOUR HUNDRED FIVE cans, bottles, cartons, etc.

Can you imagine what the total will be when the contest is held? —And where will we put it all???

Dale Amburn of Spencerville has donated a water color painting, a product of his own creative ability, to the Spencerville Community Club's list of prizes to be given away at the fish fry next week end.

Evidently a lot of folks want it, because Charlotte Hudson, club president, had to re-order on the tickets this week.

The painting is on display at Margaret Chaney's Restaurant, in case you're interested.

I inadvertently left out Lora Hart's name a couple of weeks ago when I mentioned where the school unification petitions are located. She has a flock of names and will gladly take more.

Jerry Keener brought in a flock of names from Newville Township last week end and says he can get more.

Dear Loretta

by Loretta Loy

What's with this "off again on again" method of newspaper writing that you do? Don't you know that people look forward to reading your column? I for one turn every page in search of your Question Mark the second I get my copy of "The St. Joe News" and when I can't find it, I'm disappointed.

A lot of the guys kid me about my small town paper, but they all like to read it. Even though they don't know the guys you write about, they think by the law of averages they may run across the name of someone they have met since they have been in.

I didn't mean to give you H-E-C-K. I just wanted you to know that "I read you" so let's get back in the groove!

A friend in Vietnam

Dear Friend,

I'm sorry I goofed off! I didn't think anyone missed my column except my mother and my sisters and they have to out of loyalty!

I wish that you had put your return address on your letter so that I could have written to you personally. If your buddies want to read a familiar name in the column, why don't you send their names to me along with yours and I'll print them in a near-future column? Maybe we can give the law of averages a little boost.

Sometimes I just don't have any information to print, so my column can't appear. I'll try to dig a little deeper. It would be a big help if some of you guys or your folks at home would let me in on what you are doing.

Thank you for writing and take care.

Loretta

Gary Edgar's mother, Hilda, called me last week to give me his address. Here it is:

God bless all of you. Take very special care. See you next week.

Carol Lambert, Gerald Murphy Earn Trip

Two Eastside students, Carol Lambert and Gerald Murphy, have been chosen to study this summer in Mexico under the scholarship program developed through the Spanish Club.

Carol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lambert of R2 Butler, is a junior currently enrolled in the third year Spanish course. She is a member of the Booster Block, National Honor Society, Annual Staff, vice-president of Future Teachers, and treasurer of the Spanish Club. She plans to attend Ball State University or Indiana University, majoring in elementary education.

Gerald, second scholarship winner, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murphy of R1 Spencerville. He is a sophomore taking second year Spanish at Eastside and also attends the Fort Wayne Art School. He is a member of the Spanish Club, Pep Band, and the Dance Band. His future plans are for college and a career in the art field.

Gerald and Carol will leave June 28, 1969, for Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, where they will be living and studying for six weeks. They will be attending Colegio American de Torreon, taking the "History and Culture of Mexico" course, which includes history, music, general topics and, of course, Spanish. During the afternoons the students will be able to swim, study in the library, have recreation in the gymnasium, or do as they like with their host family. They also plan a weekend in Mexico City before their return.

Carol and Gerald will meet the other students in El Paso June 28, at the Paso del Norte Hotel. On Sunday morning, June 29, they will board buses at the hotel for the trip to Torreon. From the time they board the bus until they are returned to El Paso on August 9, all of their expenses are paid by the Colegio.

The cost for each student is $226, which includes transportation, room and board, tuition and textbooks.

The Eastside Spanish Club appreciates any donation to their scholarship fund and thanks are extended for the generous amounts of money already received.

Town Board Urges April Clean-up; 'Junk' Cars On List; Businessmen, Residents Asked To Cooperate

April has been designated a "Clean-up, Fix-up, Paint-up" month by the town board of Saint Joe in an effort to encourage businessmen and residents to improve the appearance of the community.

The designation was made at the board's regular monthly session held Monday night at the town hall starting at 7:30 p.m. Visitors at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Duke, Sally Wolfe, Rick Roberts, Dave Hubbard and Ken Mathes.

In conjunction with the clean-up campaign, the board is serving official notice on "junk car" owners to have the vehicles removed, under provisions of Town Ordinance 40. On Wednesday night of this week, board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn served notice to some twelve auto and property owners that vehicles are to be removed by the owner in ten days, or the town will undertake such removal and any obligation will be on the property owner. The purpose of the ordinance, which was passed in August of 1966, is to prevent the accumulation of unused cars on town properties. Such cars are possible safety hazards to children and are definite eyesores in the community.

Under the ordinance, a "junk car" is any motor vehicle which:

Does not bear a currently valid license plate;

Is not in a garage or other building;

Shows any amount of damage, such as broken glass, wheels off, fenders or body extensively damaged;

Will not pass the State Standard Vehicle Safety Check;

One that is being overhauled in the street or yard of any residence.

In another action designed to improve and maintain the appearance of the town, the board is contacting business establishments by letter requesting that they cooperate in keeping the sidewalks and areas around he stores free of debris. The public can be of great help in this respect by making use of the trash receptacles located on the main street.

It is hoped that old buildings will be removed and others improved, to reflect concern for the welfare of the town and pride in ownership.

Mr. and Mrs. Duke and the board reached a tentative mutual agreement concerning a water line problem. The others at the meeting appeared to ask suggestions in keeping The Unicorn in operation, also concerning a drainage problem at the teen club.

The board passed a resolution preserving the posting of stop signs for east-west traffic at the intersecion of Third Street and Railroad Street at the town hall. Numerous instances of running the stop signs, particularly by east-bound traffic, were reported, including instances of excessive speeds through the intersection. The presence of many children in the area, especially after school, makes safety precautions of particular concern to the board. Motorists, young and old, have shown an inclination to ignore the posted stop signs.

In connection with the proposed installation of a sewage treatment plant for he town, the board has requested specific pollution information from the State Board of Health to show Saint Joe's contribution to the pollution of the St. Joe River.

The meeting adjourned at 11:10 p.m., after other routine matters were discussed and resolved.

'$3.50 Is Too Expensive....'

"Since my subscription expired this month, please cancel the paper as I feel $3.50 per year is too expensive."

So writes a subscriber in a letter sent to me recently. While it is upsetting to receive such a communication, the truth of the matter is I can't be mad. The writer is correct: $3.50 per year IS too much! So, also, are many other things in today's living. Prices are going up, wages are going up, prices are going up, wages are going up . . . . . .

When I took over this paper, the subscription price was $1.50 per year. That was in 1948. With the cost of living going up constantly at an annual rate, the price of this paper went up September 13, 1951, when the subscription rate went to $2.00. Over ten years went by before the subscription price went to $2.50; that was January 11, 1962. Another near-seven years went by before the price went to $3.50 in October of last year.

So, since 1948, the subscription price of the Saint Joe News has increased 133%—which is a pretty hefty raise until you look around and see that wages have gone up 200% or more in the same time span. The cost of goods and services for a small town editor and family go up just as they go up for everyone else. Therefore, if his subscription price is "too expensive," so are the wages and salaries and goods and services of everyone else. One major difference is, however, that this reader was able to do something about it; the reader cancelled The News—but continues to pay for the other "too expensive" items.

Did you see where President Nixon's inauguration cost $2.7 million, the most expensive in U.S. history? In 1961, John F. Kennedy's inauguration cost $1.6 million. In 1965, Lyndon Johnson's inauguration cost $2.1 million. Thus, in eight years the cost went up just under 70% due to inflationary rises in costs of labor and materials, food and other provisions for an inauguration. BUT THERE HAVE BEEN NO MAJOR ADDITIONS TO INAUGURAL FESTIVITIES. So, we are getting the same thing at the inaugurations, but it is costing much much more.

Isn't it only fair for The News to keep up with everything else? 70% of our 1961 subscription price of $2.00 is $1.40, making a total of $3.40, which is close enough to $3.50 to avoid arguments. Proportionately, therefore, The News is no more expensive than the inauguration of a President. Fair enough?

Others say. . . .

Don't Forget The Old Left

We're so preoccupied with the threats of the New Left these days, some people have forgotten there's an Old Left—the USSR.

Just because we've coexisted with the Soviet for years and we're seeking treaties and peace negotiations with them now doesn't mean they've become our kind.

If you think the Soviet communist system is getting pretty much like ours, consider some comparable rights:

We have free speech, free press, freedom of worship. Not so in Russia.

We have the right of assembly. Not the Russians.

We have trial by jury and are innocent until proved guilty. In Russia, it's trial by judge, and presumption of innocence does not exist.

We can own private property. The Soviets have no real property rights.

We can bargain for goods and services in our free markets. Not so in Russia.

We can go into business and compete for a profit. It's denied to Soviets.

We have free elections. In Russia only one name per office is listed.

In America you can not only worry about the New Left, you can even be one of the New Left if you want.

Twirling Contest April 19 At DeKalb Central

Pictured above is Miss Nancy Wall, 14, of Mishawaka, 1967 winner of the Northeastern Indiana Traveling Trophy in baton twirling competition. She has won over 350 trophies and medals for solo, strutting and two-baton, including 14 national medals and a first place national trophy.

Miss Weil is anxious to meet other competitors in the annual DeKalb Music Boosters Northeastern Indiana Twirling Contest which will be held Saturday, April 19, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at DeKalb Central High School.

Many students from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois will be competing in the contest which serves as a fine activity for young twirlers and is one of three money-raising projects of the Music Boosters organization. The other two projects are magazine subscription sales and an annual fish fry.

Merchants and businesses from the central district support the annual $5,000 budget through donations to the music boosters. The budget supports both vocal and instrumental students of the central district. Such items as uniforms, robes, musical instruments, transportation to and from contests, junior and senior awards, and scholarships are part of the program.

Anyone interested in entering the contest may contact Mrs. Sherry Bullock, R1 Waterloo.

Those wishing to contribute to the organization should send their donations to Mrs. Robert Charleswood, R2 Waterloo.

Bids Received

(From the Office of the Superintendent of Schools)

Approximately 40 people were present in the Butler Elementary Kindergarten room for the 7:00 p.m. April 8, 1969, bid opening for the proposed DeKalb County Eastern Junior-Senior High School. School Board President Delbert Washler called the meeting to order, welcomed all present, and relinquished the floor to Mr. Oliver Ogden of Maurer, VanRyn, Ogden and Natali, Incorporated, architects for the proposed school building project.

All present in the room listened intently as Mr. Ogden read aloud the pertinent details from the bids of some 35 different bidders. There were bids from 4 general contractors, 7 different firms bid on the mechanical, electrical, plumbing and heating in one combination or another. In the area of what is generally called fixed equipment, there were 20 or more different bidders.

Although bids will not be tabulated sufficiently enough for detailed reporting for at least a week and a half, it was almost immediately apparent following the bid openings that taxpayers in the school community may have been quite fortunate in receiving the good bids that were received. Some hurried tabulation indicated that a combination of low bids from the prime contractors (general, mechanical, electrical, plumbing and heating) total costs in these areas might not be up more than $150,000 o $175,000. The taxpayers were in fact fortunate in that any combination of the aforementioned bids could have increased $300,000 or more without any stretch of the imagination. As a matter of fact, one general contractor's bid was up almost $200,000 over his January 16, 1968, bid.

The bids were many; they were good bids in that they were closely grouped; and all bids were from fine, well established companies. Maurer, Inc. will make a report to the School Board at the Board's April 21, 1969, regular meeting.

Legislation On Civil Rights?

In my opinion, about all that legislation on behalf of civil rights can hope to do is to make matters worse. When we try to legislate mornality, we are on a wrong way course. The correct solution to our "civil rights" problems is written in a Book inspired by the Almighty, and any attempt to improve upon that law will serve only to prove "It's not in man to direct his own steps." We must look above and beyond for wisdom to know, and courage and strength to do right. Then and only then can we hope for a better day and a better country.

More people must become concerned for the cause that's right. Apathy and neglect of duty will only hasten our national demise. The death of the dollar and our nation may be closer than you think. Why not take time to live a little in concern for others before self. This may open an entirely new frontier of service which pays the greatest and most lasting dividends.

"A house divided agninst itself shall not stand." Only you and I can unite for the cause that's right, trusting superior wisdom for vision, without which we perish.

A sincere Freshman Legislator
Floyd B. Coleman, M.D.

Worry Clinic Tuesday

Plans are being completed for the second annual Worry Clinic co-sponsored by Church Women United and the DeKalb County Association For Mental Health.

Mrs. Myrtle Overmeyer, Special Guidance Counselor at DeKalb Central United Schools, will be the leader for the "Chaos vs. Serenity" division, high school and college age.

For the division "Growing Away Fast," first through the eighth grade, Sheriff James Sims will serve as leader.

The Worry Clinic will be held Tuesday, April 15, from 8:00 to 9:30 p.m. at the Auburn Presbyterian Church. The program is planned for men and women of the area and is planned so that participants may attend more than one session if they so desire.

A registration fee of 75 cents will be charged to help defray the expense of supplies.

The Worry Clinic is being planned as an open discussion group whereby parents may quite frankly and openly discuss the problems with which they are concerned in their day to day living. The leaders have been secured to give expert advice in diversified areas and it is hoped that area residents will take advantage of this opportunity to participate.

Registration can be made by calling Mrs. Larry Yarian at 925-5089.

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, April 17, 1969 — NUMBER 16

Indiana State Library

Our country and its government have made mistakes — human mistakes. They have been of the head, not of the heart. And it is still true that the great concept of the dignity of all men, alike created in the image of the Almighty, has been the compass by which we have tried and are trying to steer our course.
—Dwight D. Eisenhower

Style Show

The young ladies who are members of Eastside High School's Home Ec Department will display their skills in a fashion show this week. The show will be held Friday of this week starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Butler Elementary gym.

No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

PTO Changed

The Riverdale P.T.O. will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, April 22, instead of on the regular third Tuesday of the month, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Riverdale Cafetorium.

Miss Judy Washler will serve as program chairman, directing the presentation of the annual "Spring Program."

EHS Is 'Accredited-Warned'

Notification has been received from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that Eastside High School has been placed on the list of secondary schools approved for the 1968-69 school year. This action was taken at the annual business meeting of the association in Chicago on March 26, 1969, according to an announcement by Robert E. Williams, principal of Eastside.

The school was placed in the "accredited-warned" category. This action indicates that the Secondary Commission of the North Central Association considered a violation of NCA criteria to be of such magnitude as to detract from the overall quality of the school. The violation prompting the warning is the general inadequacy of the present high school facilities.

State NCA Chairman K. Forbis Jordan notified the school that it faces the possibility of being dropped from membership if progress is not made before the 1969-70 report becomes due.

Mr. Williams pointed out that only one-half of the schools in the state of Indiana qualify for membership in the association. Membership is on a voluntary basis.

A Tribute To Rola Cooper

There is a patient in DeKalb Memorial Hospital right now who deserves a personal thank you from as many people as possible who will take the time to drop her a card or letter. She is seriously ill, suffering from a condition which came suddenly and unexpectedly. To put it bluntly, she has cancer, she faces death—and she knows it.

It is a tribute to the character of this remarkable woman that her doctors have not tried to shield her from the truth. Anyone who has known her has recognized the patience with which she faces life and the people in it. Her devotion to the efforts of United Fund, the "heartbeat" of DeKalb Memorial Hospital heard through her newspaper column, bringing that institution closer to the people of the county who made it a reality in recent years, have made it possible for many people to be exposed to this shining example of patience and persistence.

This remarkable woman is Rola Cooper.

She has had her own personal burdens to bear. A couple of years ago or so, Bill Cooper was near death himself, but he recovered. Since then he has been a helper for Rola, though falteringly at times due to the effects of his illness. But the desire to help others has brought a mutual understanding between these two people that is a wonder to behold. From what I know of the Coopers, I perceive devotion, forgiveness, compassion, dedication, patience, understanding—total love for one another and for others — and a sharing of life's burdens and life's blessings.

Rola has been United Fund's backbone in DeKalb County. The participating agencies and those who benefit from their activities have been stronger because of her efforts in gaining public support of and participation in those organizations and programs devoted to public health and welfare, for young and old. Year after year, the citizens of DeKalb County have depended upon Rola, whether they realized it or not. And she never let them down.

It would take columns to relate the extent to which Rola has affected the lives of our citizens. Red Cross, YMCA, Mental Health chapter, Heart Association, to name a few that come immediately to mind, all have been helped by the efforts of this devoted lady. She has never been too busy to attend meetings throughout the county, to provide requested information, to attempt to answer questions which have related to these programs and their administration in this county.

How frustrating—that for one who has given so much time to provide help for others, there is only one thing anyone can do, and that is to say "thank you." Even in this most trying hour of need for her, she is still giving—giving an example of acceptance of life as it is, showing a faith which ought to inspire all of us to greater courage and strength.

How inadequate words become in trying to express one's feelings, under circumstances as are now prevailing. Perhaps it will suffice to say that, take it from me, our community, our life, is better because of Rola Cooper. I urge you to let her know of your appreciation for her efforts.

Don't wait.

—And there is one other thing — — a prayer.

Naomi Cook Wins County J-G Elimination

Naomi Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook of Spencerville and a student in the 7th grade at Riverdale Junior High, won the spelldown Wednesday evening which qualified her as DeKalb County's entrant in the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette Spelling Contest. She will now compete in a district contest May 3 at Snider High School in Fort Wayne.

This is the second consecutive year that Naomi has won the privilege of representing the county in the J-G contest.

Six contestants competed in the couny elimination Wednesday, an elementary and junior high student from Riverdale and also from Butler, a representative from St. Joseph Catholic School in Garrett and a student from Immaculate Conception School in Auburn.

Brian Conway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Oberlin of Butler, was the runner-up in the county contest.

Naomi won the contest by correctly spelling "squirrel" after that word had been misspelled by Brian, then correctly spelling "stockade."

Brian was the only boy among the six contestants from DeKalb County.

Kathleen Flesher and Blanche Middaugh of the Riverdale faculty attended the contest, with Mrs. Flesher reporting the details of this year's competition.

Jane Tells It Like It Is

"Potpourri. . . ." is the name of a column written by Jane Kempf for the Auburn daily newspaper. Last week one of her paragraphs on contemporary life indicated the depth of her parental wisdom.

She hit the nail on the head with the following:

"GENERATION GAP was a phrase coined by some smart reporter and it seems to have captured the imaginaton of the nation. I am sick of it. People from nine to 90 respond to interest and understanding. We do our darndest to understand our children, and I for one expect them to do the same for me. When adults and kids thrown up their hands and refuse to consider the viewpoint of an individual of a different age—that's no generation gap, that's downright laziness and mighty dangerous. A little common sense and a lot of loving will solve a lot of problems for people of all ages."

—Amen.

Time Bombs Planted By LBJ For Nixon;

DICK WILL BE BLAMED

The Johnson administration left many time bombs around Washington for President Nixon.

Lyndon Johnson was gracious in turning over affairs of state to Richard Nixon. Never before, said commentators, had any President been so thorough in preparing the way for a successor. But Johnson, through inadvertance or inability, or his administrators, through error or in glee, left situations that will explode in Nixon's face.

Among them:

Medicare: On Jan. 1, Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen rejected the advice of his chief actuary and refused to increase the monthly payments by those on Medicare. Medicare premiums are far from paying for the care now. The government's costs are rising. And next December the Nixon administration will be forced to increase the premiums. And Democratic politicians will say, "Look what the Republicans are doing to you!"

Higher deductions: The surtax withholdings and higher Social Security levies are beginning to affect consumer spending. The first real effects will be felt during the Nixon administration. If there is a dip, it will be called the Nixon dip, not the Johnson administration dip, which set it up.

Inflation: The Kennedy and Johnson Administrations have speeded up inflation until a crisis threatens. Strong deflationary steps will have to be taken to prevent a collapse of the dollar. The Democratic administrations will get the credit for the economic euphoria inflation created; the Nixon administration the blame for the harsh steps necessary to slow it down.

Postal service: The deterioration of the postal service worsened greatly during the Johnson administration and is now set to get worse, for which the Nixon administration will be blamed. Nixon faces an enormous task of reformation, with a Congress eager to hang on to 40,000 patronage postmasterships and obeisance to seven vote-wielding unions demanding special favors.

Housing: A major, urgent need is more housing, middle-class as well as low-income, yet the tight-money policies of the Johnson administration have priced mortgages beyond the reach of many families. Nixon faces the choice of increasing government spending, hence higher taxes or more inflation, or facing a worsening housing shortage.

Optimistic forecasts: Many departed members of the Johnson administration have left favorable forecasts which, under conditions they themselves have left, cannot be attained. Nixon will be blamed.

Implied promises: The departed administration has left many implied promises to minority groups which cannot be met unless Nixon pushes the budget over into the deficit or inflationary gap.

Anti-trust actions: In its last few days, the Johnson administration filed a series of anti-trust and monopoly actions against big corporations. The Nixon administration faces the choice of prosecuting these somewhat doubtful actions — which the Johnson administration could have moved on long ago — or face the accusation of favoring big business.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, reporter

On March 26, the Ladies Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Walter Reinhart. The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by the president, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, and the collect and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Robert Musser.

The lesson, "Presidents - A Pictorial History," was given by Mrs. Yeiser. Interesting facts and word pictures describing many of our past presidents were given.

The entertainment consisted of vocabulary quizzes, and was conducted by Mrs. Forrest Bevington.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Baker, critic, gave several interesting origins from the dictionary of words and word phrases. The meeting was adjourned and the hostess served refreshments.

The club met with an honorary member, Mrs. Everett Mavis, Sr., of Auburn, on April 9 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Yeiser called the meeting to order, and the opening ceremonies were repeated in unison.

During the lesson each member participated by displaying a "show and tell" item, telling interesting facts about the item.

Mrs. Roy Baker conducted an interesting game, "Penny Wise," during the entertainment period. Members were each presented a new penny, and identified objects appearing on a penny.

During the business meeting, the yearly reports were given by the secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer reminded members of a public meeting to be held May 8 at the Presbyterian Church in Auburn regarding the emergency number for telephones which is now trying to be put into effect.

Banquet-Prom

by Hubert L. Stackhouse

It's Saturday, April 26, at 8:00 p.m.

It's the Banquet and Ballroom of Potawatomi Inn, Pokagon State Park.

It's the result of the most successful magazine sales campaign in area hisory and months of anticipation, planning and very hard work.

What?

It's the 1969 Eastside Junior Senior Banquet and Prom.

It all began in September with a record gross sale of $6,000 in magazine subscriptions by the 125 member Class of 1970. The fund-raising pace continued with concessions operations on 16 different occasions.

The planning stage began with site selection, carried out from Thanksgiving to the semester's end. Shortly after the New Year, prom committee chairmen were named and all groups swung into action. Operating on the largest budget in local prom history, committee chairmen were:

General chairman—Dean Rosener.

Invitations—Steve Keuneke.

Site—Gerald Suntken.

Program—Steve Cole.

Decorations—Kathy Nichols.

Accompanying these 5 major chairmen as members of the Central Prom Committee were the class officers: Jerry Collins, president; Kathleen Hudson, vice-president; Sally Grobis, secretary; and Nila Shockley, treasurer.

Assisted by their sponsors, Mr. Garry Hollingsworth and Mr. Hubert L. Stackhouse, the central committee debated and decided on such major considerations as budget, site, invitation policy, theme and general prom regulation.

An appeal to fraternal and civic groups in the community brought an affirmative response to support after-prom activities. Included are the Butler Rotary Club, Spencerville Community Club, Butler American Legion Post, Eastern Star of Spencerville, Butler Eagles, Saint Joe Lions Club and the Butler Jay Cees. After prom activities will take place at the Mountain Valley Ski Resort, adjacent to Pokagon Park, with a hop, a "Las Vegas-type" casino, snacks and a "prize-hour" breakfast.

The students have established the following regulations for the banquet and prom:

1. "Nehru" jackets "Ivy League" jackets and "Turtle neck" wear may not be worn to the banquet and prom.

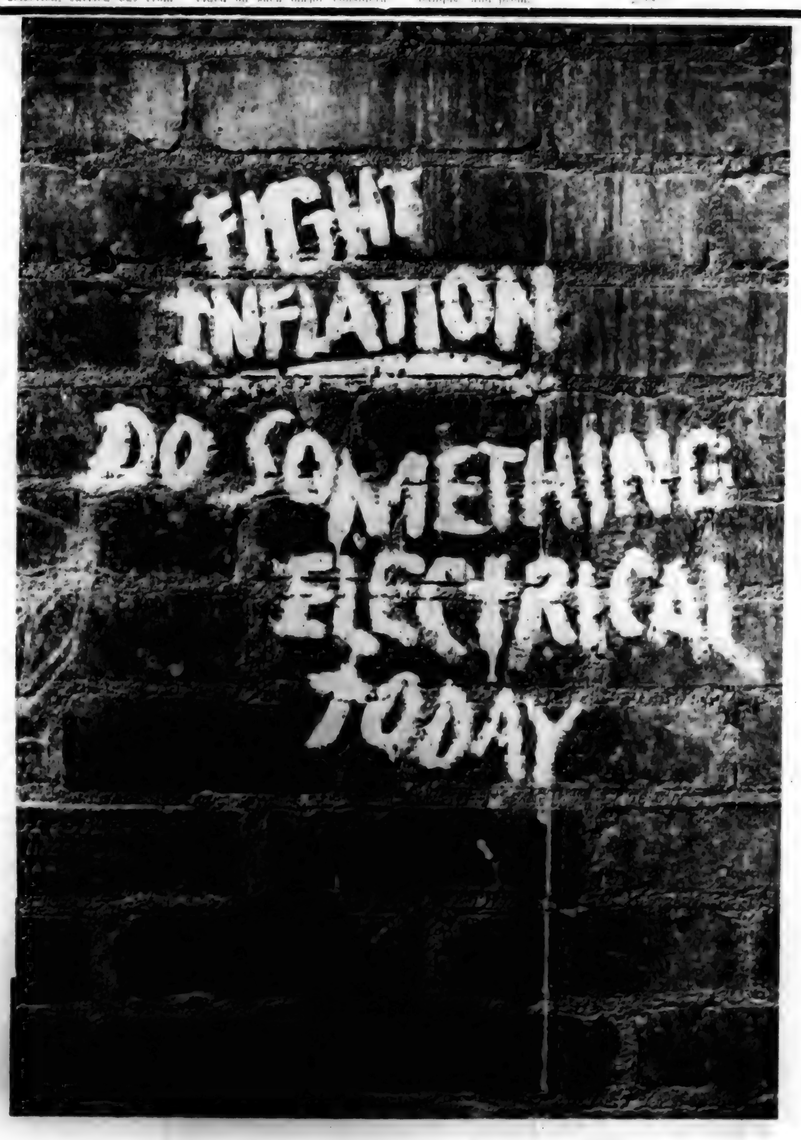
Paper Drive

Members of the Spencerville Saint Joe Cub Scout Troop will hold a paper drive Saturday, May 3. Newspapers and magazines will be accepted by the Cubs.

Those who have paper to dispose may call Keith Fry at 337-2687.

2. Juniors and Seniors who are the guests who are Freshmen Sophomores Juniors Seniors or older are responsible for the conduct of the guests.

3. The [illegible] guest [illegible] from [illegible] by [illegible] for the Juniors [illegible] [illegible] activities is $9.00 per guest.



Plug in a new work dissolving appliance. Dial on super clean electric heat. Switch alive more lights and turn off eye strain.
Whatever you do electrically, you save time or money or work. That's because we're part of a seven-state interconnected mass production system that makes sure electricity is your best dollar value. It's the best way we know of to fight inflation.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

I owe an apology to John Paul Hill at Hicksville. He sent information April 10 about his Church of Christ revival services April 20-25.

The letter got folded, and lost in the pile of material that accumulates each week, and I found it this week in sorting material from the pile.

The omission of the announcement was not intentional.

—Now he'll really be going for the fence when we meet in Church League this summer!

Janice Hollabaugh wants to pass along her good wishes to those with whom she came in contact during her work at the local grocery. She enjoyed meeting friends, particularly the kids from school.

The publicity last week concerning the banquet and prom of Eastside's juniors and seniors prompted me to inquire of my high schoolers in Sunday School as to the reason for banning Nehru and Edwardian jackets and turtleneck wear. The rules were established by a student committee and they were allowed to exercise their judgment without faculty or administrative restraint, as I understand it.

I don't understand the bans. There is no group more concerned with the right to do their thing than the young people—or so it seems. They are depicted by some grownups as idealistic to the point of shaming their elders who you would be led to believe don't have an ounce of tolerance, understanding or idealism in their souls. But I'd bet that you could appoint any adult committee you want, and they would not be as unrealistic in establishing the rules for dress as are in force for boys for the prom. What's wrong with Nehrus, Edwardians and turtlenecks? All can be worn formally!

Nothing is said about the girls' attire. As I asked Sunday morning, "What if a girl shows up in a see-through dress? Is that acceptable?"

The boys' first response was an enthusiastic "YES!" But they really knew the girl would not be allowed to attend.

And what about haircuts? Nehrus and Edwardians and turtlenecks seem reasonable items of attire—but some of those extremely long haircuts are something else.

I don't mean to cause trouble; I am merely responding to something that affects all of us. The inclination to glamorize the younger generation as more tolerant and more reasonable than "the establishment" is shown to be unjustified, under the circumstances. The extreme measures taken to control male dress at the prom show the inexperience of youth and the need for adult advice.

In the eyes of most young people who know me and what I expect of them, I am no doubt classified among the squarest. But man, these rules—I mean like, what're they trying to do!

—And some people want to lower the voting age!

PTA Monday

The Butler-Eastside P.T.A. will meet Monday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Butler Elementary Cafetorium.

The business meeting will include election and installation of officers.

The public is urged to attend.

Petition Seeks Public Referendum

A petition is now being circulated in the DeKalb Central and the DeKalb Eastern school districts of DeKalb County requesting the merger of the two school corporations into one administrative unit. However, the immediate purpose of the petition is to establish a public referendum by which the question of merging can be resolved, according to a statement made by Ted Haberkorn, publisher of the Saint Joe News and spokesman for the citizens group which initiated the petition.

According to Mr. Haberkorn, the idea of merging the two districts, although not new, did not occur to the group until suggested by a prominent Auburn businessman several months ago. The group was at that time engaged in legal proceedings in the eastern district concerning the site location for a proposed new junior-senior high school. Motivation for merging the two districts was provided in suggested tax benefits for the central district and educational benefits for eastern district high school students.

"With the cost of education fast becoming a major concern in the lives of every American family," Mr. Haberkorn said, "our group suggests that another new high school complex in DeKalb County is not needed at the present time, and that the central and eastern districts can mutually benefit by using the new facilities in the central district for high school students in the combined area.

"We recognize that there are always two sides to every question. We believe that the question of merging the two districts should be decided by the public, after factual information has been made available. The petitions do not - and I emphasize the 'do not' - seek to force a merger. They seek to give the public the privilege of deciding this most important question concerning the progress of education in our county. Under the mechanics of the statutes which allow such a petition, a referendum is virtually guaranteed if sufficient numbers sign the petitions. Under the circumstances, those who sign the petitions are saying in effect, 'I want to let the public decide the question.' This is all our citizens' group asks."

344 signers are needed on the central district petition and 135 on the eastern petition.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club met at 6:30 p.m. Monday, April 14, in the dining room of the Spencerville Methodist Church. We all received a copy of the local "Lions Roar" newspaper. The headline read, "Your club needs help"! It also listed the ten objectives for the year.

Objective no. 2 calls for an average attendance of 85 percent, and we have been doing it. We made it again with 27 members and 3 visitors present. Objective no. 7 calls for "interesting and diversified programs." Even President Robert Wilder will have to admit, we deserved an A on this. Time before last, we visited the Eskimos in northern Canada, last time we went on a forestry trip, and this time we visited the County Line Cheese Company here in DeKalb County; all of these are interesting, and diversified. We can't physically go to all of those places, but we can do next best by the lecture and picture method. Years ago we used to stop in at the cheese company to buy some cheese, and sometimes go out in the factory to see how they made it. Now there are state and national regulations which do not permit outsiders in the factory, so Virgil Gerig decided to ask Mr. Dick Yoder to come over and show us his pictures of the factory and explain things to us.

Fred Marolf started the business 53 years ago, and some local people produced milk and hauled it in by the horse and buggy method. Now, they produce 22 or 23 tons of cheese per day. They produce several varieties of cheese, but as for my wife, and most of their customers, the old, original kind still tops the list. They don't have County Line Cheese at the grocery in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, so every time we visit our daughter, we take some along. I understand that Lion Harold Kagey has a buddy down in Tennessee who expects a good hunk of cheese whenever Harold shows up.

Forrest Bevington reported that 51 boys desire to participate in the recreation program, and 71 have signed up for the baseball league. Recently his group picked up trash along State Road 1; it is hard to believe, but they picked up 3451 cans, bottles, paper cups, and similar litter between Saint Joe and Spencerville. We were told about some folks from Iowa who went through Indiana on their way to and from New York who remarked that Indiana's roadsides were the worst they saw. This is a record that is not too desirable.

Town Residents Cooperate With Town Board

Members of the Town Board have been gratified by the cooperation displayed thus far by those individuals who were officially requested two weeks ago to remove "junk" cars from their residences.

Although all the notices have not been complied with, there have been several cars removed.

Ted Haberkorn, president of the board, stated, "The cooperation shown thus far indicates that there is a desire by most of our residents to make the community a better and more attractive place in which to live. The possibilities are unlimited when the public responds as it has thus far to action by the board. And the board will endeavor to keep its requests reasonable, relying upon its legal powers of enforcement only when absolutely necessary."

New sidewalks are planned by two and perhaps three homeowners, in another phase of community improvement.

The board has designated April as a clean-up, fix-up, paint-up month for the town.

May 9 Is Swim Deadline

June 30 is the beginning date of the swimming lesson period which Riverdale area children will attend at the Auburn Community Pool. Lessons will be for a two-week period with lessons given Monday through Friday.

It is necessary for all persons who take swimming lessons at the pool to have a season ticket. Applications for membership are now being taken, and the cost is $6.00. The cost of the lessons will be $5.00 for the two weeks.

All children who are planning to take swimming lessons may pick up a membership application from Forrest Bevington at the Riverdale Elementary School. The application should be filled out and returned to Mr. Bevington with a check for $6, payable to Community Pool as soon as possible. May 9 will be the final date for accepting applications from children in the area.

The $5 fee for the lessons will be payable on the day of the first lesson.

Bus service will be provided from Newville, Saint Joe and Spencerville without cost to the children. Pick-up times will be announced at a future date.

Paper Drives

Members of the Christian Endeavor youth group of Coburn Corners Church of Christ will conduct a paper drive Saturday, April 26.

Anyone having papers or magazines to contribute may call 337-2786 or 238-4631.

Members of the Spencerville-Saint Joe Cub Scout Troop will hold a paper drive Saturday, May 3. Newspapers and magazines will be accepted by the Cubs.

Those who have paper to donate may call Keith Fry at 337-2685.

Isn't 20 Per Cent More For Schools Enough?

(The 1969 Indiana State Legislature and Governor Edgar Whitcomb have been under fire for alleged failure to provide adequately for the needs of education in the state. Efforts to discredit the legislature and the governor, by university officials, teachers and students, have effectively impressed the public in recent weeks. However, another side of the story is now being told, to indicate that perhaps, the governor and legislature, instead of being "negligent" as charged, have on the contrary been commendably realistic and prudent in their responsibilities to everyone, including the often-forgotten taxpayer. The following reprint is offered for that "other side." —Ed.)

By King Tells
State Representative

Some time ago I wrote an article which I thought would be my last one for this season, but several people have approached me asking for just one more on some special items. One more may further cloud the issue, but there are folks who wish further information.

Some say the General Assembly was not very effective and neither was Gov. Whitcomb. From my viewpoint both statements are untrue. You may not always agree, but the Governor knows what he is doing. Your agreement or disagreement with the Governor or the General Assembly does not change the truth, whatever that happens to be.

As an example, many school people claim they got shortchanged. Let's see—maybe so, but here is the truth.

The last Branigin budget called for $533 million to go into the school formula. This year's Whitcomb budget calls for $634 million, which is 20 percent more. Isn't 20 percent more enough? Let's don't go about saying we don't have enough. Let's say, instead, that the schools got 20 percent more and we all hope this will do the job.

The formula or funnel is a system where we pour the money in the top and it comes out the bottom for the schools. How much you get depends on how poor you already are. Some wealthy schools don't need or want it. Some ask to be left out. Thirty-seven schools were left out. I would have left out about 50 wealthy areas.

Figuring how much you get is like figuring out your Federal income tax. You figure it by a system and set of rules. It would take the average school several days perhaps to find their total. One thing is for sure, we voted 20 percent more and will give more to the poor ones. What's wrong with this?

Now, suppose this still does not take care of places with unusual problems. We find there are about 10 such areas in the state. We set aside a special fund of $3 million to take care of almost all the unsolvable areas. This is the first time this has ever been done. Schools asked for 35 percent more, they got 20 percent. Let's wait and see how we do before we make predictions. I'm willing to give it a chance. This is the Whitcomb view. He is trying to make it work. I for one hope he succeeds.

The second big problem was property tax, so-called relief. Property taxes are made here in your local government. There are perhaps 10 or 15 items on your rate—city business, schools, towns, county, township, sewers, library, hospital, etc. The only way to hold down the rate is to hold down all of these groups, not just one but all of them. Up to now no one comes forward to do this. Many folks suggest some magic to accomplish the feat, to no avail.

As an old-time thinker, I suggest we spend less money and have fewer services. There are those who shout with joy at the suggestion of spending less, but they don't want to give up anything. Grandad used to call this, having your cake and also eating it.

I see only two answers: 1. Equalize all assessments and rates for all, or 2. Place a limitation on all rates to hold them in place. Up to now I have not heard of a better deal. My suggestions are not real popular, especially with wealthy areas. Actually, we are educating 1 million children with 500 different property tax rates. We must educate them with one rate, assessed statewide. They are all our children and should have equal opportunity throughout the State. Up to now no one has suggested a better solution.

We should not be so fast to criticize the Governor and the General Assembly. We haven't been hurt yet. Let's give the program a chance. I'm willing. Let's wait and see. We passed some good bills for handicapped children, mental health, highways, etc.

Believe me, all was not so bad. If things don't work out, I hope I'll be one of the first to say so. If they do work out, I also want to be one of the first to admit success.

Error In Criticism

A couple of weeks ago or so I threw a "brickbat" in the direction of the Governor of the State of Indiana because of his veto of a "time bill" from the State Legislature which would have allowed the various communities in the state to decide for themselves what time their clocks would observe for the summer months. It appears that the criticism which I made was unfair in one respect, as pointed out elsewhere in this issue in a letter from State Senator Dean Kruse. State Representative Floyd Coleman also has expressed thoughts along this line concerning the time issue.

It is pointed out that the establishment of time zones in the whole country has been recently enforced by an agency of the federal government. Therefore, state legislation does not and cannot determine what time we are on. It appears that there is agreement on one point by the three men, Governor Whitcomb, Senator Kruse and Representative Coleman - the selection of time zone patterns is rightfully a duty and privilege of the state. With this, I agree. The communities themselves know better what time pattern is best suited to their needs, not the federal government or one of its agencies.

So, I must back off on my previous criticism, because it should have been directed from the beginning in the direction of Senators Birch Bayh and Vance Hartke and Congressman E. Ross Adair. They, as our representatives in federal matters, should be the ones to answer for the bedtime-sunshine dilemma facing thousands of Hoosier parents this summer - that is, if those parents are conscientious about the kind of hours their offspring keep.

If I was wrong in my criticism of the Governor, it was due to some extent to the fact that no explanation was forcefully given from the start concerning the federal authority in the matter. Instead of explanations like uniformity throughout the state, and the alignment of time with commercial interests, offered to explain the Governor's veto, why didn't the legislature itself refrain from passing a so-called "time bill" and state from the start: "We have no jurisdiction in the matter. The federal government will override us." Why didn't the Governor save himself from such criticism as came in this column by stating a simple fact, if it is this simple fact: "I vetoed the 'time bill' because it is unconstitutional; it exceeds the authority granted to the state."

It seems to me that the commendable campaign phrase, "Tell it like it is," was overlooked by those who profited by the promise of that phrase, when they faced a situation concerning the establishment of time zones in the State of Indiana.

Since the matter is in the power of a federal agency, rightfully or wrongfully, the issue is now placed in the laps of Senators Bayh and Hartke and Representative Adair. Gentlemen: who do you think can make the best selection of time for my community - the federal government or my community?

Others say. . . .

BACON AND BEANS
Our Soldiers, Sailors, and hungry Marines
That live so high on bacon and beans,
And some other grub they say is nice,
And they don't mean Spam or Vietnam rice,
They fondly recall Mom's potatoes augratin
With brown fried chicken that maybe fattens
But what the heck is a pound or two
When one can slurp a nice hot stew?
Then when one thinks he can hold no more,
Mom slowly opens the oven door,
And there, before your very eye
Looms up a hot, two-inch apple pie.
So! With a dab or two of cream on top,
You are made aware that you've got to stop,
For buttons are poping and your breath is short.
And you suddenly waken with a snort,
And become aware that it's all a dream.
For mess call says, Come get your bacon and beans
With Spam and rice and other grub.
For you're Uncle Sam's boy.
"Rub a dub, dub."

Litter-Guessing Contest To Raise Rec'n Money

Forrest Bevington, who is assuming the duties of recreation director for the Riverdale area, has announced that boys of the area will pick up litter from roads in the area in an effort to raise recreation money—and perform a public service.

Along with the collection of litter by the boys will be a gimmick, in the traditional American way. The Riverdale area needs a recreation program. To have one will cost money. This is also an American way.

Boys will be offering anyone a chance to win a radio. The amount of litter collected by the boys will be tallied. The person guessing the nearest number of pieces of litter picked up will win the radio. This is another American way. The cost of a chance on the radio will be $1.00.

Littering of the country roads is becoming the American way of life. Littering seems as widespread as people. Men are worse litterbugs than women. People bewteen the ages of 21 and 35 litter more than those 35 through 49 years of age. George Gallup, the poll taker, has said, "People litter because they are careless, lazy, or don't have any trash basket handy."

Residents of the area are urged to help raise funds for recreation equipment by buying a $1.00 entry in the litter-guessing contest when contacted by the young men of the community.

The boys will collect litter from the roads in the area and contest entrants will guess the total number of pieces of litter collected Saturday, April 26.

Recommendation Accepted

The school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District met Monday and considered recommendations by the corporation's architects concerning bids received for construction of a proposed junior-senior high school. Total construction bids were $2,770,140.00. Acceptance of the architect's recommendations was by vote of 4-0.

Superintendent Kenneth Cole has issued the following review of the bids as received April 8, 1969, compared to the bids as received January 16, 1968:

"An analysis of the bids of the low bidders for general construction, mechanical construction, and electrical construction showed an overall increase of $147,139.00 which is a 5.6% increase for the April 8, 1969, low bid total over the January 16, 1968, low bid total.

"An analysis of the bids of the low bidders for all fixed equipment showed an overall increase of $32,299.50 or an 11.5% increase for the April 8, 1969, low bid total over the January 16, 1968, low bid total.

"Total increases for general construction, mechanical construction, electrical construction, and all fixed equipment for the April 8, 1969, low bids amounted to $179,438.50 which is equal to a 6.2% increase over the January 16, 1968, low bidders.

"Although an overall increase of $179,438.50 seems a staggering amount, School Superintendent Cole stated that he was of the opinion that this increased amount for a period of time covering almost a fifteen month period was in fact almost miraculously a low increase in costs. Cole further pointed out that considering present day economics, the taxpayers have literally had a year's grace."

The board will meet Monday, April 28, 1969, at 9 p.m. with the district's holding corporation to review the financial situation as related to sale of bonds for construction purposes. Although bids have been received and recommendations accepted concerning the acceptance of bids, the obligations on construction are not final until the corporation obtains the necessary funds through the sale of bonds.

Lodge Aids Fibrosis Victims

Auburn Lodge 191 of the Knights of Pythias has completed construction of eight more therapeutic tables for cystic fibrosis victims. These tables represent one of the many ways the KP lodge is contributing to the fight on the disease.

The tables are built by members of the Auburn Lodge in the home workshop of Howard McMaken of Saint Joe. They are given at no charge to families and hospitals. Two tables built previously by the lodge are in use at the Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis.

One family wih five children, two with cystic fibrosis, has been given a table. The family had to use an ironing board prior to receiving the table.

The lodge wishes to give special thanks to Mr. Robert Schurr of Garrett, who drew the blueprints that will allow other lodges to build similar tables. The lodge also acknowledges the assistance given by area firms and individuals for their support of material and time to this project. The firms are Charles Ort, Kugler Paint Store, Wyatts, Garrett Lumber Co., Garrett High School, George Sport Spot, Sowels Welding, Warner Motive, Ricke Metal Products Corps., Norman Boscli, Corunna Bedding Co., Corunna KP Lodge and Yoder Enterprises.

From State Rep. Coleman---

One sad commentary of our state government is that we assume that we must ratify or accept almost any federal prescription of law that comes our way. Of course, the federals in their law-making usually put a cost penalty for non-compliance on the part of our state.

One recent example of a several-million-dollar mistake made by the 1967 General Assembly was the hastily passed vehicle inspection law. Most, if not all, the flaws in that law can be directly blamed upon our federally-prescribed mandate. This error of passing a law hastily is recent proof of the old saying "haste makes waste." It nearly breaks my heart that we as a people have come to "Bow the Knee to Baal" to the point that most state legislators "sell" their vote to the federal government bribe or succumb to federal blackmail.

Another recent wicked example of federal blackmail or federal bribery of a state legislature is seen in H.B. 1072 passed by the 1969 Indiana General Assembly. This Title XLX of the Social Security Act (Medicaid) was signed into law by our Governor. It is designed to lead our Hoosier State down the path of further federal controls of all our lives. This nasty piece of federal medicine will further cripple and destroy compassion and incentive in our nation which was built upon those very principles of compassion and incentive which so many of our federal laws now ignorantly cripple and destroy. The full impact of the evils of Medicaid will likely not be felt for a few years. The lawmakers seem to think creeping socialism is more palatable than the sudden full dose, but the final result is the same. Socially acceptable suicide of our Republic via this wicked creeping socialism must be stopped by turning the wheels in Washington, many of whom must be turned out fast.

Where political patronage conflicts with right principle, economic or moral, then principle must prevail. In the construction and maintenance of Indiana Highways, if political patronage is to exist, it should be limited to 60% for the party in power and no experienced skilled employees should ever be replaced solely for political reasons. Millions of tax dollars would be saved if we would keep those employees on the job for which they are qualified by training and-or experience.

On December 9th, 1968, Indiana was blanketed by heavy snow and ice. Major highways were covered and soon packed into solid layers of ice. Traffic in and around Indianapolis slowed to a crawl. It took 2 hours to drive from north Indianapolis to downtown. This extravagant waste of precious time for thousands of motorists was largely due to the failure of a political patronage highway maintenance system to provide conscientious concern for duty at a time when patronage would soon replace experienced help with new help requiring training.

The strength and endurance of any party in power must be based upon a sound principle of economics which must take precedence over any political system. H.B. 1437 (Coleman) never received the courtesy of a public committee hearing because it was designed to reduce political patronage substituting sound economic principle. May we remember that right makes might even politically. Individually and collectively, our concern for right must prevail over concern for political advantage; otherwise the General Assembly most assuredly should meet, not 61 days every 2 years, but 2 days every 61 years.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted:

Thank you for your copy of the Editorial on the time issue in Indiana.

I had already read this, but took the time to read it again upon receipt of your letter.

As you probably know, I supported the time bill that went through my committee on Public Policy.

However, in defense of the Governor—he and Lt. Governor Folz both were opposed to the measure from the beginning. The Lt. Governor was opposed mainly because he lives in Evansville, and the Governor was opposed to it mainly because of threats from the Federal Government. There are only 5 or 6 States in the Union split by the Federal time law. As of now the Feds won't budge, and a small minority group of States can't move the Federal time lines. It is rather like a minority school fight, only worse because the odds are 10 to 1. The bill vetoed would have run into court problems as soon as it would have become Indiana law, because we can't supersede Federal Law. The Governor did what he thought was right, and as before, does not care which is the more popular. It is possible that this type of Governor might help in your school situation.

Others interested in the time law were, of course, all your airlines, railroads, TV and radio networks, Federal Communications Commission, Eastern banks, Eastern shipping industry, and all your big Eastern business interests which pretty well control our country. If the Governor would not have vetoed the bill, Indiana would have again been a confused mess. He probably did what was right since a Federal Law was involved.

The Eastern Establishment wants as much of the Country as possible to be on the same time as they are, or their operations will lose two hours a day.

Thank you.
Sincerely
Dean V. Kruse
State Senator

The Saint Joe News

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — [illegible] May [illegible] — NUMBER 18

Indiana State Library

Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, seminaries and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. And, in short, let it become the political religion of the nation.

—Abraham Lincoln

Central Board Issues Statement

The school board of the DeKalb County Central United School District issued the following statement Wednesday of this week, as published in the Auburn Evening Star:

"An article in The Evening Star on Tuesday informed the general public of a petition being circulated in the DeKalb Central United School District and the DeKalb Eastern Community School District requesting the merger of the two districts.

"A few weeks ago the board of education of the Eastern District issued a statement that they were not in favor of merging all or any part of their district withe the Central District.

"Earlier, in a joint meeting of the two boards, both parties decided to drop any further discussion of the annexation by the Central District of a portion of the Eastern District.

"The board of education of the Central District has no desire to become involved in the continual bickering and haggling going on between various elements in the Eastern District.

"Therefore the board of education of the DeKalb Central United School District wishes it known that they have no desire to merge with the Eastern District or any portion thereof, that they will not support the petition that is now being circulated to merge the two districts, and in fact, would discourage the voters of the Central District from signing this petition."

The "bickering and haggling" referred to in the announcement was in connection with the site controversy in the eastern district which has existed for the past four years. The central district was not involved in this matter.

However, when a citizens group from the eastern district, seeking equal educational opportunities in the county, began circulating a petition to join the central and eastern districts, friction developed when the superintendent of the eastern district accused the central district of playing "footsie" and encouraging the petitioners in their cause. In addition, letters, distributed in the eastern district through the superintendent of that district, offended the central district with apparent inferences of financial instability and irresponsibility.

The central board's statement as issued this week made no reference to the merging proposal's merits, only referring to the internal situation of the eastern district.

Mental Health Dinner Tuesday

Mr. John Graham and Mr. John Martin Smith, co-chairmen, have reported that details are being finalized for the annual meeting of the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health. The dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 6, 1969, at the Auburn United Methodist Church. It is open to the public, and reservations may be made by contacting Mr. Charles Overmeyer, Box 503, Auburn, Indiana 46706.

Letters requesting attendance at this meeting have been forwarded to the various organizations of DeKalb County, but the chapter is also anxious to extend an invitation to any resident of DeKalb County interested in this program.

Presentation of awards to those individuals and organizations who have contributed generously of their time and talents to further the cause of better menal health will be made at this meeting. Mrs. Jack Wagner and Mrs. O. L. Gronendyke are in charge of the awards presentation. Financial support for the local chapter is derived solely from United Fund money. Any resident of DeKalb County who contributes to the United Fund is a member of the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health, by virtue of this support of United Fund.

Not too many years ago, the mentally ill were hidden in attics, placed in barred cells, restrained by leg irons, or sentenced to a living death in isolated asylums.

Now we know that, with early and proper treatment, there is hope for recovery for most of the mental and emotional disorders. It is toward this end that the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health is now working to bring the full force of modern advances to this community. The local chapter needs and deserves your help as well as your dollars. Mr. Charles Overmeyer, president, invites you to join them in their conquest of emotional and mental disorders in children and adults. Attend this most important annual meeting to learn what is being done right here in DeKalb County to help achieve better mental health.

Paper Drive

Members of the Spencerville-Saint Joe Cub Scout Troop will hold a paper drive Saturday, May 3. Newspapers and magazines will be accepted by the Cubs.

Those who have paper to donate may call Keith Fry at 337-2685.

35,726 Pieces Of Litter Collected

by Forrest Bevington

The Litter Guessing Contest is over. Several men and boys are wondering why the American people enjoy littering the roads of the greatest and grandest country of this world. The total number of little pieces added up to the disgraceful number of 35,726. This number means that four trucks loaded with litter made seven trips to the landfill dump at Auburn.

The litter-guessing contest receipts added to the sum total of $156.00, of which $90 has been spent for insurance for the summer recreation program. $26.50 was given for the Junior League. The radio was paid for, which cost $20.40. The remainder of the money, $19.10, will be used for tennis trophies.

Donald Walters of Auburn won the radio. His guess was 35,750.

Leonard Smith, Waterloo District Superintendent of the State Highway Department, has expressed his appreciation for the clean-up efforts of the boys and their leader.

'Waste' Research Needed

The "successful" litter collection, by boys from the Riverdale area inspired by the leadership of recreation director Forrest Bevington, ought to add emphasis to one of the problems which the modern world may not be giving adequate attention at the present time. Although we have increasing activity in the field of air and water pollution to correct the abuses of society against these vital elements, there may not be special concern — other than just talk—for the problem of general waste materials which increase in amount due to the increasing population. Where Mother Nature and the wide open spaces were adequate in the past to take care of what we throw away, either in decomposition or just filling up holes, the point has been reached where attention must be devoted to re-use of our waste because we are running out of places to put it.

It was noted in the newspapers recently that the state of Michigan (I think) has banned "throw-away" bottles in order to cope with the pile-up of waste materials. There may have also been the desire to cope with the public's inclination to throw away a "throw away" anywhere and everywhere it might be convenient, though unsightly. At any rate, there is at least one state which has done something to deter the accumulation of waste products which are virtually indestructible.

Let's go beyond bottles and consider automobiles—and refrigerators—and freezers—and whatever else there is today which adds to the pile-up of metal. What are we going to do about them? What can be done about the problem?

It would seem that the various industries themselves ought to be—if they are not already—devoting research time to total programs of re-refining of metals and re-processing of other materials for re-use. I have heard it said that it costs more to refine scrap metal than to start from scratch with new ore and go on through the whole process of producing new steel. But we seem to be reaching a point where the cost cannot be the determining factor any longer. We seem to be at the point where it is not only a moral responsibility but a practical obligation to be concerned with metal not only when it is being used to produce something "new" for public desires but also when it is "used" and discarded.

Is it chemistry or physics which establishes that matter cannot be destroyed? It may change its form, but the elements are always present in nature. If this is true, and if we can use water, for instance, for certain needs, pollute it during that use, then reprocess it and purify it for re-use, without destroying it, why can we not refine steel, use it, throw it away when we are done with it in whatever form it has been made, then reprocess it and purify it for use in producing "new" items as our society demands them? Why can the steel industry not be as big and profitable in reprocessing as it is in the refinement of new materials and thus control the pileup of scrap metal?

In the field of food and beverage containers, cannot scientific research by the container industry itself come up with something better than the glass-type throw-aways with which our society is now plagued? Paper and plastics have been developed in many instances for our everyday use in perishables. Why can't they come up with a container to eliminate the two items which are the worst culprits in our litter problems—beer cans and soft drink cans? Glass bottles on a returnable basis may be a bother, but they certainly do not contribute to the litter problem as do metal cans and glass-type throw-aways.

There has always been the problem of "litter," that is, people throwing something away when they are done with it, without regard for where it is thrown. This type of littering is a public responsibility, one which people themselves must help to combat in their everyday habits. Today, however, we have grown into a much greater type of littering, involving larger objects and more people. The problem now is not only public but private, not only individual but collective. Now, under the circumstances, the industries themselves bear the responsibility for developing a means of satisfying not only the public demand for something new and serviceable but also the public need for its disposal when it is discarded.

Computers, mechanical hearts, rocketing to the moon, advancements in medical science —all these are great, and they show what ingenuity man has, what inventiveness lies within his mind. But the greatest need today has to do with the secondary result of his ingenuity—waste—and what to do with it.

Board Applies For Grants

The Town Board of Saint Joe has authorized the firm of Clyde E. Williams & Associates, Inc., of South Bend to proceed with applications for federal and state grants for the construction of a proposed sewage treatment plan for the municipality. Estimated cost of construction is $353,300.00.

Board members Jack Bowser and Lyan Lake designated board president Ted Haberkorn to represent the town in applying for financial assistance to install a sanitary sewer system and trickling filter plant. Present sewage treatment for the town is in the form of individual septic tanks. However, these tanks provide insufficient treatment, and their efficiency is reduced further since they do not have irrigation fields.

The septic tank outfalls are hooked directly to the existing combined sewers. The raw effluent then drains through the sewers into the St. Joseph River, creating a public health hazard. In addition, the city of Fort Wayne draws its water supply from the same river approximately 20 miles downstream from the town of Saint Joe.

The estimated monthly cost per household is around $11.00. A grant of $71,500 is sought from the federal government while $35,750 is requested in state aid.

Others say. . . .

TAX REVOLT ATTACK PLAN BEGINS WITH NEVER FORGETTING!

We have to be artful and calculating, fellow patriots, if we are to win the Tax Revolt.

We can't go around shooting tax collectors like mountain moonshiners used to blast revenuers. Some of the tax collectors are pretty heavily taxed themselves; besides we might have to spend a year or so on probation. We can't burn down Internal Revenue offices or go through the streets smashing windows. It's juvenile and besides it would lead to higher taxes.

We can't go on a tax strike and refuse to pay, unless everybody did it at once, which is unlikely. The Feds would pick us off one at a time and seize our property. Besides, those of us who feel forced to revolt the most are subject to withholding taxes.

We can, of course, cheat. Thousands are doing it. What was once un-American, unpatriotic is now regarded as clever in some circles. But there is always the danger of getting caught and being hauled before a judge whose livelihood depends on your tax payments.

But what we can do is to bring political pressure on Congressmen, state legislators, and state and local taxer-spenders.

We can do this individually and in groups; we can direct the pressure on individuals and groups. And if we make it hot enough we can win. Here are steps we can take:

1. Remember. That's the most important action of all. Legislators count on voters forgetting. So every time you read that your Congressman, state legislator, city councilman has voted to increase taxes, or has voted unnecessary spending, write it on the wall. Put down, "On April 18 Congressman Blatz voted to spend $1 million to increase the size of pygmies in Africa," or whatever else he did to blow your money, such as going on a junket to Hong Kong.

2. Write to your Congressman or other tax-spender and demand that as your representative he vote to spend less and lower taxes. If you can, be specific and tell him what proposals you favor and what you don't. Thousands of people have been mailing tea bags to Congressmen as a symbol that they are ready for another Boston Tea Party. But to show you're economy minded, don't send an unused bag. Dry out a used one and mail that.

3. Get your civic, fraternal or other organization to vote against higher taxes and send resolutions to all tax-leviers concerned and all other local organizations and newspapers.

The Tax Revolt can win. Some of the taxers are already scared. Former Treasury Secretary Joseph Barr told the House Ways and Means Committee that a Taxpayer's Revolt (his words) was possible because of tax inequities. Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, presented Congress with 100,000 signatures calling for an end of the surtax and the closing of loopholes. In a Gallup poll, 72 per cent of those asked declared taxes are too high. And Rep. James A. Burke, D.-Mass., told Congress, "I see a tax revolt coming."

Meeting To Promote Emergency Number

Former Indiana Congressman J. Edward Roush will be the guest speaker at a public meeting to encourage the adoption of "911" as an emergency telephone number in local communities. The meeting will be held next Thursday, May 8, 1969, at 7:30 p.m. at the Auburn Presbyterian Church.

The Federation of Women's Clubs has undertaken sponsorship of the project to establish the telephone number "911" as a universal emergency number. Mr. Roush has been active in getting the project underway in many communities, since the need for such a service was recognized.

The first municipality to adopt "911" was Haleyville, Alabama, population 5,000. The second was Huntington, Indiana, population 18,000. Then came New York City, population 8 million, followed by Clanton, Alabama, and Kodiak, Alaska.

An article appeared in the December, 1968, issue of "Reader's Digest," written by Mr. Roush, giving a detailed account of the benefits derived from the emergency telephone service in various cities and communities throughout the country.

The women's clubs urge and invite the public to attend the meeting next Thursday night.

Mrs. Weldon Shafer is chairman of the committee which is promoting the program.

ICT Dinner

The first annual Industrial Co-operative Training Employer-Employee Banquet was held April 24, 1969, at the Riverdale Cafetorium. The Eastside I.C.T. trainees planned the dinner with the assistance of their instructor-coordinator, Mr. William Scruta. Co-chairmen were Paul Culler and Chuck Arnett.

The purpose of the dinner was to show appreciation toward the employers and other people who backed the program this year. Guests included the employers, the on-the-job trainees, the school administration, the local advisory committee, and the instructor, Mr. Scruta. Mr. Ishmael Smith, Eastside Industrial Arts instructor, spoke to the group. Jerry Simanton, a Senior at Eastside, served as Master of Ceremonies.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, Reporter

On April 18, 1969, the Ladies Literary Club held their annual Gentlemen's Evening at Plattner's Steak House at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Carl Perkins, chairman of the evening, introduced Pastor Russell Snyder who gave the blessing. Following a delicious dinner, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, president, welcomed guests and members and included a short summary of the lessons of the past year. After the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison, Mr. Forrest Bevington gave a warm response on behalf of the guests.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Don Bullock, who is not only a minister of the Church of Christ, but also a registered nurse. Mr. Bullock told some of the more interesting and comical aspects of his career in nursing. Members and guests enjoyed his talk very much.

The committee for the meeting was Mrs. Carl Perkins, Mrs. Carl Carpenter and Mrs. Albert Wade.

FEDERAL CONFISCATORY TAXES

On April 15, I mailed to our "Infernal" Revenue Service at Washington, D.C. nearly 50% of my net income in federal taxes. In addition to such exorbitant confiscation there is the ever increasing federally imposed social security taxes for myself and employees. Such confiscation by our federal government must be reduced if we have any hopes of returning to an incentive oriented society. The greatest cause of our inflation is federal extravagance in the form of federal waste. Many dollars eroded from "we the people" are used to bribe the states to ratify federal legislation. We must stop condoning federal legislation to solve local problems. This costly mistake destroys a basic principle, separation of privilege and responsibility, which were always intended to remain together. When we "pass the buck" by turning over local responsibility to the federal bureaucracy, we automatically surrender the associated privileges.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy." This truth is demonstrated by the built-in abuses of our federal income tax system. It penalizes thrift, discourages enterprise, cripples incentive, and is designed to destroy our Republic. Our federal bureaucracy and our Supreme Court both need to be drastically reduced to their intended size. Our federal government needs to be taken out of private enterprise in competition with private business. We trust our new administration will be able to remedy these maladies. Those in leadership need our help.

Where are we in the historic cycle of a republic? "bondage? spiritual faith? courage? freedom? abundance? selfishness? complacency? apathy? dependence on government?" Surely we need sincere honest people who will help look above and beyond for wisdom to know, and courage and strength to do.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS —Katy Crow, Reporter

The April 7 meeting at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Schrader opened with the collect. A reading by Mrs. Carper told how the dogwood tree is celebrated as the tree from which the cross of Christ was made. Devotions from "The Upper Room" were given by Mrs. Crow.

Betty Bevington told the story of the song of the month, "Were You There?" We enjoyed singing it together. Mrs. Bevington gave the lesson of "food fallacies" and quackery. We had some discussion on that subject.

Mrs. Crow read her notes on the lesson given in Auburn by Chief Barhydt and much discussion on self preservation and how to protect one's own person and property followed.

Doris read the secretary's report and it was approved. Roll call was answered with "my favorite pet peeve," which proved very interesting.

Old and new business was carried on. Holiday workshop plans were discussed, also ideas for a possible trip this summer.

Treasurer's report was read and approved and bills were taken care of.

Meeting was closed with the prayer song. Refreshments of salad, crackers and canned peppers, punch and coffee were served by our hostess.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB —Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met at the home of Mary Baker April 18, with nine members attending.

The meeting was opened by the president, Cora Funk, with the group reciting the club collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Madonna Wade, taken from the second chapter of St. Peter.

The history of the song of the month was given by Mary Baker, who also led us in the singing.

Madonna Wade reported on the lesson she received at Leaders' Training, and brought out many helpful ideas that can help us all in our homes.

Roll call was answered with "The kind of flower I brought, and its care."

Secretary's report was read and approved.

A long discussion was held on the subject of sending money for an exchange student. It was finally tabled until our next meeting, to have a chance to find out more on the subject.

The president had an interesting clipping on how to protect ourselves when out alone at night.

We were reminded of Guest Night, May 6, when we will be entertained by the Happy Chicks Club.

The meeting was then closed with the singing of the club prayer song. The hostess served a lunch, and all returned home, to meet again May 16 at the Madonna Wade home.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

I like pretty things. That's why spring is such an enjoyable season, what with Mother Nature's supreme creative effort in beauty now able to blossom forth in full splendor. I'll give you three guesses what I'm talking about—and two don't count.

Yessir, our Saint Joe females of all ages do their part to make this an attractive community. It is especially evident at the local post office along about mail time in the afternoon for instance, when the office beauties from the pickle factory make their stops—and the cute kids from school arrive on the school bus—or that green "bug" shows up—or the new mother at the trailer court pushes her little one in a stroller—and others.

Now that this dirty old man has embarrassed some of our local residents, let me qualify these remarks by saying that there is no such thing as an unattractive woman. That's why the world is so beautiful—especially in the spring.

—Now you know why I put big windows in the News Office!

Cancer Films

On Wednesday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m., the Butler Jay-C-Ettes will host a showing of free films on cancer control for men and women. The films will be shown at the I&M Building on US6 at the west edge of Butler by volunteers of the DeKalb County Cancer Society.

Dr. Clifford Shults of Butler will be present to answer questions pertaining to the control of cancer.

The Jay-C-Ettes encourage the people in this area to attend the showing of the films to increase public understanding of cancer control.

Lions Club Sponsors Park Memorial

The Saint Joe Lions Club has undertaken the sponsorship of a memorial to be erected in Wild Cherry Park at Saint Joe. The project was suggested by Willard Hurni of Saint Joe, a member of the club who serves as park commissioner for the Town of Saint Joe.

To be erected on a concrete slab 12 feet by 16 feet, the memorial will be in the form of a shelter constructed of wood taken from the Dills-Rhodes covered bridge which is now being replaced by a new bridge.

The Dills-Rhodes bridge crossed the St. Joe River a mile south of Saint Joe. It was condemned over a year ago as unsafe for present day load demands. Construction workers have been dismantling the old bridge for the past few weeks and Mr. Hurni obtained sufficient lumber for the proposed memorial shelter.

The park commissioner plans to mount two memorial plaques in the shelter when it is completed. One plaque will give a brief history of the old covered bridge. The other will give a history of an old mill site just west of the present park location.

The Lions Club appropriated $150 for additional materials for the memorial. Mr. Hurni has offered to donate his labor.

Town Board Approves Lighting Expansion; Notes Cooperation

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday evening for its regular session. Visitors included Willard Hurni, Maurice Kline, Roger Coburn and Richard Musser.

The most significant item of business was the passage of a resolution by which the board accepted a proposal from Indiana & Michigan Electric Company for total renovation of the town's street lighting system.

The board had been considering the proposal for the past several months by which 34 old lighting units will be replaced and 21 additional units installed. All these units are in the residential area and the new units will be of the 7000-lumen mercury vapor enclosed luminaire type.

In addition, the present five 4000-lumen units in the business area will be replaced by 21,000-lumen units.

The additional units will be installed at half-block intervals throughout the town to augment the present corner locations. A map showing the layout of the new system can be seen at the News Office.

Since the town board had already made an increase of $500 in this year's street lighting appropriation, the additional levy needed to cover the cost of the new system for next year will be somewhat lower than it would have been if the project had been undertaken without such a buffer. In effect, the town has already begun to pay for the improvement for a portion of 1969. Installation of the new system should be completed by fall of this year.

The additional cost of the vastly improved lighting system will amount to $155.15 per month, or a total of $233.75 per month for street lighting.

Board members Jack Bowser, Lynn Lake and Ted Haberkorn reviewed the apprehension which has arisen in the minds of some town residents concerning the proposed sewage treatment plant for the town. Rumors were reported of monthly charges of $20, $30 and even $50 if the treatment plant becomes a reality. It was pointed out that the announced estimated monthly charge of $11 was an approximation, based on preliminary estimates. The board also indicated that it has not signed any contracts obligating it to construction work; it has merely applied to the proper state and federal agencies to see if financial assistance is available to the town if such a project is undertaken. The demand for such grants exceeds the amounts available and there is the possibility that the local requests cannot be fulfilled in the current year.

There have been rumors of town residents "moving out" because of the sewage plant costs. It was noted that it is becoming almost impossible to avoid some sort of higher cost for sewage today, no matter where residency is established. Pollution regulations govern not only towns and cities but also rural areas. The cost of a well, septic tank and leech bed in a rural area was estimated to be considerably higher than the amount represented by a monthly fee in the town.

The board has been aware of the additional cost to residents of the town and has requested pertinent information from the State Board of Health relative to Saint Joe's contribution to pollution in the St. Joe River. Such information has not yet been received.

Mr. Hurni reported to the board on the plans he has made for a memorial in the local park dedicated to the history of the Dills-Rhodes bridge and an old mill which was located years ago just west of the present Wild Cherry Park. The board expressed its approval and pleasure at the project which has been underwritten by the local Lions Club.

The need for paint on the fire hall was noted, with the board indicating its willingness to provide the materials if the fire department provides the labor.

Thank-you letters were signed by board members, to be sent to property owners who have cooperated in removing "junk cars" from their respective residences. The board expressed its deep appreciation for such cooperation in helping to make Saint Joe more attractive. Additional letters of warning were authorized for other property and vehicle owners falling under the provisions of the local ordinance.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks—Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., 37.38; Economics Laboratory, chemicals 26.25; William Mansfield, salary and postage 11.40; William Mansfield, labor 2.50; Butler Company, service boxes 34.00.

Town—Roger Coburn, mow cemetery 40.00; Roy Eck, open grave 50.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and oil 12.76; Auburn Sanitary Landfill 240.00; I&M 82.04; City National Bank, fire truck payment 804.17; Saint Joe Waterworks, rental 30.00; Donald Kinsey, clerk salary 100.00; Donald Kinsey, cemetery clerk 30.00; Kenneth Roberts, labor 156.80; William Mansfield, labor 8.56; William Mansfield, labor 16.00.

DeKalb Memorial To Observe Hospital Week

By Mrs. Don M. Nixon

Hospitals in the Auburn area and throughout the nation will observe National Hospital Week beginning Sunday.

The theme for the observance, "Your Hospital - Pathway To Progress In Community Health," emphasizes how today's hospital Memorial will be opening its doors for a special tour of the facilities your donations have provided. The tour will include interested groups or individuals. Arrangements must be made before May 11 through Mrs. Don Nixon at Auburn 925-0618.

Also, if you are interested in learning more about DeKalb Memorial, you'll be glad to know the hospital has recently established a speaker's bureau with several qualified local persons ready to tell the "Miracle of Indiana" story to your club or group. For more information on this, contact Mr. Larry Wible in Auburn.

Florence Nightingale's birthday, May 12. The week is sponsored by the American Hospital Association to give people an opportunity to learn more about the hospital in their community.

In connection with the Hospital Week celebration, DeKalb County hospital has been to provide care for patients within its walls. However, hospitals are now evolving into centers carrying a broad spectrum of health services out into the community, services aimed at diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation, education and prevention.

DeKalb Memorial is joining other hospitals in the country in marking the observance, held each year during the week of is establishing new pathways to channel health care into all areas of the community, according to Mr. Robert King, administrator of DeKalb Memorial Hospital.

The traditional role of a community hospital has been to provide care for the sick and injured. Today, however, hospitals are now evolving into centers carrying a broad spectrum of health services out into the community, services aimed at diagnosis, treatment, rehabilitation, education and prevention.

Eastern Daylight Time In Indiana - 'Ridiculous'

Of all the directives, laws, rules, regulations or what have you that might come from any level of civil government, that which has forced most of Indiana to observe Eastern Daylight Saving Time takes its place under the designation, "Absolutely Ridiculous."

Sunday evening, April 27, 1969, was the first evening under EDST. I was taking a stroll with our seven-year-old son. It was an overcast sky, but even with the overcast when 8:30 p.m. came, his normal bedtime, it was still light enough to play outside. It is still almost eight weeks until the day with the longest daylight period. If it is light at 8:30 p.m. now, think what it will be two months from now. We all know what it will be like—we have read the papers. Darkness will not come until 10:00 p.m.

I'm sending my thoughts of outrage to President Nixon, Congressman E. Ross Adair, Senator Birch Bayh, Senator Vance Hartke, Setate Senator Dean Kruse and State Representative Floyd B. Coleman, and I invite others to do the same. Since there seems to be some confusion as to just where the jurisdiction lies, it is not quite clear where a protest rightly belongs. But of one thing I am certain—a protest is justified. When the government interferes with the homelife and habits of my children, it has overstepped its boundaries.

Family and home life rightly belong before any other considerations under regulations affecting the establishment of time zones. The choice rightly belongs with the state and/or the communities within the state. If someone wants more daylight for business, for leisure, for golf, for whatever else is being used to justify our ridiculous time setup in Indiana, let them change their working hours, let the offices close at four, the factories let their workers off an hour earlier. But for heaven's sake—no, for the children's sake and that of their parents—don't compel the home to change its whole routine when there is no need for such a change. There is no justification for trying to accommodate the selfish desires of certain adults at the expense of parents who are trying to establish propriety and order in the lives of their growing offspring.

Man is a creature of habit. And despite the fact that some of our present-day liberal and revolutionary thinkers have attempted to discredit some of those habits, there is yet to be any success in refuting the fact that darkness has normally come to mean "the end of the day" literally and figuratively. When darkness comes late and the youngsters must end their activities before such darkness arrives, they are being deprived of the outdoor activity which they need during daylight hours. If they are allowed to stay up later, they are deprived of the sleep which health authorities have yet to deny is needed by a developing child. If they sleep late in the morning, they are out of schedule with the remainder of the household which is still functioning according to the clock, whether the modern thinkers like it or not.

From the President of the United States right on down to John Q. Public, the concern is for stability, for morality, for decency. The shakeup in family living in a normal family, as represented by the time zone burden the Hoosier State has been forced into, does little to retain or maintain stability, morality or decency, standards of good and normal living.

Eastern Daylight Saving Time in Indiana is a hardship, it is an outrage. Eastern Daylight Saving Time in Indiana is absolutely ridiculous.

Let The Public Decide

The public announcement issued last week by the school board of the central school district in DeKalb County, stating that the board does not support the current unification petitions and that it does not encourage its patrons to sign such petition, is significant in more than one way.

With the central board having been accused by the superintendent of our eastern district of encouraging the unification movement, of behind-the-scenes activity, of playing "footsie", the announcement served to remove the board as a positive influence on the voters of the central district and nullify the accusation. While more strongly worded that would seem necessary, the statement nevertheless was virtually a necessity, it would seem, in order for the central board to maintain its past efforts to keep good faith with the people it represents.

While discouraging voters in the unification matter, the anouncement significantly refers only to the "bickering and haggling" that has occurred in the eastern district. It should be noted that no criticism is made of the idea of unification itself, no indication is made that there are any strong doubts about the idea of unification of the districts for mutual benefit in the progress of education.

Under the circumstances, the efforts of the superintendent of the eastern district, in his insulting letter to the president of the eastern district school board and in his less than complimentary references to the central district in publicly distributed letters in the eastern district recently, raise the question of motivation. Under the circumstances, it appears reasonable to ask, "Were these writings deliberate efforts to so alienate the central district that they would not want to participate in unification?"

Whether or not they were deliberate, they have served to put a bad taste in the mouths of at least the central school board members—at the expense of hundreds of students and patrons in both school districts. The "bickering and haggling", if those are the proper terms to describe the eastern district's situation in the past, have not been due to the ideas which have motivated the citizens group in the eastern district. Rather, opposition to the group has never indicated a willingness to grant consideration to the basic questions raised by the group, even though the questions have been valid and justified. More pointedly, no opportunity has ever been offered to the public to express its wishes, after the questions were raised.

Now, the question is, are the unethical efforts by a school superintendent going to prevent the public in two school districts from expressing its desire in the matter of total education in DeKalb County, of equalized education in DeKalb County? Are such tactics, successful in the past from other quarters also, going to once again cloud the issue under personality clashes, promoted to discourage the desire to cooperate?

The citizens group has had increasing indications of support for not only a public vote on the unification matter but also for unification itself, from the central district as well as from the eastern district; a referendum is practical and appears to be the proper manner in which to resolve the situation. Such support should not be surprising because the idea of unification is nothing new; we almost had it when we reorganized several years ago. But our desire for local idenification, expressed through pressure on the county reorganization committee by a small group, prevented us from doing what we thought best then, in the long run.

Now there is the oppportunty to do what people recognized before would equalize education in the county several years ago.

Will localized selfish interests once again deter us in educational progress?

Others say. . . .

MY MOTHER

Who fed me from her gentle breast
And hushed me in her arms to rest
And on my cheek sweet kisses prest?
My Mother.

When sleep forsook my open eye,
Who was it sung sweet lullaby
And rocked me that I should not cry?
My Mother.

Who sat and watched my infant head
When sleeping in my cradle bed,
And tears of sweet affection shed?
My Mother.

Who ran to help me when I fell
And would some pretty story tell
Or kiss the place to make it well?
My Mother.

Who taught my infant lips to pray
To love God's Holy Word and day,
And walk in wisdom's pleasant way?
My Mother.

And can I ever cease to be
Affectionate and kind to thee
Who wast so very kind to me?
My Mother.

Oh, ho, the thought I cannot bear
And if God please my life to spare
I hope I shall reward thy care,
My Mother.

When thou are feeble, old and gray,
My healthy arm shall be thy stay,
And I will soothe thy pains away,
My Mother.

And when I see thee hang thy head,
Twill be my turn to watch they bed,
And tears of sweet affection shed,
My Mother.

TEACHER WALKOUT POORLY TIMED

Indiana teachers who staged a walkout March 7 to emphasize their organization's demands for increased state aid for local schools, morally violated their teaching contracts, even if they didn't, technically. This is the kind of action that is seldom taken by even the most militant labor union.

The day away from the duties they agreed last spring to perform for their respective school boards, cost school patrons millions of dollars, cost their students a day of education, and probably did little to change the legislature's mind about Hoosier school funding.

There are those who say the show of force by the Indiana State Teachers' Association was simply a show of militancy by this large organization to counter competition from other organizations which seek to represent teachers.

As the HOOSIER FARMER went to press and as the Legislature went home, the lawmaking body, the Governor and the State Superintendent of Schools felt that local schools were adequately funded for the biennium ahead. Since only the teachers' organizations were complaining, it appears to some that perhaps they were more interested in larger salary increases than in "increased state aid to local schools."

No matter what the argument is, teachers who left the classrooms in Indiana to protest, violated the spirit of their contracts. Such activities should be carried on during their free time after school, before school, on weekends, and during the long summer vacation before contracting deadlines.

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

Tuesday, April 29, 1969

Loretta:

I decided it was time for me to write and tell you that there are a couple of changes in my address.

The first change is a minor one. In March I took my E-3 advancement test and passed it so instead of an FA after my name there is now an FN.

The second change is in divisions. I was in 82-A division but about two weeks ago they transferred me to M division.

My complete correct address is:

Richard Mumma FN B54-65-33
M Div., USS Wright (CC-2)
FPO New York NY 09501

I can't remember where all I had been the last time I wrote but since then I have probably been back to New York and Fort Lauderdale and made my first trip to Philadelphia. We are heading back down to Fort Lauderdale sometime this month (May). Everytime my Captain decides its time to take a three day vacation we go down to Fort Lauderdale but you'll hear no gripes from me, I love it down there.

There's a rumor going around the ship that we are going to Nova Scotia sometime this summer. I don't know how much truth there is in the rumor. If we do go it should be a lot of fun.

In October we are either going to go to Boston, Mass., or Portsmouth, Va. to get some patching done on the ship. We will be in dry dock for about five or six months. Which may be nice.

Well I guess that's it.

Rick Mumma

P.S. Thanks for sending me the News. It is really nice to read what's going on at home, since I can't be there myself.

Dear Rick:

I received your letter yesterday and as busy as I know you are, thank you for taking the time to write to me.

Ted sends the News to any area service man who sends in his address or whose address is given to him by parents or friends. You are welcome and I'm glad to be a small part of bringing a little bit of home to all of you who are doing so much for us. I wish I could see all the interesting places that you are seeing, but not under the same circumstances. I'd get sea-sick and I don't know what I'd do with myself on that great big ship.

How long will it be before your next leave? Be sure and stop in and see us!

Take care of yourself and God bless you.

Loretta

Notice to the serviceman who sent the anonymous letter to me last month:

I know that it takes about three weeks for you to get the News, but you've had enough time now, so how about that reply? What's with this off and on type of anonymous letter writing that you do?

Lt. Michael D. Loy, sit down and write a letter to your Mom and Dad!

Happy birthday to Gary Edgar, S.S.M.C., 21 years old May 21.

Capt. Philip Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carpenter of north of Saint Joe, recently received a Bronze Star Medal for distinguished service in Vietnam. Phil was honored for his service as a wing logistics officer, staff management officer and materiel facilities officer with the 366th Supply Squadron at Da Nang Air Base from October 1967 to September 1968.

Phil is now station at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at Cleveland, Ohio.

Harold J. Owen, 21, son of Mrs. Deloris Chorpenning of R3 Auburn, was recently promoted to SP-4 near Pleiku, Vietnam. He attended DeKalb Central high School, and entered the Army in February of 1968.

SP-5 Tom Wasson, 23, son of Mrs. Kenneth Wasson of R1 Butler, recently was assigned as an ammunition specialist with the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam.

See you next week. Don't forget to drop a line.

Rainbow Girls Seek Religious Support

Spencerville Assembly 104 of the Indiana Rainbow Girls are currently circulating a petition to affirm the Christian heritage of the United States and counteract the atheistic influences which appear to have made inroads into American culture today.

The letter which accompanies the petition reads as follows:

"Dear Friends;

"In response to a plea from a well known radio program, 'Morning Sunshine,' and the pastor, The Rev. Ralph Neighbor, we are petitioning your signature on this letter. It will be sent to 'Astronauts - Manned Space Craft Center - NASA - Houston, Texas.'

"The reason - - - while up in space our astronauts have seen fit to pray to their God and to read from the Bible. One person in particular, the woman who was responsible in having prayer banned from our schools, is now campaigning to have this reading of the Scriptures and praying while in space, declared illegal. The only way she can be successful is for us to sit back and do nothing. While we feel sorry for this obviously sick individual, and feel that she needs our prayers, we can be actively assenting our rights as Christians by signing petitions such as this, letting the world know that we are proud of our Christian heritage, and that we want to do something about it.

"Our Indiana Rainbow Girls have accepted the challenge handed out by Rev. Neighbor, and are carrying this petition to any and all who will declare themselves to be on the side of freedom for Christian Ideas.

"Please, will you add your voice to the thousands we hope to get, and know that we are giving courage to our young men in their efforts to communicate with their God, no matter where they may be.

Sincerely,
Indiana Rainbow Girls

Rabies Control

—prepared by Dr. B. Dirksen

Is your pet due for a "rabies shot"? The DeKalb County Board of Health reminds you that all dogs over six months of age are required by Indiana State Law to be vaccinated annually against rabies. Only by vaccinating all dogs can a community effectively control this dread and fatal disease.

Rabies, traditionally called hydrocephalia or "mad dog disease," is one of the oldest public health problems on record and even today, with all the modern medicine advances, it is a continued threat to man and animal.

Rabies is a fatal virus disease that can affect all warm-blooded animals, including man. It is transmitted by a wound, usually a bite, inflicted by an infected animal and contaminated by the animal's saliva, in which the germ lives.

The symptoms of rabies in animals differ and require a professional diagnosis by a veterinarian. Generally, the onset is noted by a change of temperament and behavior. This change can be either an increase in activity and aggression or a depressed, dumb attitude. The infected animal will die within five to seven days after the signs of the disease first appear.

I hasten to point out that several other diseases have similar symptoms but do not pose such a threat. Therefore, when a person is bitten, see a doctor. Once rabies symptoms develop, the disease is considered fatal. We in DeKalb County are fortunate in having a very low incidence of positive rabies in our domestic and wild animals. One reason for this is the large number of dogs that are vaccinated against rabies. However, we must not let our guard down.

An effective rabies control program depends on the efforts of the whole community. First, all dogs should be vaccinated. Second, the stray and unclaimed dogs must be controlled. Third, every case of a human bitten by a dog or any animal must be reported to the local health officer or physician. Fourth, any animal suspect must be confined and held in observation for at least fourteen days. If the animal dies in this time, it must be submitted to the State Board of Health for examination. As many of the bitten victims are children, parents should caution their children about handling stray or unfamiliar animals.

The State Board of Health will examine the head of the animal and send results to proper local authorities. If the results are positive, the exposed or bitten person must submit to antirabies injections, knows as "Pasteur treatment."

We cannot overstress the importance of impounding and observing a suspect animal. If the animal is destroyed in such a way that the test cannot be conducted, then the attending physician may have no choice but to give the antirabies series of injections. While these injections are very effective in preventing rabies in many, they can also cause considerable discomfort. Each year, there are those who must submit to the "Pasteur treatment" simply because the animal in question was not held for observation and diagnosis.

The record of DeKalb County in rabies control has been good in the past. There are few counties with as low an incidence of animal rabies reported in the state. However, to keep this disease under control, we need the help of an informed public.

From State Rep. Coleman---

An essential improvement for highway safety is a modification of the lighting system on the rear of all highway vehicles. Red lights alone are inadequate in communicating necessary information. We must expedite the evaluation of several possible rear lighting systems, determine the best way to implement the optimum system, and accomplish the changeover as soon as practicable. One system that deserves priority consideration is as follows:

1. Two green running lights on the rear, to be turned on at all times the vehicle is in motion, day or night. The green would be extinguished below 5 m.p.h.

2. Two amber lights that would turn on any time the vehicle decelerates without brake application.

3. Two red lights that flash simultaneously in reverse, burn steadily when stopped or moving at less than 5 m.p.h. and are extinguished above 5 m.p.h. except when braking.

4. For turn signaling the green light on one side would flash brightly at 3 to 4 times per second.

When this or other similar improvements are made in the rear lighting systems of highway vehicles, we can expect much safer and easier highway travel. The additional cost to install these improvements on new vehicles would be minimal (estimate $3.00 per vehicle). Will you help by giving the necessary encouragement to the Director of the National Highway Safety Bureau, established by the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966, to implement this improvement in highway safety? Voice your approval via your U.S. Congressman, Washington, D.C.

Sen. Kruse Scores Apathy

State Senator Dean V. Kruse spoke Monday at the Ligonier Rotary Club in Ligonier where he touched upon several of the areas of concern for the Indiana government at the present time. He stressed the importance of everyone complying with the motor vehicle inspection law. Senator Kruse also mentioned his concern about property tax rates and mentioned that the county tax base must be broadened in order to protect the real estate tax payers.

Due to the unrest on our college campuses all across the nation, Senator Kruse dwelled on this point longer than usual. He stated that there is unrest on the college campuses all across the nation which seems to be organized by student groups. They are organized to the point that they evaluate each university to see what the problems are on that particular campus, then organize the students and up to this point have been successful with large groups of minorities. They demonstrate with guns and knives and threaten our faculty leaders and school authorities who are forced to comply with student minority demands. Until recently Indiana University has withstood any outside pressure for campus disorders. However, the recent increase in tuition fees was the exact thing that the outside student agitators were waiting for to move in the universities of our state.

"Now I definitely feel that there is some just criticism in the raise in tuition fees," he said, "however, I do also feel that any out-of-state student attending our state universities should pay at least what it costs the Indiana tax payers to provide that student with an education."

The student unrest across our country has become very organized and forceful. "I am concerned," Senator Kruse said, "and want to re-emphasize the point made recently by Ronald Reagan and Dr. Billy Graham that this could be the start of the Communist revolution in our nation, and I am further concerned with the apathy of the American people with the student unrest and violence across our country. These minorities coupled with the racism unrest in the country are problems that the leaders of our state and country should stand up to with a firm hand and take action to quell any further disturbances. I am further concerned with the apathy and appeasement of university officials who have the power to expel students and have the power to cancel government loans and student grants from those students who are rioting on our national campuses. If this is not to be a long hot summer, then positive steps should be taken by the people involved."

Following Senator Kruse's talk, there was a lively question and answer period.

CONCORD JR. HOMEMAKERS
—Katy Crow, Reporter

Our May 5 meeting was with Mrs. Harry Strong. We started with the reading of the collect. Hazel Schrader gave devotions from "The Upper Room." Her theme was "Mother." Betty Bevington told us about how musical rounds have been used in various ways down through the years. We sang the three best known ones—it was fun.

Doris Prentice read the secretary's report and it was approved. We were reminded to extend a helping hand to the local girls 4-H club now under the guidance of Mrs. Phyllis Richmond and Mrs. Doris Yeiser.

Margaret Carper gave us a most delightful report from the President's Council meeting. She gave us a list of next year's lessons for us to be thinking about. One was on how to deal with prank telephone calls and other bothersome happenings and another health along with diet and exercise. Still another will be a cooking school. There are others but I failed to get them in my notes. There is another rummage sale scheduled for July 17-18. The last one was reported to be a huge success.

We are planning now to go to Glenbrook on September 30 to hear Mrs. Aleseworth speak and tell of her trip to India last year. Our pennies for friendship went toward that visit.

It was announced that achievement day is scheduled at the DeKalb High School on November 15.

Later, we sat around Lois's nice big kitchen table and made some flowers, after which we ate the delicious refreshments accompanied by the reading of news items from our newspaper tablecloth. We had two guests who are potential members, Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. Micky Van Every.

Our next meeting is with Mrs. Betty Bevington.

HINTS ON HEALTH
by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ABDOMINAL WOUNDS

THE penetrating abdominal wound is sometimes more fortunate, in regard to treatment, than the nonpenetrating wound. The penetrating type of injury has the advantage that it calls for an early, if not immediate, abdominal surgical exploration.

The nonpenetrating type of injury is often accompanied by other obvious injuries, and not diagnosed as readily as the more noticeable damage. From the surgeon's viewpoint, nonpenetrating abdominal wounds are of three types.

First there are those in which the necessity for early surgical intervention is obvious. Next are those in which the indications for early operation are not clear-cut, although there is reason to suspect a severe injury within the abdomen. Then there is the type in which the blunt injury at first may seem of little significance, but which manifests itself later.

More and more, nonpenetrating abdominal injuries are being observed to be the consequences of high speed in automobiles and mechanization in industry. The spleen, the gastrointestinal tract, the liver and the pancreas are internal parts most likely to be damaged by a blunt or nonpenetrating injury.

In the case of multiple injury, early hospitalization, control of shock, exploration and evaluation of the status of all abdominal organs or structures are factors in helping reduce the death rate from nonpenetrating abdominal injuries.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Mildred Jarrett, Reporter

On April 23, 1969, the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors met to transact the business of the organization. Floyd Pfierman, county president, officiated and Martha Johnson, Jackson Township Woman Leader, gave devotions. The minutes of a March board meeting and of an April 22 executive meeting were read.

The new carpet has been installed in the Farm Bureau Building, with the result of improving the floors and drawing attention to the need of fresh wall paint of a different color.

The directors voted to buy a new 80 cup percolator and also to start business meetings at 8:00 P.M. EDT while clocks are on fast time.

As of 4-18-69, Indiana Farm Bureau has 163,797 1969 members. District 2 is the only district in the state with all counties having reached 100 per cent of their goals.

We were reminded that Purdue University is celebrating its centennial this year.

Articles from "The County Line" by Bob Barnet, a former sports writer, concerning Indiana Farm Bureau's golden celebration, were read. They were concise, to the point, interesting, and a splendid example of how to report facts in a way that makes enjoyable reading.

Edna Perkins, County Woman Leader, reminded the group that "Pennies For Friendship" contributions will be due in May. She also reported a real good amateur contest April 16 and passed out Pet and Hobby seeds and specifications for Pet and Hobby Safety Posters, which will be due by August 1.

The county organization presented each unit with a copy of "Hoosier Farmers In a New Day" by Edna Moore Colby. The book traces the entire history of Indiana Farm Bureau.

Committees for the County Farm Bureau Picnic to be held at the St. Joe Conservation Grounds Sunday, June 29, will be: song leader and devotions, Franklin, Troy; food, Jackson; and program, Smithfield.

Paul Gienger, area field man, read recommendations from the state for direct billings of membership, a method which, if used, would make use of a computer and personnel in the state office. The directors preferred not to vote on same until next meeting.

Merle Wagner will have devotions in May.

Letters to the Editor

Hi Ted,

I'm having a real interesting time and learning a lot. We just finished the roughest part BIVOUAC. When I got back to the barracks I could hardly walk but it was very interesting. I fired expert with M-14 and shot the M-16 and only missed two targets, that is the same as expert with the M-14 but it was just practice.

All in all I like the service very much and I like the idea of serving my country this way. I think that every one should serve their country this way or try harder to help in some way.

I would like you and everyone to know that I am proud to be serving our country and to be part of the strongest army in the world, and I feel ready to defend to the death the honor of our flag and what it stands for!!

Ted tell everyone Hil and give everyone my best.

P.S. Thanks for the paper, it makes me feel at home.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA

The students of Indiana University have voted to boycott classes. We have NOT voted to:

—occupy buildings

—congregate in unlawful assemblies

—create any situations leading to danger to property or personal safety

We want to tell you why:

1. The students at I.U. are not in favor of violence.

2. The students are concerned about the fee increase not only as it affects us in school now, but also those who were planning to attend I.U. next year.

3. Indiana University had been a quiet campus until our administration was forced to greatly increase the tuition for next year.

4. Stated in the Constitution of Indiana, the state guarantees a free education for the people of the state of Indiana.

5. The students at I.U. are concerned not only with the quantity of education, but also quality as the state and the people of Indiana deserve the best for their money.

6. The last session of the Indiana State Legislature let down not only the students of I.U. but also the people of Indiana.

The sixth point outlined above is a most important one. A dynamic system of higher education is necessary for the expanding economy of Indiana. It is vital that qualified college-age persons in Indiana be provided with the opportunity to attend public institutions of higher learning. Because of its failure to deal properly with the financial matters of the state, the legislature has severely jeopardized this situation. The large numbers of students and faculty at I.U. are united in this boycott in an effort to express their sheer disgust and frustrated indignation of the present financial bind. We are NOT attempting to destroy the university, rather we feel this is a necessary step to maintain the academic quality at I.U. while seeking equality in education.

We need the suport of every citizen in the state in furthering our effort toward open and better education.

CONTACT YOUR LEGISLATOR.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Bill Hurst stopped in last week to tell of the vandalism at the local park—and how frustrating are the actions of some of our thoughtless kids.

With the park due for its biggest summer of activity thus far, from the requests Bill has had for park reservations, the cooperation of adults and parents is needed to help prevent such things as the three instances of ripping tissue holders from the walls of the rest rooms in recent weeks.

The inclination of some parents to allow their offspring to play at will anywhere and everywhere in town, even at the tender ages of five, six and seven years, is a positive contribution to the delinquency of their minors.

In addition, the presence of guns, of any sort, on the streets of Saint Joe and immediately adjacent to the town, is an indication of the thoughtless permissiveness of the parents of the gun carriers and shooters.

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company had to replace several street lamps Tuesday; somebody shot them out.

Dick Crow reported Wednesday that someone shooting in the woods along the creek Monday was hitting equipment parked at the fertilizer plant.

The hardware and its night light have been the target for a gun carrier.

There is no excuse for allowing boys to use guns of any kind in town. In some cases, there is no excuse for allowing boys to carry guns, period. Last Friday night, when a gang of pre-teens were cavorting at the Unicorn, two guns were seen in the group in the hands of two boys when the group broke up. A few local young men have been seen in town looking for birds to shoot, with gun in hand. Such conditions are a threat to people and property, and parents are responsible for stopping such activities. If they do not, the public has the responsibility and the duty to report such activities to the sheriff, in the absence of local law enforcement.

John Shutt wants his friends to know that he is getting along o.k. after undergoing surgery last February. He had a portion of one lung and a rib removed. I failed to have anything in the paper about it before.

Madonna Wade did her part Wednesday morning in keeping the town clean. She swept the walk and curb at the post office to remove the debris which had accumulated there.

Kenneth Nifong stopped in Tuesday and asked when the town board meets. He didn't have anything in particular, no complaints or anything. He just wanted to attend and see what's going on.

The Nifongs are new residents of Saint Joe, having bought the former Harold Clark home. Ken and his Mrs. have a seven-month-old daughter. He's a computer technician.

Mrs. Robert Stafford of Rt Auburn, secretary of the DeKalb County Historical Society, had the following note on her notice of the historical society's meeting:

"Just a note to let you know I agree wholeheartedly with you when you say this time is ridiculous."

Richard Drake Wins Scout Award

Richard Drake of Spencerville was given a Boy Scout Training Award at the Scout Appreciation Dinner held at Kendallville Tuesday evening. He was also recognized for his 3'x5' plywood replica of the Anthony Wayne Council Scout patch.

The annual dinner is held to honor those who contribute their efforts to Boy Scout leadership.

Mr. Drake is one of the adult managers of Junior League teams participating in summer baseball activity at the local ball diamond.

Janelle Moore Sets Track Record

Monday night, May 12, Janelle Moore, an Eastside sophomore, set a new record for the 100-yard dash in District III track competition held at Lakeland High School. The new record is 12.6 seconds, .2 second faster than the previous record.

Miss Moore will compete in the state finals Saturday, May 17. Accompanying her will be the 440 relay team, composed of Rosemary Culler, Nila Willibey, Chris Arnett and Miss Moore.

Other Eastside girls who placed in the finals were Nila Willibey 4th in the 220-yard dash, Chris Arnett 4th in the 440-yard dash, and Miss Moore 4th in the running long jump.

PTO Tuesday

Mrs. Lynn Fisher, president of the Riverdale P.T.O., has announced the program for next Tuesday's meeting of the organization. The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the Riverdale cafetorium.

Devotions will be given by Harry Farrer, minister of the Newville Church of Christ. The sixth grade band will be directed by Richard Foster.

Ishmael Smith, industrial arts instructor, will be the speaker.

Election of officers will be held. Mrs. William Hudson is chairman of the nominating committee.

Rash Of Local Break-ins

A recent break-in at the local fertilizer plant gained some $700 worth of weed killer, according to Dick Crow, manager of the firm. Forced entry was gained through a rear door.

Early Monday morning burglars broke into the supply room of the local Wash-A-Teria laundry, took candy and used keys kept in the room to open coin boxes on washers and dryers. Owners Jack Beuser and Norman Morr had removed the coins in a checkout late Sunday so there apparently was little if any cash taken. The thieves jammed a screwdriver into a change-making machine and caused $375 in damage.

A window was broken in the front door of the Oasis Tavern also early Monday morning in an attempt to gain entry, but the would-be burglars apparently were scared off.

EHS Panorama This Weekend

The Eastside High School gymnasium will be the scene of the annual Panorama of Music, presented by the music department of Eastside High School, at 8:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, May 16-17.

The program, varied in content with both classical and "pop" tunes being presented, is one which will appeal to all tastes. The theme of the Panorama of 1969 is "Say It With Music."

Tickets may be purchased from music students, or at the ticket office in the gymnasium lobby. The costs of the tickets are: $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The award was announced by Don Bullock, minister of the local church.

Mrs. Musser received a dozen roses and other items of recognition for her service to church and community.

Several Junior Leaders will model clothing selected for the six dress revue classifications.

The afternoon session will emphasize construction techniques. The program, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., will include a discussion of the "Standards Within the Clothing Project," by Mrs. Jean Bever, the judge for divisions I, II and III. She will give several tips to those enrolled on the beginning three divisions of clothing.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In behalf of the Fort Wayne Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, I want to take this opportunity to commend the town of St. Joe, Indiana, for proceeding with plans to build a sewage treatment plant.

Back in August, 1964, we severely criticized St. Joe, along with Leo, Grabill and others for pouring untreated sewage into the river.

On the week-end of August 22nd, 1964, our clean waters committee, with Ethyle Bloch in charge, organized a Canoe Navy of 14 canoes whose job was to locate sources of pollution on the St. Joe and Cedar Creek, and mark them with a flag, as well as to make out a report on each source. This map is still on display at our Chapter House. These reports with a copy of the map was then then sent to Fred Ehrman, Board of Works, Gov. Welsh, B. A. Poole, State Stream Pollution Board, as well as our Senators. We have continued to check these sources of pollution and continued to report them to the proper government agencies, urging that steps be taken to clean up the situation where ever possible.

A lot has been accomplished since 1964, and we commend towns like Auburn, Garrett, Churubusco, Huntertown and others who have improved their old systems or installed new systems. We now hope and urge that others follow the example of St. Joe.

Sam Ropchan
President Fort Wayne Chapter

Dear Sir:

Tomorrow, May 8th, I am leaving from the Kennedy Airport, Melbourne, Florida, for Indianapolis, Indiana. Will fly by the Eastern Airlines. The plane leaves at 1:10 P.M. with a stop-over of about an hour at Atlanta, Ga., where I will change planes. To arrive in Indianapolis Ind. at 4:43 P.M.

My grandson, J. Wade Bowser, will meet me there and I will be staying with them for awhile.

I would like my paper sent to me at this address:

7814 Wawasee
Indianapolis, Ind. 46250

This has been a very memorable evening. Milton took us out to dinner at the Yacht Club. And there I met and shook hands with Gordon Cooper, the astronaut. Was introduced to him by Jim Rathmann (a friend of Milton's) who in 1960 won the Indianapolis 500 automobile race.

He now is the Chevrolet—Cadillac dealer in Melbourne and now has on display the Pacemaker of the 1969 Indianapolis 500 auto race.

Thank you so much for sending the paper to me.

I noticed my subscription expired in April so am enclosing check for same.

Sincerely
Audrey Wade

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

Dear Mom and Dad,

Things have been pretty quiet around here the past few weeks, but that can change any time.

Being at the 2nd brigade working for the past three weeks has allowed me to know what is happening in our area. One unit found a huge bunker complex last week that covered two miles of ground. They found several tons of equipment and quite a few graves of bad guys. But for the most part Charlie is keeping hidden.

The monsoons have begun here, for the past week or so it has rained at least once a day and almost every night. It is a great relief from the heat.

There has been another delay in the building of the new billetts. Now it will probably be a couple more months before they are ready.

Well, I'm running out of things to say.

Bye for now
Love Mike

I goofed last week! I wished Gary Edgar a Happy 21st Birthday. Gary will have a birthday the 21st but it will be his 19th. "Sorry about that."

William Creager, son of Mrs. Irene Jackson of Butler, was recently promoted to Army Sergeant while assigned to the 4th Infantry Division near Pleiku, Vietnam. He entered the Army in October of 1967, after graduation from Waterloo High School in 1963.

Airman First Class Johnnie Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Perkins of R1 Spencerville, has arrived for duty at Ching Chuan Kang AB, Taiwan. He is a graduate of Woodlan High School.

See you next week. Don't forget to drop a line.

Church League

The Saint Joe Church League met Thursday of last week at St. Mark Lutheran Church.

Re-elected as officers were the following:

Ted Haberkorn—president.

Bud Shockley—vice-president.

Lavon Hart—secretary-treasurer.

The only significant change in the rules for the coming summer of league activity pertains to the time of games. A return to the 8:15 p.m. starting time was approved, since Indiana and Ohio are currently on the same time. Last summer game time was moved up to 7:45 p.m. due to the inconvenience to the Hicksville Church of Christ team members.

The schedule will get underway in June. The exact alignment of teams is not yet definite, with two new churches, Concord U. M. and St. Mark Lutheran from Butler, wishing to participate. With a past member of the league not certain of an adequate number of players, the exact eight-team league makeup is yet to be worked out.

Members of participating churches are eligible to play, with attendance of at least two Sundays prior to the month of a scheduled game also required. College students and military servicemen on leave are exempt from the attendance rule during their absence.

The banquet will be held at the Butler Elementary Cafetorium at 6:30 p.m. Since the seating is limited, only the following people will be invited to attend:

(3) All faculty members and their spouses;

(4) All student managers and their parents;

All parents and other should "carry-in" desserts, vegetables, salads, etc. It will not be necessary to bring meat, bread, butter or beverage since these items will be furnished. All in attendance must bring table service.

Reverend Philip Philbrook will be the guest speaker for the evening. He is widely known over the state for his witty, philosophical and inspiring speeches.

Fine Arts Week At DeKalb

DeKalb High School's Fine Arts Department will present its second annual "Fine Arts Week," May 19-23. Instrumental and vocal concerts, a dramatic production, and a display of student art will highlight the week.

Freshman band and choir will present a concert Monday, May 19, to begin the week's activities. The concert will include a wide variety of musical arrangements ranging from Bach to Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Tuesday, May 20, the Symphonic and Concert bands will be featured in concert., playing selections ranging from Mozart's "Il Re Pastore," the overture of the festival opera of the same name, to "Little Bop Riding Hood," a "bop" fairy tale for "hip kids."

A pop concert entitled "Bits of Broadway" will be presented Thursday. The Acapella Choir and the Girls' Glee Club will sing popular broadway musicals.

A dramatic production by the DeKalb Thespians will conclude the week's activities. "The Princess Who Wouldn't Laugh" will be staged Friday, May 23. A variety of readings by Thespian members will be included in the program.

Each night of Fine Arts Week except Wednesday, student art work will be on display in the south balcony of the gymnasium. The display will feature all types of paintings, ceramics, prints, and crafts. The display will be open from 6:00 to 10:00 p.m. each night.

The instrumental and vocal concerts and the play will be presented in the DeKalb High School auditorium. All performances will begin at 8:00 p.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend all Fine Arts Week activities.

Hospital Services Expanding

—by Mrs. Don Nixon

This is National Hospital Week and a good time to reflect on how much your hospital has been changing in the last few years. It may not have changed much in outside appearance, but DeKalb Memorial Hospital is working hard to make its broadening and ever-improving health care services more accessible to the people of DeKalb County.

Traditionally, hospitals have focused their attention on providing care for for the more seriously ill or injured within its own walls. In days gone by, the only times we had any contact with the hospital were when we, or loved ones, were patients.

Things are changing, and DeKalb Memorial is reaching out into the community to provide a growing number of services. This year, for every inpatient admission across the country, there are now four outpatient visits not requiring hospitalization. Persons may now be referred to the hospital by their family physicians in the morning to take advantage of specialized equipment and services, and they may leave that same morning.

Another of the valuable community services provided by DeKalb Memorial is the maintaining of the emergency rooms, which are staffed 24 hours a day with nurses and with a medical doctor always on call. DeKalb County is fortunate to have, in connection with these emergency services, a Poison Information and Control Center. Of all possible poison accidents, 98% can be researched and handled here, according to Mr. Robert King, administrator. The 2% remaining are rare enough to merit a phone call to the regional center at Elkhart for help.

Many area residents have participated in the Red Cross Prenatal Classes (yes, fathers can be included) held at intervals within the hospital, but many are not aware that DeKalb Memorial also conducts a six-week, thirty-hour Nurses Aide Training Program. Mrs. Oris Coffin and Mrs. Seigel are instructors. The classes, useful also for home nursing information, are open to anyone in the hospital area for only the cost of the instructional materials. Most of the graduates from this course are later employed by the hospital.

DeKalb Memorial is happy to work with young people in securing information on the vast variety of health and hospital careers now encompassing 200 distinct divisions.

Also included in the hospital's program of service to the community is a special Physical Examination Program conducted in cooperation with local industry.

And plans are now in progress at DeKalb Memorial for the originating of a Stroke Program which will include the services of occupational, physical and speech therapists.

Our hospital is making great progress, not only in providing the best in equipment and treatment to the ill or injured, but in making these above services available to everyone—to keep our healthy community healthy.

From State Rep. Coleman---

Do we need a bill to provide for a course of study known as "Freedom v. Communism," in the public high schools of this state? The ideology and form of government known as Communism is in conflict with and contrary to the principles of freedom and the constitutional republics and democracies of the free world. The forces of Communism are, at present, the greatest single threat to the liberties of free men and the sovereignty of free nations. Free men and free nations of the world ought to stress victories over, rather than coexistences with, Communism. God never condons coexistence with evil. Any battle worth fighting is worth winning.

The successful exploitation and manipulation of youth and student groups through-out the world today are a major challenge which the free world forces must meet and defeat. An effective method of meeting this challenge is to have the youth and students of this state and nation thoroughly and completely informed as to the evils, dangers and fallacies of Communism by giving them a thorough understanding of the entire Communist movement, including its history, doctrines, objectives, techniques, and exponents. Adequate instruction should be for the primary purpose of instilling in the minds of the students a greater appreciation of our republic and constitutional government.

The study should be one of orientation in contrasting the political and economic ideologies and systems of our republic under our constitution, with the political and economic ideologies and systems of the Communist nations with emphasis on free enterprise system being the one which produces higher wages, higher standards of living, and greater personal freedom and liberty than any other economic system.

Would you be challenged to support this course of study?

Extension Area Reorganized

Richard V. Duncan, who has served as administrator of one of the first two Indiana Cooperative Extension Service areas created more than two years ago, will become administrator of a nine-county northeastern Indiana Extension area about August 1.

Howard G. Diesslin, Cooperative Extension Service director at Purdue University, announced establishment of the new area, which comes into being May 19, and other staff appointments, also effective May 19.

At the same time, Diesslin said these nine counties would make up the new area, designated Area XI:

Adams, Allen, DeKalb, Steuben, LaGrange, Noble, Huntington, Wells and Whitley.

Area headquarters will be in Fort Wayne.

Duncan, a native of Lawrence County, is currently on study leave to complete work on the M.S. degree in sociology at the University of Louisville.

Other assignments in the newly established area are:

Ernest J. Lesiuk, area extension agent for Adams County, plus crops in LaGrange, DeKalb, Noble, Steuben and Whitley counties.

Max Miller, area extension agent for Huntington County, plus crops in Allen, Adams, Huntington and Wells counties.

Paul F. Hughes, area extension agent for Wells County, plus horticulture in all nine counties in the area.

R. J. Haworth, area extension agent for Whitley County, plus community development in Adams, Huntington, Wells and Whitley counties.

L. N. Dreiman, area extension agent for LaGrange County, plus community development and recreation in LaGrange, Noble, DeKalb and Steuben counties.

Living's a laugh-in for people who power with electricity. It's the most reliable, convenient power supply available today. And, because we've got a seven-state interconnected system backing us up, we provide your electric power at the lowest possible cost. And that's one of the reasons more people use electricity to accomplish outrage made possible by all kinds of cute, modern, electric appliances and, of course, electric heat. No wonder an any electricity is your best dollar value.

Memorial Day Observance

Tentative plans are being made for Memorial Day services in the community by Franklin Seehler and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bevington. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scouts, and any other interested organizations will gather at the Legion Home in Saint Joe at 2 p.m. for a march to the cemetery, where brief appropriate ceremonies will be held.

The public is invited to attend these ceremonies.

Frank Curie Heads Lions

—Frank Amstutz

President Bob Wilder made these announcements: we received a letter of thanks for the $35 and our committee help at the Junior-Senior Prom; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Kern Butler will sign the Bibles that will be given to the Eastside graduating class.; we received a letter listing the activities and projects of the DeKalb Historical Society.

Lion Will Staman, a former eye-bank committeeman, showed "before-and-after" pictures of some of the folks that our club has helped in that field. You would have to see the pictures to realize the change in appearance of persons who have had their crossed eyes straightened.

Mr. Forrest Bevington reported continued progress in the Riverdale summer recreation program. The club decided to earmark the profits from the coming ice cream social to the recreation projects of the Riverdale Community.

Our newly-elected Tailtwister, Harold Murphy, said that Lion Walter Moor, the old coot who is now tailtwister has only three more meetings before his term is over. Harold promises that he will fulfill his campaign promises by exercising his power to make charges and fine delinquent Lions. For example, I was fined ten cents Monday evening for referring to Lion Stamen as Bill Stamen, and there can be no appeal on such charges and fines. Lion Murphy is getting a big bang out of just thinking about his new office.

Lion Lehr Wilder introduced the speaker, Mr. George Patterson, born in Hicksville, Yale graduate, former high school teacher and college professor, and for many years a resident of Washington, D.C. Mr. Patterson knew many of our older members so well that he called them by name and went on to tell us about some of their deeds and misdeeds, mostly misdeeds. He also gave president Wilder some fatherly advice on finding a suitable wife. He cited Eleanor Roosevelt as an example. It seems that Franklin D.'s mother always tried to protect him and kept telling him to "take it easy," because of he effects of infantile paralysis. But he selected a wife who constantly kept saying "Come on, get out and do something."

Mr. Patterson also gave us some equally interesting highlights, not found in history books, about many of the other presidents. Mostly, his talk was on the humorous side, but one serious thing he did say was that "being President is a tough job and, Democrat or Republican, you should support him while he is in office."

The election results for the 1969-1970 year are:

President: Harold Curie.

1st Vice-President: Howard Timmerman.

2nd Vice-President: Harold Kagey.

3rd Vice-President: Glen Moore.

Secretary-treasurer: Cliff Billow.

Directors (1 year): Frank Amstutz and Hearsel Shockley.

Directors (2 years): Lynn Fisher and Willard Maxwell.

Tailtwister: Harold Murphy.

Lion tamer: Paul Moore.

Community Youth, Parents Urged To Attend Talk By H.C. Winans

A special youth meeting, with parents and other adults also invited, has been set for Wednesday, May 28, 1969.

The speaker will be H. Charles Winans of Garrett, DeKalb County Prosecuting Attorney, who has gained recognition in the past few years for his forceful presentation of the background and philosophy of Communism.

Because of the unrest on college campuses and the effect of such unrest on young people and the society in which they live, understanding and knowledge of tactics used not only by Communism but recognized also in any other un-American political activity has become increasingly important, especially for the increasing number of high school graduates who now attend colleges and universities.

The program has been arranged by Ted Haberkorn, discussion leader of the high school class of St. Mark Lutheran Church School, who stated, "Mr. Winans has updated his presentation due to current social conditions in our nation. The information which he will present is of utmost importance to our youth because it gives them some guidelines in determining for themselves what elements in our society are dangerous to that society. They must be able to recognize, on their own intelligence, the movements, whether social or legislative, which endanger the atmosphere of responsible freedom. Mr. Winans gives a very capable and understanding explanation of the dangers which our society constantly faces."

Mr. Winans, at the age of 38, has had considerable experience in the field of law. He became associated with the DeKalb County prosecutor's office in 1957 as deputy prosecutor, serving in that capacity through 1966 and acting as the chief trial prosecutor in association with two different prosecutors of opposite political affiliation.

He was elected prosecutor in 1966 and his activities have been noted by favorable editorials in newspapers throughout the state. In 1968 he was listed in the historical publication, "Indiana Lives."

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe.

Vicki Sherer, Reva Armstrong Lead 1969 EHS Graduating Class

Miss Vicki Sherer and Miss Reva Armstrong have been designated as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of the graduating class of 1969 at Eastside High School.

Miss Sherer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Sherer of 310 East Oak Street, Butler. Her valedictory award was earned with a scholastic average of 3.972. Miss Sherer has been a member of Future Teachers of America, French Club, National Honor Society, the annual staff, and the band. She will enter Indiana University in September and plans to become a teacher.

Miss Armstrong is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Jr. of Route 1, Butler. Her salutatory award was earned with a scholastic average of 3.923. She has been a member of Future Teachers of America, Girls' Athletic Association, National Honor Society, Spanish Club, band, choir, and the 1968 and 1969 All-State Bands. Miss Armstrong will enter Indiana University this fall and plans to become an English or music teacher.

Baccalaureat Services will be held Sunday, May 25, at 2:30 p.m. for the 1969 graduating class of Eastside High School. Rev. Donald Steitz of the Butler United Methodist Church will present the sermon, Miss Beth DeLong will give the Invocation, Miss Lorene Laux will read the Scripture, and Gary Willibey will offer the Benediction.

The annual Awards Day program will be held on Monday, May 26, at 10:00 a.m. Many awards will be presented at that time to those students who have distinguished themselves in various areas during the past year.

The Commencement program will be held on Tuesday, May 27, at 8:00 p.m. Miss Vicki Sherer, valedictorian, Miss Reva Armstrong, salutatorian, and class representatives Miss Sandra Bissell, Miss Sheila Reinoehl, George Angelone, and James Ridge will present the Commencement speeches. Thomas Seltenright will give the Invocation, and Miss Kristine Smith will offer the Benediction. Mr. Delbert Washler, President of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School Board, will present the diplomas to the graduating seniors.

All the programs will be held in the Eastside High School gymnasium.

Although seating is limited, the public is invited to attend all programs.

Mrs. Lynn Fisher Again Heads PTO

The March 20 meeting of the Riverdale P.T.O. was opened by President Lois Fisher with a welcome address. Devotions were given by Rev. Farrer. Everyone repeated the pledge to the Flag, and the sixth grade band played the national anthem.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given.

Election of officers was held, and it was decided to retain the same officers as last year: president Lois Fisher, vice-president Connie Hollabaugh, secretary Evans Keener, and treasurer Jeri Sechler.

The sixth grade band played several numbers under the direction of Mr. Foster.

Speaker for the evening was a teacher from our school system, Mr. Ishmael Smith.

The president then thanked all committees for their help this year.

Mr. Rader then thanked the band and Mr. Foster, Mrs. Fisher, the home room mothers, and the P.T.O. for their contributions to our library.

Following the business meeting, a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed by those present.

Objection To School Lease Presented; Requested Continuance Not Granted

An objection to a proposed lease agreement was presented at a public hearing Monday, May 19, 1969, in the elementary cafetorium of Butler Elementary School. The hearing was held jointly by the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District and members of the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation.

At 7:30 p.m. the president of the school board, Delbert Washler, and the president of the holding corporation, Dr. Darrell Miller, called their respective memberships to order and roll call was taken of each organization.

Then Mr. Washler outlined the procedure for the hearing and called for the presentation of argument favorable to the proposed lease agreement by which the proposed junior-senior high school would be constructed at Butler. School attorney H. Charles Winans presented a resume of preparations toward the lease agreement and Dr. Miller read a brief statement for the proposal.

Mr. Washler then called for any opposing presentation. Mr. Ted Haberkorn then read a statement objecting to the lease, citing the existence of facilities in DeKalb County adequate to house Eastside students, thus eliminating the need of construction expense in duplicating such high school facilities. The statement also pointed out the additional tax burden on the district with a second junior-senior high school needed in the southern portion of the district in the next 20 years.

The objection also pointed out that, although a circuit court statement in the past had substantiated a remonstrating group's right to have the site location decided in the courts, such opportunity had been denied due to the requirement of posting a prohibitive bond.

A continuance of the hearing was requested in order to allow time for provision of a copy of the proposed lease to legal counsel, an earlier request having been unfulfilled. A continuance was justified by the statement due to the petition for consolidation with the central district, said petition having been filed with the school board secretary on May 17, 1969. It was pointed out that a similar petition is being circulated in the central district.

Another reason for requesting a continuance was that advice had been sought from the state superintendent of public instruction concerning comparative curriculum selectivity, but no information had as yet been received. Such advice had been suggested by the superintendent of the school district in a publicly distributed letter last March.

During a question and answer period, Mr. Haberkorn asked if the tax rate under consolidation were available. Mr. Winans said such figure was not available, but it would be higher than the anticipated rate should the new building program go into effect.

When it was indicated that present facilities are inadequate, Mr. Haberkorn asked if they had been condemned. The answer was that they have not been condemned. The speaker for the objection then asked if consideration had been given to making use of the present facilities, rather than resort to all-new facilities. It was pointed out that the use of present facilities in the central district for high school purposes would present the opportunity to make use of present buildings at Butler for junior high purposes. He noted that the desire for something all-new when it is not absolutely necessary adds to the total cost of education in the county. He noted that equal educational opportunities do not exist in the county, during the presentation.

Following the presentations of both sides, a motion was passed to continue the meeting the following evening, May 20, 1969, and no specific consideration was given to the request for continuance adequate for further study.

166 File Petition To Unite

A petition to consolidate the eastern and central school districts of DeKalb County was filed with the secretary of the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Saturday, May 17, 1969. The petition contained 166 signatures of registered voters in the eastern school district.

A similar petition is seeking signatures in the central district at this time.

Rebellion - Thanklessness

One of the lessons which we ought to learn from the present chaotic conditions on many college and university campuses across the nation is the need for positive steps at the outset of a dispute to perhaps help avoid unjustified inconveniences to the majority of citizens, whether they are on a college campus or not. To some, such an approach stifles freedom, but there is reason to question whether or not the activities now underway on the part of students (or are they?) are properly classified as a "right" in a free nation. Most average citizens sense immediately the rightness or wrongness of everything from government policies to strikes to demonstrations to legislation to regulations, etc., etc. But the tolerance of the public, which is an admirable attribute, can lead to conditions which bring the motivation to destroy not only physical properties and sometimes people themselves but also the very nature of the free society in which they live. In current college disputes, the liberal philosophy which has prevailed has been shown impractical and a contributor to instability.

State Senators Dean Kruse and Allen Bloom recently were the butt of criticism from students on the Fort Wayne campus of Indiana University and Purdue University. There are those who think that the lack of physical violence and destruction means that the students were behaving in a respectable and proper manner; they were not. Having seen a brief television report of the incident and having read newspaper reports thereafter, I find it difficult to sympathize with the students who go along with the spokesmen who lead the onslaught against whatever and whoever made an increase in tuition necessary. The uncomplimentary remarks leveled not only toward the two Senators but also the governor of the state, Edgar B. Whitcomb, indicates to me the immaturity of those individuals who attempt by their "intellectual" mannerisms, appearances and proclamations to give the impression of wisdom and maturity. I'm sorry, but in my book they are just "punks" who have had the privilege of living in a generation during which virtually all things are available to them, but they still are not satisfied. This is, historically, the worst fault of affluency.

With the increasing number of voices being heard from the general public in protest to the activities which have been allowed to grow on the campuses across the nation, it is almost a certainty that our two state senators spoke in true representation of their constituents recently in their confrontation with students. It is a virtual certainty, too, that most of those same constituents think that something should have been done from the start to prevent the extreme activities which have resulted from the indulgence of the university administrators, most of whom from their utterances and viewpoints appear to be of the "liberal" philosophy.

Back to the students. One thing these kids seem to have forgotten is that, as Indiana residents attending a state-supported university, they are receiving a $1,200 schoolarship each year they attend that university, compliments of the taxpayers of the state of Indiana. That amount is approximately the difference in out-of-pocket costs between attending a private institution of learning and a state-supported institution of learning. When every such Hoosier student at a state-supported university is the beneficiary of that kind of benevolence, they owe the Hoosier public a better attitude than is being displayed at the present time.

Just how impractical their liberalistic inspirations can be is illustrated in their lack of understanding of simple economics plus the lack of just being fair. If the amount of money for education is increased with every budget and if the increase is provided for basically by the amount of taxes collected which must necessarily be raised, why is it unreasonable to raise the tuition for the student also? And as far as tuition is concerned, the state legislators did not raise the tuition; the university administration did—the same administration which every two years belabors our state senators and representatives with cries of doom if "education" doesn't get all the money it wants. If we gave "education" everything it asked for, we would go bankrupt! Education overestimates itself.

It's a good thing we had the governor and the legislature we did in 1969, including Senators Kruse and Bloom. Perhaps they should have been even more frugal, if increasing education's appropriations by 20% can be called frugal. The lack of appreciation for what is being done for education, exhibited and expressed everywhere from university administrators down through the teachers and the students, does little to gain the respect of the public. In fact, in the eyes of the public, such actions are more appropriate from spoiled brats.

—And if anyone thinks I am unsympathetic toward the students, take note that an unsigned "open letter" from Bloomington was published in the May 8 issue of this paper, giving someone a chance to express themselves without identification; such a privilege is not considered the best in journalistic procedures, generally speaking. But in company with the majority of the "square and unsympathetic" adult generation, I give the young people more than a fair break, whether they think so or not. Not all newspapers have given such privilege to that particular letter.

Farm Bureau Supports Diligence

A small folder distributed by the Logansport Community School Corporation recently takes taxpayers to task for delaying the building of school facilities by remonstrances, court injunctions, etc.

A survey of 18 Hoosier school corporations where delays were incurred since 1962, the folder says, indicates that eventual costs of the school facilities were increased from as little as 2% to 94%.

"Thirteen of the delays," the author complains, "were attributed to remonstrances and court injunctions by patrons who desired to save taxpayer dollars."

The report points out that the delays not only increased the costs of the facilities but that it necessitated the cutting out of numerous areas in the buildings. "Cut out" in two instances were stadiums for each school, swimming pool and some stage equipment.

While the report paints an interesting picture of the forest, we think it misses the trees.

It is not startling to discover that the prices of things have risen steadily since 1962. The same can be said for cars, tractors, bicycles, typewriters, interest rates, and nearly everything else.

The fact that taxpayers sometimes resort to law to oppose public building programs should not come as a shock to anyone either. Legal provisions for remonstrance and injunction were put in the laws for such use by citizens.

Neither should it be surprising that groups of taxpayers are becoming more and more critical in their appraisal of education expenditures which run their property taxes up to record-breaking heights. With all the furor over skyrocketing property taxes (70% of which are spent for education), with talk of property tax revolt, and with little help offered in this direction by the recent General Assembly, past resistance of taxpayers to big school expenditures could only be the beginning.

No doubt a farmer could have bought a tractor for less money last year or the year before than it will cost him this year, and if he borrowed money to pay for it the interest rate would have been less, but that does not mean that he should have bought the tractor two years ago if he did not need it. Perhaps he did have to get along without one or two frills by waiting, or maybe he saved up for additional years and borrowed less.

Farmers are for good schools, and are for adequate funds to support them, but they are not willing to pay an unfair share of the local property tax load for unnecessary frills.

Farm Bureau local affairs committees will continue to take increasing interest in local school budgets, building programs and other programs. They are taking the interest in local education that the Logansport folder calls for, but they will not give blind indorsement to programs, just because a school board suggested it.

After all, how is a "strike" by a minority of school patrons against a building program more reprehensible than a strike by a minority of teachers against the school board?

Blazers Win 2

by Phil Miller

On Saturday, Eastside swept both games of a twin bill from Lakeland at the home diamond. The first game saw the Blazers pound out a 14-5 triumph and in the second game the Blazers scored a late inning 6-5 victory.

Dale Curry smashed five hits in six times at bat and Denny Ginder and Charles Ross each pitched very strong games to lead the Blazers to the two victories.

In the opener the Blazers slashed out 12 hits, scoring three runs in both the third and fourth innings, capping their performance with 8 runs in the sixth inning. Ginder went the distance on the mound, allowing five hits and striking out six.

In the second game, which was shortened to five innings, Eastside jumped into a quick lead, scoring four runs on four singles and two walks in the first inning. Lakeland, however, had scored five runs in the first two innings to take the lead. But Ross allowed no one past second base in the final three innings. Ross also ran for three stolen bases in the doubleheader.

The Blazers are preparing for the Sectional Tournament to be held at Angola May 27 and 31.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Ted:

I would like to take this means of saying "thank you for a very enjoyable evening" to Paula Foster, Richard Foster, Rosanna Briegel, Mary Vanderbeck, Hubert Stackhouse, and the many Eastside students who presented "Panorama of Music: 1969" last Friday and Saturday. I believe that I can speak for all who were there when I say that the efforts put forth were well worth the results. We can all be very proud of the youth of our school. The enthusiasm and pride for their school was quite evident.

As president of the Eastside Music Boosters, I would like to ask the parents of these students to consider what we can do to keep the enthusiasm and pride. There are various projects still to be completed. We need your ideas and help.

A new year is almost upon us. To the seniors of 1969, we say a special thanks for sharing their talents with us the past four years and best wishes for the future that awaits them.

There will be a meeting of the Music Boosters on Tuesday, June 3, at 8:00 p.m., in the high school library to elect officers for the coming year. We invite all parents, and any other music patrons, to attend this meeting and help plan for the projects for the coming year.

Mrs. Erving Vendrely Named To Board

Mrs. Erving Vendrely of Spencerville is among the group of new board of director members of the DeKalb County Red Cross. The annual dinner meeting and election was held May 13 at Greenhurst Country Club at Auburn.

Mrs. William Rosenberry of Rl Butler serves as secretary of the organization.

Arie Van Straten of Auburn, immigrant cabinet-maker from Holland, addressed the meeting and described the differences between Red Cross in his homeland and in the United States.

Due to firsthand knowledge of the need for blood, Hollanders need no soliciting, no telephone calls, no urging to come to the Bloodmobile. Donors contribute their blood during the evening hours of 6:00 p.m. to midnight. And every donor gets a shot of whiskey.

Red Cross in Holland is organized for any type of disaster, and a Red Cross member, no matter what position is held, takes some kind of training for a specific job when emergency strikes.

Mr. Van Straten pointed out that Americans do not know what war is, in terms of destruction of the land and properties. Only the servicemen in combat are aware of such destruction. It is, therefore, more difficult to get any amount of enthusiasm or response in trying to organize American communities for disaster possibilities. But Mr. Van Straten strongly urged that such preparation be undertaken in every community.

Jessie Baxter gave an eloquent testimonial for the blood donor program, pointing out that when blood was needed at DeKalb Memorial Hospital for an auto accident emergency transfusion, it was immediately available from the hospital's supply.

"Better to give blood than send flowers," Mrs. Baxter concluded.

The Red Cross is a more active and effective organization than is often recognized. The following information was presented at the meeting to show the scope of Red Cross activity in DeKalb County.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Two young men came in a couple of weeks ago and asked if I could come to the P.T.O. meeting for sure and get some pictures of the junior high band in action. I said sure. But I forget that I had planned to attend our church's synod convention which ran for four days, including the Tuesday of P.T.O., so I didn't get any photos.

I appreciate having people let me know these things and I want to get as many of our community people and activities in pictures as possible. Sometimes, however, it just does not work out. I hope this will not discourage others from letting me know about significant activities; there is no wish nor intent to ignore them. But sometimes I can't be at two places at once — and sometimes I just plain forget!

There was a seventh and eighth grade "graduation" at the community building in Spencerville last week end, I understand. I didn't hear about it in advance, and I don't know for sure whom to contact for some information. !!!!

Pat Kern called Tuesday to say that a couple of Beagle pups are hanging around the Kern country estate, apparently "dumped" a couple of weeks ago just down the road. She doesn't want to dispose of them until she knows for sure that they are unattached. Or, if someone wans a pup, they can stop in at the Kerns' place and take a look.

Rec'n Program Starts Monday

Girls' kickball teams (1:00 p.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays, June 3 and 5, starting days)—Team 1 - Kay Stromboek, Debbie Culbertson, Susan Dwyer, Cheryl Hudson, Bollene Hewitt, Tonda Doll, Tamara Heyman, Patti Markle, Beth Hollabaugh, Karlene Hewitt, Laura Bevington, Deeanda Heyman, Teresa Akey, Cathy Kern; Team 2 - Linda Carper, Donna DePriest, Janet Culbertson, Candy Richmond, Christine Miller, Carolyn Mann, Susan Snyder, Laurie Loy, Leota Curie, Lucinda Bevington, Jayne Dwyer, Robin Inlow, Mona Kinsey, Theresa Kern.

The bus for summer swimming lessons will leave from the Newville store June 30 at 7:15 a.m. It will leave from the Riverdale elementary school at 7:45 a.m. The bus will depart from the Spencerville Community Hall at 8:00 a.m., for the Auburn Community Swimming Pool. All students should bring $5.00 for the swimming lessons.

Mr. Knisely drove into the path of the train at the B&O crossing on County Road 63 a half-mile east of Saint Joe. He was thrown from the truck on impact while heading south on the crossing. The truck was a right-hand drive model, and was struck on the left side.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Haberkorn:

I certainly appreciated your sending me your editorial from The Saint Joe News. I was most interested in what you had to say about the time situation in Indiana.

Thank you for your efforts to keep me informed.

Best regards.

Sincerely,
Vance Hartke
United States Senator

Mr. Ted Haberkorn
The News
St. Joe, Indiana 46785

Dear Friend:

As you may be aware, I have taken a stand in favor of President Nixon's proposal for the Sentinel ABM system.

Enclosed you will find a booklet entitled: "The ABM And The Changed Strategic Military Balance U.S.A. vs. U.S.S.R.," which in my view graphically describes why the President's proposal must be funded by the Congress. I thought you would like to have this information for whatever use you would care to make of it.

Very sincerely yours,
E. Ross Adair
Member, U.S. Congress

The booklet is available for public inspection at The News Office, for any who may be interested in the "how and why" of defense proposals costing billions of dollars.—Ed.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Mildred Jarrett

The May meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors was held Tuesday night, May 20.

Merle Wagner, in presenting devotions, gave the national and Christian meanings of Memorial Day, and led in prayer.

President Floyd Pfierman said he wished to see the Local Affairs Committee after the meeting.

Paul Glenger, area field man, explained the Direct Billing System suggested by the State and answered numerous questions. Following careful consideration, it was decided that we try the new system for a year. The legal agreement was read aloud, then signed by the president and secretary.

Edna Perkins, County Woman Leader, reported her search for an American Flag on a standard to be displayed in our meeting room, and for an 80 cup aluminum percolator.

Mrs. Perkins reminded that International and Farm Bureau Funds are due.

Important dates to remember are: June 29, County Farm Bureau Picnic at the Saint Joe Conservation Grounds; July 23, Farm Bureau Women's Alumni with Wilmington-Stafford women as hostesses.

Mr. Glenger asked how many listen to the program that Steuben County Farm Bureau has been sponsoring on WIPP radio Wednesdays at 3 p.m.

Mary Carpenter is to have devotions in June.

DEKALB COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The May meeting of the DeKalb County Historical Society was held in the Eckhart Public Library in Auburn May 18, with president Stanley Meana presiding.

John Martin Smith reported that he and a number of the other board members had met with the County Commissioners to discuss the possible relocation of the log cabin that Mrs. Anna Surface has donated to the Historical Society. Mrs. Harry Hansell told of visiting a log cabin at Storm Lake, Iowa, that the Historical Society had placed in a park and was using as a museum. She also suggested a possible site for the Surface cabin.

The next meeting of the Northeastern Historical Society will be held in Angola June 15. The next meeting of the DeKalb County Historical Society will be held July 20.

Did you know....

—that President Richard M. Nixon has asked that the American flag be displayed at half-staff all day Memorial Day as a special mark of respect for those Americans who have given their lives in Vietnam.

—that registration for the 1969 Summer Session at Indiana University-Fort Wayne will begin Thursday, June 12.

—that approximately a half-million Indiana registered trucks, truck-trailers, and buses will require inspection on or before August 31, 1969.

—that American Legion posts throughout Indiana have selected 927 outstanding high school students to participate in the Hoosier Boys' State, running June 7-14 on the Indiana State University campus at Terre Haute. The annual eight-day program for selected high school students to participate in practical government is sponsored by the American Legion, Department of Indiana.

WITH THE EDITOR

Margaret Drerup called this week to say that she has a school annual from 1946 for Spencerville High School which she has no use for. If anyone would like to have the annual, call Margaret at 925-2607.

Mrs. Dale Dirrim found a billfold this week. It evidently belongs to a youngster, since its contents include several school pictures of local youth. The owner can claim it at the News Office with proper indentification.

Mrs. Walter Reinhart commented Tuesday that, last year, she and "Peck" made a tour of the ship which picked up our "moonstronauts" a couple of weeks ago, when son Rock was serving aboard back in 1968.

Bill Hurni reported last week that someone stole the tree given by Anna Hursey and Mrs. Jay Hart to the local park. An olive tree was also taken.

Bill Quance of Auburn stopped in last week just before Memorial Day when he was over here at the cemetery. He is a nephew of Mrs. Fred Leigh ty, who is now confined at Memorial Hospital after suffering a hip injury in a recent fall. Lora is now 85 years young and, until recent injuries due to falls, got around quite spryly, including an occasional visit to Saint Joe for old times' sake.

Back in 1946 Bill helped to publish this paper right after Fred was killed in front of the old News Office on the main street, and Lora needed help to keep The News rolling.

Vera Jackson dropped off some interesting mementoes of the past, including several post cards with pictures of Saint Joe dating back to the early 1900s. The old bank, the old water mill, Saint Joe Christian, Lutheran, and Methodist churches and the mill at Saint Joe are included. You wouldn't recognize the main street.

Vera also had photos from way back when in the Roto section of the News-Sentinel, I presume, when a big hunting party from this area went to Maine. Shown in those pictures are Dr. Frank Sliberg of Spencervile and Hugh M. Widney and Merritt Hull of Saint Joe.

Another photo shows the "St. Joe High School Graduates of 1923." Included are Doris Kessler, Carl H. Johnson, D. Wilbur Yeiser, Mildred Murphy, Bessie Rupp, Delvin Armstrong, Dorothea Scholes, Charles Miser, Millard Smith, Juanita Kinsey, Russel A. Wade, and Cleota B. Morr.

Attend Conv'tion

The Indiana State Federation of Women's Republican clubs held its biennial convention in the Murat Temple at Indianapolis this week.

Mrs. Grace Phelps, DeKalb County vice chairman; Mrs. Berniece Wilder, president of the Concord-Newville-Spencer club; Mrs. Joan Knepper, president of the Jackson-Union club; Mrs. Edith Yard, president of the Butler-Keyser club; Mrs. Iris Thomas, president of the Grant-Fairfield-Richland-Smithfield club attended.

Delegates of each club will also attend.

Patriotism Of Local Citizens Saves Local Memorial Day Observance

Due to the efforts of several individuals, Memorial Day 1969 at Saint Joe was carried on in the tradition of the past 75 years, despite the fears that perhaps the patriotic observance was about to die due to growing apparent disinterest. These individuals deserve the thanks of the community, plus a pledge from local citizens to make a more conscientious effort in coming months and years to give greater thought to appropriate and historical holidays.

Frank Sechler and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bevington were responsible for seeing to it that a parade and program were presented. Mr. Sechler reported this week a "fine turnout" of Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scouts, and Boy Scouts from the Saint Joe and Spencerville communities. Lehr Wilder gave an excellent talk and there were many comments about "how beautiful the cemetery looked", "never saw it look so good," etc. A floral wreath, presented by Leon Kess for the American Legion, was made by Mrs. Carlos Church.

Along with the above individuals responsible for the program, it was an old faithful Legionnaire, Harvey Hull, who saw to it that American flags waved from the graves of veterans of wars in American history. Struggling to walk with a cane, slowly and painfully, Mr. Hull made the rounds of Riverside Cemetery the day before Memorial Day. With the floral arrangements also on the graves, the cemetery was, indeed, a beautiful site last week end.

The comments about the appearance of the cemetery were due to the efforts of two young men who have been maintaining the cemetery, which for the past several years has been under the jurisdiction of the local town board. Roger Coburn and Richard Musser made special efforts the week before Memorial Day to make the local cemetery as attractive as possible.

Mr. Sechler commented concerning Memorial Day in the community, "It is the feeling now that the services will be continued indefinitely by various organizations and remain a part of the patriotic tradition carried on in the community for the past 75 years. The Memorial Day parade and services were successful in spite of only a week's publicity and the feeling by some that last year's services were to be the last."

With so much American tradition being ignored and ridiculed in these times, it is certainly to be hoped that such patriotic observances will be continued and that as much attention may be devoted to what we do have as is devoted now to what we don't have.

—The Editor

Harvey Hull was responsible for the appearance of American flags on the graves of American war veterans at Riverside Cemetery for the Memorial Day program last Friday. With a cane in one hand to steady his slow shuffle and a bundle of flags in the other hand, Harvey completed the job which he has done for many years. (See next column.)

Pearl Smith

Pearl A. Smith, a resident of Saint Joe for twenty years, died at the age of 73 Tuesday, May 29, in DeKalb Memorial Hospital in Auburn. She had been hospitalized for four months.

Mrs. Smith was born in Logansport on April 24, 1895, to Jens and Sara Jane Kelly Stephenson. Her husband, Bernard Smith, preceded her in death. There were no children.

Surviving are two borthers, Edward Stephenson of Flint, Mich., and Charles Stephenson of Logansport.

She was a member of the Immaculate Conception Church in Auburn.

Funeral services were held at the church Saturday, with Father Matthew Lange officiating.

Burial was in the Catholic cemetery in Fort Wayne.

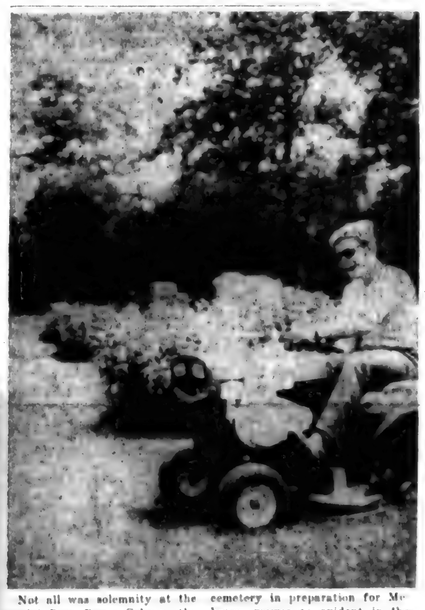
50-Plus Club

Thursday evening, May 29, at 6:30, the Fifty Plus Club held a very delightful meeting with about 45 present. The Senior Citizens Club from Leo and Cedarville came with well filled baskets.

Mrs. Lehr Wilder showed pictures of their trip to Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Andrew Ward conducted Bingo games, with many winning various prizes, especially the bald men receiving combs for their efforts.

Doc Baumgartner and Mr. Sink did a good job of publicity for the meeting. We would like to have this group grow.



Not all was solemnity at the cemetery in preparation for Memorial Day. Roger Coburn, the happy mower as evident in the above photo, manned his riding mower in preparation for the holiday week end.

Richard Musser assisted Roger Coburn in preparing the cemetery. Hand-push mowers were utilized in trimming around the hundreds of stone memorials in Riverside Cemetery.

God's Spiritual-Practical Plan

There was only a small group present, nine to be exact, but the fact that it was 9:40 p.m. when the meeting broke up seems to indicate the interest promoted by H. Charles Winans last week through his presentation of "Law and Disorder." The group included Stanley Laudahn, Jerry Mansfield, Mark Snyder, David Snyder, Phil Haberkorn, Franklyn Sechler, Rev. Russell Snyder, pastor of St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe where the meeting was held, and myself.

Mr. Winans, DeKalb County's prosecuting attorney, gave a historical background of the significance of law in American society as opposed to so-called "law" in societies which do not function in freedom. He pointed out the Godless fundamental of Communism, a fundamental which can also be prevalent in philosophies under names other than "Communism."

It was only natural that much of the discussion centered eventually around the college campus unrest and accompanying circumstances. During the discussion (and this illustrates, I think, how such discussions bring not only a sharing of thoughts and views but also occasionally a new realization) it occurred to me that somehow, in the planning of things by the Good Lord, the process of punishment for wrongdoing occurs without our realizing it. And this is the point I made:

The "old fashioned" and "outdated" moralists in our society, who have been ridiculed by the attitude of the "now" generation and those older ones who give it encouragement, would seem to be vindicated by the situation on the campuses today. In the past few years, there has been a relaxation of rules governing the social activities of the students. The students have complained that they have not been given enough freedom, and their complaints have been strong enough and, again, received encouragement to the extent that we now have dormitories with both men and women residents, and we have very little if any regulation as far as curfew hours. Those of us who have been appalled at the universities' willingness to overlook the temptations promoted by such lack of regulation were, in times past, considered rather silly. The "maturity" of the student of today has been held before us as justification for granting greater freedoms.

But look what has happened. Sex activity has constantly increased on the college campus for one thing. But another circumstance is more significant in the matter of physical destruction of property and disruption of the normal educational activities on the campus. Setting aside the moralists' motivation to seek regulation, and speaking from a practical standpoint, if general regulations had NOT been relaxed in the last few years, if curfew hours had not been virtually eliminated (if not completely eliminated), the late-hour and all-night gatherings and demonstrations would not have occurred. Or, at least, there would not have been the opportunity to generate the attention as has been possible when students can wander at their pleasure at any hour of the night.

This is, to me, a resounding justification for those of us who say, concerning much of the "liberal" approach to life today, "It's going to bring trouble." Without becoming self-righteous, one can truthfully say that the troubles we experience now are the result of straying from the lessons evident from the past. It's in the Good Book, my young friends, it's a part of the "Eternal Truth" found only in the Bible. When temptation is invited, trouble will surely follow.

My pastor told me last week, after he had talked with students on campus during our church's synod convention, that the students spoke of God and they challenged him, the pastor, concerning God and the church. What they evidently do not do, however, is speak of God as being above them, rather that He is around but as something separate and apart from them. Young people of every generation have the desire to disprove that which tends to govern. Thus, God becomes a primary target through criticism of the church. What "youth" of every generation does not realize, because of its immaturity, is that man has enough trouble trying to prove his worthiness without increasing his problems by emphasizing his unworthiness.

From our small meeting last week of young men and representatives of their parent generation, there came for me a substantiation of faith. I see in the chaos on the campus today the result of ignoring guidelines set forth by divine inspiration; practical problems are the result.

If university administration had remembered the weakness of youth, rather than accepted the avowed strength of youth as proclaimed by youth itself, if university administration had not relaxed its principles as far as regulations are concerned, the apparent small elements on campus which have disrupted academic freedom instead of strengthening it would not have the opportunity to function as freely as they have. In practical terms, if our students were in bed sleeping because the rules said they could not be out, there would be no student meetings of the sort which have been promoted.

The situation would not have been eliminated totally; but it certainly would be less disruptive.

It's in "The Book."

Dear Loretta ?

by Loretta Loy

This week we would like to extend a warm welcome to Master Gunnery Sergeant John D. Simerman and his family. John, his wife, Carol, and three children, Greg, David and Susan, have moved their mobile home to Hart Street in Saint Joe.

Carol is the sister of Mrs. John Shull of Spencerville. Sgt. John's brother, Jim, is married to my sister, Beverly. They live in Fort Wayne.

Sgt. Simerman has been in the Marine Corps for 20 years. His time is up in December.

He has just returned from a 13-month tour of duty in Vietnam.

Carol and the children waited for him in North Carolina.

John is now stationed in Glenville, Illinois, and we hope to see him around on week ends.

Welcome to Saint Joe, John and Carol.

Dave Haberkorn is home for a two-week leave from the Army. He returns to Hunter Air Base, Georgia, June 16. Dave will be discharged in December after a three-year hitch.

May 14, 1969
Wednesday

Hi Loretta,

I received your letter today, so I thought while I had some time I would sit down and answer it. I am not very good at writing letters, but here goes.

As you know, I am in the Navy, but I am in a different branch of the Navy. I am in the Seabees, a construction battalion. Our job is to build roads, bridges, air strips, and other things that go along with construction work. I am attached to Mobile Construction Battalion 133, in Gulfport, Mississippi. I've been with them since November 3 of 1967.

I was home last from Dec. 17, 1968 to Jan. 21, 1969 just after I got back from Vietnam. I'll be home on eight days leave in 10 more days, from May 24 to June 2nd. My battalion will be leaving for Viet Nam sometime in June. I came in the Navy back in June of 67. My discharge date is September 3 of this year. I can't really say what my particular job is because I am doing something new almost everyday. Right now I am going through tent erection school. It's not what everyone thinks it is. See, we build a floor and a frame, then throw a canvas over it. It's not as easy as it sounds.

So far I've been through Math and Blueprint Reading School, 5-ton and 1-ton Dump and Transit Mix school, slats matting school, and a three-day radio school.

Whenever we are in condition one in Vietnam my job is radioman for the second platoon of my company.

Well, that's all I have about myself, but I would like to ask you to say hi to everyone for me. I think it's great that people are interested in what all the guys and myself are doing. My grandmother and grandfather send me the paper every time it comes out, and the first thing I look for is that question mark. Keep the good work up. Oh yeah, I almost forgot. You can publish any of this you want, I don't mind. And thank you very much for writing. It feels good hearing from someone there at home.

Sincerely,
Robert E. Arnett

School Group Enjoys Pickle Tour, Picnic At Park

A group of 40 third-graders from Aboite Township Elementary School in Allen County made a tour of Sechler's pickle processing plant last week. When the tour was over, they started for another community for a picnic. Mr. Sechler suggested a visit to the local park for lunch and the suggestion was followed, with such pleasant results that another similar visit is planned for next year. Five mothers accompanied the youngsters, along with their vivacious teacher, Mrs. Gordon Johns, back row left in the above photo. (Apologies to the young man who got "cut off" in the picture.)

4H Workshops

A 4H Clothing Clinic for members enrolled in Divisions IV and above is being planned for Monday, June 9, from 1:30-3:00 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Auburn courthouse. Mrs. Jeanne Baughman, the 1969 judge, will present the program, according to Paula Hamilton, DeKalb County Youth Agent.

Mrs. Baughman will discuss "Standards within the Clothing Project" for the Advanced members, their parents, and 4H leaders. This opportunity to discuss fabric selection and clothing construction techniques with the clothing judge has proven to be extremely worthwhile, and all are urged to attend.

A 4H Photography Workshop is being planned for 4H members, parents, and leaders for Tuesday, June 10 from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. at the Assembly Room in the Auburn courthouse. Mr. Ken Smith, of the KPS Studio in Garrett, and the Extension Service are cooperating in presenting this program, according to Paula Hamilton, Youth Agent.

Members are urged to bring either the year's exhibit or some pictures they have taken so far. Mr. Smith will discuss the components of a good picture, as well as ways of arranging a display board.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstuts

The Saint Joe Lions Club wouldn't have made the average of 27 persons if we hadn't had 4 visitors present.

Walter Moor reported a lot of routine business at the Indianapolis convention. There was no parade this year due to trials for the Decoration Day race.

A magician did a portion of the banquet entertainment. Walter envied the man's ability to cut one of our fellow Lion's necktie into four pieces and then return a complete tie to him.

Cliff Billow also attended the convention, and met with many of the folks who will be his fellow passengers on a plane trip to the International Convention in Tokyo, Japan.

Gordon Hanson, the Boy Scout district representative, discussed the possibilities of getting a new Scout Leader to replace Bob Jacobson. We are open to volunteers or suggestions for the job.

Lion Joe Smith introduced Mike Storer and Debbie McDowell of the Eastside Spanish Club. Debbie showed slide pictures and told us about her six-week stay in Torreon, Mexico, last summer. She was impressed by some of the big five-course dinners she attended; also by the side trips to Mexico City, the bull fight, the pyramids, and by the size of the grape-vineyards and wine vats in the Torreon region. Mostly she showed some pictures of the nicer parts of Mexico, but she also showed deserts mountains, and box cars being used as houses. Yes, she even found time to go to summer school at Torreon.

Gerald Murphy was one of our visitors, and he reports he is getting shots, passports and other incidentals in preparation for a trip to Mexico this summer. We of the Saint Joe Club are happy to see the results of one of our investments.

Forrest Bevington, Riverdale area recreation director, reported that he needed some money for a number of incidentals, so we allowed $100 for that purpose.

Closed For Summer

Due to the various summer activities in the community, "The Unicorn" will be closed for the summer. However, work will be continuing in completing the job of redecorating and other improvements.

Participation is welcome from parents and youth who want "The Unicorn" to stay in operation. Any help, both physical and idea-wise, will be appreciated.

If anyone has time or ideas, they may contact Dick Roberts, Dave Hubbard or Ken Mathes.

Don Nixon also attended to help discuss publicity for the campaign.

The executive director Carl Ebert announced the 12 agencies who will submit budgets as agencies for the 1969-70 United Fund Campaign. The agencies are as follows:

Health group: DeKalb Cancer Assoc., DeKalb Heart Assoc., Mental Health Assoc., Cerebral Palsy.

Care group: Red Cross, Salvation Army, U.S.O., DeKalb Community Services.

As the budgets are approved, the goal will be set and each person will have another opportunity to help go over the top.

A meeting of the budget committee is set for Thursday, June 12. Mr. Haberkorn was appointed to serve as a member of the committee which establishes the amounts to be allocated to the 12 participating agencies.

New Teacher Salary Schedule

By Supt. Kenneth Cole

The Board of School Trustees of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District did at a May 26, 1969, special School Board meeting take action that finalized the negotiations process between the School Board and the local teacher's organization.

Although there were numerous considerations involved in the total negotiations process, the following listed points cover what was ultimately awarded the teachers by the School Board:

(1) A new salary schedule was adopted with beginning Bachelor Degree teachers starting at $6410—the old schedule was $6120. Fifteen year experienced Bachelor Degree teachers on the new schedule are to receive $9185—the old schedule was $8845. Beginning Master Degree teachers are to receive $6700—the old schedule was $6400. Master Degree teachers with twenty-one years experience are to receive $11,200—the old schedule was $10,600 with twenty years experience.

(2) In the past the School Board has paid $69.00 toward the single premium cost of Blue Cross-Blue Shield with Major Medical. Next contract year the School Board is to pay to within $1.00 of the total cost of a single premium for Blue Cross-Blue Shield with Major Medical for each teacher who chooses to become a member of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. Based only on the present cost of the teachers' group Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan, this would be an increased payment of $16.40 per member who chose to participate in the Plan.

(3) GAA (Girl's Athletic Association) sponsors of which there are two were raised from $100 per year to $250 per year. GAA sponsors coach at least four competitive sports and supervise the girls who do not choose to compete on an interschool basis.

(4) It was also agreed that the President of the Eastern DeKalb Education Association by arrangement with the School Superintendent could have up to one day of professional leave to conduct Education Association business provided said professional leave would never be requested less than a half a day at a time.

(5) The school calendar as adopted by the School Board does reflect two half day sessions to be used for professional meetings, in-service training, etc.

It would appear that with their leaves, paid health and accident insurance, other fringe benefits, and a salary schedule that topped out at $9185 in fifteen years in the Bachelor's column, and topped out at $11,200 in twenty-one years in the Master's column, the teachers in the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District are as well of as any other teachers in the county.

The proposed schedule is as follows:

Non-degree teachers: no experience, $5000; 1 year experience, $5100; 2 years, 5230; 3 years, 5360; 4 years, 5490; 5 years, 5630; 6 years, 5750; 7 years, 5880; 8 years, 6010; 9 years, 6140; 10 years, 6270.

Bachelor's degree teachers: no experience, $6410; 1 year, 6595; 2 years, 6780; 3 years, 6965; 4 years, 7150; 5 years, 7335; 6 years, 7520; 7 years, 7705; 8 years, 7890; 9 years, 8075; 10 years, 8260; 11 years, 8445; 12 years, 8630; 13 years, 8815; 14 years, 9000; 15 years, 9185.

Master's degree or 5 years in training: no experience, $6700; 1 year, 6900; 2 years, 7115; 3 years, 7330; 4 years, 7545; 5 years, 7760; 6 years, 7945; 7 years, 8190; 8 years, 8405; 9 years, 8620; 10 years, 8835; 11 years, 9050; 12 years, 9265; 13 years, 9480; 14 years, 9695; 15 years, 9910; 16 years, 10,125; 17 years, 10,340; 18 years, 10,555; 19 years, 10,770; 20 years, 10,985; 21 years, 11,200.

From State Rep. Coleman---

Dear author and signers of the open letter to the people of Indiana:

Your open letter was printed in several papers in our area with different names for endorsement. Some papers printed your leter with no endorsement. Your boycotting of classes, in my opinion, was an extravagant waste of precious time which might have been more wisely used furthering your education, or working and earning. If either of my 2 children attending I.U. were involved in this boycott, I'd discontinue their support and hope they could find a job. How do your parents feel about recent student protests? Certainly it seems you may have a measure of legitimate gripe, but since the recipient is the chief benefactor of an education, it seems you should be willing to bear a greater part of the investment cost. A more gradual fee increase would have seemed more expedient, but your will will find a way if you truly want an education. "Free" education is too cheap. Adequate loans should be available for all willing to work and learn.

In your 4th statement you say, "Stated in the Constitution of the State of Indiana, the State guarantees a free education for the people of the State." This does not apply! It was never intended to include college.

I personally was in favor of more adequate funding of higher education, but please beware lest SDS (Students for Destruction of Society) use you as their puppets. Too bad the I.U. library had to be a target of protest.

Long hard work is itself a great and necessary part of any education. We value little that which costs us little. Perhaps more should apply for student jobs. I.U. Commons paid 25 cents per hour when I worked there and 40 cents per hour for special summer jobs, washing windows, walls, etc. in the dorms. If you have an honest face and heart you can probably get almost an interest-free loan for the trying. Many loans and scholarships have been made available in recent years, and more may be needful. At any rate, I plead for law and order, while concerned people seek above for wisdom to know and do.

WITH THE EDITOR

Suzie Baker and Kay Stromberck informed me a couple of weeks ago of some news which I had not heard. Suzie was a little shy about telling it, since she is involved. She and Charles Curie recently received the American Legion award for citizenship, such awards given to members of the eighth grade at Riverdale.

Rich Musser is talking rather strangely this week, mainly because he had his tonsils removed last Friday and his throat is still tender. The guys have been giving him a hard time about his disinterest while in the hospital. He felt so bad, he didn't even pay any attention to the nurses.

Some bold individuals made off wih a radiator off an old '53 Ford at Carl Carpenter's south farm last week. Earlier an old clock was taken from the house. Carl found a pocket knife lying in the hood of the car. It has a brown and cream pearl-type handle. The owner can claim it by getting in touch with Carl—as can the owner of a man's Japanese-type sandal, also found at the south farm.

Charlotte Hudson sends the following note:

"Dear Ted:

"Here is Mike's new address —would you please send the paper there?

"Lt. M. A. Hudson

"Burkburnette, Texas 76354
"Thanks.

"He really looks forward to the paper!"

Participating Industry, Students Listed In Vocational Program

The Board of Education of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District, acting under the advisement of The Local Advisory Committee for Cooperative Education, has issued Certificates of Appreciation for outstanding service and participation in the Eastside High School Industrial Cooperative Training program to 12 local and area business firms. Mr. William Scruts, coordinator for the program, reports that, during the 1968-69 school year, these businesses provided 13,190 hours of on-the-job training for 14 Eastside students.

The Industrial Cooperative Training program is a State Department of Public Instruction sanctioned program whereby high school students can legitimately attend high school a half-day and take on-the-job training in business and industry during the other half-day. The advantage gained is that student participants can learn skills on machinery and equipment that few high schools could afford to own, or could procure teachers for if the machinery were avilble.

The following listed businesses were those recognized by the School Board and the I.C.T. Advisory Committee: Bohn Aluminum, Butler; Commercial Shearing & Stamping, Butler; Hendrickson Tandem Corporation, Butler; R. W. Johnson Oil Co., Auburn; Kaiser Plumbing, Heating & Electrical, Butler; Maxton Motors Inc., Butler; Mold Service Inc., Butler; Ralph Sechler & Son, Saint Joe; Spencerville Marathon, Spencerville; S&S Oil Co., Auburn; Saint Joe Locker; Universal Tool & Stamping, Butler.

The Industrial Cooperative Training Program of Eastside High School has completed its first year of operation with the issuing of certificates to the students who successfully completed this one-the-job course.

The students, their jobs, employers, hours on the job, and related classroom study hours are as follows:

Charles Arnett, R1, Butler; industrial maintenance; Ralph Sechler & Son, Saint Joe; 652 hour on the job; 163 hours related classroom training.

Marlin Betz, 409 Canal St., Butler; machine trades; Universal Tool & Stamping, Butler; 628 hours on the job; 163 hours classroom training.

Scout Troop Wins Ribbons

Boy Scout Troop 173 of Saint Joe participated in a Camporee at Bixler Lake during the past week end. Sixteen troops including approximately 250 Boy Scouts from the Pokagon District attended the campout.

The Saint Joe Troop, with 10 boys in two patrols, won blue ribbons for general all-around camping. Five blue ribbons were given in this category, with the two Saint Joe patrols each earning one.

The troop also won a red ribbon for their "gateway" entry to the camporee.

Scoutmaster Frank Sechler reported this week that the troop committee now includes John Kocheri, who serves as chairman, Sam Hood, William Beebe, and Jim Kline. He also reported that Calvin Hull of Garrett will take the local troop to summer camp at Little Turle Scout Camp near Pleasant Lake August 3. The local American Legion Post has agreed to provide two new tents for troop activities.

Assisting Mr. Sechler are Don Sechler and John Sechler, assistant Scoutmasters, Roger Evans, junior assistant Scoutmaster, and Victor Dermott, senior patrol leader.

A Board of Review will be held July 7 with a Court of Honor scheduled July 14, both meetings to be held at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe, where the troop holds its regular meetings.

Letters to the Editor

(reprinted from The Auburn Star)

Dear Editor:

I understand that the DeKalb County Highway Department is planning to move to a new location.

The place presently selected is property designated as the DeKalb County Home, northwest of Auburn. If present plans are carried out it will be fairly close to and just east of the residence home.

I am opposed to the location for several reasons:

1. It is not a strategic location. Certainly there are other places in the county that are closer to the main traveled roads and are more suitable for this type of operation.

2. It will increase truck and grader traffic, thus creating a hazard to residents of the home.

3. It is close to the DeKalb County Home and will entice residents of the home to bother the operation, which could result in injury to themselves or to employees of the highway department.

4. It will decrease the appraised value of the DeKalb County Farm and of the land in the area by many thousand dollars.

I wish to commend the employers of the DeKalb County Highway Department for doing a fine job and keeping things in as good a shape as possible. The very nature of their work, however, requires salt, sand, worn out equipment, culvert pipes, both new and used to be stored outside.

5. Donating the land to the Highway Department will not reduce property taxes!

The County Highway operates on its own budget solely from gasoline taxes. It should buy its own land, build its own garages. The County should not be expected to give high productive land to the Highway Department. It has been operating with a surplus for several years.

6. The County Home may need expansion! In the not too distant future, it may become economically feasible to build a building to care for County Welfare patients. The setting would be much more desirable if the proposed Highway garage were located elsewhere.

The Highway Department has existed in very limited quarters for a long time and certainly needs to expand.

I sincerely hope the DeKalb County Commissioners, the County Council and the DeKalb Planning Commission will investigate a more suitable location before a final decision is made. Let's not start cutting up a very pleasant spot we are proud to call our DeKalb County Home.

Just drive past sometime and envision, if you will, the Highway Department locating out there. Let's keep the DeKalb County Home as pleasant and as safe as possible for our senior citizens.

Thanks for listening,
Cecil Fitch

Red Cross GI Gift Bag Project

Christmas shopping is coming seven months ahead of time in 1969 for DeKalb County Red Cross.

For the fourth successive year, the Red Cross Chapter here is joining with others across the country in a nationwide project to prepare gift bags to be distributed to U.S. servicemen and women stationed in Vietnam at Christmas time. The Chapter has been asked by the national organization to make and fill one hundred and thirty-five bags.

Dr. Paul Trausch of Auburn, county chairman of the work, says "Red Cross Shop Early—Vietnam '69" is intended to be a "tangible way for Americans to say we care about our troops in Vietnam."

"This is not exclusively a Red Cross program," Dr. Trausch continued, "but a community-wide affair in which individuals, groups, organizations, and business firms are participating." Funds contributed give advantages in choice of gifts at the most favorable prices.

Preparation of the bags will be done by a number of sewing workers, under organization of Mrs. J. A. Bower and Mrs. F. A. Bower. Each bag contains a holiday greeting card, with the name of the contributor. Also included will be letters from the Junior Red Cross members of Ober School, Garrett. The Red Cross committees are aiming at completion of the project by September 15.

Among the items packed in each bag are: ballpoint pens, plastic soap case, small packages of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, small address book, plastic tooth brush holder, Kool-Aid, vacuum-packed candies and nuts, wash cloth, nail clipper, plastic cigarette case, comb, pocket games (cards, chess, checkers), wash & dry packs.

Donations of advertising items such as pens, cards, pocketbooks, etc., by area business firms is encouraged. The committee hopes that individuals, and groups will help finance the project. Last year, cost of supplies with shipping charges amounted to approximately $4.00 per unit. Checks may be sent to Dr. Paul Trausch, 116 West 6th Street, Auburn, or DeaKlb County American Red Cross, courthouse, Auburn.

Private Immorality Is Public

It is not unusual to hear one ask, "What's wrong with the world," or "What's wrong with this country," or "What's wrong with people?" One of these questions is not always asked when there has been an obvious breaking of the written law; the consternation which the question reflects is often due to the actions of a person or group of persons who are, technically, within the law or who are exercising their "rights" as an individual citizen. There is often a justification given for the actions of those who cause a frown upon the brows of some citizens, but somehow the justifications seem to be falling short. Some people do seem to be recognizing finally that "rights" are not all that they are cracked up to be, just within themselves.

There have been a few incidents in recent weeks, one in recent days, to make me feel saddened at the general breakdown in morality in our society of today. Basic honesty with oneself, if not with God, does not seem important to so many people. And the temptations which can confront a person can be "sugared" by those who present the temptation.

For instance, our Number Two son is home at present on two weeks' leave from the Army. He bought a used car a few days ago. Do you know what the parting suggestion was from the person who sold him the car? Here it is: "When you get your license, you can save yourself some money if you want to tell the license bureau you only paid $700 for the car. There is no way for them to know, and it makes no difference to us."

Here is a prime example of what is wrong with our society today—and you can put it in one word—hypocrisy. The sacrifices of certain people are extolled, including the men who are serving on active duty in the armed forces. But the average citizen thinks first of selfish motivations in everyday matters, including the sale of a used automobile. It is bad enough to be tempted on one's own thinking not to report the correct sale price of a car; but worse still is the temptation from another source. Unthinkingly, people are tempting others today, more than ever before, just for the sake of a few dollars. If you wonder what is wrong today, here it is—we will sell our soul for a few dollars. No, not everybody is doing it; there are some who do resist the temptation. However, the cheaters are growing in number, and there is always that tempting justification: "Everybody else is doing it; why not you?"

The saddest justification, however, is the one that is an outright lie: "No one will know the difference." There are always two who do know the difference. One is the person who yields to the temptation; the other is—yes, you know, the same old answer you always hear, and everybody knows what it is—God knows the difference.

How strange it is that our nation, with its Christian heritage, reflects today so little respect for God's truth in its everyday existence. Our punishment is our sense of guilt; and we attempt to smother that feeling in material wealth gained sometimes by selfish acts of cheating.

Others say. . . .

STRICTLY PERSONAL by Sydney J. Harris

Speaking of American cities, as I was yesterday, reminded me that I had recently finished reading John Gunther's newest book, "Twelve Cities," which discourses in typical sprightly Gunther fashion on such metropolises as London and Paris, Vienna and Moscow, Jerusalem and Tokyo.

Our American cities, alas, do not show up well against these foreign counterparts.

It should hurt our national pride, for instance, to learn that Moscow, "with its spotless streets, is far cleaner than New York; it is a great industrial city, but has no smog."

According to this veteran journalistic observer, who has been traveling for more than 40 years, "Warsaw is a more harmonious community from several points of view than Los Angeles or Dallas." And such cities as Tel Aviv, Berne and Bruges "are better administered" than most American cities in the same population class.

It comes as no surprise when Gunther informs us that "Vienna has more amenities than Baltimore or St. Louis." But we should pay heed when he states categorically that: "The gross physical squalor, dilapidation, noise and filth in the outskirts of several important American cities would not be tolerated in Stockholm, Ankara, or even Madrid."

No city in Europe, we are told, "has an entrance so brutally unkempt as, let us say, Bruckner boulevard in New York."

Even Beirut could show Detroit or Philadelphia a thing or two, "and Jerusalem, even if it is an Oriental city, is better run and less offensive to the eye and ear than Pittsburgh or Atlanta."

These are esthetic considerations, some of which may be debatable.

What is more disconcerting is Gunther's flat judgment that in such matters as "public spirit" and "urban morals" the European cities are far ahead of us.

"Citizens are law-abiding to a degree, and they have pride in their civic environment."

(As a shocking illustration of this difference, Gunther points out that last year Chicago had well over 500 murders; Brussels, with a population in excess of one million, had exactly THREE murders last year — of which only one was premeditated!)

In London and Paris, the top elected officials serve without pay, and politics do not involve patronage.

"The police are honest by and large, and a crooked judge is virtually unknown."

Not only in England, but throughout most of Europe, criminal jurisprudence is free from the taints and excesses that make our legal system resemble a Wild West show.

"Twelve Cities" is an interesting and sobering book — and a chastening one for Americans who equate the dollar sign with "a high standard of living."

50 GUN LAWS WORK —IT SAYS THERE —"The American Rifleman," March 1969

"Japan's (gun) laws seem to pay off."

"Gun control laws seem to work fairly well in other countries."

Those are quotations from a weekly newspaper published by a private firm for public school children in Ohio and elsewhere. They are part of a "lesson" embodying anti-gun statistics and attitudes.

The "other countries" mentioned are, of course, Japan and England—never all of Great Britain, which includes Scotland with its higher homicide rate. Both are compact island empires with highly homogeneous, orderly populations, quite unlike the U.S.—or Mexico—or Russia.

The educational publication says nothing about neighboring Mexico, which has the strictest gun laws in North America and a homicide rate 2¼ times that of the U.S.

Needless to say, the publication says nothing about Soviet Russia, where rigid gun controls recently failed to prevent an assassination inside the Kremlin and a triple murder by a gunman who made his own ammunition.

The Soviet gun laws are almost perfect from an anti-gun viewpoint. Mere possession of an illegal firearm can send the violator to prison for life, without appeal to kindly democratic courts. Moreover, Soviet gun controls are backed by the whole oppressive might of the world's largest police state.

Mexico can also be tough. Its Federal gun controls are administered by the Army, not by police. Private firearms are subject to registration. When the head of the Mexican hunting federation sought to register his 7 guns, the Army told him 4 was the limit, according to press reports. When he objected, he was told he could not own any guns.

Nevertheless, Mexico with a population of about 45 million had 6,124 homicides in 1965, the last year of official record, compared with 10,712 homicides among a U.S. population of 194,592,000. The rate of homicides in Mexico, with its strong gun laws, was 13.6 per 100,000 population compared with 5.5 in the U.S. Neither, it should be added, is exemplary.

As "The American Rifleman" is among other things an educational publication, we are forwarding these bits of information to our fellow educational publication, put out by American Education Publications, Inc., Columbus, Ohio, in the hope of advancing the cause of education.

We feel that school children are entitled to know how marvelously gun laws work when they are enforced by a police state or an army.

Mental Health Officers

Election of officers of the DeKalb County Association for Mental Health was held at a resent meeting of the board of directors of the local chapter.

Mrs. O. L. Gronendyke of Auburn was elected president of the group which furthers prevention of mental illness and conducts special projects for the care of the mentally ill. Mrs. Gronendyke has served as a director of the local chapter for several years, and has held the local offices of treasurer and president.

Other officers elected to serve were: Dr. Norwin Niles of Garret, first vice-president; Mrs. Orval Bair, Auburn, second vice president; Mrs. Alfred Englehard, Garrett, secretary; and Mrs. Clayton Sattison, Jr., Waterloo, treasurer.

Currently serving on the board of directors, in addition to the above oficers, are: John Martin Smith of Auburn, Miss Martha McComas of Auburn, Mrs. W. J. Barnes of Butler, Mrs. Jack Wagner of Auburn, Mrs. James Musille of Waterloo, Mrs. Charles Overmeyer of Waterloo, Mrs. Kay Armstrong of Butler, Charles Overmeyer of Waterloo, Ralph Best of Garrett, and John Graham of Auburn.

The group retains Mrs. Larry Yarian of Auburn as executive secretary for the local association. DeKalb County Mental Health is a participating agency of the United Fund of DeKalb County and Butler.

The citizens' fight against mental illness is a cause that has precious little glamour. This problem affects our society in many ways, sometimes tragically. The DeKalb County Association for Mental Health, teamed up with science, believes that minds can be mended, and to back up that belief, it conducts programs of education, rehabilitation, and volunteer services.

'Truth In Lending' Meeting June 24

John Martin Smith, President of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, has announced that a Truth In Lending Instruction program will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 24 at the DeKalb High School Auditorium. The new law becomes effective July 1, 1969.

In making the announcement, Mr. Smith stated, "It is believed that many DeKalb County businessmen do not realize that they will be affected by the new law. Generally speaking, any businessmen who sells on credit, arranges credit for customers, grants 'cash discounts,' sells goods or services in a manner which would permit the acquisition of a lien against real or personal property, makes finance or credit charges, or advertises the extension of 'credit term' is probably affected by the new law. Every DeKalb County businessman should attend the program to determine if his business will be affected by the new law. Heavy criminal and civil penalties are prescribed for violation."

The program is co-sponsored by the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, the DeKalb County Bar Association, and the DeKalb County Bankers Association. Auburn attorneys Phillip Butler and Donald T. Mefford and Auburn banker Michael Haggerty will present the program.

No charge will be made to those who attend. Refreshments will be served.

From State Rep. Coleman---

A legislative counsel study committee HCR 10 entitled "Sex Education in the Public Schools" was assigned to me as an M.D. in the '69 General Assembly. It fortunately never received a committee hearing. After further study prompted by letters of concern received from all over the state, I'm convinced that we already have too many attempting too much sex education. To make this subject more palatible, I suggested a title change to "Happy Family Living in a Monogomous Society," but even this change does not remove the danger of central control of the sex education in our schools if this should become a reality. I agree with the resolution adopted by the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons in the annual meeting in April '69 in Chicago.

The role of sex has been greatly over-emphasized recently, and the over-emphasis is continuing. Sexual perversion, premarital sexual intercourse, and extramarital sexual intercourse are being presented as permissible in a modern progressive society, progress is uphill. There is a national movement principally promoted by SIECUS (pronounced SEEK-us), Sex Information and Education Council of the United States, to introduce instruction in sexual technique and "family living" into all grades of the schools, without accompanying moral or religious instructions. Such premature and improper instruction can harm young people irreparably and permanently, and therefore weaken the family and the nation. It is immoral and unwise to separate sexual conduct from moral concepts, which are properly within the jurisdiction of the family. Compulsory education in sexual permissiveness in Sweden has caused medical leaders there to deplore the results. It is a matter of serious concern to society when technical sexual information is prepared and presented in such a manner as to appeal to the pruient interests of people in conflict with the moral order as embodied in Judeo-Christian ethics. The strength and unity of the family and of our nation is threatened. Here again, it's not in man to direct his own steps. Nature is our most trustworthy teacher on this subject, and offers the incentive of automatic discovery at the appropriate time, but must rely upon Christian ethics for guidelines. Let's allow our homes and churches their rightful responsibilities and not shift all responsibility to government lest we simultaneously forfeit our privileges.

VOLUME LXXXIV — Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana — Thursday, June 19, 1969 — NUMBER 25

Indiana State Library

The dissenters of the 1960's sometimes point to Jesus Christ to justify their actions, claiming Him to be the greatest revolutionary of all time, attempting by such comparison to give a holy aura to their own ambitions. They overlook one thing: Jesus did not force Himself nor his teachings upon anyone. He spoke, surely, positively, then left the decision to his hearers. Thus did He grant to all men the freedom God created. Today's reformers could well be admonished, as in the Scriptures: "Go thou and do likewise."

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The item about Connie Leeper Cox in last week's issue was torn prematurely; there was supposed to be a picture of the young lady with the story, but the engraving wasn't received in time. So, here is the picture, with the reminder that she graduated this month from the Purdue School of Nursing.

We shivered through a double-header at Cincinnati Sunday afternoon. Since the Cubs were not at Chicago, and Dave was about due to go back to Hunter AAF in Georgia, we went to the Ohio city, despite the rain that was falling Sunday morning. We called the Fort Wayne weather bureau, the Cincinnati ball park, had the radio going for weather reports before making the plunge and taking off.

Our seats were good enough, considering the fact that they were not ordered until last Tuesday. But that wind! There were some guys sitting there in short-sleeve sport shirts - shivering, naturally. Even with a long sleeve shirt and a light jacket, I shivered, too.

On the way home, we stopped at a well-known inn and restaurant chain for dinner—which is really the reason for writing this piece. Maybe it was because it was Father's Day, maybe they had a terrific business earlier and ran out. But we had little choice from the menu. What is not explainable is the lousy service. They were using kids to wait table in a dining room where the prices (if you wanted beef—and if they still had it) ran up to over $5.00. Mark asked the waitress what one of the items on the child's menu included, and she said, "I'm sorry, honey; I'm sure I don't know." —!!!!! And she didn't offer to find out!

Maybe the circumstance IS explainable. It is more difficult all the time for any kind of business to get conscientious help. No one gives a hoot how they do their job anymore; they can always go somewhere else, "and get more money."

So, I guess our experience Sunday was just a "sign of the times."

If you think I was showing favoritism the last couple of weeks by publishing a notice of Vacation Bible School only for the local Lutheran churches (because I'm a Lutheran), I wasn't. Even if you didn't think so, I wasn't. No notice was given about the other schools, and I don't know what's going on unless someone tells me. I'm sure there are some people who are disgruntled because their church Bible school had no publicity and they are "tough" at me. But the only publicity evident was window posters, from which I got what information that was published.

I don't intend to show favoritism toward anyone in publishing the news. These columns are open to any and all, if they will present the information—and I don't mean during an impromptu conversation. If it's worth griping about afterwards because nothing was published, it's worth taking the time beforehand to jot down the details and bring them or send them in.

In these times when the message of the church is so urgently needed, it is disappointing to me personally that members do not take the time to make their efforts known. "Evangelism" means not just "good news," but "SPREADING the good news." You can't spread it if you don't tell it!

—End of sermon.

'Cruising Down The River---'

Three generations were represented in a boating and camping excursion which was undertaken Monday morning on the Saint Joe River near Riverside Cemetery. Willard Hurni, Bud, Shockley, and Doug Shockley represented the grandfather father-son trio which set out on a river trip to see how far they could go in three days in a 14 foot river boat powered by a 7 horsepower motor.

Plans called for portages at the Spencerville and Leo dams, plus another at Fort Wayne from the Saint Joseph to the Wabash River, where the group expected to reach Peru, Indiana, by Wednesday evening. Paul Moore of Saint Joe, son-in-law of Mr. Hurni, was set to provide the portage assistance when necessary.

The group planned a phone call Wednesday evening to inform Mr. Moore where to pick them up.

Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

Oh yes, the group were given to send off by Mrs. Shockley—and three million mosquitoes.

'Truth In Lending' Meeting June 24

Robert Darby, president of the DeKalb County Bankers Association, has announced that final plans have been formulated for the Truth in Lending Instruction Program to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 24, in the DeKalb Central High School Auditorium north of Auburn.

The program is being sponsored by the Bankers Association, the DeKalb County Bar Association, and the Auburn Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Butler and Garrett Chambers of Commerce.

The program is open to all DeKalb County businessmen and other interested persons. Mr. Darby stated that "It is thought that many businessmen have not realized that they are affected by the new law which goes into effect on July 1, 1969. Generally speaking, any businessman who extends credit to his customers is affected. Also, persons who provide goods or services in a manner which would permit them to acquire a lien against real estate, regardless of whether they actually acquire such a lien, are affected. This provision would apply to plumbers, electricians, carpenters, masons, and other persons who made home improvements.

"It will be the purpose of the program to help businessmen to determine whether or not they are affected by the Truth In Lending Law and whether or not they will have to change their methods to comply with the law. All businessmen are urged to attend."

The program will be presented by Auburn attorneys John Martin Smith, Philip Butler, Warren Sunday, and Donald T. Mefford. Auburn bankers James Carper and Michael Haggarty are co-chairmen of the affair.

The participating organizations strongly encourage every DeKalb County businessman to attend the program. Heavy civil and criminal penalties are prescribed for violation of the Truth In Lending Act. Attendance at the program should enable each businessman to determine if he needs to modify his operation to comply with the Act.

Intersection Changed, Resurfacing Completed

A bird's eye view of the intersection at the town hall, showing the round corner which was squared off for safety purposes. The corner has been seeded to complete the project.

Employees of the John P. Lewis Construction Company apply the base layer of asphalt during last week's resurfacing operations in Saint Joe. A one-inch finish layer was applied the next day to complete the job.

Richard Drake Heads Troop 172

Mr. Richard Drake, the new Boy Scout Leader for the Spencerville troop, met with the committee of the sponsoring organization, the Saint Joe Lions Club, Sunday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to prepare Mr. Drake to assume leadership of the troop Monday evening., June 16. Mr. Max Markle, troop treasurer, Dennis Hart and Jerry Markle, assistant scoutmasters, were also present in order to get acquainted with Mr. Drake and to get an idea of the programs and activities that will be forthcoming.

Mr. Drake, a former Scout, has just completed three years as assistant scoutmaster of Troop 177 at Auburn, Indiana. He has just recently completed a training course in scouting. He will also be active in setting up and presenting training courses for scout leaders, officers, and committeemen of local scout troops in this district.

There will be a committee meeting of all of the adult leaders, troop committeemen, and sponsoring organization committeemen the first Thursday in August, and one meeting per month thereafter. Mr. Drake desires that this committee, together with the parents, assume a considerable portion of the leadership of this troop.

It is anticipated that a schedule for the year will be set up soon, and that a money-making project will be planned for the near future.

We wish to express our appreciation to Mr. Bob Jacobson for having given so freely of his time and effort while he was serving as our Leader. We realize that, wherever there is an outstanding troop, there also is a dedicated leader.

Pony League Problem

Some concern has been evident in this community due to the lack of Pony League baseball participation this summer. A few adults are evidently attempting to get the program going again, but they are having problems, one in particular: all the equipment—home plate, bats, balls, uniforms, even the fence—have been taken by the former manager for use elsewhere in sponsoring a team.

I've heard that an attempt was made by the former manager to find someone to run the team this year, but supposedly without success. Locally, no one appeared to know the circumstances until all the above equipment had been removed from this community. The situation brings up a point, or a question. Does the community or one person have the privilege of saying what shall be done with such equipment?

About three years ago, there was a meeting at the fire hall at the beginning of the summer baseball season to organize the Junior League and Pony League groups. Having had a auspicion of what might occur, I suggested that an adult committee of officers serve the Pony League team, as was serving the Junior League organization. The Pony League operation had been a one-man arrangement; it stayed that way. Everyone backed off and said nothing when the young man who served as Pony League manager made it known in no uncertain terms that the Pony League was able to take care of itself. I left the meeting with my tail between my legs.

Now I can say, "I told you so," and I have said it to a few who were present at the meeting. What has happened is no surprise to me—but this feeling of "satisfaction" is hardly one to be happy about. It doesn't solve the problem.

Some of our local citizens and businessmen are understandly perturbed. In the past, funds were raised partially from this community, but no one knows to what extent. In the last three years, Pony League members have sold ball point pens, and there were several record hops. But no one knows how much was raised nor how much was spent. In other words, several hundreds of dollars are unaccounted for in the operation of the Pony League team, due to the one-man control which has been exercised in the past.

The fear of such results is the reason why an attempt was made three years ago to get community control of the Pony League team through an adult committee. I doubt if there was an adult present at that meeting who did not feel that such an organization was the proper manner to carry out the function of a local Pony League team. But they hesitated in saying anything.

This is a perfect example to illustrate the need for adult influence and supervision in any type of community activity. Young people may have ideas and ambition, but they are not always as aware of propriety and ethics as are their elders.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

President Robert Wilder presented 17 men with 100% attendance pins. He also specially commended Maurice Kline and Lynn Fisher for having received 27 such pins for perfect attendance for that number of years. Frank Sechler and Lavon Hart were presented awards for getting new members.

The prom committee of Eastside High School sent $17.60 back to us. This was a first for something of that order. It was reported that the prom was a big success.

Our new president, Harold Carle, reported that he and several of our other new officers had attended a training meeting in preparation for taking over their new jobs. He also presented every member with a paper naming the various committees for the July 26 ice cream social. In this club, everyone finds his name on some committee, and he is expected to be there and to work.

Gene Cassbere says that he very seldom gets mad, but that when he got back to the office from the day's work on the meeting date and found a note on his desk saying "I can't make it tonight," from a senior company official, then his blood pressure did raise a few notches. So Lion Gene got out a slide projector and a series of slides that showed the duties and activities of a typical milking-machine salesman. Now, if Gene can anywhere keep up with that man in the picture, he is going to be a whiz-bang of a sales representative.

It would be interesting if some of the other members would be caught holding the bag as was Lion Gene, just to see what they would come up with in their various fields of activity. In our membership we have factory workers, a storekeeper, postmaster, nurseryman, garageman, school teachers, preachers, farmers, and retired persons from various backgrounds. If they would be as resourceful as Gene, we could have a whole series of interesting and educational meetings.

Town Board Raises Burial Fees, To Undertake Condemnation And Housing Control Proceedings

The town board of Saint Joe held an extra session Monday of this week in order to take action on several items carried over from the regular meeting held June 2.

A request from Fire Chief Andy Moore for additional gas mask equipment was allowed, with a similar request to be made to the township. Maintenance of the local fire department is by mutual town-township participation.

A short visit to the cemetery to inspect mowing eqipment resulted in authorization of the purchase of a riding mower for cemetery upkeep. The purchase was authorized from the local hardware.

A survey of the local cemetery has been authorized, and details of carrying out the marking of the cemetery lots were discussed. The price of a full cemetery lot was raised to $275 while a half lot costs $150. The fee for opening a grave was set at $85. These increases were deemed necessary due to the increased cost of maintenance and the slow accumulation of funds in the perpetual upkeep fund established when the town board took over the maintenance of the cemetery several years ago.

A motion was passed to authorize town attorney Philip Butler to prepare an ordinance regulating the installation of mobile homes within the corporate limits of the town.

A motion was passed to authorize the town attorney to proceed with condemnation proceedings for the purpose of removing the old mill at the east edge of town. The building has become a safety hazard as well as an eyesore. It has been unused and unoccupied for many years.

Donald McCann and Mel Hershberger reported during the meeting that the mosquito fogging installation on the old town fire truck has been working satisfactorily.

The June 2 meeting was attended by Kenneth Nifong, E. H. Purcell, N. L. Raupp, Mrs. Viena Rude, Richard Musser, and Roger Coburn.

Mr. Raupp and Mr. Purcell discussed the purchase of a commercial fogger for the town, prices established at $995.00, $1045.00, and $2195.00. Mr. Coburn and Mr. Musser reviewed the care of the cemetery with the purchase of a new riding mower considered by the board. It was noted that most of the "junk" cars ticketed by the board recently had been removed by the owners. However, a few violations are still evident. It was noted that several lots and yards in the town limits are unmowed and present a breeding place for mosquitoes as well as being unsightly.

A motion was passed to pay the total balance due on the purchase of two lots on the main street. The board has been maintaining the lots for the past month, keeping the grass mowed as needed. A delay has been experienced in the transfer of the real estate due to a legal technicality encountered in clearing the abstract. The lots are being purchased for the tentative construction of a new town hall. Funds are available for such purposes through a cigarette tax capital improvement fund.

A motion was passed to accept three proposals from the John P. Lewis Construction Company, one for the realignment of the intersection at the town hall. Another for the completion of paving of the railroad street and the third for the paving of one block of Fifth Street.

EHS Baseball

by Steve Grill, baseball coach

The Eastside Blazers, due to bad weather, have been able to play only two baseball games during the summer season. The Blazers dropped the first, an ACAC game, to the Adams Central Jets by a score of 6-4. The Jets scored five runs in two innings on only one hit by taking advantage of eight walks and two errors. The Eastside attack was led by Charley Ross, Randy Beraw, and Hal Hansen, each with two hits.

Eastside defeated Antwerp in another game by rallying for five runs in the last inning to win 6-5. Dale Curry led the Blazers with two doubles, batting in two runs in the last inning and scoring the winning run on a passed ball. Curry was the winning pitcher. He relieved starter Hal Hansen in the fifth inning.

The remaining games are scheduled as follows:

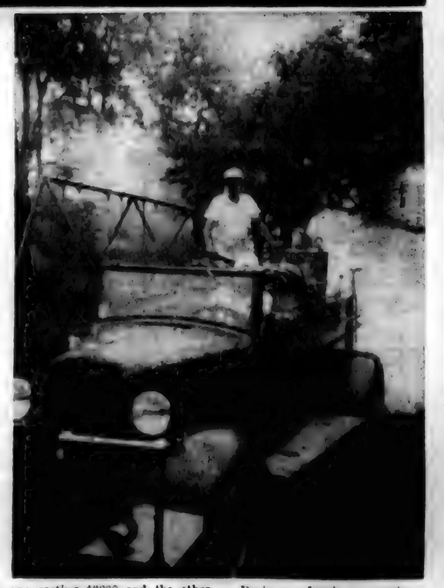
Old Fire Truck Still Serves Useful Purpose



Faced with a possible expense of anywhere from $500 on up to $2500, the Town Board of Saint Joe recently welcomed the suggestion of Donald McCann that an attempt be made to utilize the old town fire truck for the annual anti-mosquito campaign in the community. As a result, several rounds have been made with the old truck, following a hookup on the exhaust system whereby insecticide is expelled in a fog. The effect is the same as with the commercial fogger which the town purchased several years ago but which is now "unreparable," according to the manufacturer.

With the help of time and materials from Harold Yenser, Moss Yenser and Jack Bowser, Mr. McCann completed the insecticide hookup. Thus far, the results have not been conclusive as to the total effectiveness of the truck fogger, due to the fact of rain within hours after the first fogger runs have been made. However, it does appear that the project may be successful, if the observations of a few townspeople are correct concerning the reduction in mosquitoes after current fogging.

The photo above shows board member Lynn Lake at the wheel of the old town fire truck, and Mr. McCann controlling the distribution of fog. The photos were taken at the local park during a run last week end.

The town board recently had two fogger units demonstrated, one costing $2200 and the other $500. Another unit is available priced at around $1000. If the apparent success of the truck-fogger proves permanent, a potential financial burden on the community will be removed.

During a fogging excursion last week, Mr. McCann was given a $20 bill by Harry Loucks of the Saint Joe Mobile Home Court, as an appreciative contribution toward expenses of fogging.

Ridgway Reunion

The 26th annual reunion of the George and Belle Fryzinger Ridgway family was held Sunday, June 15 at the Saint Joe Conservation Club.

About 70 cousins, uncles, aunts, brothers, sisters, fathers, mothers, and grandparents enjoyed the day in every way, starting with a pot luck dinner at noon.

Bruce Baker presided at the business meeting, with Maxine Baker reading the secretary's report. Officers for the coming year will be Ted A. Hollabaugh, president; John K. Ridgway, vice president; Donna Baker, secretary; and Dolores Emenhiser, treasurer.

Following the business meeting, Beth Ann and Kelly Hollabaugh, and Cindy, Debby, Dawn, and David Baker entertained with a selection of songs. Mrs. John Baker recited a poem and a reading appropriate for Father's Day.

The remainder of the afternoon was enjoyed by just plain visiting or reminiscing by the grownups, while the younger ones were happy to see the sunshine.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid

OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

Deer seem to be on the increase in this area. Frank and Jeri Sechler said Saturday that one was hit near their place last week. And when I was driving behind Hod Blaine one evening last week after we had taken our kids to Bible School, he had to put on the brakes when a pretty good-sized deer hopped over the fence on the west side of the road and crossed into a field on Mrs. Ginther's farm between Saint Joe and Spencerville.

One of my pet peeves about bicycle riders and motorcyclists is their apparent belief that they have as much primary right to the highways as an automobile. Sometimes their attitude is reflected in safety hazards in the manner in which they operate their bikes. In these days of "rights," the kids seem to have been taught (or maybe parents don't tell them about safety rules) that they don't have to pull over to the side, that they can ride two abreast if they want.

So, I was impressed last week in driving down state road 1 between Saint Joe and Spencerville when Doug Shockley pulled off the road on his bike when he heard my car approaching. Most bike riders do not take such precautions.

Since highways are built primarily for automobiles, any other vehicle which uses them has the primary responsibility for safety precautions. That means that, for safety's sake, a bicyclist should at least pull off to the side of the pavement and preferably pull completely off. Riding single file when traffic approaches is a must. Motorcyclists should also make allowances for autos to pass, if the motorcycle is going at a slower rate of speed.

Any slow-moving vehicle on any highway has the primary responsibility for safety precautions.

Eustacio "Gus" Padron was pounding away last week end at the roof of the building he and his Mrs. intend to open sometime as a baking specialty shop. It's located north of town at State Road 8 and County Road 59. He informed me that she is going back to Italy to visit relatives for a month. She has not been "home" for 23 years.

Gus says it'll be a year yet before they get everything in order and can open a shop. They have been planning the shop for the past few years, and work at it in their spare time.

Mike Beaty gave me a guided tour through his home Friday as I made the rounds in getting names on a petition. He has done a total remodeling job inside, as well as exterior painting, and is justifiably proud of the results.

It was funny, the number of ladies who were still in housecoats at 9:30 and 10:30 in the morning when I rang doorbells last week for signatures on that petition. I won't say who they were; they'd wring my neck. But I was surprised how prevalent the practice is.

—Now I'll have to apologize to the Mrs. for griping about her housecoat habits.

Swim Program Starts Monday

—by Forrest Bevington

This will be the last notice for the summer swimming lessons. The school bus will pick up the Newville children at 7:15 a.m. June 30 in front of the store. The bus will leave from the Riverdale Elementary School at 7:45 a.m., and will depart from the Spencerville Community Hall at 8:00 a.m. Swimmers are asked to be on time, and to have $5.00 for the lessons.

The Riverdale tennis tournament will follow the two weeks of swimming lessons. Interested children should give their name, grade, and telephone number to Forrest Bevington by July 4. Anyone that was in grades 4 through 8 in the 1968-1969 school year is eligible for the tournament.

WINNERS 4H CLUB
—Keith Watson, reporter

The Winners 4H Club met at the Saint Joe Park Tuesday, June 17, 1969. Vice president Gerald Murphy called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. Roll call was answered by 21 members and one guest.

The next meeting will be July 8, 1969, at the Auburn swimming pool at 7:30 p.m.

Jimmy Fetters caught a good sized snapper turtle when on a fishing excursion on Fawn River last week end. Arnold says Jimmy reached down in the mud and pulled the turtle out. It weighed 8 to 10 pounds and had a huge head.

The kids at the Saint Joe Mobile Home Court ought to have a good time. Dick Loucks is in the process of erecting swings and teeter-totters for their enjoyment.

When LuReign Strong gets her dander up, look out.

Last week somebody went stomping through the Newville Cemetery on a horse and inconsiderately abused the gravesites there. When Mrs. Strong saw it, she got after the cemetery trustees, and now I hear correction measures are being taken—which is the way it ought to be.

Mike Beebe ran up on the porch of our home last week end to inform me that he is home for 23 days before leaving for Vietnam. "—so stop the paper for now. I sure appreciate getting it."

We had a pleasant conversation—he, Esther, and I—before he hurried off to his Camaro and a swinging thing while he's home....if I know Mike.

For the last couple of years the Roland Hewitts have kept grass along the B&O right-of-way at the east edge of town cut to lawn length, helping to add to the attractiveness of the town as you enter on the highway.

Now the Dewey Whites are doing the same thing on the south side of the tracks, having son Kenny busy this week picking up the debris and cutting the long grass to short length.

It's such voluntary efforts by townspeople which help to improve our community and make it a pleasure to live here.

A friendly suggestion about appearances shouldn't hurt anyone—but the most welcomed result comes when the suggestion is heeded. There are some other places where long grass and weeds need cutting; it's only fair to the neighbors.

It's old, but---do you know why little babies walk softly? It's because they can't walk hardly.

71 Sign Petition

A remonstrance petition was filed Friday, June 20, 1969, with the DeKalb County auditor. The petition opposes the proposed lease agreement between the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District and the DeKalb County Eastern Community Building Corporation. The lease covers the construction and rental of a proposed junior-senior high school on a school site located in Butler.

71 names were affixed to the petition which cites not only previously stated objections, including inadequate size for future expansion and lack of central location but also a current effort to unite central and eastern school districts of DeKalb County into a single unit, thus eliminating the need for another high school.

A hearing will be held by the State Board of Tax Commissioners before that agency renders its decision on the proposal.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 220
—Shari Hook, reporter

Nine girls attended day camp this year. Session 2 of Camp Agnes McMillen was held on June 10-12, 17-18. The girls rode a Fort Wayne city bus each day which picked up Scouts in Saint Joe, Butler, and Garrett besides those in Spencerville.

Those nine girls follow, with their respective units: hiking unit - Susan Dwyer; bicycle unit - Jackie Wells, Pat Markle, Becky Graves, and Charlene Melchi; regular unit 9 - Laura Hook and Debbie Keener; nature unit - Marilyn Longacher and Shari Hook.

Susan Dwyer went on the Meto-a Trek, which is an eight mile walk. Shari Hook and Marilyn Longacher completed the whole Meto-a Trail, which is 16 miles. All three had sore feet.

A New High School NOW-- For A Half-Million Dollars!

by the Editor

Last week, I made 43 contacts in carrying a remonstrance against the lease agreement to use the Butler site for the proposed new junior-senior high school in our eastern school district. Forty-one people signed. One refused because of the following reason: "Those kids need a new school as soon as possible." The second refusal was on the general thought: "I don't want to go involved in the school business."

The first refusal came from a person who has supported the effort to get a central location for a new school in the eastern district, and later supported the petition to combine the central and eastern districts. So, that refusal on the latest petition was not due to opposition to primary purpose but rather due to concern for the students.

Since I have never urged anyone to sign a petition or remonstrance if they did not truly believe in its purpose, I did not pressure the above individual to sign the latest remonstrance. However, I did point out that the quickest way to get a new school for Eastside high school students is to combine the central and eastern districts. They could be in a new school in a year! Past discussions about school construction at school board meetings indicate that three years are necessary in order to have a new facility completed, by the time you go through all the necessary legal requirements, advertise bonds, sell bonds, and complete actual construction. On the other hand, a referendum is possible in only a matter of weeks.

I realize that the school situation is a trying one for everyone—students, patrons, taxpayers, teachers, administrators—everyone. However, when the primary purpose is so far-reaching, that of EQUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES FOR DEKALB COUNTY STUDENTS, it requires persistence in striving for that goal. We must press further to bring about that which is heard from many, many quarters in both the eastern and central districts concerning unification: "It should have been done in the first place, at the time of reorganization."

The annual report of the eastern district last August showed a balance in the cumulative building fund of $281,295. With the 1968 and 1969 cumulative funds added to that balance, a total of over $500,000 will be in that fund, to transfer into a united district. Isn't that a cheap price to gain the use of a new high school—NOW?

And isn't that half a million dollars a nice start towards the new junior high school facilities which BOTH districts need?

A similar situation may exist elsewhere in the state, but I haven't heard yet of an opportunity anywhere wherein one school district gains the use of a new high school for a half million dollars and another school district gains the benefit of that half million dollars towards new junior high construction.

Where does a greater opportunity for mutual benefit lie for the central and eastern districts of DeKalb County?

Mt. Pleasant-Newville UM Combine Leads Church League At 4-0

BULLETIN—Mt. Pleasant-Newville UM extended its record to 5-0 Wednesday evening with a 5-0 shutout win over the Lutherans.

—by Phil Haberkorn

At the end of the third week of the 1969 season, the standings showed Mt. Pleasant-Newville United Methodist on top of the Saint Joe Church League with victories in each of their first four games.

Al Holman got things under way by throwing a 9-hit 12-0 shutout at Coburntown I, getting 15-hit support from his Saint Joe-Newville Church of Christ buddies.

Newcomers Norris Chapel United Methodist have shown strong hitting prowess, scoring 48 runs in their three victories.

The defending champion Lutherans got warmed up with two easy consecutive wins, but had their infield riddled by the absence of two players, and found Concord-Butler ready with their bats Monday last. CB scored more runs Monday than in all three of their previous games combined, knocking the Lutherans from the undefeated ranks, 14-10. Mt. Pleasant-Newville had a chance to solidify their hold on first place this week when they faced the short-handed Lutherans Wednesday.

Looking ahead, it appears that important developments in the league standings could result from the July 3 game between Norris Chapel and Mt. Pleasant-Newville, and maybe from the game of July 10 when Saint Joe-Newville meets the Lutherans.

The standings as of Tuesday, June 25, 1969:

TEAM	W	L
Mt. Pleasant-Newville	4	0
St. Joe-Newville CC	3	1
Norris Chapel UM	3	1
Lutherans	2	1
Coburntown II	1	3
Hicksville CC	1	3
Concord-Butler	1	3
Coburntown I	1	4

Game scores, June 2-24:

Mutual School Opportunity

News releases from the school districts of the central and eastern areas of DeKalb County in the past two weeks should cause patrons of both districts to consider the school situation as it mutually affects all of us.

Number one to be considered is the fact that the central board is now raising its cumulative building fund levy to $1.00; it had been 60 cents. The levy in the eastern district has been $1.00 in the past.

What does this mean? Well, the first thing heard by a few from our consolidation group in seeking support was, "What will it do to taxes?" In other words, the first hesitancy was due to the fear that combining school districts automatically means more taxes. Actually, the opposite is true; when you consolidate, you establish a program for the expenditure of fewer total tax dollars per family. At least, that would be the effect in our two local districts if consolidation becomes a reality. And, under the present circumstances, the central district tax rate has now gone up 40 cents WITHOUT consolidation. Thus, a more relevant question is: are our total tax dollars being used efficiently?

If the following reasoning is faulty, someone please correct it.

A new high school exists already in the central district. Junior high facilities are needed in that district, as well as elementary facilities.

A new junior-senior high school is proposed in the eastern district. If this proposal is carried out, there will be two complete high school complexes serving approximately 1700 students under present class alignment.

HOWEVER—if the two districts are combined and the high school unit is re-established to include grades 10 through 12 instead of 9 through 12 (which is the alignment plan proposed by the central district for its own administration as announced even before consolidation was in the picture), then the present new facilities in the central district can be used to accommodate all high school students in both districts. THIS ELIMINATES THE COST OF CONSTRUCTING ANOTHER COMPLETE TOTAL HIGH SCHOOL COMPLEX.

When those present facilities can no longer accommodate the high school students, it is cheaper by far to add to present facilities than to construct total facilities.

According to information obtained last summer from the superintendent's office of the central district, their new facilities can accommodate 1500 students. Accompanying information was that 2000 students is the limit to efficient administration at one high school location. Therefore, it would appear that it will be some time under consolidation before enrollment at the high school level would require another high school complex. The present building will take 1500. The total enrollment of both schools in the top three grades is approximately 1300. That leaves a differential of 700 students before another high school is needed. Additions can be constructed in the meantime.

Thus, is it not more efficient to consolidate NOW and eliminate the total tax dollar expenditure represented by the proposed junior-senior high school in the eastern district?

For those to whom tax dollars are NOT the prime reason for concern, consider the opportunity that consolidation presents to equalize educational opportunities in the county. At the academic level, a comparison of the two districts at the present time shows that two foreign languages are offered at one of the high schools; the other school offers four, and it is unofficialy reported that next year there will be five. Can the people of DeKalb County justify such a difference, when consolidation would bring equal academic programs to all these students?

In the field of vocational training, it is grossly inefficient to attempt to provide separate programs in two schools, duplicating the instructional staff and space requirements established by the state, and also in a sense competing with one another in obtaining adequate opportunities for part-time employment of students in the vocational training program.

Only 14 students could be accommodated this year by the eastern district's vocational program, as far as employment is concerned. The central district has 60 applicants for next year's program, but they may not be able to find that many part-time employment openings in the vocational field. In the meantime, what about the classroom and workshop phase of vocational training which does NOT depend upon the business community? Is it fair to centralize vocational training on the ability of the local business community to provide employment? Is it efficient to construct duplicate vocational areas in two school districts when limitations hinder both districts?

Eastside's graduating class numbered just under 100 this year, but only 14 students could be accommodated in the vocational program. Central's graduating class numbered over 260, but only 60 students can be accommodated next year - maybe.

Total high school enrollment in both districts this year was 1700. Total vocational training opportunities numbered - well, we don't know; the central district only announced its goal for next year of 60. If we assume there were 50 this year (and that is probably high), the total vocational training opportunities in both districts this year was 64. THAT IS LESS THAN 4% OF THE TOTAL HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT! And both districts are duplicating vocational training!

Is this the best use of our tax dollars?

With unification we can do a better job.

Others say. . . .

WHO IS GOD?

He's the new green leaves of spring
He's every note that robins sing;
He's the new grass, where once ground was bare;
He's the colt beside the mare;
He's dark skies, the light of the moon,
He's the sun rays at high noon;
He's the mighty river, the babbling brook;
He's the enjoyment received reading a book;
He's the first breath and cry of a child;
He's the gentle lamb and beast of the wild;
He's voices in hymns giving Him praise;
He's words of sympathy, a loving phrase;
He's the gift of love, the Ruler Supreme;
He's the only path through which Man might dream;
He is and has been since before the world began,
Yet why must He continue to prove Himself to Man?

STRICTLY PERSONAL by Sydney J. Harris

Why don't the radio and television announcers tell us loudly and clearly that:

There is no "vague" in "vagary," which should rhyme with "fairy."

The first syllable of "daiquiri" rhymes with "bike" and not with "back."

There is no "dash" in a "dachshund," which comes from two German words meaning "badger" and "dog."

The old-fashioned photo called a "daguerrotype" has no "dagger" in it, and was named for its inventor, L. J. M. Daguerre (daGAIR).

There is no "rib" in the "Caribbean," no "home" in "homicide," and no "knee" in "accompanist."

A "guerrila" fighter is not a primate of the same species as a "gorilla."

There is no "lug" in "luxury," no "see" in "negotiate," and no "pasture" in pasteurized milk.

There are only three syllables, not four, in "rigmarole;" only three syllables, not four, in "mischievous;" and "cooperative" has five syllables, not three.

"Impotent" is stressed on the first syllable, not the second; "harass" is stressed on the first syllable, not the second; and "conversant" is stressed on the first syllable, not the second.

If you don't put a "gow" at the end of "Glasgow," why put a "cow" at the end of "Moscow," which is equally inappropriate?

There is no "jog" in "geography," there is no "zoo" in "zoology," and there is no "long" in "longevity."

Perhaps the most widely mispronounced proper name in history is that of Genghis Khan, which should start with a "J" sound, not a hard "G."

There is no "pie" in "impious," no "hill" in "exhilarate," and no "fin" in "finis."

"Harry Carey" was the name of an old film cowboy, and is not the Japanese form of suicide known as "hara kiri," which comes from the Japanese "hara," meaning belly, plus "kiri," meaning to cut.

Although a "jocund" person makes jokes, there is no "joke" in "jocund" or "jocular," both of which rhyme with "lock."

There is no "garden" in "kindergarten," there is no "sue" in "lasso" (except east of the Mississippi, where it is invariably mispronounced), and there is no "dole" in "gondola."

Don't use "wont" at all, in the sense of "his accustomed way," but if you feel you have to, rhyme it with "punt," not with "don't."

Dr. Weirich To Be Honored

Citizens of the Butler area are planning an "Appreciation Day" for Dr. Charles Weirich. The Butler physician has practiced since 1933 and recently announced his retirement from general practice.

The observance will be held at the Eastside High School gym July 13 starting at 2:00 p. m. A brief program will be presented at 3:00 p.m.

The program is being planned by a committee of Butler citizens headed by C. J. Maston. The Butler BPW will provide refreshments. John Martin Smith, an Auburn attorney and "one of Dr. Weirich's babies," will serve as master of ceremonies.

All of Dr. Weirich's friends and former patients are invited and urged to attend.

Lora Leighty

Mrs. Fred H. (Lora) Leighty, 84, of Auburn died Tuesday evening at 6:00 at Souder Hospital in Auburn. She had been confined at the hospital since April 19 after suffering a fractured hip in a fall. Death was due to complications arising from the hip injury.

Mrs. Leighty and her late husband published the Saint Joe News for 40 years until 1946, when he was killed in front of the News Office as he crossed the street and was struck by an automobile. Mrs. Leighty remained at Saint Joe until 1949 when she moved to Auburn, where she had resided since that time.

Funeral services are scheduled for Thursday of this week at 2:00 p.m. at the Gerig Funeral Home in Auburn. Rev. Wallace Deyo, pastor of the Auburn United Methodist Church, will officiate. Mrs. Leighty was a member of the Auburn church, and had been a member of St. Mark Lutheran Church while residing in Saint Joe.

With no immediate family, she is survived by two cousins, William Quance and Fred Quance of Auburn.

Mrs. Means Retires

Mrs. Stanley (Rose Smith) Means of Rt Saint Joe, a teacher in the DeKalb Central United School District, has retired from the profession after 43 years.

A graduate of Waterloo High School, she gained her teaching degree frm Tri-State College. She also attended the University of Wisconsin, Michigan State, Butler University, and Ball State University. She received her degree in Arts and Science from St. Francis College in Fort Wayne and has a masters degree from Indiana University. She has since attended John Herron Art Institute in Indianapolis.

In 1936 Mrs. Means left factory work in Kendallville to finish a school term at the Custer School in the fifth grade. She then went to West Richland to teach in the primary grades. She then joined the faculty at the Harrison School in Auburn where she remained for 42 years.

She and Stanley Means were married in 1935. The couple now have a ceramic shop at their home.

Mrs. Means has been a leader in the Young People's Christian Education Group, organized the first Brownie troop in Auburn, and is a past president of Kappa Delta Phi sorority. She is a member of the Indiana Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

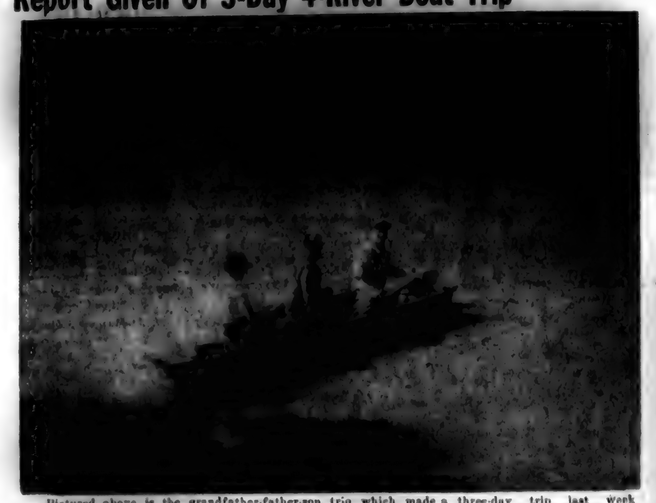
Report Given Of 3-Day 4-River Boat Trip



Pictured above is the grandfather-father-son trio which made a three-day trip last week down the Saint Joe, Saint Mary's, Little Wabash, and Wabash Rivers. At right is grandfather Willard Hurni, center is father Bud Shockley, and at left is son Doug Shockley as they left Saint Joe's river bank Monday of last week.

"Really had fun," "Lots to see along the river"—such were the comments from Willard Hurni as he enthusiastically described a three-day boat trip which he enjoyed last week with son-in-law Bud Shockley and grandson Doug Shockley. The trio left Saint Joe Monday morning, June 16, in a 14-foot boat, drifting and motoring down the Saint Joe River to the Saint Mary's River at Fort Wayne, portaging to the Little Wabash, and proceeding to the Wabash River.

The trio had to portage at the Spencerville dam, taking 25 minutes for the bypass. At Leo they stopped for noon lunch, proceeding to the Cedarville dam where it took 25 minutes to make the portage. Several very pretty lawns were seen along this segment of the river, extending down to the river's edge, according to Mr. Hurni. He also stated that, once the three got on the river in the boat, there was no mosquito problem.

The group got to Fort Wayne Monday afternoon and faced their longest portage, an hour and ten minutes at the Municipal Dam. They sheared a pin in the mud before proceeding through the winding river at Sweeney Park. A call was made to Paul Moore at Saint Joe at 6:45 p.m. who went to Fort Wayne to assist in taking the group and their equipment to the Little Wabash River west of Roanoke. Meanwhile, the travelers enjoyed supper at an Azar's restaurant.

The portage to the Little Wabash took longer than expected due to high waer and heavy foliage. The trio camped Monday night, using sleeping bags and a piece of canvas held up at the corners for a cover. After breakfast the next morning, the group left at 8:30 a.m. down the Little Wabash. The water flowed swiftly enough that the motor was not needed. The river was described as "narrow, high and wild." Wild ducks were numerous and the only other wild life seen was a three- or four-foot snake.

At Huntington the group encountered buildings across the Little Wabash and a dam which required a 20-minute portage. They went over a second dam in the boat, however, due to high water. They hit the main stream of the Wabash west of Huntington, encountering hundreds of islands which created swiftly-flowing rapids. Mr. Shockley is reported to have acquired the ability to pick the right passages to follow in passing through the rapids.

Further down the Wabash, the trio saw an old stone viaduct, a historic site on the old Wabash-Erie Canal. They enjoyed Tuesday noon dinner there before continuing the trip.

At the mouth of the Salamonie River, they decided to go upstream to view the dam. However, the river proved too shallow, and a blade of the propeller was broken. After repairing the prop, they stopped at Andrews for supplies. Proceeding then through Wabash, they turned back to find a good site for camp. They ate supper at the Dairy Queen at Wabash and enjoyed conversations with townspeople in that city.

With rain predicted, the trio was awakened at 2:00 a.m. Wednesday morning by high wind which blew the canvas cover. At 3:30 it was "really raining" and the canvas was dropped to cover their sleeping bags. Only catnaps were possible the remainder of the night, due partly to the rain and partly to the old clock in Wabash which bonged every hour.

Up at 7:00 a.m. Wednesday, Doug fixed pancakes for breakfast and the trio left for Peru, a distance of 16 miles. They went through the bridge at Peru over which Highway 31 passes, and found a beautiful camp site. The site is maintained by Norman Marcott, trailer court owner, who voluntarily keeps the grass mowed along the river for a 300-foot stretch, and otherwise maintains a beautification program in that area as a hobby.

The trio ate lunch there, and a news reporter and photographer from the Peru paper came on the scene to properly report the group's trip. A call was made to Mr. Moore again and he picked the group up at 5:00 p.m. Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hurni's observations include the fact that he was impressed by the Saint Joe River and its appearance, describing it as the "best" of the four rivers traveled as far as scenic beauty and general appearance are concerned. The Saint Mary's was described as "a sewer," with debris and stench present.

Trash and dumps along the Wabash have destroyed the beauty of that river as described in the songs of old, Mr. Hurni reported. However, the city of Wabash is doing a good job in river maintenance, with a park and boat ramp as part of the city's river program. Canoe races are held each year on the Salamonie River, starting above the dam. A portage is made at the dam, and the race concludes at Wabash.

No river improvement program is evident at Peru, according to Mr. Hurni; junky banks are evidence that the city has done little in such maintenance.

Mr. Hurni concluded his report of the trip with the observation that he hopes to continue the trip sometime in the future, starting where the trio left off last Wednesday afternoon.

Heart Ass'n Awards

Mrs. Alice Gerig of Auburn received the American Heart Association's Silver Service Recognition Medallion at the annual meeting and awards dinner of Northeast Indiana Heart Association held last month at the Chamber of Commerce in Fort Wayne.

Dr. James M. Hundley, Executive Director of AHA and former Assistant U. S. Surgeon General, presented the medallion to Mrs. Gerig in recognition of her service since 1965 as Heart Memorials Chairman for the DeKalb County branch of the Heart Association.

Dr. Paul Trausch, county Heart President, was honored at the same time with an award of merit, and 1969 Heart Fund Chairman, Donald R. Aiken received a Good Heart Award.

Heart Memorials and bequests have become an increasingly important source of income for the Heart Fund, and together totalled $10,918,856 in 1968. Mrs. Gerig said that anyone wishing to make a memorial contribution in tribute to a friend or loved one, should contact her at 308 West Seventh Street, Auburn, or phone 925-3600. A specially designed Memorial Card is sent to the next of kin, and the donor receives a numbered receipt for income tax purposes.

Dedication Of Red Cross Executive Secretary Sets Good Example

by the Editor

In these days when selfish desires seem to be the primary motivation of much of our population, it is reassuring to hear of those individuals who place service above all other considerations, even when it means personal sacrifice.

One such instance came to light just the other evening when the budget committee of the United Fund of DeKalb County met to hear the financial requests of the participating agencies. Having the privilege of serving on that budget committee, and also having the privilege of being on the county Red Cross board of directors, I was dumbfounded when Barbara Oren of Auburn, president of the Red Cross, informed the budget committee that the Red Cross would not meet its obligations for the current year, having bills left unpaid. But the biggest surprise was in the fact that Jessie Baxter, executive secretary of the Red Cross, had voluntarily cut her pay $100 a month in order to try to make ends meet.

To indicate the dedication of this Red Cross lady of unusual character, she said nothing to the board of directors of the organization just a couple of months ago when it voted a pay adjustment for her efforts. She had been receiving the astronomical sum of something like $3000 a year for her efforts in Red Cross work, and for Jessie that means "full time." Every Red Cross worker depends upon Jessie for information, know-how, and so on. But—she said nothing to the board of directors, even though she knew the treasury could not take any increase.

When confronted by this fact at the United Fund budget meetings, Jessie gave this answer, "Well, it was such a nice gesture by the Red Cross board that I just couldn't say anything."

The result of the whole incident was that the budget committee granted a sizeable increase in the request by the Red Cross in order to meet that agency's obligations. However, it will require dedicated and increased giving by the public when United Fund makes its campaign next fall in order to give the Red Cross the funds it should receive. The budget committee can only declare its intent; fulfillment depends upon public contributions to United Fund.

With our nation on a "gimme" spree, more money, more fringe benefits, less work, more vacations, etc., every time union wage contracts come up for renewal, it would be gratifying to be able to show these thousands of people such an example of dedication as is represented by Jessie Baxter of Auburn, executive secretary of the Red Cross. Somehow, it appears that despite her limited means, which she has never complained about, she is happier than those who are getting everything they ask for.....and she asked for nothing.

Dear Sir:

Having reached the age of 83, I have been going over pictures, etc.

I spent many years with Swift & Co.; I am enclosing a photo that I think was taken in your town about 1912. It seems as though there was some celebration that was going on.

Thought someone would like this; often towns have a historical society.

Anyway, here it is.

Very truly yours,

DEKALB 4H HORSE AND PONY CLUB

—Stephanie Koch, reporter

The DeKalb County 4H Horse and Pony Club met on April 22, 1969 at 7:30 p.m. Election of officers was held at this time. Elected were: Cathy Squier, president; Steve Dunn, vice president; Rita Schuller, secretary-treasurer; Jill Graham and Stephanie Koch, reporters; John Fox, Health & Safety; Lisa Ferguson, Linda Schurr, Allison Derrow, and Julia Duncan, song leaders; Greg Rush, Pat Squier, and Steve Foster, refreshments.

We voted on the day for our meetings, and decided on the second and fourth Wednesday of every month.

Our annual horse show date is July 4.

The club met May 14, at 7:30 p.m. Greg Rush and Jill Graham gave a demonstration on how to work on the record book and keep it up to date.

We were told about the LaGrange Horse Show June 21 and 22. We were told about their queen contest, and decided to send a representative from our club. There was discussion, and we picked Cathy Squier as our candidate for the contest.

There was a question and answer period in which our leaders tried to answer our questions.

The club met June 11 at the Brandt Stables. We held a regular meeting and discussed the upcoming horse show July 4. The show will start at 9:30 with halter classes. Anyone in need of transportation should call their leaders or someone who has a trailer and try to find a way there.

The meeting was adjourned, and we went through the stables. There were some beautiful horses, Saddle Bred, Quarter horses, Arabians, Shetland ponies, and Hackney ponies. We were taken down to the riding arena, where Rita Schuller gave a demonstration on English horse at halter and under saddle. Jack Thomas told and showed us how to show a quarter horse at halter.

Court Decision Hit

by Cong. B. Ross Adair

The ruling by the Supreme Court last week that Congressman Adam Clayton Powell was unlawfully denied his seat in the Congress came as a great shock to me. This ruling, in my view, is a flagrant violation of the Constitution of the United States. The Constitution provides in Article 1, Section 5, Clause 1, "Each House shall be the judge of the Elections, Returns, and Qualifications of its own Members..." Clause 2 of this same section goes on to say: "Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member." Clearly, the decision of the Supreme Court was an unwarranted invasion into the workings of the Legislative Branch of our Government.

The Supreme Court has increasingly shown a trend in the direction of interference with the legislative process in recent years and this must be stopped if we are to preserve our system of checks and balances. Two avenues are open to the Congress in this regard. First, we can pass laws limiting the jurisdiction of the Court in such matters. Secondly, and more drastic, the Congress could limit or not appropriate funds for the operation of the Court.

Twenty five years ago, on June 22, 1944, just 16 days after the D Day invasion, the first G.I. bill was signed into law. In my view, this was one of the most important pieces of legislation in modern times. It provided funds for homes, education, and business opportunities for American servicemen when the war ended. Altogether, under the first and subsequent G.I. bills, more than ten million Americans either went to college or took specialized training. This legislation has provided the nation with 380 thousand new teachers, 84 thousand new doctors, 30 thousand new dentists, 15 thousand new nurses and millions of skilled craftsmen and businessmen. In more recent years, I was pleased to have played a role in securing a G.I. bill for our Korean and Vietnamese veterans, as a senior member of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

HYPERTENSION

HOW high is hypertension? Hypertension is a term used to describe abnormally high tension, especially high blood pressure. One out of every 10 adults is estimated to have high blood pressure. Although not always a serious condition, it can be very serious. Yet many persons with high blood pressure live practically normal lives.

Blood pressure is the pressure under which the blood in the arteries is maintained. Only by maintaining blood pressure in the arteries can blood be made to flow, just as water will flow through a hose or pipe only if it is under pressure.

Pressure on the walls of the arteries is dependent on the energy of the heart action, the elasticity of the walls of the arteries and the volume and thickness of the blood. When high blood pressure does do bodily harm, it is by causing the heart and the arteries to wear out sooner than they would if the blood pressure were normal.

Heredity is an important factor in causing high blood pressure, as are also nervous strain, worry and fear. Calmness and avoidance of emotional upset are recommended in cases of high blood pressure.

4-H Bike Riders Get Safety Tips

A new nationwide bicycle program for 4-H youngsters has been announced jointly by the Cooperative Extension Service and the National 4-H Service Committee. It is designed for boys and girls from 9 to 19, with special emphasis on participation by youth of elementary school age.

Already an estimated 125,000 4-H'ers have bicycle projects, according to the Extension Service. From coast-to-coast, bicycling is one of the fastest growing fun and leisure time activities.

Goodyear Sponsors

The program is sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio. Officials of the company and 4-H representatives negotiated for more than a year in setting up the educational pattern.

A series of annual awards will be provided by the sponsor. They consist of individual certificates for all participating members and a $50 U.S. savings bond for the state champion. Six 4-H'ers will get expense-paid educational trips to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago. The trips will be awarded on a sectional basis.

Four national $600 scholarships also will be awarded.

Guidebooks and other instructional materials are being specially written for this new program, according to a 4-H spokesman, and will be ready later this year. The bicycle project could well be advanced preparation for driving a motor vehicle. Similar safety rules, maintenance and mechanical checks apply.

Safety Stressed

The 4-H'ers will learn correct hand signals for turning or stopping, which are the same as for a motor vehicle. They are urged to obey traffic signs and signals. They are taught to yield right-of-way to pedestrians and practice courtesy at all times.

A lot of fun has been built into the program, too. Exhibitions of riding skill, games and contests are planned. Safety factors in bicycle selection will be brought to the attention of youngsters and parents as well.

Bikes Right

For example, the popular "high rise" bike may or may not fit the rider; or "regular" bikes may need adjustments. Hand-me-down bikes are not always satisfactory either, according to some authorities, because the size, weight and balance may be unsuitable for the child.

The most recent statistics available report accidents involving bicycles and motor vehicles resulted in 700 deaths annually. Of this number 64 per cent involved persons 14 years or younger.

FARM BUREAU BOARD
—Mildred Jarrett, reporter

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting, June 23, 1969, with President Floyd Pfierman presiding.

Mary Carpenter used the Father's Day theme in her devotions. She also read the poem, "Your Name."

Mr. Pfierman read a letter from the printing company in Marion, Indiana, notifying us that Indiana Farm Bureau Co-ops are withdrawing from the Farm News. The last issue will be in September. What next?

The State Fair will be held August 22-September 1. A motion was made and carried that we order 75 advance tickets at 75 cents each.

A question on whether or not to enter the Farmer's Day Parade August 26 was tabled until a later date.

Edna Perkins, county Woman Leader, announced the Farm Bureau Women's Alumni, I&M Building, Butler, July 23 with Wilmington-Stafford women as hostesses. Each unit should notify its former leaders.

The Make It Yourself With Wool contest will be at Production Credit Building, Angola, August 19.

Plans were completed for the DeKalb County Farm Bureau county picnic at the Saint Joe Conservation grounds Sunday, June 29, starting with dinner at noon. Fifty-year members will be honored. Larry Brandon will be the speaker.

Howard McDaniel, local insurance director, announced the resignation, as of June 17, of office secretary Marsha Coil. The new secretary is Sharon Shaw.

The DeKalb-Steuben area won a trophy based on percentage of Life Insurance Production in May. Mr. McDaniel and Roger Neff won trips to Las Vegas.

Paul Geinger, Area Field Man, said that county Farm Bureaus are in the process of collecting data for setting up the Direct Billing, which all counties in District 2, except Noble, voted to try.

Mr. Geinger suggested that Farm Bureau expand advertising on radio and television, and announced that there will be no Steuben County radio programs during July and August.

He explained the proposed mandatory check-off on potatoes for research and advertising, which could well be followed by a mandatory check-off on other commodities. This should be discussed in local meetings and wishes should be voiced to Senators and Representatives.

Methods of pork production were discussed.

Arlo King, substituting for one of the Commissioners, discussed proposed locations for new County Highway Barns. He said that Mr. Forrest, a Commissioner, does not favor the County Farm location, but prefers buying buildings already built. This, too, should be discussed at local meetings.

Carl Carpenter will have devotions in July.

SAINT JOE VALLEY 4H CLUB —Dean Schrader

The Saint Joe Valley 4H Club met at the home of Charles Curie. The meeting was called to order by the president, Keith Cook.

Dale Miller led the pledge to the American flag. Charles Curie led the 4H pledge.

Roll call was answered by 18 members.

"Safety on bicycles" was given by Dean Schrader. Charles Curie gave a demonstration on care of cameras.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

NEWVILLE TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Newville Township Extension Homemakers Club held their June meeting at the home of Delia McDonald in Hicksville, Ohio, with Myrtle Mills as co-hostess.

The meeting opened with all repeating the club collect. Lois Guiff gave devotions, reading from the writings of Catherine Marshall. History of the song of the month was read by Rozella Mickelson.

President Zella Collins read a letter asking us to give money to help with gifts for our servicemen. We voted to help again this year. Bernicee Miller reported on the nice time we had when we were guests of the Garrett Homemakers Club in May.

Millie Enzor gave a talk on the early history of Newville township. The lessons on leaky faucets and small electric appliances and cords were given by Cynthia Sipe and Zella Collins. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Dorine Singer and Elsie Meek.

Dorine Singer reported on a visit to rest homes.

We were dismissed by singing "American the Beautiful." Dorine Singer then conducted a "pound sale."

The July 9 meeting will be held in the Newville United Methodist church basement.

Genuine Corn Meal

One of the few places in the United States where you can get edible corn meal that has been ground by actual mill stones is at Indiana's Spring Mill State Park. The huge mill at Spring Mill's authentic pioneer village is one of the few in America still using both stone burrs for grinding and an overshot water wheel for power.

Spring Mill State Park, now comprising 1319 acres, was acquired in 1927. Spring Mill Village was founded in 1814, and three years later, the scenic and historic mill was built.

Water brought along a high wooden aqueduct drops down onto the mill wheel, which is 24 feet in diameter. The corn, hauled to the top of the three-story stone mill, courses down through huge stone grinding wheels. The corn meal is then sacked for sale to the public.

Last year 73,920 pounds of this sought-after corn meal were sold at Spring Mill. The cost is 50 cents (including tax) for a three-pound bag and 70 cents for a 5-pound bag when purchased at the mill or at the Spring Mill Inn.

The corn meal may also be bought by mail for the same prices, plus 10 cents for packaging, plus fourth-class postage. Spring Mill's corn meal is shipped to every state in the Union. Orders should be sent to: Superintendent, Spring Mill State Park, RR2, Mitchell, Indiana 47446. The Park is located three miles east of Mitchell on State Road 60 in Lawrence County.

"We have a heat pump, and one of the advantages is that the same piece of equipment is used to both heat and cool the house, so the cost includes air conditioning." Hayden Hannabass*

"I have a heat pump, and it costs me considerably less money because it's about twice as efficient. The ducts were already in existance, therefore, all they had to do was set the unit inside and the other one outside, and insulate. There's no reason at all why you can't install electric heat in any older home." Raymond Dervin*

"We have a heat pump, and it's very economical! There's very little repair and if it's insulated and built properly it will compete or beat any other type of heat on the market. There's a definite guarantee on them and it's definitely no more expensive to operate. We've had it for 8 years and we're well pleased with it." Amos Schrock*

WITH THE EDITOR

Phyllis Fetters picked up some photos last week after MeJon's finished with the processing, and she proudly showed me one of the pictures. Five smiling faces included Phyllis, Emma Frank, Beverly Mansfield, Maxine Fry, and Gloria Simerman, members of Bill Vinson's championship women's bowling team in a Leo league.

Walter Morr stopped in to pay his subscription Monday. He had with him a copy of a 1939 issue of The News, in which Cities Sales of Hicksville had a used car ad. To show how prices have changed, a 1938 Ford (then one year old) could be bought for $589! Other prices were accordingly low.

—Ah, the good old days.

Marie Meese brought in the following historical note Tuesday morning, for those of us who are interested in local history.

"While looking through some papers I came to this, and thought it might be of some interest. The first building built when St. Joe was laid out was built by William Leighty in the year 1874 and called the "White House," where he and his wife ran a hotel for 23 years. At that time the passenger trains all stopped here, and the traveling men were then taken by horse and buggy to their places of business contact. Mr. and Mrs. Estil Taylor now live in the land mark."

Marie, Mrs. Ethel Cheek of Denver, Colorado, and Mrs. V. M. Monroe of Auburn are granddaughters of William Leighty.

Loretta Loy, who has been having troubles getting information about our servicemen for her "I" column, received an unsigned note this week as follows (postmarked Spencerville):

"Dear Loretta: Could you please run Bill Wellendorf's address in your column? Thank you very much."

So, here 'tis, along with some other interesting information from father Bud Wellendorf:

Bill entered the Navy in October of 1968. He took his basic at Great Lakes, had a short leave at home, went to storekeepers' school on the east coast, had another short leave at home, went to survivors' school on the west coast, and then was shipped to Japan to serve on the USS banner. Bud informed me that he has received a "very nice letter" from the skipper of the Banner. With other information coming from Bill, Bud noted that the Banner will be the main subject of a TV program by Chet Huntley and David Brinkley sometime this month (watch the TV schedules). It will be a particularly timely program because the USS Banner is a sister ship to the USS Pueblo, which was "captured" by the North Koreans a year ago last January. Bill says he managed to get his face in front of the cameras a couple of times during filming of the TV program aboard ship. The Banner is based at Yokosuka, Japan, about 60 miles south of Tokyo.

Here is Bill's address:
6K8A W. G. Wellendorf
B 546 899 USN
USS Banner AGER-1
FPO San Francisco, Ca. 96601

—And when Loretta called at the Simerman mobile home this week, Carol answered the door in her housecoat and said, "Oh, I thought it was the editor."

I hear she makes good Russian tea—and no, it doesn't have vodka in it.

Lori Resor Is 'Outstanding Twirler'

Lori Resor, 13, attended Crescendo Twirling Camp at Lebanon Junction, Kentucky this past week. At the close of the week she had the honor of being named "Most Outstanding Twirler" at Camp Crescendo. Lori was also selected by Shirley Meyers, camp supervisor, to be a contestant in the Miss Crescendo Contest. Lori twirled fire baton for her talent portion of this contest.

Lori is a student at Riverdale Junior High School, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Resor of Spencerville.

She is a twirling student of Sandy Panning, who had won the "Most Outstanding Twirler" title in 1967 and 1968, and the Miss Crescendo title in 1968. Lori has been twirling three years and has 90 trophies and medals to show for her fine twirling ability.

GI Gift Bags To Be Prepared Thru Red Cross

One of the programs fulfilled by the DeKalb County Red Cross office is that of providing Christmas gift bags for servicemen and women in Vietnam. This year the Red Cross will seek to provide 135 such bags for Christmas 1969.

Dr. Paul Trausch of Auburn, project chairman, has issued the following information to Red Cross members concerning the project: "Many of you were very helpful with the work, last year. Several members promoted donations from area clubs and church groups. Last year we decided it was advisable to shop for the gift items in quantity. So we are suggesting that a gift of cash can be used to the greatest advantage."

Anyone wishing to contribute cash for the gift bag project may do so by sending such donation to the Red Cross office in care of the court house in Auburn; or they may be turned in at the News Office to be forwarded to the Red Cross office.

The 36-member board of directors of the Red Cross includes Mrs. Erving Vendrely of Spencerville, Mrs. James Angelone, and Mrs. Harold Wasson of Butler, recently elected to three-year terms; Mrs. Forrest Bevington of R1 Saint Joe, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser of Saint Joe, Mrs. Michael Hisey of R1 Saint Joe, Anna Mae Platt of Butler, and Mrs. William Rosenberry of R1 Butler, currently serving in the second year of three-year terms; and Ted Haberkorn of Saint Joe and George Kandel and Joseph Parshall of Butler, currently serving the third year of three-years terms.

The State Board of Tax Commissioners has set Tuesday, July 8, 1969, as the date for hearing on a petition objecting to the execution of a lease between the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District and the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation. The hearing will be held in the Eastside gymnasium at Butler, starting at 10:00 a.m.

The lease agreement was entered into May 20, 1969, following a public hearing at which objection was made to the lease proposal. A petition was circulated to present the objection to the state board, with 71 signers appearing on the petition. A minimum of 50 signers is required by law to validate such a petition. The opportunity for objection is provided by statute.

From FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover--- A Timely Message For 'The 4th'

We can never know or fully appreciate the hardships and grievances of the courageous men who in 1776 signed the Declaration of Independence. But I think many present-day Americans, in viewing the tragic conflict and lawlessness in our society, can feel something of their concern and anxiety for the cause of liberty and freedom under law.

We owe a great debt to our Founding Fathers who were willing to sacrifice all for the right to establish a system of self-government in which men and women would have a choice and a part. Because of their valiant efforts, today we live in a Nation which offers its citizens more equality, more justice, more freedom, and a greater opportunity to pursue happiness than ever provided by any other system in recorded history.

The privileges we share as Americans are not available to all people. Millions of people living under oppressive and tyrannical governments cannot understand the unrest and turbulence in our communities. They long for a concept of living which provides the ideals and principles of self-government. Unfortunately, many Americans today have become so accustomed to our inherited rights that they tend to take them for granted. They want and demand the privileges of a free society, but they do not want to be bothered with the attendant responsibilities. They shrink from duty and service.

Our system of freedom and justice is not, as some people seem to believe, a system under which they get what they want and do as they please without any regard for the rights of others. Under our rule of law and democratic process, all citizens are entitled to the same rights and freedoms and the same opportunity to progress, each according to his own ability. Likewise, liberty is not a license to choose which laws will be obeyed and which will be ignored. If we are to fulfill the visions of our forefathers, we must remember that lawful process is the only means a free people should use to resolve differences and effect changes.

Certainly, we must never downgrade the constitutional safeguards of dissent and petition. These and other rights of expression are vital to our existence as a free society. On the other hand, we must not permit the abuse of these safeguards by dissidents who unlawfully force their will upon the majority of citizens. The truth is all Americans, if they choose to be objective, have far more reason to praise than criticize our Nation.

As we commemorate our independence, let us renew our faith and pride in our country. Let us make patriotism a common virtue. Let us acknowledge the abundant blessings we share, and let us remember that every privilege has a related responsibility.

—J. Edgar Hoover

Nationally Honored Church Series Now Offered To 'News' Readers

A new service to readers of The Saint Joe News begins this week with the appearance of a church page. The basis for the series of church-related messages is the need for spiritual and moral rebirth in the nation, now beset by racial and economic strife and plagued by elements which seek to destroy human dignity by appeal to the sensual desires of mankind.

An inspiration of the Keister Advertising Service of Strasburg, Virginia, the "Support the Church" series has received 12 awards from the Freedoms Foundation in recognition of the outstanding quality of content of the church-related messages. Each week, the reader is confronted with a timely and thought-provoking subject. This week's opening message is of a patriotic nature, yet without losing the main theme of the importance of the church in everyone's life. Subsequent messages will be similarly related to today's living.

The quality of the series is reflected not only in the George Washington Honor Medal given by Freedom's Foundation, but also in the number of participating newspapers across the country. One thousand newspapers now use the "Support the Church" series, 500 of them for 10 years or more, 100 of them for 20 years or more. The series has been produced since 1944.

The series will be sponsored by business and professional firms and other interested individuals. The series will also include a listing of the churches in the local area, with their church school and worship hours.

Any commouts concerning the service will be welcomed by The News, and anyone who may wish to participate as a co-sponsor of the series may inquire at the News Office.

Farm Bureau Has 50th Anniversary

—Mildred Jarrett, reporter

The DeKalb County Farm Bureau chose its annual picnic at the Saint Joe Conservation grounds, June 26, as the place and time to celebrate its Golden Anniversary.

Fifty-year members, former county chairman, and present county officers were seated at a beautifully decorated table in the center of the room where over a hundred people enjoyed the noon feast.

The afternoon program opened with Irene Nelson, accompanied by Beverly Bleeh at the piano, leading the group in singing "America," "The American Farm Bureau Spirit," and "Old Rugged Cross."

Francis Nelson read the poem, "Indiana," and took as the text for his devotions, Isaiah 17:1, from which he developed his theme, "Change." He concluded by saying, "America of 1970 may be saved only as God shows his mercy to those who strive to do his will," and led the group in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Special entertainment was furnished by Kathy and Gail Gerig, who sang, with ukelele accompaniment, "Swinging on a Star," "How Many Roads?," "What Color is God's Skin?," and "I Will Love Him."

Larry Brandon of Marion, who has been a prominent Farm Bureau leader in township, county, and state for 50 years, gave the principal address. Smiles and nods of approval indicated that many remembered helping agriculture contribute to this great land of ours. Mr. Brandon's theme was inspired by the following words from the Farm Bureau song: "Like an army undivided, true and loyal to a man, may the farmers be united in a great concordant plan. Then the powers that made a nation shall go forward hand in hand, while Jehovah from His heaven pours a blessing o'er the land.

He recalled the organization of Farm Bureau and its early struggles and cooperation with the Grange and Farmer's Union in solving the farmer's problems. He spoke of changes, the Triple A, marketing, park system built by the WPA, REMC, Production Credit, and Biblical instructions to the farmer, and warned of the present efforts to divide farmers and take away their freedom and decrease their incomes.

Mr. Brandon concluded by advising all to read Acts 2 and to recognize and heed the Voice of God calling to us now.

Floyd Pfierman, county president, called the names and Edna Perkins, county woman leader, presented copies of "Hoosier Farmer in a New Day" by Edna Colby, to the following 50-year members: Mrs. Berniece Friend, Mrs. Kent Provines, Mr. William Goings, and Mr. and Mrs. Leal Woolever, Cleve Grube, Arthur Lautzenhiser, Floyd Maurer, Otis Kempf, Floyd Watson, Ben Miller, and Cora Rowe. Copies were also presented to former county presidents, John Linton and Francis Nelson. Each recipient responded with a memory of former days.

Other 50-year members, not present, who were recognized, were Andrew Grube, Mrs. Harry Foster, Mrs. Fred Hart, Frank Miller, Audra Brown, Walter Mutzfeld, E. W. Mertz, Harry Shull, Mrs. Emma Peters, Mrs. Frank Baltz, and Roy Provines.

A floral remembrance was sent to Mrs. Larry Brandon, who is ill.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Helen Wagner, Mr. William Goings, Mr. and Mrs. George

Did you know—

—that producers with corn stored on farms under price support loans are not affected by recent changes in the reseal program. They can continue to keep the 1968 crop in their bins, according to Max Heffley of the DeKalb Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation Committee. "We did make a change in the warehouse-reseal program, but producers should not let this confuse the picture. The warehouse announcement does not affect potential storage payments to producers of corn stored on their farms," he said.

—that state senator Dean V. Kruse, DeKalb County Republican Chairman, has announced that he was notified by the DeKalb County Commissioners that agreement has been made with state highway officials Leonard Smith of the Waterloo district and Lee Rush, chief engineer of the Fort Wayne state highway district, that US 27 and 427 will be resurfaced between Auburn and Waterloo, past DeKalb Central High School.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Ned Shull entertained the following guests at dinner Wednesday evening of last week: Mrs. Violet Platter of Pleasant Lake, Indiana; Mrs. Mabelle Thornton of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Geraldine Hoskins of Bladensburg, Maryland; Mrs. Virginia Wentworth of Toledo, Ohio; and Mrs. Lela Northrup of Saint Joe. Guests during the evening were members and spouses of the 1934 graduating class of Saint Joe High School: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Musser, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Miles, Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard, Mrs. John Hoskins, Sherwood, Arthur Lautzenhiser, Earl Hodges, Ben Miller, Cleve Grube, Raymond Singer, and Norman Gerig.

It's your privilege...

Here in America no one tells you that you have to work. Of course, when you do, you and your family enjoy self-respect as well as material benefits.

No one tells you, either, when or how you must play. But, when you take time for occasional recreation, you become refreshed, alert and ready for more work.

And no one tells you that you must worship the Lord, your God, regularly. But, when you do, you and your family are immeasurably blessed.

His mercy and loving-kindness will embrace your life. Knowledge of His infinite goodness and confidence in His eternal vigilance and love will sustain you at all times.

These blessings, and more, are yours so long as you keep alive the glorious American privileges of freedom to work, play and worship as you choose.

John Stuart, who has been serving in Vietnam, in the last several days was on R&R in Tokyo, Japan. While there he saw Bob Wilder, who attended the Lions International Convention along with Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Billow and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hart from this community.

John's dad informed me this week after Bob Wilder gave me a tip about the matter, that Bob took John to one of the "Lions" banquets where John was an impromptu guest of honor. I bet the Lions at the banquet took up a little collection to give him some spending money while he was "rocking and rolling."

Don Lake was impressed last week by an ad in the Fremont paper placed by Clark's Prescription Drugs in that town. The ad wasn't selling anything. It just gave a thank you to the town board for the street improvement which replaced their mud holes, and the other efforts made by the board for the community.

Lynn mentioned that he had gotten a thank you from a local citizen for some service he had helped provide locally as a town board member.

Nick Brown says the guys on his Oasis slow pitch softball team want to make sure everybody knows they beat the Sham rock Inn from Waterloo last Sunday afternoon by 24-3. The team plays this coming Sunday at Waterloo again, then at Hudson on July 20.

Darrell Fish stopped by Sunday afternoon to inform me that his mailing address will change when he goes back on duty after his current leave. He echoed Richard Mumma's thank you for receiving The News during military service.

Glad to oblige.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huston of near Ann Arbor, Michigan, are getting the local restaurant ready for a planned opening the first or second week in August. They have been cleaning up around the place and putting things in order.

Mrs. Huston had a close call Saturday when she didn't realize the gas had been turned on in the oven some time before she attempted to light it. There was a boom—we heard and felt it in our kitchen—and she got slightly singed on an arm, and her nylons disappeared. Fortunately, she was not hurt.

A couple of weeks ago I mentioned that Gus Padron's Mrs. was going to Italy to visit relatives. The relatives included her father.

Well, Gus informed me Tuesday evening that they received word of her father's death just before she departed on the trip. So, Mrs. Padron has mixed emotions as she heads for "home," joy at the opportunity to make the trip, and sadness in her bereavement.

HELP! I don't have a single copy left of the June 26 edition, at least, I can't find any. I need four good copies for permanent records. Anybody around who hasn't wrapped the garbage in it yet?

Education, Tax Benefits Stated At Hearing

Mr. Herbert Holmes and Mr. James Craft presided as representatives of the State Board of Tax Commissioners at a hearing held Tuesday, July 8, 1969, at the Eastside High School gymnasium. The hearing was held in connection with a request for relief against a proposed lease agreement between the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District and the DeKalb County Eastern Community Junior-Senior High School Building Corporation. Under terms of the lease agreement, a new school complex would be built on a site located in the city of Butler on which elementary facilities are now in use.

Nelson Grills, counsel for the remonstrating group, presented arguments to substantiate his clients' contention that the proposed building program is not needed in view of the possibility of uniting the eastern district with the DeKalb central district and utilizing the new facilities in the central district immediately for high school students in the top three grades of both districts.

Mr. Grills presented computations of tax benefits for taxpayers of both districts, and invited anyone to show any errors which might be included. By his computations, consolidation of the two districts and use of the present central building would result in a decrease in the tax rate for central patrons in providing high school education. An increase in taxes for eastern patrons would result, he noted, but not near the additional $1.40 increase per $100 which patrons in the eastern district face if the proposed building program in that district goes into effect.

H. Charles Winans presented a brief in behalf of the school corporation, noting that every legal requirement had been fulfilled. Several references were made to the efforts of Mr. F. E. Haberkorn, Jr. of Saint Joe to discredit his intentions. Mr. Winans singled out Mr. Haberkorn as the primary obstacle in the eastern district's efforts, stating that the latter sought "to get the school where he wanted it" and that such efforts were "a figment of the imagination of Mr. Haberkorn." Mr. Winans said the remonstrator "serves on a town board for a town which does not have sewage facilities, water, or a fire department, but he wants to tell the school board what to do about schools."

Mr. Winans continued his charges against Mr. Haberkorn, alleging that the latter had made statements in a recent letter to Mr. Robert Hall, president of the central district, inferring that the central school was "pushing out the walls" of its high school building.

Mr. Winans concluded his presentation with the observation that the remonstrators' efforts were "not worth comment."

In rebuttal, Mr. Grills pointed out that anywhere from 71 up to 400 persons had signed various petitions as remonstrators in the eastern district's struggle, that it was unfair to concentrate criticism on one individual who had served as a representative of many people. Grills also noted that it is a part of the American system of law that every citizen has the right to remonstrate, and all of the efforts by the remonstrators had been according to their lawful rights.

He concluded by stating that the remonstrators had never questioned the need for new facilities.

Mr. Joseph Parshall then gave his support to the school board's efforts to build the new school in the eastern district, stating that he did not know of a single industry which felt otherwise.

Mr. Holmes then announced that he and his colleague would tour the high school and junior high school buildings at Butler and Saint Joe, and then turn in their report. A decision will come at a later date from the state tax board.

Approximately 15 persons attended the hearing.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnett have three sons and two daughters, who in turn have presented the Arnetts with 20 grandchildren and three great-granchildren.

Mr. Arnett was engaged in construction work in Fort Wayne for 25 years until 1944. After coming to Saint Joe, he undertook farming until retirement in 1966.

The couple's anniversary will be celebrated with a family observance at home.

Letters to the Editor

Friends and Neighbors:

Are you interested in helping to improve our community and provide a place of recreation and relaxation for young and old alike?

Recently the Spencerville Community Club had the opportunity to purchase approximately 4 acres of land which lies directly west of the Community Building. At this time the Club plans to develop this tract of land into a baseball diamond, picnic and recreation area, and provide parking facilities for our Community activities.

The area will be called the Spencerville Community Park.

We believe this park will add a great amount of pleasure and value to our community when all the intended plans are fulfilled.

Our Club operates on a limited budget, and as a result we do not have adequate funds to enable us to do all that we would like as quickly as we would like to do it. For this reason we are hoping you will help us by making a donation to the Community Club to be used for the purchase and development of our Community Park.

Please contact or send your contributions to our Club president: Mr. Glenn Moore, Spencerville, Indiana 46788; or phone 925-4339.

Thanking you kindly,

Town Board

The town board met in a double session this week, holding a discussion session Monday evening for two hours, then reconvening Tuesday evening at 8:30 p.m. for a session that ran until 1:20 a.m. Wednesday morning. The budget for 1970 consumed much of Tuesday's session.

The board passed an ordinance prohibiting the use of house trailers or mobile homes in Saint Joe, except in duly licensed mobile home courts. The complete ordinance appears elsewhere in this paper.

Roger Coburn and Richard Musser expressed appreciation for the board's purchase of new equipment to maintain the cemetery. The riding mower will also be used for upkeep of the local park.

Discussion was held on the sewage plant situation. The board has made application to a second federal agency, this for a loan with which to install a sewage treatment plant. A public meeting will be held when more complete information can be provided to the public.

It was noted that notice has been served on the owner of the old mill to have the building removed by August 15 as a step in promoting other community improvements.

The north section of the Steele building has been rented for storage of town equipment.

A discussion was held about several drain problems which will be taken care of as soon as possible.

Plans were continued for the surveying of the local cemetery and placement of markers for convenience in placing new graves and locating lots. All three board members volunteered time to assist Wayne Van Auken in completing the task.

The board voted to reinstitute the cothodic treatment of the water tower, a protection against rust and scale.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks: I&M $41.81; Hep's Dairy Store, collection fee, 90.00; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas & oil 10.01; Donald Kinsey, transportation 25.00; William Mansfield, salary & postage 41.70; Donald Kinsey, supplies 2.68.

Town: Donald Kinsey, clerk services 50.00; Yeiser's Standard Service, gas and repairs 21.50; Brown Furniture and Hardware, mower and materials 85.06; Roger Schlegel, dog disposal 30.00; Roger Schlegel, salary 37.50; I&M, street lights 80.40; Yeiser's, gas and materials 28.03; Donald Kinsey, clerk cemetery 25.00; Roger Coburn, mow cemetery 80.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and supplies 9.90; Standard Oil Co., mineral seal 18.43; Yeiser's gas 7.60; Jiggs', gas 13.06; Brown Furniture and Hardware, materials 28.88; Yeiser's, gas 5.51; Melvin Hershberger, labor 7.50; Kenneth Roberts, labor 88.75; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, trash collection 240.00; John P. Lewis Co., paving 2,177.00; Hixson Sand & Gravel, blacktop 82.79.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

Monday evening, June 23, we had a nice banquet at Plainer's, north of Garrett, to honor our ladies. Andy Crow pinned his wife; that is, they went to the speaker's table and Andy was presented a pin, which he then pinned on Mrs. Crow's dress. For roll call, each Lion introduced his wife or a guest.

The auditing committee found a $1 error in treasurer Billow's written report. This was just a misprint and they knew about it in advance, so they pretended to make an issue out of it.

Lion Rugey reported that he had camped out last week end with the Spencerville scouts and their new scoutmaster, Richard Drake.

Outgoing president Bob Wilder made a farewell address in which he complimented and thanked the club on the way it had carried out his ten-point program. He was especially thankful for the three new members. This was really a pep talk for continued success next year. He mentioned that we still had a tidy sum in the bank and perhaps we should have spent more of it. Bud Shockley answered that by saying that our new president, Harold Curie, would take office July 1, that the Spencerville community had purchased a tract of land for recreation purposes, and that a donation there would bring our balance down to the desired amount.

The only bills allowed were two checks for $15 each to our delegates to the Tokyo convention to buy hospitality tickets.

This was just a little token of appreciation. We would not have had delegates if they had not been paying their own transportation, hotel bills, and other incidentals.

President Bob Wilder then presented the gavel to our new president, Harold Curie.

The Deputy District Governor, our own Lion Lavon Hart, installed the new officers.

The only one who made an acceptance speech was Harold Murphy, our new tail twister. Now, unless you have twisted a cow's tail and then hung on or tried to hang on, you just can't appreciate this job. As for his speech, maybe I should just say that it was a fine political speech, or maybe I should just say that "he that bloweth not his own horn, the same shall not be blown."

Mr. Ishmael Smith, a teacher at Eastside High School, then gave us an illustrated lecture on some of the things he saw and did in Southeast Asia. Be assured we will have him back if he can come, and maybe next time the Saint Joe News will give us room to tell what we see and hear.

Did you know-

—that Mr. and Mrs. Ronald K. Richmond are the parents of a 9 pound, 4 ounce son born Friday, June 27.

—that there will be a meeting of the Eastside chapter of the Future Farmers of America at the home of Mr. Guinther Sunday, July 13 at 2:00 p.m. Activities are planned for after the meeting.

Tight Race In Church League

by Phil Haberkorn

As the end of the first half of the 1969 season draws near, a tight race is forming among the top three teams. Mt. Pleasant-Newville still owns first place, but right on their tail are Mt. Joe-Newville and newcomers Norris Chapel. Norris Chapel provided what so far has been the major upset by beating the leaders 9-6 in the teams' first encounter. A victory over Concord-Butler pulled them within ½ game of the league lead. Mt. Joe-Newville has kept pace with a couple of wins over Concord-Butler and Coburntown II. All three teams will spend the next four weeks dealing with the 4th- through 8th-place clubs, with the only head-on clash being between Mt. Joe-Newville and Mt. Pleasant-Newville on July 23.

A feature of the past two weeks' action was the 12-hit 5-0 shutout by Charlie Cole of Mt. Pleasant-Newville over the Lutherans.

Standings as of Thursday, July 10:

Mt. Pleasant-Newville UM	6	1
Mt. Joe-Newville CC	5	1
Norris Chapel UM	5	1
Hicksville CC	3	4
Lutherans	2	5
Coburntown I	2	4
Coburntown II	1	5
Concord-Butler	1	6

Scores through Thursday, July 10:

Hicksville 11 - Concord-Butler 5.
St. Joe-N'ville 17 - Cobrntn II 5.

Homemade hand-cranked ice cream will again be the feature of the annual Saint Joe Lions Club Ice Cream Social to be held Saturday, July 26, 1969, at the Conservation Club grounds. Starting time is 5 p.m.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

I did an injustice to Kenny White a couple of weeks ago. I said here that his parents had gottes him to do some community improvement by mowing a portion of the weeds along the B&O right-of-way in town. I have been informed that the idea was Kenny's, not an order from upper levels. So, to give credit to the younger generation for having constructive ideas as well as the devilish inspirations, let it be known that Kenny White has given his community a voluntary boost.

Thanks to the several people who have either sent or brought in copies of the June 26 issue. I now have enough for our permanent records.

I am as thrilled as anyone over the moonshot now in progress, but I can't help having some resignations, too. I'm afraid I am in sympathy with Rev. Ralph Abernathy when he points out the troubles of our society which are to some extent now being dealt with effectively while at the same time some $22 billion has been invested in the moon program.

I don't know exactly how much money could or should be used in contending with the problems of our society. But I do know that it is frightening how we put all our eggs in one basket time after time, concentrating on one thing and making it a "favorite" at the expense of other worthwhile and needed projects or programs. When I see all these technicians before their dials and radar screens and think of all the people who are making a living off this big scientific experiment of shooting for the moon without knowing exactly what we are going to gain (except prestige from a big show), again I have to be on Rev. Abernathy's side in registering discontent.

The same concern pingues me over the current discussion, or controversy, about the ABM project. Whenever the approach is made that something is necessary in order to "guarantee" some degree of "defense," I am reminded of the Maginot Line, a defense measure of the French back in World War II. Remember? It was impregnable? Remember? The Germans went through it like water through a sieve.

I hope time proves me wrong in my reservations about the manner in which we are spending incomprehensible sums of money. But somehow, right at the moment, I cannot help but feel that the risks the astronauts are taking are not worth it. The disorder and discontent that is growing among both Negroes and whites overshadows our scientific advancement.

"First things first," unfortunately, is not the order of the day.

Creative Taxation Can Shift The Tax Burden

—State Rep. Floyd B. Coleman

Taxes should be used to encourage growth and not to stunt. Government should encourage, not discourage. It should encourage land to be put to its most productive use. Profit incentive should not be stifled by having to bear the cost of benefits provided to non-productive vacant land. This would help restore a little of our incentive oriented society and discourage the lazy speculator.

The benefits of land value taxation needs to be recognized as a simple and expedient means of shifting some of the present unfair property tax burden while simultaneously serving as a growth and production incentive. Land should be assessed on a basis of its market value. Too much idle land lies in the hands of speculators who pay but little tax while they refuse to sell because the tax is insignificant. Those who own or buy such unimproved sites should realize that they should pay taxes based upon the market value of the site whether it is developed or not. This should shift the tax burden away from the improvements and be a great incentive to improve. Such a policy of taxation will give advantage to an incentive oriented society and demonstrate that growth begets growth. It will help provide the services necessary to any community, roads sewage, water, schools, library, recreation facilities, police and fire protection.

I would like to recommend land value taxation to the next Indiana General Assembly as a means of shifting one-half or more of the present unfair property tax. Annual reappraisals of land values should be instituted in rapidly developing areas. Land value assessments should be far below building assessments and far below the market price of the building. An independent appraisal firm should be hired and home owners should be able to save a great amount of taxes by shifting the burden to the speculators.

Property improvements should not raise taxes; this will help restore our incentive oriented society. Modern computer systems should make annual reappraisals a simpler task.

Heavy taxes on land values with appropriate reductions in improvement taxes encourage growth and often compel development. This can be a good leverage on owners of unused land to put it to proper use or sell it to someone who will. Land is ours to use and not to hoard. Land speculators can become land developers when we stop taxing incentive by entirely exempting buildings and improvements and apply real estate taxes only to land values.

Members of local governments and all concerned that right prevail should work toward this great property tax shift that can improve living and working conditions for all in an incentive oriented society.

Fun At The Ball Diamond

So near, yet so far, seems an appropriate caption for this photo as first baseman Leo Carper watches Mike Diemer make his last big step safely at first base. Carper had trouble finding the handle on the ball and Diemer beat out the roller. The action occurred in a game between the Strombecks and the Akeys in local Junior League competition.

Enthusiasm for the Junior League participants comes from the stands as parents and friends watch this summer's Junior League baseball activities involving four teams, the Drakes, the Rinards, the Akeys and the Strombecks.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB
—Loretta Musser, reporter

The midsummer meeting of the Ladies Literary Club was held June 26, 1969 at the home of Mrs. Forrest Bevington. The president, Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m., and the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

The program for the coming year was read for approval by the members. For roll call, members responded with the topic they wanted to use for response for the coming year.

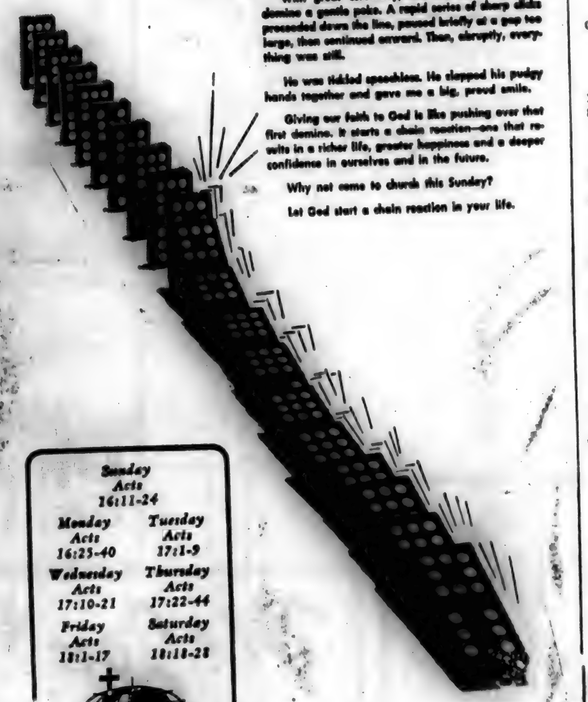
Mrs. Weldon Shafer reported on a meeting she had attended in May regarding the use of the emergency phone number, 911, which is being promoted in the surrounding areas.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Frank Curie, Sr., an emeritus member, Mrs. Fred Thornton and Mrs. Everett Mavis, Sr., honorary members, and Mrs. Krons, who is an aunt of Mrs. Walter Reinhart.

Following the business meeting, everyone spent an enjoyable social hour, listening and conversing with Mrs. Thornton, who told of her experiences living in Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Curie and Mrs. Mavis, who gave some of the highlights of the past year for them.

After adjournment, the committee served refreshments from a beautifully decorated table. The committee for the meeting was Mrs. Forrest Bevington, Mrs. Walter Reinhart, and Mrs. Albert Wade.

Chain Reaction



With great ceremony, the boy gave the lead domino a gentle poke. A rapid series of sharp clicks proceeded down the line, paused briefly at a gap too large, then continued onward. Then, abruptly, everything was still.

He was tickled speechless. He clapped his pudgy hands together and gave me a big, proud smile.

Giving our faith to God is like pushing over that first domino. It starts a chain reaction—one that results in a richer life, greater happiness and a deeper confidence in ourselves and in the future.

Why not come to church this Sunday?

Let God start a chain reaction in your life.

Dear Mom and Dad,

Hello again. Mike Loy here, coming to you from beautiful Camp Holloway near exotic Pleiku City in the Central Highlands of South Viet Nam, garden spot of the Southeast. I have available a shining new fleet of Huey helicopters for your use in touring the friendly countryside surrounding Pleiku. Just contact Teence Weenee Airlines for reservations. Our guided tours take you to the four points of the compass. To the South down the valley to Bam Me Thout (BAM ME TOWT) and the once embattled special forces camp of Duc Lap, scene of one of the bloodiest battles of the war. To the west, the special forces camp of Plei Djerang (PLAY JERANG) and just four more miles to the west a glimpse of Cambodia, R&R site for the NVA and also part of the Ho Chi Minh Trail. To the east through the Man Yang Pass, where 8000 frenchmen were killed and are still buried on the mountain slope, to exotic An Khe (AN KAY), home of the first cav division from 1965 to 1968, now base camp for the Third Brigade Fourth Infantry division. And now to the North we have nestled in the mountains the city of Kon Tum, where during Tet of 1968 the entire city was controlled by the North Vietnamese Army for a short period of time. Further north we have the two fun places on our tour, Dak To and Ben Het. Dak To, scene of recent encounters with the NVA, where the Army of the Republic of Vietnam showed their true worth and dealt the enemy a staggering defeat. All of this without the help of Americans. But the other business of our airlines carried several American dead and wounded to hospitals during this time. No, we can't stop at Dak To, the presence of aircraft seem to attract rockets and mortar, very bad for the health. And now coming into view, the besieged camp of Ben Het. Only a few miles from Laos and Cambodia within easy artillery range of communist gunners in the never-never lands.

Notice the billowing smoke all around, US bombers and artillery. Notice the other branch of our airlines flying into Ben Het. Look close, folks, I'm sure you will be able to see he real thing impacting inside and around the camp. Yes, there it comes, and here comes the Huey out luckily with no hits taken.

And now back to Camp Holloway before the monsoon storms make it impossible to get back. I'm sure you enjoyed your sample tour, and be sure to tell your friends, and if they are lucky, they too may get a chance to visit this lovely land someday.

Love,
Mike

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

The Oasis boys won two more slow-pitch softball games the last two Sundays. One win was over the Waterloo Jaycees, and the other against a team from Hudson. That makes the boys 3-0 this season.

I received a picture post card from Maria Padron this week. She is in Italy visiting relatives and said:

"Hi. Just a line, I am Gus' wife, to say I am having a wonderful time and here everything is fine. The 25th of this month is our anniversary. Say hi to Gus on the paper if you can."

—Hi Gus, from your Mrs.

In the Junior League picture last week, Mark Diemer was incorrectly identified as "Mike" Diemer.

After expressing my thanks last week for the extra copies of the June 26 edition given to me by my readers, I got the following note from way out in Pennsylvania:

"Just to prove that people do read 'St. Joe's Largest Newspaper,' I am returning my copy of the June 26 issue. Pauline Wasson Greene."

Pauline is Mrs. Donald L. Greene of 3605 Grant Street in Reading.

June Baker dropped off a roll or two of film for processing last week and scurried out, somewhat breathlessly, saying that the Bakers shook hands with Julie Eisenhower during a recent trip, and they had some pictures of the occasion.

Bill Hurni narrowly escaped serious injury last week at the park when the old bridge he was dismantling collapsed and dropped him in the creek which runs through the park. But he did get a nasty gash on the head which required several stitches to close.

It happened so quickly that he doesn't remember exactly how he fell or what he hit. But he did come up in the water with blood streaming from his head, somehow scrambled up the creek bank and got a ride from Dale Collins. Bill's glasses were lost for a while in the bottom of the creek, but he has them back again.

To those who noticed how high the cemetery grass got the past couple of weeks, Roger Coburn and Rich Musser extend their apologies. They say it won't happen again.

A man's 14-karat gold wedding band was found at the ball park last week. The owner can claim it at the news office.

While watching our astronauts walking around on the moon Sunday night, it appeared to us appropriate that we should be witnessing such an event when we would normally be watching "Mission: Impossible."

Town Faces Unknown Tax Hike

by The Editor

Taxing units are now preparing their budget estimates for the year 1970, but the official publication of such estimates will give no accurate indication to the public as to the tax rate required to raise the funds necessary to meet the budget.

The local town board is not alone in wondering what the reassessment of real estate will do to current computations involving total assessed value and consequent tax rate. With no reassessment information available to the town clerk of Saint Joe, Donald Kinsey has had to prepare the 1970 budget estimate for board members Jack Bowser, Ted Haberkorn, and Lynn Lake up to the point of determining the apparent levy needed per $100 of assessed valuation in the corporate limits of the town. One bit of information he did obtain is that the total assessed valuation of he town has increased to $412,080.00; but this is by the old standards of assessment.

However, one thing is certain; the amount to be raised by taxes, needed to cover the budget estimate, is up considerably over the amount raised by taxes for the current year. According to the clerk, this is due to the fact that there was a large cash balance carried over from the final year of the previous board's term of office. With that large amount already on hand, it was not necessary to levy a high rate last year to have enough funds to cover the budget. This year there will be no carry-over, and the tax rate will jump considerably. Under current "guesstimates," that jump will amount to over $1.00! But, again, the actual levy cannot be estimated now due to the lack of re-assessment figures.

The proposed budget for 1970 is up some $1200 over the budget for 1969. This is due to an increase in the appropriation for street lights, up $1300 over this year's budget to cover the cost of a completely revamped and expanded system. Nearly $700 is added to the 1970 budget for purchase of equipment. The total of these two items is $2,000, but the budget has not increased that amount due to reductions in other appropriations.

As matters now stand, the local board will present a total general fund budget estimate of $15,901, when the official legal notice is prepared. In addition, the board proposes to spend $5000 in the street fund. However, street funds basically are not raised by local levy, the town receiving reimbursement from the state for this fund from revenue collected at the state level. But a local levy is necessary when the street fund appropriation exceeds the state reimbursements.

Saint Joe Is 72nd On Grant List; Other Sewage Funds Sought

R. A. Poole, technical secretary of the Stream Pollution Control Board of the State of Indiana, has informed the town board of Saint Joe that the town stands 72nd on a list of 135 municipalities which have requested federal and state grants for sewage treatment plant expansion or installation. With Indiana's share of the federal budget request of $214 million standing at only $5 million, it is obvious that very few projects will receive federal grants. And state fund grants are available only to those projects receiving federal monies.

In the area, Avilla is listed 17th on the priority list, Butler is 47th, and Churubusco is 54th. Saint Joe's requests are for $71,500 federal and $35,750 state funds.

Federal grants are based on a point system devised to determine those municipalities which have the greatest need for sewage treatment. Some 17 points are required at the present time to indicate any possibility of consideration. Saint Joe rated only slightly over 13 points.

The local town board made application in recent months for federal and state funds through Clyde E. Williams & Associates of South Bend, an engineering firm which prepared a preliminary survey of sewage needs and costs last year. The firm has also made application to the Farm and Home Administration for a loan to cover the costs of the proposed sewage treatment plant. However, the FHA is also limited in its allocation of funds, and there is yet to be any indication that Saint Joe will be able to construct the sewage plant which state surveys suggest are needed.

The Indiana State Board of Health has made surveys of stream pollution in this area, and the readings gained at certain check points indicate that, although the Saint Joe River has a degree of pollution upstream from the town, the waste being dumped into the river from the town corporation is adding to the problem of stream pollution downstream.

There has been some objection to the proposed sewage project, some of it rather strong. However, there has also been an indication from several townspeople that the growing responsibility for the purity of the general water supply must be assumed eventually by everyone, and it "might as well be now for Saint Joe."

While a positive statement cannot be made as to the cost per household for sewage treatment, if the proposed plant does become a reality, it has been estimated by the engineering firm that the cost per month would be around $11.00. However, if a loan can be obtained from the FHA, as indicated before, such loan would be for a 40 year period instead of 30 years as used in the original estimate of costs. This could reduce the monthly cost to some extent.

With water and air pollution becoming a more obvious threat to the welfare of American society with each passing day, the local town board has changed from a passive attitude to one of active concern, and it now seeks to bring sewage treatment to the community, in fulfillment of community responsibility to society.

SAINT JOE VALLEY EXTENSION CLUB
—Pat Roberts, reporter

The Saint Joe Valley Extension Club met with Catherine Bowser July 18 at her lovely cottage on Hamilton Lake.

We met for an all-day meeting and a bountiful dinner was served at the noon hour. Six members and five visitors enjoyed the meal, and all dieting was forgotten for that day.

At 1:30 p.m. the president, Cora Funk, called the meeting to order with the reciting of the Club Collect in unison.

Devotions were given by Myrtle Pugsley, who read from the Scriptures stressing peace in the home, community, and country. She closed devotions with prayer.

Due to the absence of our song leader, and with a small group present, our song of the month, "The Star-Spangled Banner," was read by Catherine Bowser.

Roll call was answered by telling our favorite picnic dish.

The secretary's report was given by Pat Roberts, and stood approved as read.

Alice Reidenbach reported on getting the use of the Conservation Club building for our August meeting, when we will entertain a sister extension club.

Pat Roberts then told the group of the passing of Nancy Coburn's sister on July 18, and urged all members to remember Nancy with a card.

Treasurer Catherine Bowser reported that she had sent in our Red Cross donation and had received in return a receipt and a Red Cross Membership along with their thanks.

Eva Clauser reported on the lunch for our August meeting and received enough volunteers so the lunch is well taken care of.

The meeting was then closed with the club prayer song, and the remaining time was spent visiting and enjoying the beautiful view of Hamilton Lake from Catherine's enclosed porch.

Dennis Melchi Wins Derby Trophy

Dennis Melchi, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melchi of Spencerville, won two heats and then was defeated by four-tenths of a second in a third heat in competition held last Sunday in the Fort Wayne Area Soap Box Derby. This was his first year of entry in Derby competition.

Dennis's efforts in upholstery in constructing his racer earned him a trophy for best upholstery. This trophy is the larger of the two pictured above. The other trophy is for winning the two heats. Dennis ran in Class A competition, which includes 13, 14, and 15 year olds. Class B includes 11 and 12 years olds. There were 57 entries this year which ran on Fort Wayne's new derby track at Franke Park.

The derby racers had a 250-pound combined weight limit for boy and racer. Length of the cars is limited to 80 inches. Dennis worked six months in building his racer. He suggests that any local boys interested in trying their skill in the derby race should watch for publicity sometime in October concerning next year's race; or they may write to Fort Wayne Soap Box Derby, Inc., 633 Indiana Bank Building, Fort Wayne.

Pete Akey of Gar Creek Products in Spencerville was sponsor for Dennis's entry.

Ice Cream Social

Homemade hand-cranked ice cream will again be the feature of the annual Saint Joe Lions Club Ice Cream Social to be held Saturday, July 26, 1969, at the Conservation Club grounds. Starting time is 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the social will be used to support the club's varied projects, including the local summer recreation program for boys and girls, and presentation of Bibles to members of each graduating class of the local high school. The club also supports other local community projects and programs, and participates in Lions-sponsored projects at the state and national levels.

The public is invited to attend.

All-Stars To Play

The Junior League baseball season is coming to close with two local All-Star teams to have their own two-of-three series next week. The series will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, July 29 and 30, with the third game to be played Thursday if necessary.

Thereafter, a team of 15 All-Stars from the four local teams will journey to Edon, Ohio, to play Hamilton in an All-Star tournament.

Final results of the local tennis tournament will be released by Rrecreation Director Forrest Bevington as soon as he has compiled the necessary information.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

Because of the uncertainty of the weather, the Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met in the spacious garage at the home of Harriet Hood for their July picnic dinner and business meeting. The hostesses for the meeting were Harriet Hood and Marie Ward, who prepared all the picnic food, including fried chicken, berry pie, cool drinks, baked beans, hot coffee, and lettuce salad with relishes.

There were nine members present. Devotions were given by Ida Reed, who used a potpourri of patriotic articles for the July meeting.

The president, Bernicee Wilder, called for reports by Marvel Kesler and Marie Ward, who attended the conference at Purdue in June. A quiz on styles was conducted by Helen Lohse. The scores ranged from low to just passing, and all enjoyed the results.

The nominating committee met and prepared the slate of officers to be presented at the next meeting, with election set for September.

The committee for the Needle Work Guild, chaired by Sarah Amstuts, also decided on their project to be completed by the September meeting.

The business meeting ended, and a period of visiting and catching up on what each has been doing these first summer days was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The August 13 meeting will be at the home of Ida Reed in Spencerville, when crafts will be discussed.

Church League Has Tight Race

With a little over four weeks left in the Church League season, the race for the championship has developed strictly into a three-team affair. Mt. Pleasant-Newville continues to hold claim to first place, mainly on the strength of a 9-6 win over St. Joe-Newville CC Wednesday night, which vaulted the leaders to a ½-game advantage over St. Joe-Newville and Norris Chapel.

Another tight race has formed in the middle of the standings, with Hicksville, Coburntown I, and the Lutherans all tied at 4½ games out of first place. The two last-place teams, Concord-Butler and Coburntown II, have now been eliminated from the championship race.

The two big games left on the schedule, as far as the top-running teams are concerned, are the August 15 clash between Mt. Pleasant-Newville and Norris Chapel, and the Norris Chapel vs. St. Joe-Newville CC game set for August 20.

The All-Star game is scheduled for August 28.

Scores, July 10 - July 23:

Jamboree Report

After three days of chess, cards, and patch trading, and three nights of soft living on the train to the seventh National Jamboree in Idaho's Farragut State Park, we arrived on Sunday. We were the first troops to get into camp.

We have seen boys from Panama, Japan, New Zealand, and Saigon. These boys are very friendly.

Everybody in these camps is friendly and willing to help, and there is no time to get homesick. So far we have had a good time. On this day, July 15, I heard that the temperature was in the 90's, and I couldn't believe it. This morning it was a very chilly forty degrees. I guess that the wind from the towering mountains cools this area off.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 29
—Betty Bevington

Nine girls and two adult leaders of Troop 29 camped overnight in Bevington's woods on July 15.

Early in the spring, the scouts had hiked to the woods and started clearing the camp site and Stephen Bevington kept it mowed each week.

The group pitched their tents in the afternoon, then cooked their supper over an open fire. Several girls fulfilled some of the requirements on their Outdoor Cook badge by planning the meal, doing the shopping, and preparing and serving the meals.

We cooked our breakfast and had our lunch before breaking camp about 2:00 on July 16.

We want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Riggier of the Saint Joe Camper Sales who loaned us a tent for the night.

Views From State Rep. Coleman:

by Floyd B. Coleman, M. D.

My Dear Uncle Sam:

Tonight because of a foolish Senate Bill No. 1575 which some of your elected overpaid employees are sponsoring, I can't sleep until I write you. I'd prefer to speak with you personally and hope sometime I may. Why are you trying to further cripple and destroy my personal rights and freedom by continuing to employ such help that tries to out-law dispensing of drugs and appliances. Are some so motivated by greed that they judge family physicians by themselves?

Since 1945 I've prescribed drugs and appliances, but also provided efficient, convenient, economical service by dispensing from my own office. Why do you permit those in your employ, who try to destroy a basic freedom of choice, to sponsor a bill that is designed to cripple and destroy incentive to serve by another federal regulation of our private lives? Perhaps some sponsors of this bill own stock in certain companies that should profit by such an act, or perhaps their back-home firm represents some chain attempting to destroy another freedom of us little people.

It's about time that "we the people" stand up and count your employees. Perhaps some should be retired to a job back home where they are paid only what they are worth even if that does leave them a little hungry. I'd sure appreciate knowing what prods you into promoting federal control of personal rights and liberties.

I understand that S. B. 1575 may become law soon, but I hope that "we the people" will protest this attempt at further federal power seizure by writing our congressmen and our president, and that all power hungry politicians will be sent back home to try and earn a living by working.

Your little nephew,
Floyd B. Coleman, M.D.

P.S. Senate sponsors of S.B. 1575 are Hart, Magnuson and Moss. Write your Senators and Representatives your opposition.

Our family vacation and typist problems have been responsible for the omission of the weekly letters for four weeks, but I do desire dialogue and appreciate responses.

It was not a honeymoon, but a family pleasure, to take all five of our five last children and enjoy a little more fringe benefit of a state legislator attending the Indianapolis 500, thanks to the generosity of the private owner of this world famous private sports enterprise. It was a thrill to have inside parking privileges, reserved seats for two next to the pits, and to be able to make this pleasure a part of our vacation.

From the race we drove past many southern Hoosier relatives for a brief visit, then on to Washington, D. C., the seat of our country's runaway inflation caused by extravagant government spending made possible by excessive federal taxation.

To visit the old historic sites and items in the Smithsonian Institute was a thrilling review and made me feel "how old I am," to be able to remember so much of the makings of history. The greatest scene there was a glimpse of President Nixon on the White House lawn that made us realize how much he needs the prayers of us all. His would surely be a crushing burden except for the faith and support of all those who believe and practice prayer.

I personally hope and believe that the 10% surtax should be eliminated at once. Our federal government, like a spoiled child, will wastefully spend all that it can get. If inflation is ever to be quelled it must start with reduced federal taxes and reduced federal spending. Our federal bureaucracy has taxed and spent us into a dangerous spiraling inflation which seems to be a vicious cycle with nowhere to get off.

The Senate was not in session when we were there. The House was taking oral roll call by the method used before electricity was harnessed. Although I like antiques in museums, it seems wrong to use antique methods of roll call in our U. S. Congress when a modern accurate method of electronic voting is so readily available. Perhaps someone will help update some of our archaic methods of doing U. S. Government business by helping provide electronic voting equipment for our U. S. Congress similar to that used in the Indiana General Assembly. Perhaps "We the People" can do our own little thing to improve or repeal and prune some of our excess federal government.

Falls Under Repair

Niagara Falls has long been world-famous as a magnificent scenic wonder and bountiful source of power. With the passing of time the tremendous force of rushing water has gradually cut back the crestlines of the Falls. The immediate results of this erosion are most evident at the American Falls, where great volumes of fallen rock have accumulated at the base of the Falls, marring the spectacle of an uninterrupted veil of water.

From July through December 1969, water that rushes down the American Channel and tumbles over the precipice will be diverted. The purpose: to investigate the geologic conditions of rock strata of the American Falls. Information obtained will be compiled, analyzed, and evaluated for a report, the contents of which will determine what measures, if any, would be required to preserve and enhance the beauty of the American Falls.

The estimated cost of the study is $1,500,000.

A significant amount of broken rock, or talus, has accumulated at the base of the American Falls as a result of rockfalls. Recent major rockfalls occurred in 1931 and 1954. The talus accumulation, in the opinion of some people, detracts from the scenic spectacle of the American Falls. The rockfall in 1931 involved some 76,000 tons of rock, while the rockfalls of 1954 involved about 185,00 tons and 15,000 tons of earth.

The Treaty of 1950 provides that, in order to reserve sufficient water in the Niagara River for scenic purposes, no diversions of water for power purposes shall be made which will reduce the flow over Niagara Falls to less than 100,000 cubic feet per second during daylight hours of the tourist season or 50,000 cubic feet per second at any other time.

However, an agreement between the United States and Canada will allow the power entities to divert the normal American Falls for the development of power during the dewatered period. The power entities are contributing funds and services to the study of the American Falls.

Tour Court House

The DeKalb County Historical Society held its regular meeting at 2:00 p.m. Sunday at the court house in Auburn.

Hol Muhn of Auburn told the group about constructing the building, which began in 1911. Mr. Muhn worked as a finish carpenter and did the woodwork, benches, and other furnishings, and laid the cork floors in both the big court room and the small hearing room. Ernie Holloway, who now lives at the Auburn Hotel, was a painter on the building, and perhaps there are other people in the area who worked on it. Billy Swank was Mr. Muhn's carpenter helper, and their boss was Ernie Thomas of Bluffton. Goodall of southern Indiana was the general contractor. When the Auburn project was finished the contractors went to Waterloo to build the library, and Mr. Muhn worked there also.

Mr. Muhn is full of reminiscences about the happenings. The county commissioners and drain board, at the same time the court house was started, were having Cedar Creek dredged, and all the concrete work on the basement walls and floors opened up in cracks. There was quicksand underneath and construction had to be halted. After considerable delay, tons of concrete were poured to form a firm base for the building. When asked about the present plans to dredge Cedar Creek again, Mr. Muhn said the same thing would happen again. He said that "Nan West always said there was an underground river under Auburn, and she was probably right." Mr. Muhn said that the same thing happened at the New York Central tracks east of Kendallville at Bixler Lake. He said they used logs for fill there in the quicksand, and some of the logs came up in Lake Michigan.

The court house is a fascinating building. John Martin Smith wrote a comprehensive article about its history in the January issue of the Auburn-DeKalb "Vanguard."

The four clocks on the upper facades have stone faces, and they and the huge clock enclosed in glass in the entrance and small wall clocks in every office and court room and assembly room were all originally powered by air pressure from a master clock in the basement. Birds perching on the hands of the outside clocks caused such discrepancies that those four have been electrically wired. The others still function on the vacuum system.

The Society, to enhance the treasury, has for sale reprints of 1875 DeKalb County maps, reprints of "Pioneer Sketches of 1859," Covered Bridge notepaper, and colored photographs of DeKalb County's four covered bridges. Society memberships are valid for a year from any date of payment, $3 per family, $2 single.

but why?

Becky is a water baby—one part mermaid, three parts fish. We took her to the lake this summer, and she splashed and tumbled in the water joyously. I had to watch her every minute. I finally had to take her out by force—much to her consternation and objection. It took some doing to distract her.

Actually, it's relatively simple to comfort a small child whose wishes have been thwarted. A toy, a cookie, sometimes a loving hug will turn the trick.

But how about grown-up frustrations? When sick with disappointment, heartbroken or dejected by a bad turn of events, where can an adult turn for consolation and support?

God's Church is the mainstay to every situation. Radiating God's goodness, it offers reassurance and relief to the baffled and the hopeless. Men turning toward its promise find new confidence and faith and hope recovered.

WHY WORRY ABOUT GRAPES
—C. W. Stall, Editor; "The Hoosier Farmer," June 1969.

Hoosier farmers have a big stake in the outcome of the coast-to-coast battle which is going on between the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, and the grape pickers of Kern County, California. This is the fight in which the union, represented by Cesar Chavez, is attempting to use a nationwide boycott of California table grapes to force pickers to join his union.

The issue is compulsory unionism. Several grocery chains in Chicago and large Eastern cities have stopped buying grapes in response to the pressure.

During the two years that this battle has been raging, a few poorly-informed but well-meaning groups have jumped into the fray, supporting the boycott in the belief that the grape pickers are poor, downtrodden, migrant workers who need the "help" of unionization. Nothing could be further from the truth.

In a recent interview William J. Kuhrt, retired chief deputy director of the California Department of Agriculture, reported that 90 per cent of the grape pickers are permanent residents of the Kern county community. Pickers who receive at least $1.65 per hour under the state's minimum wage laws are paid 25 cents a box in addition and can easily earn $20 a day.

"A reasonably good picker can make from $5,500 to $6,00 per year, and his wife can easily make half that," Kuhrt said. "Families with this kind of income could not be called 'depressed' people."

After several years of persuasion and about two years of boycotting, only a few hundred of the 8,000 grape pickers of Kern county have joined the union. Chavez's effort to force grape farmers to recognize a union which has few members is ridiculous.

Farm Bureau has never fought against unionization of farm workers—if the farm workers wanted the union. But farmers are not about to help force unionization on any workers.

Indiana farmers oppose the tactics being used by Chavez. The grape pickers apparently do not see unionization as an advantage. The grape producers do not see it as a benefit. And the American consumer is being deprived of his choice to buy grapes where stores have shut off the supply.

If this underhanded kind of forced unionism is permitted in the case of table grapes, then there is no reason why other irresponsible unions could not do the same with workers who help grow corn, milk, soybeans, beef cattle, hogs, apples, and other farm products. This is where the grape fight hits Hoosiers.

Letters to the Editor

by Lee Hostetler:
North Liberty, Indiana

People in all walks of life are seeking the solution to juvenile delinquency. Having read the book written by former Juvenile Judge John S. Gonas of South Bend, "Delinquency: There is an Answer," as a parent it is gratifying to learn there is a solution. As Judge Gonas stated, "Problems created by man can be solved only by man."

Judge Gonas served as Judge of the Juvenile-Probate and Appellate Courts, also Representative, Senator, and Chief Justice of the Indiana Appellate Court. During his long tenure as Judge of the Juvenile Court, he attended many conferences on crime and delinquency, both in the U. S. and abroad, gaining national and international recognition. He was honored in 1955 by the late Dag Hammarskjold, Secretary General of the U. N. when he invited Judge Gonas to participate in the First United Nations Conference on Crime and Delinquency, Geneva, Switzerland. He spoke on the value of religion and was commended by the European press as the Judge from the U. S. who brought religion to the U. N.

Judge Gonas advocates prevention via education and legislation. He proposes a philosophy of friendship, guidance, treatment, security, employment, understanding with sternness and nourishment with the bread of life in lieu of casting stones, to all children. He exercised this philosophy at home throughout the years his sons attended high schools, colleges, and law schools, and in the Juvenile Court with a preventive and rehabilitative procedure which brought about the lowest delinquency rate in the state and nation. Thus, a tremendous saving to the tax payers, for it is a known fact that it costs 10 times more to institutionalize a child than to supervise. Delinquent parents, adult neglect and immorality involving children were dramatically reduced.

Judge Gonas proposes a Delinquency Prevention Commission with authority to carry out a state and local system of predelinquent programs in the interest of all children. His lectures to students and civic groups have brought a strong response in favor of this program.

I have personal knowledge that a Governor of a western state, Dean of Law School and University Dean, after reading the book made the following comments: "He touched base with some real problems, but what's more important has found some solutions," "Creating legal structures and procedures for prevention certainly is a constructive contribution to the field," "I hope that this concept would be more widely accepted and practiced in the American Criminal Justice system."

We have tried everything else without success, why not try this? Several states are studying this approach, I sincerely hope that Indiana would be the first to adopt this program. Judge Gonas has always said, "There is a place under the sun for every child."

Animal Waste 11 Times That Of Humans; Pollution Problem Grows

—Hugh Hansen in "Electricity on the Farm," July 1969

This month's cover depicts the ratio of animal wastes to human wastes in our country. The total volume of all our domesticated animal and poultry waste production is about eleven times as great as our human waste production. Some USDA researchers have estimated that our livestock and poultry waste production is at least 1.7 billion tons per year.

Each man, woman and child in our country requires a supporting livestock and poultry population to provide his individual milk, meat, egg, dairy product and wool needs. Each individual has, on any day of the year, as his livestock and poultry support: two laying hens, four broilers, one half of a turkey, one half of a cow, one third pig, one tenth sheep and a part of each goat, horse, duck, goose and probably some other miscellaneous domesticated animals or birds. This livestock and poultry each day generate manure and urine equivalent to eleven times that from the human they are supporting. In other words, our total livestock and poultry waste production is equivalent to that from a human population of almost 2½ billion people—and we are trying to handle it without the highly refined, tax-supported sewage disposal systems used by our municipalities to handle large concentrations of human wastes from our city populace.

Furthermore, we are adding to the animal waste load every day. Each morning sees about 8,500 additional people in our country. Each requires a supporting animal and poultry population for his food and fiber. Hence, we are adding an animal waste load each day which is about equal to that of a city of 100,000 people.

Considering the above situation, it is little wonder that animal waste disposal has become one of agriculture's major economic and technical problems. Animal waste disposal is receiving as much or more research attention—and research dollars—as any other single item at our land grant experiment stations today. And this is good. We need to know the answers to basic questions relative to animal waste disposal. Much has been learned but much more is yet to be learned about ways and means of handling this huge volume of waste and of doing it economically, without antagonizing our society with offensive odors, pollutants or unsightly structures.

The waste disposal problem is, basically, the unfortunate consequence of our efficiency. It is not easily solved. Confinement poultry or animal raising in large numbers is far more productive and efficient than allowing the animal to forage in a pasture or run loose in a poultry yard. But as the flocks or herds get bigger, as they are doing and will continue to do, the waste problem grows also. What does the operator do with all this waste? This is the big question facing our researchers today.

Meanwhile, our overall pollution problem continues to mount. Society is becoming more and more annoyed—and concerned—over pollution of our natural water supplies, our air and our soil. No single group or industry is solely responsible for this pollution. But those groups which can be segregated out as guilty parties will have pressures on them to correct their operations so as to reduce or eliminate their contributions to our overall pollution problem.

Agriculture is bound to be, and in many cases already is, a victim of such action. Beef lot operators, for example, are being urged to control feedlot runoff. Many poultry and hog operators are in trouble with surrounding neighbors because of air pollution in the form of offensive odors. Dairymen don't know what to do with the voluminous waste from their operation.

Eventually, all of agriculture will probably be faced with federal legislation and regulations as to how wastes should be processed. When such legislation becomes universal across the country it will offer equal competition for producers in every state. All will be forced to comply with identical regulations and in turn will be competing on an equal basis. However, if only isolated state or local governments impose costly practices on producers, it puts these particular producers at an economic disadvantage.

The "pass along" cost to the customer, needed to cover the cost to the producer who properly processes beef animal wastes, would be from ½ cent to ¾ cent per pound of retail meat. To be competitive, all producers must be allowed to operate with the same ground rules.

In the meantime, with or without legislation to force adoption, research goes on. Forward-thinking operators are adopting and will adopt those practices which offer sound techniques and can be installed and operated within reasonable economic limitations.

One of the things we'll be doing in future issues of EOF, as well as in this issue, is to tell about these techniques, problem solutions and practices as they are developed.

CARBON MONOXIDE

ON these cold mornings, the closed garage door and the running car motor can be a deadly combination.

It's surprising how quickly a garage can fill with deadly carbon monoxide fumes from a car exhaust. Carbon monoxide is odorless. You cannot see it or taste it. This is what makes it a dangerous and often fatal foe.

Some of the common symptoms of its presence are a feeling of tightness across the forehead, headache, throbbing temples, general weakness and loss of muscular control. If you feel any of these while warming up your car, get out of the garage as quickly as possible and into the fresh air.

Poorly vented room heaters also can cause carbon monoxide poisoning. The rule here is the same — make sure the room gets plenty of fresh air. Throw open the windows immediately and prop open the door. Be certain the heater's exhaust fumes have a way of getting out of the room.

The best emergency treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning is immediate removal from the area, with artificial respiration if breathing is stopped.

"Safety starts with you!" That is the assumption of 4-H youths throughout the state. Regardless of where they live, who they are or what they do, they soon learn that safety pays big dividends.

These young citizens participate in the national 4-H Safety program sponsored for 25 years by General Motors.

Scores of adults work with the 4-H'ers as volunteer leaders under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service. For boys and girls to become safety conscious early in life is the aim of the 4-H Safety program, says a 4-H spokesman.

The program is beamed to youngsters in the 9 to 19 age bracket. A checklist of hazards encountered in everyday activities becomes the focal point of many projects.

Right now during vacation time 4-H'ers, and their families as well, strive to stay safe while they enjoy swimming, boating, hiking, camping, hunting, fishing, bike or horseback riding.

Teenage drivers are urged to take extra precautions around town and on the highways because of the many visitors who are unfamiliar with the area. Older teens serve as extra eyes and ears for the elderly and the very young at parks, beaches, street crossings and the like.

In recognition of noteworthy safety projects, General Motors annually provides county, state and national 4-H awards. In the order named they are: safety medals, expense-paid trips (one per state) to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago; eight $1,000 scholarships.

World's Most Modern Cave Is Meramec Caverns On U.S. 66

People are always looking for something new and they're finding it in 100,000,000-year-old Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66, Stanton, Mo. It is the most modern cave in the world, Lester B. Dill, cave director, tags it, "The Greatest Show Under Earth." He is always coming up with improvements for the only known five-story cave.

Inflation hasn't hit this underworld as the tourists can see the five stories for the same admission as one. Here is shapely Sue Pinter looking over the multi-million-year-old formations.

One of the main reasons for it being so popular – 15,000,000 people from all over the world toured it – is that Jesse James and his gang used to hide-out there. The most photographed spot in the cave is Loot Rock, where Jesse and his gang used to split their loot from their robberies. Jesse, as a member of Quantrill's Guerrillas, gained knowledge of Meramec Caverns in 1864, when the guerrillas captured the gun powder mill. The cave afforded the James gang a complete hideout for men and horses.

Trained Rangers conduct tours all day at the unique underground place. In order to prevent any congestion, paths have been constructed separating the incoming tourists from the outgoing tourists. Metal rails make it simple for tourists to go through the place. The cave has the most modern lighting system anywhere. Mother Nature keeps Meramec Caverns, which is 55 miles southwest of St. Louis, at a constant 60 degrees.

There's a streamlined restaurant and motel right on the premises, and the souvenir shop has over 10,000 items.

At Submarine Garden in the cave it's possible to go canoeing on a mirror lake, among awe-inspiring formations.

Mr. Dill opened Meramec as a tourist attraction in 1935 and today it is the world's most successful privately owned cave.

The cave is specially lighted to cater to photography fans.

VOLUME LXXXIV Saint Joe (DeKalb Co.), Indiana Thursday, July 31, 1969 NUMBER 31

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

P.C. McDowell says we city [illegible] aren't the only ones who [illegible] dog troubles. This week somebody apparently dumped four pups on the road in front of Mr. McDowell home east of Saint Joe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moore stopped in last week and we had a very pleasant chat. They formerly lived in Saint Joe and operated a grocery here until moving away in 1949. We had a news item in the paper recently at the death of their 26 year old son, Richard, who was afflicted with muscular dystrophy. They told that Richard lived longer than doctors expected because he kept active, even up to the day before his death. Richard had about ten years more of living than is usual in cases like his, because he lived! Despite his handicap, he got through high school and kept active thereafter.

The Moores now live in Buckeye, Arizona, on Highway 80, 32 miles west of Phoenix. They left an open invitation for friends from this area to stop in and visit them when in the Buckeye area.

Andy Monroe expressed his thanks last week to the local firemen for their assistance at the big fire at the Partee plant last week. He also thanked the auxiliary for having coffee ready when the firemen returned, and to Nick Brown for having ice cold pop on hand, too — and that ain't all.

Don Yeiser and Dick Roberts required oxygen during the course of the fire battle last Thursday evening. They were momentarily overcome by smoke.

Kenny Groves stopped by last week end to thank me for sending him The News while he is in service. He said he will have a new address when he returns to duty.

Speaking of the fire department, some of the boys went out Sunday afternoon for instruction in using the equipment. Loretta Loy and Ralphine Robinson were standing nearby, so the firemen said, "Come on, you better learn too." So, the ladies had some fun holding the hoses during the instruction drill.

Public Invited

The town board of Saint Joe will meet Monday, August 4, 1969, at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Residents of the town are invited to attend. The business for the evening will include final consideration of the budget for 1970 before it is officially published the first two weeks in August.

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks to those who visited me and sent me cards while I was in the hospital.

Saturday Was Busy Day For Lions

Pictured above is a portion of the crowd which attended the Lions Club ice cream social Saturday evening at the conservation grounds. In addition to income from the sale of food, the club received donations of over $110 toward the local summer recreation program.

The lady Lions are very much in the picture, too, when the local service club puts on its social. Preparing the ice cream mix above are, left to right foreground, Marcelle Storer, Lora Hart, and Barbara Timmerman. In the background in the kitchen are Jean Moore, Alice Kagey, and Karl Hart, who helped in serving the customers.

There is always cleaning to do, and Lion Paul Moore wields a fast-moving towel as Betty Bevington, just visible at right, washes what dishes and utensils are needed during the serving hours. Again, Alice Kagey and Karl Hart in the background with Lora Hart and Barbara Timmerman shyly turning their backs to the camera.

Crow-Provines Engagement Announced

The announcement is being made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mary Christine Provines to Patrick W. Crow. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Veri R. Provines, RI, Butler, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crow, RI, Saint Joe.

Miss Provines is a 1966 graduate of Eastside High School, and is employed in the laboratory at DeKalb Memorial Hospital. Mr. Crow is a 1965 graduate of Eastside High School, served with the U. S. Army, and is presently engaged in farming.

The wedding will take place on September 6 in the East United Methodist Church in Butler.

Stray Dog Under Observation After Biting 7-Year-Old Child

Leslie Lynn Voirol, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Voirol of RI Auburn, was bitten by a stray dog Wednesday evening as she walked from her grandparents' home to the local ball diamond to witness the ball game there. She was taken to a doctor for treatment due to slight wounds to the lip and wrist. The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Voirol, reside on the state highway as it enters the southwest edge of Saint Joe.

The dog is reported to have been seen in town for some time and past efforts to capture it were unsuccessful.

After the biting incident Wednesday, the dog was chased south of town where it was wounded in the leg by a gun shot to facilitate capture. The dog then went to the Clayton (Fussy) Baker farm where it was captured and impounded.

Due to a destructive fire at the animal hospital maintained by Dr. W. V. Hornbacker at Auburn, arrangements are being made at the present time to keep the dog under local observation.

When finally captured, the dog was given a tranquilizer and was examined by Dr. Bruce T. Goodwin, assistant to Dr. Hornbacker.

There is the possibility of rabies in the captured dog. However, Dr. Hornbacker stated that reaction to the gun shot wound could also cause muscular conditions not found in a normal and healthy animal.

Precautions taken, when the threat of rabies is present, include confinement of the suspected animal for ten days to two weeks for observation. If the dog dies within that time, the head is sent to Indianapolis for examination to determine if disease is present.

If the dog is rabid, treatment must be given to any persons bitten by the dog.

Enrollment Dates

Starting August 18, 1969, the principal's office of the Riverdale School will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. New residents in the community who have children in Kindergarten through the eighth grade are urged to enroll them as soon as possible.

Any child eligible for Kindergarten who missed the spring registration should also be enrolled before the start of school. To be eligible, a child must be five years of age on or before September 1, 1969, and must furnish a birth certificate at the time of registration.

All students new to the school district must also furnish written proof of freedom from Tuberculosis, attested by a medical doctor's signature, before said student can be admitted to school. This law includes all first-time enrolled students in the school district, Kindergarten through grade 12.

Anyone desiring further information should call the principal's office, 337-2911.

Par-Tee Co. Destroyed By Fire

Bob Hoover of the Spencerville fire department hoses down the smoldering ruins of the Partee Company Friday morning. Fire Chief Maurice Hollabaugh stands by to assist.

At left, "Beanie" Barnes and Don Houser check the factory ruins for live wires as Maurice Hollabaugh at right searches for pockets of burning debris which could spread even hours after the major fire fighting has ended.

Five fire fighting units were called Thursday night of last week to fight a blaze of undetermined origin at the Par-Tee Company, a pump and computer rebuilding firm located south of Spencerville. The loss was estimated at $250,000.

Firemen from Spencerville, Saint Joe, Cedar Canyons, St. Joseph Township (Allen County), and Grabill managed to prevent the loss of the Partee home located near the plant. Smoke was seen by a neighbor at about 9 p.m. as it drifted from a ventilator. Combustible compounds used in rebuilding pumps helped the fire to spread to all sections of the building throughout the evening.

Included in the loss were some 600 computers and 200 pumps, ready for shipment when the fire occurred.

Tentative plans call for construction of a new building across from the present site on State Road 1.

Luau-Pig Roast Held At Akins Home

Saturday evening was a busy evening, with a private Hawaiian luau being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Akins, featuring a roast pig. Above, Jack Bowser and Bud McDowell do the trimming on the pig as Bob Chapman, Joan Morr, and Howard Blaine see that it's done right.

—that Robert E. Gates of Columbia City, who favors a "hard line" on law and order, was appointed by Governor Whitcomb to the Indiana University board of trustees. He fills the vacancy created when board chairman Frank McKinney of Indianapolis declined reappointment. "I do not believe in marches, burnings, or other forms of violence," said the 48 year-old son of former Governor Ralph Gates. "They are not necessary." Gates said he would not hesitate to call in outside help if there is an outbreak of violence on the campus. His term of four years is effective immediately.

Class enrollment is limited. A registration fee of $20 must accompany the request for admission to the course. All checks should be made payable to Purdue Fort Wayne.

VITAL BRIDGE

Living on an island has its problems! Islands are just fine . . . until you run out of bread or need the refrigerator fixed. That's why we built this rustic bridge last summer. It's safer for the children than our old boat, and it links us with our neighbors if we or they need help in a hurry.

There is great need for another bridge these days . . . not of wood or stone, but of understanding between the world's people. "No man is an island . . ." We are all children of God, made in His image.

The Christian Church is the living bridge that seeks to unite men everywhere in the fellowship of Jesus Christ, the Prince of Peace. By supporting your church and striving to live by its teachings, you help to span the gulf of ignorance and fear that still separates us from our brothers.

WITH THE EDITOR

I defy anyone to read "Birth ... Present," reprinted on the ... page and not come up ... a twinge in the eyes or a ... in the throat.

... has mentioned it, so I have to. Those brief messag... in the church ad each week ... certainly appropriate. For ..., what could be more in... than this week's pictorial ... of a young baseball play... Keister Advertising Agency which prepares the mes... certainly comes up with some solid stuff week after ... It you haven't read the series, you ought to and give a "thank you" to those who sponsor the series.

Emma Frank asked to have a ... put in the paper inviting ... of all ages to participate ... the women's bowling league ... Lee. A meeting will be held ... day night at 6:30 p.m. ... the Lee alleys. If you can't ... the meeting but want to ... participate, contact Emma, who ... league president.

Mrs. Don Johnson of Auburn, daughter of Jesse Loftus, called Wednesday to inform me that Jesse is currently confined at DeKalb Memorial Hospital, having suffered a light stroke two weeks ago. He will celebrate his 96th birthday next Wednesday, August 13, 1969, and Mrs. John Sol thought perhaps his friends ... want to remember him with cards or visits. He still has Saint Joe very much in his ... (nights, going back to the days ... which I remember) when Jesse and his horse, Bob, helped to maintain the streets and other property of Saint Joe. Even at the age of 95, Jesse was able to go around on his own quite well until about two months ago, when he found it necessary to use a walker.

Mrs. Richard Ramos sends the following note, after the big reunion at the Ramos home recently:

"I thought maybe you would like to know how our reunion came out. We had them write their names down. Some came, some went after the eats, but there were 310 names, adults and children. Youngest here was 3 weeks old, oldest 79. A good time was had by all. The men played horse-shoes, the children rode the ponies, the teens rode the horse, the boys brought their music so the teens could dance. It ended up with a good old square dance with older couples. Croquet was played, and gifts were given to the old est man, oldest lady, the mother with the most children (a tie, each had 11 children). People were here that my uncle had never seen.

"Now, either the first Sunday in Aug. or the second Sunday the Ramos' (my husband's side) will hold their reunion up here. There will be cousins, aunts from San Antonio, Texas; Corpus Christi, Texas; and Dallas, Texas, also California, Bowling Green, Ohio, Toledo, Ohio, and Michigan. The same games, pony rides, horse rides, & dancing will be had. At ours 2 weeks ago we made 90 cups of coffee three times. I'd say, a lot of coffee. If they all get here for Sunday we will have it, if not we will wait a week."

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday night with visitors Andy Monroe, Richard Musser, and Richard Crow attending.

It was reported that a lack of sufficient chlorine content in the local water supply had been suggested by a chemicals representative recently. An increase has been made in the amount added to the water supply, with a further report to be obtained. It was noted that the water samples sent to the State Board of Health recently had not brought any adverse reports. There had been two samples a few months ago, however, which did show unfavorable results, possibly due to contaminated sample vials.

Mr. Monroe, chief of the local fire department, presented information concerning the cost of a foaming unit for the fire department. The information, requested by the board president, indicated that such a unit plus chemicals would cost just over $200. The unit can be hooked into the regular firefighting hose line. Additional information will be presented to the board at a later date.

The fire department requested the installation of a new door at the fire hall. The request was tentatively approved, with a steel door to be installed when cost is determined. A request to ... a large cottonwood tree at the west side of the fire hall was tabled for further consideration.

Discussion was held concerning the availability of a 2-cent gas tax levy for the town to use on street improvement. The town must match the state granted funds if such request is granted. The board indicated its desire to obtain these funds if at all possible.

A residential health hazard was discussed, due to a citizen's complaint of breeding rats. It was agreed that a water line be extended at the southwest edge of the town to complete a loop in the main and eliminate periodic rusty water for water users in the area.

The recently passed mobile home ordinance was discussed, with the board noting its intent in passing the ordinance to control future mobile home installations, not to work a hardship on any mobile home owners already situated in the town prior to the passing of the ordinance.

Bills allowed were as follows:

Waterworks: Mid City Typewriter, supplies $18.00; Indiana & Michigan Electric Company 33.94; William Mansfield, salary and postage 41.36; William Mansfield, labor 5.00; Lehr Wilder, postage 10.00.

Town: Richard Musser, mow cemetery 120.00; Saint Joe News, printing 7.00; Standard Oil Company, mineral seal 18.43; Saint Joe News, legal notice 15.58; Roy Eck, drain labor 40.00; Roy Eck, open graves 150.00; Jiggs' Motor Service, gas and oil 13.95; I&M, street lights 78.62; Rowan Lumber Company, tile 11.94; Farm Bureau Co-op, fuel oil 11.42; Auburn Sanitary Landfill, 240.00; Kenneth Roberts, street, drain and other labor 139.20; Melvin Hershberger, labor 46.75.

Leighty Block, St. Joe, Ind.

Mrs. Ford (Vera) Jackson, who operated a dry goods store in Saint Joe with her late husband until a few years ago, brought some old postcards to the News Office recently. From postmarks on two of the cards, the time dates back to 1911.

The accompanying large photo from one of the cards shows the building which stood at that time in the center of Saint Joe on the main street. St. Mark Lutheran Church is just visible behind the building. The St. Joe Valley Bank occupied the left section of the building, with the "Big Four," general store and drug store, in the right section. The Saint Joe News was originally printed on the second floor, above the general store, before moving to the light front building at the far right. The Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) Hall was in the left portion of the second story. Later the Odd Fellows Lodge used the same hall. The building was destroyed by fire at a later date.

Ray Reasoner of Saint Joe, who provided The News with information about the building, said this week that the Knights of Pythias Lodge tried at one time to buy the second story from the GAR, but the latter didn't want to sell. The KPs then bought the local cemetery property, after which the GAR decided it wanted to sell the upper half of the building but the KPs then didn't have the money. They later located in another building.

The two-story on the far end of the group at far right in the photo was a restaurant. It was also destroyed by fire.

The old News Office building is next, with the other store buildings adjacent to it standing where Brown's Furniture & Hardware is now located.

The smaller photo shows the same corner today, with a one-story building housing the Roy Bowser Store at left on what was again the back building after the original building burned. The right-hand portion is now used as the Museum, with center through the war months. It has also been a grocery and drug store in the past. St. Mark Church is again clearly visible on the background, with the old News Office, now part of Brown Furniture & Hardware, next in view.

Money Means Nothing?

At virtually every hearing held in connection with the school situation in our eastern district of DeKalb County, I find it difficult not to actively rehash incidents from the past to counteract the statements and accusations made in behalf of the present school board majority in its striving to build a new junior-senior high school on a site which is in a practical sense, if not a legal sense, unfit for such use. By every standard of common sense, the use of the Butler site for such construction is unjustified. However, what is particularly upsetting (and it was recently at a hearing on a remonstrance petition against a lease to build on the Butler site) is the misrepresentation which is used to divert attention from the objective questions which must be considered if the best use is to be made of our school tax dollars.

It has been a prime purpose from the very beginning of the site controversy (and now in the discussion of the question of merging the eastern and central school districts of DeKalb County) to discredit remonstrance efforts by attempting to show that such actions have been literally the cause of but one person. It is significant that, at the recent hearing, the case for the lease agreement was based on singling out one person, discrediting any efforts regardless of their purpose, and misquoting or misrepresenting opposing editorial comment and correspondence. It can be stated that, almost without exception, the case for the present school board majority's ambitions has been based not on statistical information and overall conditions in the school district; it has been based on diverting attention to alleged unworthy activities.

In making a case for the school board at the recent hearing, legal counsel for the school board conveniently overlooked, as did one individual who volunteered support for the lease agreement, that the delay in constructing a new school came at the outset from interests representing the city of Butler. It has been conveniently forgotten by these interests that the original site selection was made for a central location, to serve the entire district. It has been forgotten that the school board which made that original decision was told by its legal counsel at that time that there were no funds with which to purchase the selected and optioned site; shortly thereafter, funds were available, but an election had changed the board. It has been conveniently overlooked that a "hearsay" intent to delay "until the next election" was successful and the election did change the board, and the board did, without public notice, rescind the action of the previous board.

These are all parts of the past. The present brings the opportunity to go beyond site disputes and gain equality of educational opportunities for all students in the two districts. Yet, the case for the present board is still based on discrediting those who suggest that perhaps something better is possible.

Legal counsel for the remonstrators invited anyone to show error in his computations recently, computations which, admittedly based on limited information, still showed a potential tax rate decrease for those in the DeKalb Central district and a tax increase of much lower scope than the $1.50 ADDITIONAL levy required to build the proposed new junior-senior high school in the eastern district. The figures were challenged at the hearing, but only on a general accusation of being lifted "out of context." There was no proof of error given; just an accusation.

In these days when property owners are faced with the burden of providing major contributions to the cost of education, when those costs are increasing month after month, it would seem reasonable that any school board would be functioning IN THE INTERESTS OF ALL TAXPAYERS in seeking the most efficient use of our tax dollars. If we can provide equal educational opportunities for our high school students without constructing another high school complex, and have a sizeable "nest egg" of funds to contribute toward junior high facilities which are needed in both districts, this possibility ought to be pursued, rather than resorting to the past tactic of discrediting such suggestions and proposals because of personality involvement.

Has it sunk into everyone in the eastern district yet? We will need to pay $1.50 MORE on our tax rate to provide the school building which the present board seeks to construct. With the present $1.00 cumulative building fund which can be transferred for capital investment, our tax rate for capital investment alone will be $2.50!

Under figures presented by counsel for the remonstrators at the recent hearing, this cost can be cut considerably by unification — and a new high school building AND expanded curriculum can be available to students of the eastern district in one year! In addition, the assets of the eastern district can be available for the needs of the central district for its own present junior high needs.

It is, and has been, the contention of the remonstrators that objective consideration of the proposals which they have fostered is the responsibility of every patron of both districts. They have never fostered personality conflicts, but have been the victims of such conflicts. It is the duty of all concerned, for the sake of our students and our pocketbooks, to set aside personalities and consider objectively the facts.

And it IS true — back of it all is the original site dispute, because whether the school districts are separate or united, expenditure of funds for construction on the proposed site in the eastern district represents a costly mistake.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT

by Mavis Burton Ferguson; "Reader's Digest," June 1969 (condensed from "Christian Herald").

A week after my son started first grade he came home with the news that Roger, the only Negro in the class, was his playground partner. I swallowed and said, "That's nice. How long before someone else gets him for a partner?" "Oh, I've got him for good," replied Bill. In another week I had the news that Bill had asked if Roger could be his desk partner.

Unless you were born and reared in one of the white-supremacy states as I was, you cannot know what this means. I went for an appointment with the teacher.

She met me with tired, cynical eyes. "Well, I suppose you want a new desk partner for your child, too," she said. "Can you wait a few minutes? I have another mother coming in right now."

I looked up to see a woman my age. My heart raced as I realized she must be Roger's mother. She had a quiet dignity and much poise, but neither could cover the anxiety I heard in her questions. "How's Roger doing? I hope he is keeping up with the other children? If he isn't, just let me know."

She hesitated as she made herself ask, "Is he giving you any trouble of any kind? I mean, what with his having to change desks so much?"

I could feel the terrible tension in her, for she knew the answer. But I was proud of that first-grade teacher for her gentle answer: "No, Roger is not giving me any trouble. I try to move all the children around the first few weeks until each has just the right partner."

I introduced myself and said that my son was to be Roger's new partner and I hoped they would like each other. Even then I knew it was only a surface wish, not a deep-felt one. But it helped her, I could see.

Twice Roger invited Bill to come home with him, but I found excuses. Then came the heartache that I will always suffer.

On my birthday Bill came home from school with a grimy piece of paper folded into a very small square. Unfolding it, I found three flowers and "Happy Birthday" crayoned on the paper—and a nickel.

"That's from Roger," said Bill. "It's his milk money. When I said today was your birthday he made me bring it to you. He said you are his friend, 'cause you're the only mother that didn't make him get another desk partner."

FOOD POISONING

EVER hear of salmonella? Well, not many people have!

Yet each year, this unseen bacteria infects an increasing number of Americans with food infections and dysentery.

Salmonella is actually a group of infectious bacteria. While you may not be able to see your enemy, you can help stop it by seeing to it that cleanliness in your kitchen is a must. Foods, especially milk, eggs and meat, must be properly cooked and refrigerated. Food should not be left standing out unprotected.

Make certain that all cooking utensils are cleaned after each use. Hands should always be washed before handling foods and you should avoid uncooked foods in public eating plac s that may have careless food handlers.

Desserts with cream fillings or toppings should be kept under refrigeration until served, and leftover portions returned to refrigeration immediately.

The symptoms and severity of food poisoning vary with the type of bacteria involved, the amount of bacteria or toxin ingested, and other factors. Nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea are among the very earliest symptoms. They may appear from two to 43 hours after contaminated food is eaten. Victims should be under medical care as soon as possible after the symptoms appear.

Deaf Man Designs Tiny Hearing Aid
OFFERS FREE MODEL

A remarkable tiny hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small device has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a new unusual design idea in a product to restore natural hearing.

It was developed especially for those persons who can hear but can't understand. This hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television and radio at his ear. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low.

A. J. Wilder, 809 Steuben Street, ? A true life actual size replica of the smallest all-in-the-ear hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone sending in this advertisement while supply lasts. Vocational District Is Formed

School officials of twelve schools in the area of Noble, DeKalb, Steuben, and LaGrange Counties met at the East Noble school in Kendallville Thursday of last week to consider a proposal for a vocational system for all the schools.

Eleven participating schools, represented by school board members and school officials, decided to accept the program. The West Noble school declined participation due to the proximity of that school to Syracuse, which is forming a similar program for vocational training.

The boards from the eleven participating schools have signed certificates of their willingness to work in the program, and have appointed a member from each school to serve on the vocational program board.

Robert Shipman will head the entire program, and his salary and expenses will be the responsibility of the vocational board. He will receive a salary of $14,500, which will be paid primarily by the state (75%) and by the schools involved (25%).

In addition, he will have as his secretary Mary Clabaugh, and her salary will be split evenly between the state and local schools.

No new buildings will be needed to incorporate the program, as existing facilities will be used. Students would take the vocational training in whatever school offered the courses needed, and they would return to their own schools for regular classes.

The schools electing to take part in the vocational training program are: Angola, Central Noble, DeKalb Central, East Noble, Eastside, Fremont, Garrett, Hamilton, Lakeland, Prairie Heights, and Westview.

The Steering Committee is composed of: Harry Kelley, Angola; Richard Edwards, Central Noble; Norman Rohm, DeKalb Central; Jack Frederick, East Noble; Sydney Long, Eastside; Ray Evans, Fremont; Glenn Jay, Garrett; Don Smolinski, Hamilton; Ivan Burger, Lakeland; Ned Stump, Prairie Heights; William Gohl, Westview. This committee will meet August 21 at 8:00 p.m. in the East Noble high school to review state vocational legislation and organize the vocational program.

The School Liaison Committee members are: Paul Schock, Angola; Earl Shouse, Central Noble; Charles Overmeyer, DeKalb Central; Max Brewer, East Noble; Bob Williams, Eastside; Max Mitchell, Fremont; Charles Puff, Garrett; Howard Leggett, Hamilton; Jim Robbins, Lakeland; Gordon Grable, Prairie Heights; Earl Sample, Westview.

The vocational classes offered to students in the Area Vocational School this fall will be: production agriculture, auto mechanics, home economics, office lab., farm mechanics, welding, electronics, health occupations, distributive education, co-op training, and machine shop.

Builder Construction Apprentice Robert E. Arnett, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Arnett, of R1, Spencerville, is serving in Vietnam with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion (MCB) 133.

The battalion's base camp is at Camp Wilkinson, six miles southwest of Hue, ancient imperial city of Vietnam.

On its third Vietnam tour since being recommissioned in 1966, the Seabee battalion will engage in hundreds of construction projects to support U. S. and Allied combat operations throughout the five northernmost provinces of the republic.

MCB 133 was originally commissioned in 1943, and achieved fame in World War II operations such as the invasion of Iwo Jima.

The battalion is homebased at Gulfport, Mississippi.

Kenny Groves is home on leave after basic training. He will receive additional training at two Army bases when he returns to duty, and then will ship out for overseas duty.

The kids in the grandstand are yelling, "Strike him out!" and our young pitcher is going to do exactly that. This is his day for a shut-out game . . . his day to win.

He's feeling pretty good about it, and who's to blame him? But what if things had gone the other way? What if some other boy had been warming up in the bullpen, about to have taken his place? But he is a well-balanced youngster, and he would have taken that in stride, too.

He has learned about being a good sport, about regard for his fellow men, and about many other equally important things in Church. For, like thousands of other American youngsters, the Church already plays an important part in his life. That is one reason why his parents have faith in the fact that he will grow up to be a pretty fine man.

Church League

Five teams have been eliminated from the championship race in the 1969 Saint Joe Church Softball League. The only teams left with a shot at the title are front-running Mt. Pleasant-Newville , and Norris Chapel United Methodist and the St. Joe-Newville Churches of Christ, who are in a virtual second-place tie. The next-nearest team, Coburntown I, is 5½ games out of the top spot.

Although Norris Chapel is ahead of St. Joe-Newville by a few percentage points, it has to play more games than their runner up rivals. St. Joe Newville's only chance of winning the pennant would be to win both their remaining games, one of which is against Norris Chapel, while Mt. Pleasant-Newville loses both their remaining contests.

Norris Chapel's position seems to be the more desireable. They can afford one loss and still have a chance to run up ahead of the leaders. The regular schedule calls for three games involving Norris Chapel in the final week and a half, but a contest with the Lutherans has now been rescheduled for Sunday, August 9. If Norris Chapel does lose a game, they can make it up with a victory over Mt. Pleasant-Newville on August 15.

At any rate, the race shapes up thus: any combination of Mt. Pleasant-Newville victories and St. Joe-Newville losses totaling 2 will erase St. Joe-Newville; any combination of Mt. Pleasant-Newville wins and Norris Chapel defeats totalling 3 will earn Mt. Pleasant-Newville the title.

The defending champion Lutherans, who lost only once in last year's action, were eliminated from this year's race due to a pair of losses to Norris Chapel and Mt. Pleasant-Newville.

A feature of the past two weeks' action was Charlie Cole's second shutout of the season as Mt. Pleasant beat Coburntown I 10-0.

Scores, July 24-August 6:
Lutherans 15, Hicksville 5.
Coburnton I 12, Coburnton II 5.
Mt. Plsnt-N'ville 3, Hicksville 2.
Cobrnton II 13, Concrd-Butler 5.
Norris Chapel 15, Lutherans 7.

From The UF

Before beginning a project, its eventual success will depend on how well the project has been analyzed. In most instances, the questions for analysis are: 1) will the product or service fill a vital need?; 2) will it inspire people?; 3) can it be done in an excellent our outstanding way?; 4) is the goal sufficient to satisfy that for which the product or service is to cover. Developments, big and little and of any kind, whether for business, industry, family, or personal, should have these thoughts given or similar thoughts applied to determine the true feasibility of a project.

A great number of projects, carried out or discarded, can become more successful, and possible failures turned into successes when proper analysis, as outlined above, are made early in the stages of project consideration.

Each year your board of the United Fund of DeKalb County sits down and goes through such analysis of the needs of the agencies of the United Fund services, the inspiration to the people, youngsters and adults, to whom the United Fund is a light of hope and happiness, a means of the opening of a door that will enlighten their lives. Consideration is given to the effectiveness of the manner in which the fund drive will be carried out, that all people, contributors, contributor-workers, and others, will be happy to participate in making the DeKalb United Fund a success in service to the many agencies involved. And finally, is the goal sufficient? This is an item scrutinized that funds will be provided for the orderly and effective operation of each agency and yet, that agency overbudgeting does not become involved. The DeKalb United Fund could not operate without high caliber and very competent board members who contribute hours of their time to going over and analyzing every minute situation in which the United Fund might become involved.

October 6, 1969 is the date set for the beginning of United Fund drive for funds. If you who read this little memo will do so, why not sit down in the quietness of your home or office and do some analyzing prior to the time of the drive? Talk to some others about it, inquire of the developments and need of the agencies involved, visit where possible, the workings of those groups participating in the funds. It is most certain that you will find, as in other instances where we have moved together in effort, that the United Fund of DeKalb County does make our county better, more liveable, a closeness in those who support, who work and receive in the operation of the fund.

The true purpose of it all is to unitedly provide funds for unitedly providing service and then unitedly serving. This is the thing we were attempting to say all along.

THE "BATTERED CHILD"

THE "Battered Child Syndrome" is a term becoming more and more familiar to the physician.

A syndrome is a set of symptoms which occur together. A battered child is one with injuries ranging from bruises around the face and head, to broken limbs. It seems unbelievable that an adult, even the most enraged or debased, would so abuse a child as to cause injuries requiring a physician's care. Yet the fact is apparent and legal authorities are finally doing something about it.

State legislatures in Indiana and other states have passed laws requiring physicians to report to the police or other appropriate authorities, all cases of physical abuse of children brought to them for treatment.

Such a law is not intended to discourage voluntary reporting by others. It is intended, because of the seriousness of the situation, to make the reporting of such cases mandatory on physicians or the institutions where physicians' services are provided.

There are cases on record of helpless infants and children bruised or battered even to death by adults into whose care they have been entrusted, and this includes parents.

DID YOU KNOW—that in the awarding of a refuse collection contract, the Waterloo town board has been found "arbitrary, collusive, and [illegible]ively fraudulent" in awarding a contract to Merritt & Phillips of Hamilton. The decision was rendered through an injunction approved by Circuit Court Judge Harold Stump. The matter arose due to dissatisfaction with services provided in the past by Auburn Sanitary Landfill. The board is now considering the question of re-advertising for a contract or providing the service through its own program.

MICRO-MESSAGES FOR THE MOON from 74 heads of state plus four U.S. documents are contained on this 1½ inch diameter silicon wafer in a Time Capsule left on the moon by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

The messages were reduced to 1/200th of their original size by a new information technology process developed by the Sprague Electric Company Semiconductor Division, Worcester, Mass.

By etching the micro-messages in an ultra-thin, 4-millionths of an inch, quartz (silicon dioxide) coating on the silicon wafer, a record able to withstand the extreme conditions of space will remain permanently on the moon to signify the historic event.

The Sprague process allows the pin-head sized messages to withstand temperatures over 1800°F indefinitely, something far beyond the abilities of microfilm and other previous micro-reproduction techniques.

Recreation Statistics Given by Forrest Bevington, Riverdale Recreation Director

"You will be sorry!" These were words of advice given me when my wife and I decided the Riverdale area needed a recreation program. The words were kind and well meant, but I am an old stubborn fool. I believe the best place to find a helping hand is at the end of your arm.

The program began with 48 boys playing basketball. The P. T. O. gave money to buy shirts for four teams. The end result from what people stated, The basketball season was a great success.

The tennis courts were busy much of the summer, with 28 girls and boys taking part in the tennis program. The junior boys champion turned out to be Paul Roberts. The junior champion girl is Laura Bevington. The girls champion is Robin Inlow. The boys did not take part in the tournament play. (No boys.)

Something new this year was the participation of girls in kick-ball. Twenty-six girls were divided into two teams. Cheryl Hudson's team won the play-off.

The regular baseball season ended with the sound of success. Sixty-four boys took an active part in the baseball games. Two all-star teams were chosen, and played under the leadership of Mr. Jim Rinard and Mr. Pete Akey. Mr. Rinard's team won the play-off.

The swimming lessons were held at the Auburn Community Pool. Each day a busload of children had a great time in learning how to swim. Sixty-five children took part in the lessons.

The attendance for the program added up to the grand total of 2673 participants. This was an average of about 49 children each day.

I want to thank Mr. Franklin Seehler, Mr. Carlos Church, Mr. Jim Rinard, Mr. Pete Akey, Mr. Richard Drake, Mr. Richard Strombeck, Mr. Mike Beaty, the Lions Club, the P. T. O., the St. Peter Church, Mrs. Robert Musser, and all others who helped in making this year's recreational program a success. Oh yes, I must thank the Saint Joe News for all the publicity.

Mr. Beaty, our treasurer, says we have all bills paid. It takes money to run a program. A statement of our financial standing will be published at a later date.

Now is the time to think about another year. Do the people want a program for their children? We will need at least 32 new baseball suits and 6 batting helmets. It would help if water was available so the ball diamond could be kept in better shape. A lawn roller is needed. Rest rooms would be convenient. Some type of a building for a concession stand would be a great help. Am I dreaming!

Grills Files Detailed Brief, Seeks Tax Commission Hearing On School Consolidation Benefits

In the most comprehensive statement presented thus far in the school consolidation issue which exists in the DeKalb County Central and Eastern school districts, Nelson Grills has filed a brief with the Indiana State Board of Tax Commissioners in opposition to a lease agreement in the eastern district. Following exhaustive research during the past month in official records from the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Indianapolis attorney filed the 23-page brief, the major portion of which deals with information relative to estimates of costs and current costs in the two separate school districts, and as a combined district. He has requested a full hearing by the tax commissioners due to the scope of the financial involvement.

Read The Brief In Detail - Pages 4 & 5

Included in the statistics is an estimated saving on the tax levy for patrons of both districts. Grills listed the savings at $1.47 for patrons of the eastern district and $0.39 for the central district taxpayers, for new high school debt retirement under a consolidation.

In addition, it was shown that the cost per student to provide new high school facilities for students in the eastern district, under the lease agreement which is being contested by a citizens group represented by Grills would be $641.13. In the central district, which has a new high school, the cost per student is only $127.78. The latter building can accommodate the top three grades in a combined district.

The remonstrance brief was filed Friday in support of a citizens group which originally based its actions on the selection of an alleged inadequate site. Later, the efforts of the group were devoted to promoting consolidation, when the apparent benefits to both the eastern and central school districts became evident. A petition has been filed in the eastern district, seeking consolidation. A petition is being circulated in the central district for the same purpose, though the latter is on a somewhat limited basis due to the lack of public knowledge of the total situation.

In the brief, Grills states that consolidation will provide a general levy savings of $106.50 annually to a person owning a $15,000 home in the eastern district, and a savings of $426.00 per year to the farmer with 150 acres of land valued at $400.00 per acre. The latter savings would also be felt by a businessman with a capital dividend of $60,000. "The savings to the taxpayers in the central district are equally dramatic," the brief states, "however, the increased assessed valuation of the school corporation makes the savings per $100 of assessed valuation less."

According to Grills' calculations, a Special First Class Commissioned High School would be possible under consolidation, but with 17 fewer teachers than is now required in the separate schools which now operate without such commission designation. This would include expanded opportunities in vocational areas, in addition to offerring wider academic selectivity especially to students now attending high school in the eastern district.

The brief was filed as the result of a hearing in the eastern district on May 20, 1969, at which the lease agreement was entered into. On July 8, 1969, the tax board held a hearing at which the remonstrators presented arguments against the lease. Time was granted for presentation of the detailed brief which has now been presented to the tax board.

Grills suggests and invites corrections where needed and necessary in the brief. Such total information would then be presented to the public in the two school districts and the public then be allowed to decide whether it wants to consolidate or not. The current petition to consolidate would, in effect, bring about such a referendum opportunity.

One hundred copies of the brief are being distributed in the two school districts to acquaint the public, businessmen, and the professions with the entire situation.

'Letter To Editor' From---

Lee Tustison Adds Information To Historic Account Of Saint Joe

Dear Sir:

Of late I have been interested in pictures you have been inserting in your publication. The building pictures in the issue of August 7 gave particular interest for one who can remember my old home town back four score years or more.

The structure you designate as the Leighty building is remembered as the Big Four Store. It was a general store owned and operated by four energetic citizens who took considerable pride in their town. This four some as I recall were Wid and Bert Patterson, Mort Olds and Jacob Leighty. Mr. Leighty lived with his wife, known colloquially as "Aunt Kate," making their home in the brick house just east of the store building. Mr. Leighty was elected congressman from the fifth Indiana district sometime near the beginning of the 20th century.

The Big Four was a department store selling dry goods and groceries. The room next east the main store was a drug store. Bert Patterson was the pharmacist in charge. The Big Four did a thriving business until a good road led customers in their Fords and horse pulled conveyances to the growing metropolis of Fort Wayne. The county seat only ten miles away drew patrons then as now.

Mr. Olds was the originator of the St. Joe News, published in the room above the dry goods and grocery section of the Big Four. The News passed into the hands of one I remember as Delbert Meeks. Mr. Olds moved to Bluffton, Indiana and operated a store there during his late years. Mr. Wid Patterson became the cashier of the St. Joe Valley Bank when it was created and housed in the east room of the Big Four building. The drug store was purchased by Harry Milliman from Hicksville, and his brother Frank Milliman had a jewelry store in the northeast corner of the drug store.

After I taught my first term of school at Coburn Corner, I took money from the 35 dollar monthly wage and purchased a gold case watch from the Milliman Jewelry. Just what I paid for this 12-size Hamilton watch I do not remember, but it must have been less than fifteen dollars, since I had money enough left to pay my first term at Tri-State College. Recently I was told that this watch was still made and retailed at near seventy-five dollars. Although the case has worn thin and has been retired, it still runs accurately when wound.

A remembrance that still holds in my mind was an incident at the Big Four. Mother had sent me to town with a basket of eggs o exchange at the grocery department for foodstuffs. Mr. Leighty waited on me. After he had put the groceries in my basket, I picked it up and started for the front door. Just ready to let myself out, Mr. Leighty stopped me with a stern voice informing me that I owed him five cents. This announcement made me feel that he might think I was sneaking out of the store so as not to pay the difference due for the grocery-egg exchange. Fortunately, Mother had given me some money to take care of any difference due in the exchange.

The other group of buildings west of the Lutheran church lot hold quite an item of history. The two-story brick was occupied on the first floor by Coonrad's Tin Shop. The upper story was occupied as a residence. Mr. Coonrad manufactured eave spouts and various articles of kitchen ware. He also repaired leaking tin vessels, and built tin roofs. When Coonrad quit the tin shop business, the place became a restaurant.

The building alongside, lately occupied by the News until Publisher Haberkorn built a modern shop over by the railroad in my pre-teen age was occupied by my Uncle Mart Tustison's grocery store. Kids of my age then can have no idea of a grocery store of the nineteenth century, even in the late 1900s. Groceries on sale that day were not done up in packages of bottles all ready for customers to carry out. Most items of food for sale were in bulk, crackers in barrels, cookies and other baked items in wooden boxes, pickles and oysters in kegs; chewing tobacco in plugs, most of which had trade designations inside from tin, one of these was "L.T." Just what those letters indicated I am not able to tell. In fact I was no tobacco chewer. Oysters also came packed in tin containers shaped much like paving brick. All perishable food items had to be kept buried in crushed river ice that had been stored, buried in sawdust during the winter months.

Perishable meat items were not sold from the grocery store of that early day. One could get dried beef, pickled pigs feet, canned sardines. And I remember the box of dried herring that sat open on top of the glass counter, over which flies swarmed. And there was that large round hunk of cheese from which the groceryman would carve a wedge for a customer using a knife that resembled a small broadaxe. Some grocers kept the cheese under a bell-like glass container fastened to a rope which passed through a pulley on the ceiling to a counterweight which balanced the glass cover when it was used to get a piece of cheese for the customer.

Hordes of flies invaded kitchens, stables and even pools. The grocery store offered attraction to them and the usual number swarmed over uncovered food items. All sorts of devices were used to reduce the fly population — poison, and sticky flypaper, sticky strips to hang about the room or on the porch. I remember a device which Uncle Mart had just outside the store entrance. It was made of screening with a tapered portion inside that led to a small hole through which the poor fly crawled to get at some sort of sweet within. I have seen this trap the size of a gallon jug black with trapped flies. I think these were killed by immersing the trap in hot water. The fly population today is considerably reduced, but this Fall one can gather many of them by placing sweets at doors.

After my uncle discontinued the grocery, the News moved in. Just when I do not remember. When I attended high school in the last 1890s, Lloyd Yeiser and Fred Leighty published the News. I used to loaf there often as I attended high school, and later taught this school. Here is probably where I got the notion to follow the newspaper publishing business.

St. Joe and community should be thankful, yes, proud, that today it has a thriving newspaper bearing the town's name. Without it the place might be as dead as some towns still hanging on up and down the St. Joe River.

This account would not be complete without some reference to the cemetery on the river side. In 1897 when I started to high school in the old brick, the cemetery site was an apple orchard, belonging to the Uhrig farm. It is no credit to the high school boys, but we used to stray over there and appropriate apples. I have forgotten the first burial in the plot when it was purchased for a burial ground, but I do recall that the second grave there holds the remains of my Aunt Nancy Ellen, wife of Uncle Martin. Many of my friends and several relatives lie beneath stone designations, making for me and others a hallowed ground.

CONCORD JUNIOR HOMEMAKERS CLUB
—Katy Crow, reporter

We had our August picnic with Margaret Carper. After we ate a delicious meal, we applied mosquito makeup, then proceeded with club activities.

We recited the club collect in unison. Rose Means read for devotions from "The Upper Room." Betty Bevington read the story of Stephen Foster, and led in singing one of his songs, "I Dream of Jeanie." Roll call was answered by each one giving an interesting bit of "Up to the Minute Information."

Doris Prentice read the minutes of the previous meeting. The treasurer's report was given. Old business was taken care of. Then Margaret Carper, our president, gave us a report of the County Council meeting. Christmas workshop will be October 22. We all hope to go to Glenbrook in Fort Wayne September 30 to hear Mrs. Agleworth speak. Achievement day will be November 13. The meeting was closed by all singing the prayer song.

We then had a "white elephant" sale at which a variety of things was offered. Betty Bevington was our "Dean Kruse" for the sale. We also have kittens to give away.

The next meeting will be with Doris Prentice.

Extensive Research Reveals Education Potential Under Consolidation

—To acquaint the public with the extensive information contained in a brief filed by attorney Nelson Grills last week, that portion dealing with tax rates, costs, and other relevant financial figures is presented herewith. Those who have the opportunity to see a copy of the brief in its entirety will note that the following information begins on page seven of the brief and is quoted verbatim. The first six pages deal largely with past arguments concerning site selection. —Ed.

IV. The lease of the proposed school building will impose an excessive cost for school facilities on the taxpayers of the corporation and limit the corporation to a minimal education program. A consolidation with another school corporation is essential for adequate education at a minimum cost to the taxpayer.

A petition has been filed with the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation seeking a consolidation of that school corporation with the DeKalb Central Community School Corporation. A petition is circulating in the DeKalb Central Community School Corporation also seeking for a consolidation of the two school districts. Information in detail has never been provided to the voters of either school corporation concerning the relative cost of operating the two school corporations compared with a consolidated school corporation. The purpose of this brief is to establish the nature of the savings to be gained through consolidation and the improvement in the school programs which can be made available. It is hoped that the State Board of Tax Commissioners will provide time for this information to be circulated among the voters of both school corporations and that the voters of the school corporations be provided the opportunity to vote upon consolidation. In the event the figures represented in this brief are accurate and the voters of the two school corporations vote against consolidation, at least they will have had an opportunity to determie the kind of educational facilities they desire and they cannot object to the cost imposed upon the taxpayers to support these facilities.

A. Standards for comparing school costs

The cost of operating a school system can be divided into two categories:

1. The cost of capital construction
2. Operational cost

Normally, the state does not participate in the payment of the cost of capital construction for local school corporations. It does participate in a substantial way in meeting operational costs.

Two factors are important in determining the reasonableness of an investment in either capital construction or the operational program of a school corporation:

1. The nature of the educational program provided the children of a community.
2. The cost of the program and the nature of the burden it imposes upon the taxpayers of the local community and the state.

A school corporation with a very substantial assessed valuation and a limited number of students can provide an excellent educational program by imposing a modest tax levy on each $100 of assessed valuation. It is important even in these corporations that waste and extravagance be eliminated although the burden upon the taxpayer may not be excessive. In other school corporations with a smaller assessed valuation and a larger number of students the cost of an economical and minimal educational program may impose an excessive burden upon the taxpayers.

The only means of determining the cost of a program in relation to the adequacy of the facilities provided is by establishing the per student cost of either capital investments or operational expenses. The State of Indiana has followed this procedure in providing school tuition support. In this brief, a comparison will be made of the per capita cost of capital construction and the operation of individual school corporations and a consolidated school corporation.

B. Comparative costs of Capital Investment

The capital costs of a school corporation are for the most part limited to the annual payments made for principle and interest resulting from a bond issue to support construction of a school house. A second method of meeting capital construction obligations is by permitting a not for profit corporation to build the facilities and to lease them over a period of years to the school corporation.

The Capital construction includes classrooms, laboratories, library, cafeteria, auditorium, gymnasium, landscaping, and parking facilities. In building a junior or senior high school, all of these facilities are required, regardless of the size of the student body which will attend the school. An adequate library requires the same number of volumes for a small student body that are required for a large student body with the exception of reference books which must be duplicated if the size of the student body exceeds the number which can efficiently use a single reference volume. The kitchen facilities and cafeteria facilities for 200 students can serve 800 and perhaps 1200 students as well. Auditoriums, gymnasiums, and athletic fields vary little in size for student bodies of from 300 to 1200 students. The cost of a high school building to house 400 students is essentially the same as the cost of a building housing 800 students. A high school housing 800 students with minimal additional investment can be utilized for approximately 2,500 students. The figures cited may be varied by architects and educators; however, there is unanimous agreement the per capita cost of school construction for small school corporations is excessive and that basic school capital construction at a minimum per capita cost may be utilized by an increasing number of students with the addition of only classrooms.

There are two techniques by which the per capita construction cost of a school corporation can be held within reasonable limits:

1. The construction of school buildings to house an adequate sized student body.
2. The combination of junior-senior high school facilities in smaller school corporations. It is proposed to use this technique in the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation.

The combination of junior-senior high school facilities is not recommended by the General Commission on Education. In chapter 7 of the Administrative Hand Book for Indiana Schools, paragraph 1 on page 198, the General Commission states:

"The 6-3-3 plan of organization is recommended where building conditions permit and where the enrollment in grades 7, 8 and 9 is approximately 100 pupils or more per grade."

In addition, where library, auditorium and athletic facilities are combined, the junior high school students are usually provided second priority and are denied effective use of these facilities. Laboratory facilities are different for each of these levels of education, and combining junior high school and high school students under the same teachers denies one of the groups the benefits of a teacher trained for the particular responsibility of either high school or junior high school teaching.

Separate junior and senior high schools, although they may occupy the same land area and if convenient utilize some library, cafeteria, and auditorium facilities, are preferred in providing a school corporation educational facilities.

Certain information is required to determine the per capita cost of proposed school facilities for DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation, DeKalb Central Community School Corporation, and a consolidated school corporation.

Savings per student in grades 7 and 8	$57.00	$140.00

* Debt service for $17,000 lease rental charge.

 It is assumed that the annual cost of a Junior High School would equal the annual cost of constructing the proposed Junior-Senior High School at DeKalb Eastern. This would require annual lease cost of $318,000. It must be pointed out that DeKalb Eastern possesses some $700,000 of funds to invest immediately. It is assumed that DeKalb Central also has an accumulative building fund. In addition, the construction of a Junior High School should be considerably less expensive than the construction of high school facilities or combined junior-senior high school facilities.

 The cost of $1.51 is determined by adding the accumulative building fund which apparently will be used by DeKalb Central for construction of the Junior High School and the .51 debt service required for retiring the obligations resulting from the construction of a high school.

At the time the two boards of commissioners of the DeKalb Eastern and DeKalb Central Community School Corporations were discussing consolidation, the remonstrators were informed that space was presently available at the DeKalb Central Community School Corporation High School for housing the high school students of the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation. It was pointed out that junior high school students could not be cared for, and within the near future, the construction of a Junior High School would be required in the DeKalb Central Community School Corporation.

It must be appreciated that the figures quoted above have been provided as a result of a study of information available in the brief in the school corporation and the records of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. It is assumed that the School Board will examine these figures and correct any errors or misleading suggestions which result from the lack of information in the possession of the remonstrators. It is incumbent upon the School Board to provide accurate and detailed information similar to the information provided in this brief to the taxpayers and voters of the school corporation to permit these persons to intelligently determine whether consolidation is desirable. In the event that junior and senior high school facilities can be provided to the children of the school corporation by a consolidation with a saving of $1.47 per $100 of assessed valuation for 17 years, this would provide a tax savings of $73.50 per year to a person owning a residence with a value of $15,000 assessed at $5,000 or one thousand two hundred and forty-nine dollars and fifty cents.

A farmer with a hundred and fifty acres of land valued at four hundred dollars per acre, assessed at one-third its true cash value or $20,000 dollars would be provided a tax savings per year of $294 or a savings over the seventeen year period of $3,998 dollars. The same savings would be provided a business man whose personal property and real estate were valued at $60,000. The savings to the taxpayers in DeKalb Central Community School Corporation are equally dramatic. However, the increased assessed valuation of the school corporation makes the savings per $100 of assessed valuation less.

C. Comparative costs of Operational Programs

An analysis of the educational program available at each school corporation and the program available to a consolidated school corporation with a comparison of the cost of providing these programs is more difficult than determining capital investment costs. There are no objective standards available by which the adequacy and the quality of an educational program may be determined. Any school superintendent will readily agree that the difficulty in scheduling subject matter available requires a greater number of teachers than appears necessary to a casual observer counting the number of students and the subject matter offered. Appreciating these difficulties, there is no question but that a far more adequate program may be made available through a consolidated school program than can be made available by the DeKalb Eastern School Corporation. Consolidation will provide the students of the DeKalb Central School Corporation a somewhat more adequate program, but the attractiveness of consolidation from a school operational point of view to DeKalb Central is the savings to the taxpayers provided in offering a comparable school program.

The Administrative Hand Book for Indiana Schools provides that a student to be graduated from a four year high school "shall have completed a minimum of 16 units of high school work in various fields. The units shall be so arranged that the pupil will receive a broad general education which is usually assured by having at least two majors in different fields, and two minors in different fields. A unit in a subject shall comprise five class room periods per week in recitation and an adequate number of periods per week in preparation for two semesters." (Page 55-56)

High Schools are classified by the Commission on General Education in four classifications:

1. A Certified School
2. A Continuous Commissioned School
3. A First Class Commissioned High School
4. A Special First Class Commissioned High School

It is assumed that the parents in DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporations all desire that their children be provided the education available at a Special First Class Commissioned High School. Small high schools are required to offer at least twenty-seven units of study with a minimum offering each semester of twenty-two units. DeKalb County Eastern School District on the basis of its last annual school report did not meet the minimum offering requirements for each semester in that only one unit of a science (Biology-Chemistry-Physics) was offered in place of two units. In addition it was difficult to find in their report five units of electives each semester for students. It is appreciated DeKalb County Eastern Community School District anticipates enlarging its course offerings in the event there is a consolidation or a new school is built. On the basis of its last inspection DeKalb Eastern is a Commissioned High School. It is unlikely it can ever become a Special First Class Commissioned High School. DeKalb Central is also commissioned, and with the consolidation of the two schools a Special First Class Commission could be obtained at a reasonable cost per pupil. To obtain a Special First Class Commission a school must offer at least four curricula in grades nine through twelve. Fine Arts and music shall be taught in grades nine through twelve and the practical arts shall be offered in grades nine through twelve to both boys and girls. (The Administrative Handbook for Indiana Schools, pages 61-63.)

Curriculum is defined as "a combination of subjects for groups of pupils which will lead to graduation from the second ary school and preparation for a particular purpose, such as college entrance or a vocation." The General Commission describes in chapter VII of the Administrative Handbook the aims of secondary education. This chapter on page 174 describes the subjects to be taught in grades seven, eight and nine. Beginning on page 176 of the text, the Administrative Handbook lists the programs of studies for grades nine through twelve.

In the area of Industrial Arts the schools must offer instruction in the following seven areas: "(1) Metals, (2) Power and fine transportation, (3) Electricity, (4) Drafting, (5) Woods, (6) Graphic Arts, and (7) Plastics and Ceramics." In addition schools offering four units of credit in Industrial Arts shall offer at least six of the areas for at least one semester each.

what is required to become a Special First Class Commissioned High School, It is necessary to examine the information available upon the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation and the DeKalb Central Community School Corporation to determine what will be required to obtain a special first class commission and the comparative cost of obtaining this commission by either high school and by a consolidated high school. The following chart contains statistics which demonstrate the size, economic condition and types of programs available at the two schools.

The information described above indicates that a consolidated school could teach all of the programs that are now being taught in both school corporations more economically by a reduction in the number of teachers available at both school corporations of at least 17. This determination is made on the basis of the fact that in each of the subjects in question a qualified teacher can handle five sections with one hour of additional teaching responsibilities. The courses described all have less than the required number of students to provide five sections of full classes for each subject. It is appreciated that in some areas teachers have combined responsibilities and the difficulty of establishing semester programs to make the subjects completely available to all students may require a smaller reduction than is suggested in this brief. However, it can be seen readily that DeKalb Eastern will have a far more adequate program through a consolidation with a reduction in the total number of teachers required. The savings would be distributed to both school corporations. However, to provide a Special First Class Commissioned High School will require additional Industrial Arts programs, distributive education, additional fine arts (particularly music), additional subjects in social studies and a greater emphasis upon advanced mathematics. It is suggested that a consolidation may not reduce the tax levy for operating the consolidated school system. It would permit within the limits of existing tax levies the offering of four curricula and the opportunity to obtain a Special First Class Commission, making the finest in high school education available to the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation students at a tax burden which would not be confiscatory.

It is difficult to obtain statistical information which will disclose the comparative cost of individual schools and the benefits of consolidation. The latest information available to the person preparing this brief was the Report of Statistical Information for Indiana School Corporations for the year 1967-68.

The consolidation will provide a savings to taxpayers on the general tax levy in Eastern De-

Kalb of $106.50 annually to a person owning a $15,000 home, and a savings of $426.00 per year to the farmer with 120 acres of land valued at $400 per acre, or a man with a business with a capital dividend of $60,000.

D. Summary of comparative costs of operating separate school corporations in a consolidated school corporation.

The person who prepared this brief was unable to find any detailed information comparing the nature of the educational program offered by small school corporations and larger consolidated corporations. There appears to be no study available comparing the costs of operating the two types of schools. The basic figures used in this brief are all available. It is hoped that the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation officials will examine this brief and make any corrections that appear necessary. When these corrections have been made this information will be made available to the taxpayers and voters of both DeKalb Central and DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporations. After this information has been made available, it is hoped that the voters in the two school corporations will have an opporunity to express themselves by a vote upon whether or not a consolidation is desirable.

Noone has questioned the position of the General Commission on Education that a better educational opportunity can be provided students attending Special First Class Commissioned High Schools than is provided students attending high schools without this designation. Consolidation of DeKalb Eastern and DeKalb Central Community School Corporations will enhance the possibility of DeKalb Central Community School Corporation obtaining a Special First Class Commission at a more reasonable cost. Educators agree generally the possibility of a school the size of DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation obtaining a Special First Class Commission is highly unlikely. Therefore, it is essential that a consolidation take place to permit the students of DeKalb Eastern School Corp. to obtain the best in education at a minimum of cost.

The support of a school corporation is provided from both local property tax payers and the taxpayers of the state. It is unreasonable to expect the taxpayers of the state to pay more than is necessary to provide adequate educational facilities to the children of the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation. It is even more unreasonable to expect the taxpayers of that school corporation to pay substantially more in property taxes to maintain an educational system which denies their children adequate educational opportunity and which guarantees the maintenances of only minimal educational facilities. The tax burden to support the operation of individual school corporations and consolidated school corporation may be demonstrated by its effect on three typical taxpayers.

Annual tax burden	DeKalb Central	DeKalb Eastern	Consolidated
Tax rate for expanded program
General	$4.98	$.605	$3.92
Debt service	$1.57	$2.50	$1.13
Total tax levy	$6.55	$8.55	$5.05
The owner of a $15,000 residence	$75.00	$175.00
Farmer, 120 acres, $400 per acre	$300.00	$700.00
Business man with capital investment $60,000	$300.00	$700.00

If the proposed lease of a Junior-Senior high school building by the DeKalb Eastern School Corporation does not impose an unnecessary and unreasonable tax burden upon the taxpayers of that corporation, no lease could ever be unnecessary or unreasonable.

V. Conclusion

Mathematical computations made from the examination of plans and specifications filed with the School Board's brief and the rules of the General Commission on Education will disclose that the site selected does not comply with these rules although it has been approved by the General Commission on Education. The Appellate Court has said:

"It also appears to us that the legislature did not intend that state agencies be confronted with a situation where they would either have to approve the plans and specifications exactly as submitted although they do not meet applicable standards, or, by failing to do so, nullify the actions previously taken. We do not think the legislature intended that such burden be placed upon state agencies."

There can be no clearer example of an attempt by a school corporation to build a school which did not meet the standards established by the General Commission and then to insist upon its support by taxpayers of the school corporation and the state.

The brief of the School Board establishes that there has been no approval of the plans and specifications by the State Board of Accounts. The statute and the regulations clearly provide that such approval must be obtained prior to advertising and entering into a lease for a construction of a school house.

It is the responsibility of the State Board of Tax Commissioners under the terms of Chap. 275 of the Acts of 1957 (Burns Ind. ann. stat. 28-3365) to determine whether or not the lease which is the subject matter of this hearing is necessary and whether or not the rental is fair and reasonable. It is submitted that any cost of a lease in excess of the minimum sum required to obtain the facilities required is not only unnecessary but the rental is unreasonable and imposes an unfair burden upon the taxpayers of both the state and local community. The lease which is the subject of this hearing will impose minimal educational advantages upon the children of the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation for generations, in addition it will impose a burden upon the taxpayers of that school corporation for such minimal education in an amount far in excess of the sum required to provide the education of a Special First Class Commissioned high school in the event the school corporation were to consolidate with an adjoining school corporation.

This lease proposal is one of many proposals submitted by small school corporations throughout the state. The State Board of Tax Commissioners must act to protect state and local tax payers or make itself a participant in a most wasteful program of guaranteeing limited educational advantages to the children of the smaller communities of this state at an exorbitant burden on the taxpayers.

The Tax Board is respectfully urged to find that the lease in which the DeKalb Eastern Community School Corporation Board of School Commissioners proposes to enter is unnecessary, unfair and unreasonable.

Big GOP Rally Coming

DeKalb County Republican Chairman and State Senator Dean V. Kruse has announced that Herb Shriner will be the featured entertainment for a Republican rally to be held on Wednesday, September 3, 1969, at 6:30 p.m. in the DeKalb Central High School two miles north of Auburn, Indiana.

Congressmen E. Ross Adair and John T. Myers will speak at the rally.

Kruse stated he expected at least 3,000 people, plus State Republican leaders and office holders, to attend the affair. He said that, if Governor Edgar Whitcomb can leave the National Governor's Conference in Denver, Colorado, by 3:00 September 3, he would also attend.

Herb Shriner started his career in Fort Wayne. He played vaudeville, going to a weekly radio show, then to his weekly nationwide television show "Two for the Money," which became a member of the "Top 10" national shows for two years.

Since that time he has lectured, presented concerts, and starred in several movies. He originated the Annual International Auto Show, held each year in the New York Coliseum, the world's largest exhibition of sport and unique motor cars. For some time he owned and published a national magazine, "Motor America." He still owns and drives his famous Cord manufactured in Auburn.

Herb Shriner has over 25,000 members in his National Harmonica Club. His harmonica-playing has earned him six best-selling record albums, as well as concerts performing with the St. Paul symphony orchestra and the Cleveland symphony orchestra.

Today, Herb Shriner entertains frequently in Disneyland, and he was a friend of the late Walt Disney. He also travels, in his large, privately owned airplane known as the "Big Tin Bird." Herb Shriner now resides in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, but reports he has an eye on some Indiana land he hopes to purchase.

Church League

Norris Chapel slid into a first place tie with Mt. Pleasant Newville by taking two straight games over the weekend and upping their record to 11 wins in 12 games. Friday night, they stomped Coburntown 1 16-8. Sunday evening, in the makeup of an earlier rain out, they squeaked past the Lutherans 6-5 with a last inning rally.

Norris Chapel must now play their final two games against the other two remaining contenders, Mt. Pleasant Newville UM and St. Joe Newville CC. St. Joe Newville has won the same number of games as their rivals, but they have also lost one more. With only one game left, their only hope is to win their last game against Norris Chapel, while Norris Chapel and Mt. Pleasant Newville both divide or lose all of their remaining games. The first place spot could be pretty well wrapped up this Friday, when Norris Chapel is tested for the second time by Mt. Pleasant Newville. Neither team can afford the long then, but the loser would have to win its two remaining games to keep their hopes alive.

Of course, the simplest way for either team to win the championship is to win all its games. Considering this, it appears that Mt. Pleasant Newville is in the best position. Already with 11 wins, they only tough game appears to be the contest with Norris Chapel.

While these teams are battling it out, the rest of the teams are now considering their chances for the All-Star team which will face the league champs sometime this week. Games remaining are as follows:

Games August 7-12:
Hicksville 11, Concord Butler 3
Norris Chapel 19, Coburntn 11-8
Norris Chapel 6, Lutherans 5
Coburntown 11-6, Hicksville 5
Lutherans 7, Coburntown 1-4
St. Joe Newville CC vs Concord Butler

A "Perfect" Rose

Look closely at a so-called perfect rose! Scan the petals; you will find they are far from perfect. But uneven shapes, blemishes or misshapen stems will not spoil the delicate color, rich fragrance and sheer beauty of the total flower.

How clearly a rose illustrates that nothing in life is truly perfect! But, rather than discourage us, this should give us fresh confidence and strength.

God did not make the rose perfect—nor did He make us perfect. Yet He thinks none the less of us for our faults and blemishes. In His eyes we always have another chance. But it is up to us to take it.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

A few days before we left for the lake, a group of kids came to the shop with a good sized carp. They informed me that Robin Hall had caught the fish in the creek at Wild Cherry Park—by jumping into the creek after it!

I took a picture but there was no room in the paper to publish it in August. So in the next column are the kids and the fish. Someone estimated the weight of the carp at 10 pounds.

We were in such a turmoil the second week in August, preparing to go on vacation and getting odds and ends cleared up, that I forgot to put a notice in the paper that we would be gone for two weeks. Evidently Mrs. Richard Drake of Spencerville is the only one who missed us; she's the only one who called to ask why they didn't get a paper.

I've had a few comments like "you have a nice tan," but I answer cautiously, not knowing whether the commentors are kidding or not. I learned my lesson at our church picnic recently when I was comfortably attired for the afternoon in shorts. Alice Snyder walked up and said, "Has anyone ever told you that you have pretty legs" I was so flattered that I stuttered and stammered, like, "Well, I—er—ah—um—no, they haven't." Then she put me down with "Well, I haven't either."

So, I am now wary of compliments.

Joe Robinson, secretary of the volunteer fire department, issues a warning to those who have jumped on the fire truck to go to fires and assist but who are not members of the local department. Such well-intended actions are done at the individual's risk, because the insurance for the fire department covers only those who are members of the department. However, those who are asked to help by the fire chief are protected. But those who voluntarily pitch in are excluded.

A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Does anyone know how far back octagonal field tile goes? Kenny Roberts found a piece of such tile recently when he was doing some repair work in his basement on Widney Avenue. The inside diameter is 2½ inches and the outside is 8-sided. I hear such tile goes back a spell.

Richard Musser is still sporting a cast on one leg. He was in a collision at first base in a church league game August 13 and suffered pulled ligaments in his knee. The cast is being used in hopes of preventing the need for surgery.

While we were gone, church league activity came to an end. Mt. Pleasant won the championship and Coburntown II was selected as winner of the sportsmanship trophy.

Also while we were gone, Ronald Eisenmann, 29, of the local mobile home court, heroically saved 16-year-old Vicki Brandon, also of the mobile home court, from drowning at Kess' gravel pit east of town. But he drowned after assisting the girl to shallow water. It happened August 27, last Wednesday.

Special Welcome For Returning GI

A special welcome greeted John Stiver last week end when he arrived in Saint Joe, home from his hitch in the Army and in Vietnam. John is shown above at right with his father, Robert Stiver, standing near the sign which was strung across the main street of Saint Joe in anticipation of John's arrival.

There was a slight delay and a little worry, however. A message from John on August 24 said "I'll be home in three days." The three days went by—and then another four before he actually arrived home.

The sign was the inspiration of Mike Beaty and Jay and Loretta Loy. Joe Robinson provided the canvas.

Fisher-Hoppe Vows Exchanged August 23

Miss Sarah Jane Hoppe and Louis Douglas Fisher exchanged double ring wedding vows at 6:30 p.m. August 23 in St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Huntington, Indiana. Rev. Thomas Gotsch, Bethany Lutheran Church, Elmhurst, L.I. New York, a cousin of the bride, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt E. Hoppe, 1145 Henry St. Huntington are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Fisher, Spencerville.

Topiary trees with two lighted candelabra and altar vases with arrangements of all white gladioli, pompoms and baby's breath decorated the ceremonial center. The aisle was carpeted in white with gold candelabra and white bows marking the pews.

At the organ, Paul Heintze presented nuptial music preceding and during the ceremony.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory silk organza and peau d'ange imported lace.

Mrs. Charles Fuller, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse II, Miss Janet Minich, Miss Judy Bireley, all of Fort Wayne, and Miss Kathy Russell of Huntington. Attendants appeared in identical gowns of aqua karate and venice lace. Mrs. Fuller carried a double topiary ball studded with white roses, daisies, and pompons. The bridesmaids carried single topiary balls frilled with pink, white, and turquoise flowers and ivy leaves. All attendants wore gloves, gifts of the bride.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Ronald Whitney of Fort Wayne. Ushers were Loren Fisher, brother of the groom, Michael Branstrator and Robert Rodocker, cousins of the groom, and Charles Fuller, brother-in-law of the bride.

Rings were carried by Alan Hallfeldt.

Following the ceremony was held at LaFontaine Country Club.

The couple left for a wedding trip to New York, and upon their return will reside in Terre Haute, where Mr. Fisher will continue his studies at Indiana State University.

The bride graduated from Huntington High School and Indiana University Division of General and Technical Studies, and is employed by General Telephone Company.

GOP Rally A Success

An "off-election year" crowd of some 700 adults and young people attended the DeKalb County Republican rally held Wednesday night in the DeKalb Central High School cafeteria and auditorium. County officials were in charge of the serving of the chicken barbecue dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Following the dinner, County Chairman and State Senator Dean Kruse introduced Herb Shriner, who gave the Republicans their money's worth with about 90 minutes of his Hoosier hometown humor, augmented by a few selections on the harmonies. He called upon a dozen of the dignitaries present to play an impromptu concert selection, each provided with a harmonica and a brief lesson on the scale.

Brief talks were given by Cong. E. Ross Adair, Indiana Secretary of State William Salin, State GOP Chairman Buena Chaney, Indiana House Speaker Dr. Otis Bowen, and Cong. John T. Myers.

Musical entertainment was provided by Jean Brown at the organ and piano, and a girl's vocal group, Four of a Kind, from Leo.

Mr. Kruse acted as master of ceremonies for the evening's activities which lasted four hours.

The Amicus Curiae brief is being filed with the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Walz vs. the Tax Commission of the City of New York. Walz had filed a lawsuit attacking the tax exemption. The lower courts in New York dismissed his complaint, which he thereupon appealed to the United States Supreme Court. The matter is expected to be heard during the October term of the Supreme Court.

SPENCER TOWNSHIP EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met Tuesday, August 12, in the home of Ida Reed for a chicken supreme mini-smorgasbord luncheon and business meeting.

The president opened the business meeting by asking for a reciting in unison of the Collect. Devotions were given by Harriet Hood, who used the picture "Christ, the Hope of the World," with explanation of the artist's concept of the meaning intended

The chairmen of several committees gave reports as follows:

Health, by Marie Ward, who reported on emphysema;

Crafts, by Lois Fisher and Bernicee Wilder;

Needlework Guild, by Sarah Amstutz.

The chairman of the nominating committee reported the following slate of officers to be acted on at the next meeting; for president, Ines Smith; for vice president, Marie Ward; for secretary, Hariet Hood; for treasurer, Sarah Amstutz.

The chairman of the committee being absent, the president offered instead this quote: "Never in the history of fashion has so little material been raised so high to reveal so much that needs to be covered so badly."

The secretary's report was approved as read, as was the treasurer's report.

Roll call was answered by ten members and one guest by naming and explaining a craft each enjoyed.

Each member is to bring to the September meeting at Lois Fisher's a contribution for the Needlework Guild, and a donation for the birthday auction. This auction includes seven of our members.

All around the world They marvel at American industry. Factory chimneys send great clouds of smoke skyward as we produce more and still more. There seems to be no end to man's progress, whether here on earth or out in the vast mystery of space.

In spite of all we do, there is still so much that we cannot do. For all our power, we are still frail and vulnerable. God has given us many capabilities, but we were never meant to "go it" entirely alone. To think that we need nothing beyond ourselves is not self-confidence—it is brashness.

There are moments when we all need to look into a special kind of mirror, by which we may re-examine our lives. Such a mirror may be found in church where God's word, if we really listen to it, can help show us the truth.

Why not go and listen in your church next Sunday?

SPENCERVILLE GIRL SCOUT TROOP

Our campout was held August 27-29 in Hooks' back yard after two meetings of planning. There were seven tents set up and one lean-to. Twelve troop members and three leaders attended.

We would like to thank Mr. Richard Drake and the Spencerville Boy Scouts for the use of their tents, and Mrs. Arden Dwyer for finding us a lifeguard.

Some of the highlights of our campout were a campfire with songs, popcorn, skits, and a Court of Awards; working on badges; writing letters to servicemen in Vietnam; tent mascots, watermelon eating contests, and midnight tent raiders.

WITH THE EDITOR

If anyone has been planning to attend the sale advertised last week for the Inlow estate, be advised that the sale will not be held September 13. Due to a mixup in communications, the sale bill was run in error; the sale date has been changed and will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Robert McCarthy of Rl Butler, up next to road 8, called this week to say that "the lady from Spencerville isn't the only one who missed the paper." She had called last week and talked to Phil, thinking maybe their paper had run out or something. Then she called to let me know first-hand that she enjoys every issue.

That sorta makes up for the letter I got last week—well, it wasn't really a letter. It was an envelope postmarked "Butler" and addressed to "St. Joe News, St. Joe, Ind." In it was the first page of Nelson Grills' brief filed in behalf of the remonstrators who oppose the lease agreement to build a new school in Butler. The first page had been torn from the brief and the following block letters were hand-printed across the top in green ink, underlined in black:

"YOU CAN TELL A LITTLE MAN BY HIS BIG MOUTH!"

More on the school thing next week—a lot more.

Dale Dowden Earns Appointment

Dale E. Dowden has been appointed assistant professor of chemistry at Vincennes University, according to an announcement issued from the office of the president.

Dale, his wife, Jean, and their two daughters will make their home on Rl Carlisle.

Twirling Classes

Twirling classes will be given this year at the Community Building in Spencerville if an adequate number of pupils enroll, according to Mrs. Maurice Tuttle of Hicksville who instructs the class.

Classes will offer instruction in twirling, marching, street routines, pom pom routines, dance-twirl routines.

Those interested are asked to send a postcard to Mrs. Tuttle at 315 Antwerp Drive, Hicksville, Ohio 43526, giving student's name, age, address and brief resume of twirling experience, if any. Classes will be $6.00 for six weeks.

Town Board

The town board of Saint Joe met Monday evening for its September session, postponed from a week ago due to the Labor Day holiday.

Visitors included Millard Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts.

Mr. Cook asked if something could be done about dogs barking at night and causing a disturbance to nighttime sleep. The matter was discussed at length, with board member Lynn Lake auhorized to investigate.

Mr. Roberts reported on the drain and water situntion at The Unicorn, local teenage hangout which plans to open for the fall and winter season.

It has not yet been determined where the source of water is located which has flooded the basement of the building on occasion in the past. The most recent incident found water some six to seven feet deep in the basement. A plugged drain has added to the problem.

Mr. Roberts indicated that digging would be undertaken to attempt to locate the proper drain tile for the building, with the town's rooter to be utilized in opening the drian.

The board plans to be represented at Fort Wayne Thruaday of this week at a demonstration of foamer fire fighting equipment.

United Fund News

NOTE—A meeting to organize the United Fund Drive in the Riverdale area will be held next Wednesday evening, September 17, 1969, at 8:00 p.m. at St. Mark Lutheran Church in Saint Joe. Those who are willing to assist in the annual fund drive are asked to attend, or call the local chairman to indicate their willingness to serve if they cannot attend the meeting.

by Carl Ebert

Donald Ruesegger is the General Chairman for the 1969 United Fund of DeKalb County Fund Drive that will be conducted between October 6 and October 18. The industrial solicitation will be made and completed by the end of September. Mr. Ruesegger announced that the Area Chairmen are as follows:

Area I - Don E. Kelly, Rieke Metal Products, Auburn;

Area II: Rev. James Waters, Minister First Baptist Church, Garrett;

Area III: Mrs. Laura Phillips, Waterloo;

Area IV: Robert Forrest, County Commissioner, Ashley;

Area V: Mrs. Shirley Lowe, Corunna;

Area VI: Ted Haberkorn, Jr., Saint Joe News, Saint Joe.

The drive leadership is excellent and without doubt the 1969 drive will be successful as it has in other years since the United Fund began. We all remember when it began, and why. Every Sunday, or so it seemed, the doorbell would ring and from a deep nap being taken in the family room would come a bewildered and startled householder to answer the door and to finally awaken enough to learn that another drive was on for fund raising by practically any agency that might be named. It seemed that the fund raising process would never end and similarly the interruption of naps would never end. Then too, the question, which one of these agencies are approved and really qualified to have support? It was felt that many were bogus, they had high sounding names. We were all happy when it was decided that something should be done about it and in short order the United Fund of DeKalb County, Inc. was organized and the worthy agencies were invited to become a part of the United Fund, participate in the annual drive and to then participate in the resulting income on the basis of need and this was sifted as it is today by the officers of the United Fund to make certain of the requirements of each agency.

Today United Fund is established, and who would want it any other way? There are some differences, though, since 1961, the year the United Fund began. Wages and salaries have risen nearly 30 percent since 1961. This is true in industry, utility, public office. Salaries for directors, where they exist, for the agencies of the United Fund have necessarily been raised in order to secure competent and economical and effective personnel, somewhere, likely, in the neighborhood of 20 percent. The cost of materials, supplies, and services have risen for the agencies as it has in private effort. Few of us realize this, therefore we continue to give at the same rate of contribution as we did in 1961. It is our pattern for giving, then, that we continue each year into our present giving. Is it possible that beginning in 1969 we might set our eye level of giving to the United Fund at a new plateau? Fifty cents more a week on a payroll deduction or 25 dollars or so more on an annual contribution would mean but six dollars and a quarter more on a quarterly payout and we would all reap benefits for 'tis said "The Lord loves a cheerful giver." It is also said "give until it hurts." The little girl wrote the adage "give until it hearts." All giving must come from the heart, the little girl was right. Maybe we can all "give until it hearts" and continue to Unitedly provide funds for Unitedly providing service and thus serving Unitedly and from the heart.

TB Tests Coming For Students

The DeKalb County Tuberculosis Association is again sponsoring the tuberculin skin testing to students in certain grades in the DeKalb County schools.

Mrs. Warren Sunday, RN, who is the school nurse for the Garrett-Keyser-Butler schools and the DeKalb County Central United School District, and Mrs. Kenneth Cole, RN, school nurse for DeKalb County Eastern Community Schools, will administer the tuberculin skin tests to students in their schools. Dates for starting the testing are the weeks of September 15 and September 22.

Permission cards will be sent home with the students to be signed by parent or guardian if the child is to have the test. However, parents must remember that if the child has had a positive reaction from the skin test, then he or she should not receive the test again but should have periodic x-rays as a precautionary measure.

The Tine test, which is the multiple puncture type, is accepted by the State Board of Health and by doctors as a satisfactory screening test. If a child has a positive reaction, a large 14x17 chest x-ray is taken as a follow-up to rule out an active case of TB. If there is infection, immediate treatment ca begin.

A positive reaction does not necessarily mean that active TB is present; the reaction may indicate only a tuberculous infection without active disease. Either condition can be treated promptly, and as a rule successfully, with drugs.

Mrs. Dale Thomas, executive secretary of the TB association, cautions that every person's medical checkup should include a tuberculin test. Persons who do not respond to the tests, those who are tuberculin negative, should be tested annually.

Sometimes a mother wonders what makes a boy's mind work. Even when boys still seem like babies, they have a preoccupation with tools and a desire to "make" something that goes beyond their actual years.

This is an urge that should never be "squelched." Out of such beginnings come great inventions, machine marvels, electronic wonders and all the rest.

Then, allow your child to explore and experiment, even if what he is creating doesn't have any significance to you. Let him expand his horizons in every direction. He was, after all, meant to explore three worlds: the physical, the mental and the spiritual.

Don't stint on any of them. Be sure he gets a good start in every area. If your son isn't going to church school and to church services with you, why not start now?

Garrett Paper Is 84 Years Old

With the August 30, 1969, edition of the Garrett Clipper, that newspaper observed its 84th birthday. The paper is 10 years younger than the city of Garrett, the Clipper established in 1885 and the city in 1875.

The Clipper was started under the banner of A. J. and H. E. Little. After 13 years it was sold to Solomon Ellis who conducted it for one year, after which it was taken over by the Littles, H. E. and his son, Tracy.

H. E. Little died in 1905 and Tracy continued on alone until 1907 when Ray L. Satterfield entered the business. After a year as co-publisher, Mr. Satterfield returned to his clerical job with the B&O Railroad.

C. B. Hamilton came in December of 1907 from Fostoria, Ohio, and took control of the Clipper June 1, 1908, when T. C. Little went into the hardware business. Roy R. Williams of Chicago came to work on the paper May 1, 1940, and five years later became a partner.

On January 1, 1950, Mr. Hamilton retired and Mr. Williams became the sole owner of the business. Mr. Hamilton died in June of 1965.

The Clipper was first a weekly and then became a bi-weekly in 1920. It now has a paid circulation of over 2,300 and is delivered to most of the homes in Garrett.

The Clipper has the distinction of never having missed an issue since its inception, though power and mechnical failures have occasionally caused delays.

The newspaper now employs six people in addition to its present owner and editor, Mr. Williams.

Summer Music

There were 1,696 instrumentalists in attendance during the Summer Instrumental Music Program given this past summer by the DeKalb County Eastern Community School System. The program ran for a period of six weeks, from July 21 through August 29, and was open to all students from grade 5 through 12.

Classes were held in the Eastside High School five days a week from 8:00 a.m. until 11:30 a.m., and in the Riverdale Elementary School from 1:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m. Although classes were offered at both centers, there were no restrictions as to time of attendance. The schedule was duplicated at both centers of instruction, so the place of attendance was that which was most convenient for the student.

In addition to the instrumental classes, marching practice was carried on at Riverdale twice weekly from 6:30 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. The practice field was prepared by two summer employees of the school district, Paul Laux and Rick Stiver. The field was marked off directly behind the elementary building, and was marked off as a football field, with yard markers every five yards.

This was the second year in which an instrumental program has been offered by the DeKalb Eastern School Board, and if attendance is any criterion of interest in the program, it is quite evident that the patrons of the district do appreciate the efforts of the board to upgrade the various departments of instruction in the school system.

4-H Proves Old Adage

"You'd scarcely expect one of my age to speak in public on a stage," recited a 7-year-old school boy. "Don't view me with a critic's eye, but pass my imperfections by . . . tall oaks from little acorns grow. These thoughts inspire my youthful mind to be the greatest of mankind. . . ."

This lad was not a 4-H'er, but he could have been. He lived in New Ipswich, New Hampshire in 1791.

Fifty years before a poet had written "Tis education forms the common mind; just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Today's 4-H youngsters exemplify those often quoted lines, as did the first Head-Heart-Hands-Health youth of the early 1900's.

Boys and girls work on projects that frequently shape their lives and future careers. Millions of 4-H alumni say early 4-H training was a big step toward their success.

"Learning-by-doing" has always been the 4-H way. Showing and sharing new knowledge gained and skills learned is part of the 4-H pattern. The steps to growth are unfaltering.

A pre-teen girl enrolled in a clothing program starts out by making a simple item and progresses according to her ability. By the time she is in high school, she makes most of her own clothes. As a teen 4-H leader she teaches younger members how to sew.

Like the New England boy and the poet, 4-H youths find plenty of inspiration for mind-stretching and using their hands to master skills. Projects are designed to arouse their curiosity and raise questions. The more they learn, the more competent they become to experiment, explore and find the answers, believes the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H.

And there are rewards both intrinsic and material.

More than $1 million contributed annually by private sources is channeled to 4-H members through the National 4-H Service Committee. Funds are used for county, regional, state and national awards ranging from certificates and medals to $1,000 scholarships. And educational aids covering many subjects are published and distributed to 4-H leaders and members.

For nearly 50 years, private funds have augmented the public-financed 4-H program. Some of the oldest and largest business enterprises in the U.S. have supported 4-H work since its inception.

Among the scores of 4-H sponsors are: Allis-Chalmers, Armour and Company, Carnation Company, Coats & Clark Inc., The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, General Foods Corporation, General Motors, Illinois Central Railroad and International Harvester Company.

Also, Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, Montgomery Ward, Moorman Mfg. Co., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Ralston Purina Company, The Singer Company, Santa Fe Railway System, and Wilson & Co., Inc., A Subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought Inc.

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

Tuesday when I was working at the linotype, I glanced at the rack which holds accessories and slugs for typesetting. One lone slug was on the rack, the size of slugs for these columns. It was one of those you set several times, then save and use as the next and frequent need arises during the setting of type.

I wondered what it was for, not having set such a quantity need for some time, and knowing that Phil has done most of the typesetting for me through the summer vacation.

I picked up the one, lone, last slug and read:

"—By Rola Cooper."

It stopped me for a moment—coincidence —appropriate — what is the right word for the reminder of a great loss.

—And it occurred to me that many of us were lucky, not only for her presence but because of the extra time God seemed to grant her, time which gave us the opportunity to let her know how much we thought of her.

When she entered the hospital last spring, doctors told Bill that she wouldn't leave. But a couple of weeks later, she perked up, visited her daughter, went home, was "in circulation" in a limited way.

It gave time for proper recognition to a fine lady—and it gave her something to take with her.

Under the circumstances, it just had to be more than "just luck." It's more like part of a Great Plan.

EAGLE FAMILY REUNION

The second Martin Eagle family reunion was held at Wild Cherry Park at Saint Joe Sunday, September 14.

Those attending were Mrs. Donna Koshi, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grandstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fuelling, Sr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fuelling, Jr., and Freddy V, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Castator and family, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sible, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wade and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Eagle, David and friend, Mr. and Mrs. George Wade and Pete, Mr. and Mrs. Chick Amaden and daughter, Lee, and granddaughter, Christine, Mrs. Jack Shafer and Matthew, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grandstaff, Jr., and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wade and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Funk and Renee.

Wild Cherry Park is a very nice place for a family reunion, according to the Eagle family. There is plenty of space for the young and old alike. Their thanks is extended to Mr. Willard Hurni for having the park so well-maintained.

Barn Burns

A two-story barn burned Saturday at Spencerville with the loss estimated at $4,000.

Firemen from Spencerville and Saint Joe fought the blaze which broke out at 4:30 p.m. in the barn owned by Joseph Tucker. The fire spread so rapidly that the barn could not be saved. Firemen concentrated their efforts on protecting the Tucker residence.

A horse and two ponies were removed from the barn, but tools, riding accessories, lawn mowers, rabbits and a litter of kittens were lost in the fire.

St. Joe, Ind.

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

Our fourth grades are studying Indiana History as you can see by the letters enclosed.

We are very interested in the three townships: Concord, Newville and Spencer. Perhaps you could find us a few folks who would come to our classrooms and tell us some stories of the "Good Old Days."

We have also written and received information and pictures of Indiana from Lt. Governor Robert Rock.

We would appreciate any help you could give us along this line.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

We are studying the book called Indiana History. We are wondering if you know any Old Timers that could tell us about the History of Spencerville, Newville or St. Joe. We are trying to get some Old Timers. Could you help us please.

Thank you.

Dear Mr. Haberkorn

We would like some Old Timers that could come to our 4th grade and tell us about St. Joe Newville Spencerville and Butler. We are studying Indiana History at the Riverdale School.

Thank you

Sept. 12-69
St. Joe, Ind

Dear Mr. Haberkorn,

We are studying Indiana history. We want to find "Old Timers" to tell us about in the old days. When they were little and when I wasn't born. We want to now about Spencerville, Newville, St. Joe, and Butler.

From Ramon Chew
Riverdale Elementary

At the risk of overlooking someone, we suggest Ray Reasoner, Walter Keesler, Leon Moss and Willard Hurni as local historians. We are certain there are others, acquainted with Spencerville and Newville history. Their names may be given either to Mrs. Jewel or the News Office. —Ed.

Storers Attend Postal Workshop

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Storer recently returned from a five-day trip to Washington, D.C., where they attended workshops and panels of the Third National Postal Forum. Mr. Storer is in charge of the mailing department at Tokheim of Fort Wayne.

The main objective of this year's forum was to win support for the Postal Reform Bill H.R. 11750 which already has the bipartisan support of the Citizen's Committee For Postal Reform.

The bill for reform would replace the Post Office Department with a government-owned corporation to be known as the U. S. Postal Service.

In essence, this would remove the Post Office Department from Cabinet rank and reform it as an independent government agency, uninhibited by archaic restrictions and outside political influences.

Paper Drive

The Christian Endeavor from Coburn Corners Church of Christ will conduct a paper drive Saturday, September 20.

Anyone having paper to donate may call 357-2961 or 238-4831 for pickup.

MM Clyde Evans Have Big Family Weekend

Shown above is a portion of the gathering which visited Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Evans last week end. In the foreground is, at left, Robert Bockelman, brother of Mrs. Evans, of Toledo; Mrs. Evans; Mr. Evans; and Lemon McNutt of Auburn, who caught all the fish. The special smoke pit for preparing the fish is in the lower center of the photo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Evans of Saint Joe were hosts to a combination birthday-anniversary-reunion gathering at their home last week end. From Friday through Sunday, some 80 people visited the Evans home, some staying overnight.

Mr. Evans will celebrate his birthday Friday of this week and the couple will observe their 18th wedding anniversary the same day. These two observances were combined with a reunion of the Evans and Bockelman families for last week end's celebration.

A Saturday cookout feast along with a big Sunday "feed" included 33½ lbs. of smoked and fried fish, 20 lbs. of hamburger, 6 lbs. of hot dogs, ham, 250 ears of corn, and many carry-in food items for pot luck.

Visitors came from Battle Creek, Whitehall, Lansing, and Norvell, Michigan; Toledo, Crissy, Sylvania, Oakwood, Charloe, Antwerp, Hicksville and Defiance, Ohio; and Fort Wayne, Auburn and Saint Joe.

Death Comes To Rola Cooper

Mrs. William A. (Rola) Cooper died last week at DeKalb Memorial Hospital, the institution to which she had devoted her efforts during its development and operation.

Mrs. Cooper died of cancer, having been told of her condition last April. However, she did not lose her enthusiasm for the work she had been involved in for the past several years and continued to be a source of help and information, particularly to the United Fund of DeKalb County.

Mrs. Cooper was honored in May by a resolution from DeKalb Memorial Hospital recognizing her achievements in the hospital's behalf. The Auburn Y.M.C.A. also honored her with a comprehensive resolution in the spring of this year. She was also the recipient of the Auburn Jaycee Community Service Award.

Mrs. Cooper worked for many community organizations, including the DeKalb County Community Concert Association, Auburn Retailers Association and the Community Swimming Pool Association. For 15 years she served as a trustee of Eckhart Public Library at Auburn and was president of the Indiana Library Trustee Association after serving in several other state offices. She was a member of the State Library Board of Trustees for many years. At her last convention, she was awarded a silver trophy and citation naming her Trustee of the Year.

At the age of 68, Mrs. Cooper began her career as executive director of the United Fund of DeKalb County. At 70, she became secretary for the Auburn Chamber of Commerce.

A member of the First United Methodist Church in Auburn, she conducted worship studies and related activities there. She had been an adult Sunday School teacher in Kokomo, and directed teenage dramatics in Owosso, Michigan.

Mrs. Cooper was a member of the Auburn Chapter 13, Order of the Eastern Star, a charter member of Chapter CA of the P.E.O. sisterhood in Auburn, and served on the board of directors for the Y.W.C.A. in Owosso.

Mrs. Cooper was born March 26, 1884, in Greentown, Indiana. She was educated in Kokomo public schools and what is now Indiana State University. She taught for one year in Howard County schools and three years in Kokomo elemenary schools.

In 1918 Mrs. Cooper was married to William A. Cooper in Kokomo. The couple moved to Auburn from Owosso in 1940.

Survivors include the husband; a son, William R. of Fort Wayne; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Carolyn) Widdicombe of Fort Wayne; three brothers; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, September 16, at First United Methodist Church in Auburn. Burial was in the Crown Point Cemetery.

NEWVILLE TWP. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

The Newville Township Extension Homemakers Club met Wednesday, September 10, in the Newville United Methodist Church basement.

The meeting was called to order by the president who led the group in repeating the club collect. Devotional selections, read by Lisa Hooks, were "America, America Did God Waste His Grace On Thee?", and "Garden September." History of "Hail Purdue" was read by the song leader followed by all singing the selection.

Special reports were: coming October trips to Swiss Chalets, Linda Engle; four booth poems by Betty Shaffer; biography of the late Red Culver by Lucille Nelson.

Following the secretary and treasurer reports, topics roll call was answered by 16 members. The club voted on certain current affairs for the coming year.

The meeting closed by repeating the club creed.

An abundant variety of garden products, fruits, vegetables and flowers were contributed by Linda Engle. Children's garments were brought for the Needlework Guild. Refreshments were served by hostesses Charlotte Hammel and Bertha Ricketts.

The October 8 meeting will be held in the church basement. The Sisters of the Skillet will be the guest club.

We held our September meeting with Mrs. Neil Prentice.

We opened with the collect after which Mrs. Laurel Carper gave devotions from "The Upper Room." Mrs. Forrest Bevington read to us the history of the song of the month, "Hail Purdue" after which we lustily sang same. Our secretary read the roll call and we answered with "a child's bright saying." Then she read her last month's report.

A discussion was held on several questions held over from the council meeting.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers:

Betty Bevington, president.
Lois Strong, vice president.
Katy Crow, secretary.
Hazel Schrader, treasurer.
Rose Means, reporter.
Lois Strong, song leader.

The motion was made and seconded to accept the slate and all voted yes.

Several plan to go to the meeting in Auburn Tuesday night on selecting and restoring used furniture. We will also assist in the Christmas Workshop.

On September 30 we will "eat out" and also go to hear Mrs. Allesworth. Next month we will have club at Crows'.

We are what we think all day long. Never underestimate the power of your thoughts. They are tremendously influential in molding character and action. They are, in truth, the parents of our behavior. Disposition and personality — even character — will very largely be determined by the thoughts we welcome to our minds each day.

Since it is true that a soul is dyed the color of its thoughts, it is imperative that everyone be given guidance in thinking about truths and values that are noble and eternal.

The Church stands in your community to help you and your children. Worship this week in your church, and find the joy that comes when life is centered upon values that last.

SPENCER TWP. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

The Spencer Township Extension Homemakers Club met Tuesday, September 9, in the home of Lois Fisher for a delicious luncheon of casserole chicken with hot biscuits and orange jello salad, all topped off with the favorite of fall pies- what other than pumpkin!

Those present were Bernice Wilder, Sarah Amstutz, Marvel Kessler, Inez Smith, Helen Lehse, Marie Ward, Bessie Ward, Mary Rutherford, Gladys Hart, Ida Reed, Lois Fisher and Miss Sue Calvin, the assistant area extension agent.

Following the luncheon, the meeting came to order with the group repeating the club collect and giving attention to devotions by Sarah Amstutz.

Miss Calvin gave a very interesting and informative lesson on textiles and clothing, with the central idea being to teach consumers to be more efficient shoppers.

This was followed by a paper on the selection of used furniture by Inez Smith.

The club's contribution for the Needlework Guild was turned in.

Each one who had remembered to bring an antique was asked to explain about it and show it to the group. Then came the birthday auction in Chinese style. This netted the club over $8.00.

Two of the group were reported ill. Harriet Hood is hospitalized at Parkview and Grace Lamb is enduring poor health at home.

The next meeting on October 14 is to be a potluck at the home of Sarah Amstutz. Each is asked to bring also an autumn poem.

School $$$ And Sense

Pressure is being strongly exerted by the local school board and from within the ranks of the "remonstrators" themselves in the eastern school district of DeKalb County to prevent further litigation in the local school dilemma. The bond issue is virtually sold already, it is claimed, in anticipation of the October bid date. This is a strong "pressure-point."

It is far from a pleasure to know the disappointment and hopelessness felt by those who say, "We fought, we tried; let's quit" - and also know the real circumstances still involved in seeking greater total educational opportunities for students in DeKalb County AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST.

The dilemma is magnified by events of the last few days. For instance, a member of the eastern district's faculty is transferring to the central district immediately, as soon as a replacement can be found. I consider Bob Wilder a "backbone" member of Eastside's faculty, but he now becomes a part of a school system with which we could be united. And there are circumstances other than just an opening on the central faculty which contributed to his decision to move.

Another very "close to home" factor is the exorbitant RAISE IN THE PROPERTY TAX which will be necessary to satisfy the appetite of the Butlerites who seek to "keep our own school" no matter what it costs. Anyone who thinks such interests are motivated by the desire for better education is sadly mistaken.

It is difficult to understand eastern patrons on both sides of the "fight," who like most other Hoosiers are clamoring for property tax relief, yet they seem to ignore the RAISE IN PROPERTY TAX represented by the proposed new construction. Has it registered yet? - the proposed new school will increase the tax levy by $1.50? The clamor has also been over reassessment, but reassessment alone does not raise taxes. It's also the amount of money you propose to spend that raises taxes, raises the amount of dollars we pay to the county treasurer in May and November.

Just for fun, - fun? - I suggest everyone multiply by $1.50 the number of $100 units on their recent reassessment slip, to determine EXACTLY how much more in dollars each will pay for that new school, but NOT for a better curriculum.

I'll tell you mine. The News Office and lot are taxed on an assessed value of $3,410. That means that my taxes next year, if the new school is built, WILL GO UP $51.00, just for the News Office. That doesn't include our home! And my tax dollars - and yours- will go to help pay for a school which does not offer the same opportunities as are available ten miles away - but we will pay higher taxes. Does this make sense????

The governor of Indiana this week urged city and town officials to be extra careful in their handling of public funds, because the funds come basically from the property tax. WHAT ABOUT THE HANDLING OF SCHOOL FUNDS? WHY BUILD A SCHOOL, WHICH IS NOT NECESSARY, FOR AN EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM THAT IS LESS THAN FIRST-CLASS?

One of the most unfortunate circumstances is that the comprehensive brief which was prepared by Nelson Grills has been in effect set aside as unreliable, even by some of those who have fought the construction of a new school. Public statements made by the central board and by legal counsel for the eastern board have effectively prejudiced the public against the contents of the brief. Yet, the brief IS BASED ON OFFICIAL RECORDS, not hearsay, and IS THE ONLY ATTEMPT MADE BY ANY INTERESTED PARTY AT ANY TIME TO BRING PRACTICAL DOLLARS AND CENTS FACTS BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE. Alleged errors have not been explained; alleged miscalculations have not been specifically and officially referred to, so that it can be determined whether the conclusion of the brief is right or wrong. Yet the brief is rejected!

These circumstances, plus the following conditions, make the abandonment of the "remonstrators' " cause a bitter, and costly, pill to consider swallowing.

$3½ Million - For Wrong Purpose

As the school board in the eastern district of DeKalb County proceeds with its plans to build a new school in the district, there is a great degree of frustration felt by those who may know certains facts and circumstances but they can't be technically substantiated.

For instance, the school board is proceeding with its present plans, advertising for bids on a $3-million-plus bond issue, on the basis of a 5-2 majority vote for the most part in the past. Those of us who say that the site they propose to use is not suitable can understandably wonder what is going on when comments such as the flolowing have come from Butler site proponents on the board:

(The quotations are not claimed to be exact but they accurately convey the thought):

A month or so ago, the most active school board proponent for the Butler site said to a patron of the DeKalb Central district, "The Butler site isn't the best place for a new school." He also said the school board had tried to compromise—which is absolutely false.

—But there is no record of his comments.

A year ago this past summer, the immediate past president of the eastern board said to me, "I'll admit that the Lyons site is the best location for a school. But I still think the Butler site is the one we can get through the quickest."

—But there is no record of his comment.

Perhaps a year and a half ago, a third Butler site proponent on the board said, "I wish the state would come in and tell us where to build the school. The biggest mistake was made years ago when all this ground was bought (referring to the Butler site)."

—But there is no record of the comment.

Thus, it is evident that school board members have proceeded with plans to build on the Butler site, knowing and admitting that the site is undesirable. But they are willing to go ahead and spend $3½ million of our tax dollars to build a school. Why? Because there is more money in Butler than elsewhere. If ever a school was being built to serve selfish interests, ours is it.

Thus, a new school is being built—or will be unless the "remonstrators" are successful—on the basis of fear. The interests of the total district are not being followed; the interests of total educational progress are not being explored. There is only the blind push with the cry, "Let's get a school built!"

—And, of all things, the blame for the students' sorry plight is being placed on the "remonstrators"!!!!

Can You Spare $700?

If you reside in the Eastern school district of DeKalb County, can you afford an extra $700 per year, plus transportation costs, to send your high school student to DeKalb Central? If you answer "no," you are among the vast majority for whom such an expenditure is beyond reason. However, there are at the present time instances of such transfers from the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District to the DeKalb County Central United School District.

Last year there was a transfer student who made the special arrangement reportedly due to the lack of chemistry in the eastern district. This year the same family is sending TWO students to the central school, presumably for general total education benefits.

Another student from the eastern district is attending the central school due to anticipated athletic benefits. Despite the loss of one year of eligibility in athletics, due to his transfer, this student and his parents apparently consider the cost and eligibility penalty reasonable concessions in order to get from high school education the benefits which he cannot get in the eastern school.

The parents of the athlete are teachers, one in the eastern district and the other in the central district. It is probably embarrassing to both parents and student on occasion that the transfer has been made. However, the move has obviously been considered desirable or it would not have been made.

It is interesting to speculate on the circumstances surrounding the transfer of students from one district to another. The first question is: what is being gained, why is such a move being made? As mentioned before, the lack of subject matter in a given year was a factor. A total education program, appropriate for this day and age, should give the freshman student the opportunity to plan his or her high school career without fear of the possibility of facing the need for later inconvenient adjustments.

When transfers are made for academic reasons, it is either due to difficulty in scheduling subject matter when it is desired or the lack of subject matter entirely. This is a matter of personal taste, of individual choice, that of deciding what courses are wanted. However, when families and students consider the possibility of public condemnation a reasonable price to pay for what they consider essential to their high school education, the matter becomes relevant to every family in the area; others may want the same opportunities.

The practical problem in transferring from one school district to another involves the family pocketbook. The transfers referred to previously are from families of substantial means. From the public records of expenditures in the two school districts, published in local newspapers in August, we know the combined income of the teacher-parent family was around $24,000. The other transfer family is that of a prominent physician in the community whose income can be safely assumed to be also well above the average income per family in this area.

This fact is pointed out not as an embarrassment to these particular families but to emphasize two very significant questions:

1. Why should these families face additional out-of-pocket expenditures in order to obtain the benefits of greater total education?

2. Why should the average citizen be deprived of the same greater total educational benefits, because of lower income?

It does not matter whether or not you agree with the motivation behind these transfers. It does matter that the benefits sought by these families are not "special" nor unusual; THEY ARE BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO EVERY STUDENT AT DEKALB CENTRAL EVERY YEAR. They would be available aslo to the high school students in the eastern district this year if consolidation of the two school districts was in effect.

By uniting there would not be the need for spending $700 per student to transfer; next year it will be higher—this, plus transportation, to get the educational program to which ALL students are entitled. Under unification there would not be the "deprived" masses who cannot afford to pay extra for that to which they are entitled under the public education system.

The "remonstrators' " efforts toward uniting the eastern and central districts are in the best interests of all citizens of both districts.

Remonstrators Are Objective; Offer To Withdraw

One of the outstanding characteristics of the "remonstrators" in the eastern school district of DeKalb County has been their objective approach to both the site matter in the eastern district and the consolidation proposal for the eastern and central districts.

From the very beginning, the group has voiced its objections to school board actions on the basis of protecting the public interest. The group has been factual and impersonal in stating its reasons for such opposition, such information including state regulations governing the construction of school buildings, plus curriculum matters. And some of its reasoning has been on just plain "horse sense."

Unfortunately, there has never—repeat, NEVER—been any attempt on the part of the school board at compromise or even discussion of the differences which have existed. It has not been the responsibility of the remonstrators to seek compromise; this responsibility lies primarily on the public agent or agency which has undertaken a contested course of action. The remonstrators have always been willing to "talk," but no attempt has ever been made by the school board to meet with representatives of the "remonstrators" to discuss the matter of site.

The consistent objective approach by the "remonstrators" carried over from site matters to the consolidation proposal. At an informal hearing before the state board of tax commissioners at Indianapolis, held Thursday, August 18, 1969, Nelson Grills proposed and suggested that the brief which he had filed in behalf of the "remonstrators" be examined by experts at the state level. He made the following commitment:

"If our information is wrong in the opinion of these experts, if the conclusion of the brief is in error in the opinion of these officials, we are done. We will withdraw our remonstrance."

The attorney pointed out that, although there had been criticism directed toward the brief, he had received no specific information as to where the errors were and what effect such errors might have on the brief's conclusion. Correction of errors was openly and specifically sought by the attorney within the brief itself.

Since the "remonstrators' " brief had been criticized but not with detailed explanation, Grills sought a review by state officials as a neutral or third party. However, when the tax commission on or around August 29, 1969, approved a lease agreement to provide for new construction in the eastern district, it in effect rejected the attorney's conditional offer to withdraw opposition.

Generally speaking, the "remonstrators' " efforts have been carried out in a reasonable manner toward an objective goal. Their attorney has consistently represented them in a reasonable manner and has consistently offered objective suggestions to resolve the matter of better total education in DeKalb County.

Unethical Conduct Hurts

On August 16, 1969, the school board of the DeKalb County Central United School District issued a public statement expressing its extreme lack of desire to become involved in consolidation with the eastern district. The only reason given was that they did not want to get involved in the internal strife in the eastern district.

Following the reading of the statement, allowance was made for questions from the news media. Only one question was asked. Thereafter general questions and discussion were allowed.

It is significant that, in a public meeting, with representatives of the news media present, with representatives of the eastern school board and the superintendent present, the first comment came from the immediate past-president of the central board. Referring to a letter written to him early this year by the superintendent of the eastern district, the central official stated in part:

"If the superintendent from our district had written such a letter to someone from another school district, he wouldn't be superintendent any longer."

In the letter the eastern official had accused the central district of playing "footsie" with the "remonstrators" in the eastern district and of encouraging their efforts. The letter had the effect of totally alienating the central district board in any relations with the eastern board concerning consolidation.

In two other letters, one in February and another in March of this year, both directed to patrons of the eastern school district, the eastern superintendent made personal attacks on the spokesman for the "remonstrators" and the attorney for the group. In addition, statistics were quoted and comments made which reflected on the educational program in the central district. One letter inferred financial irresponsibility on the part of the central district board.

Two points stand out clearly:

1. The central board has twice stated its lack of desire to merge with the eastern district but only for the reason of avoiding involvement in conflicts. They have not said, "Consolidation is not beneficial to total education."

2. Official statements from the administration of the eastern district have promoted disharmony. Personal conflicts and personal involvements have been fostered and promoted.

Under the circumstances, it is not difficult to conclude that the central district has been purposely antagonized by the administration of the eastern district in order to prevent any constructive efforts toward consolidation.

At a time when the interests of the taxpayers and the students are at stake, every possible effort has been made to hinder the "remonstrators" in the eastern district who have sought open and objective discussion and consideration of consolidation.

Responsible school administration should strive for harmony and cooperation within the district and without. Public education is a public responsibility, not a "competitive" endeavor. The conditions which exist in the eastern district, as far as public relations are concerned, give a definite impression of deliberate and irresponsible administrative antagonism.

It has been frustrating to the consolidation effort that the members of the central district board have been distracted from their past interest in total education. The personal attacks and personality involvements, promoted not by the "remonstrators" in the eastern district but by the school administration of the eastern district, have deterred the program of total education in DeKalb County.

The uncompromising attitude of the eastern school board majority and the unethical tactics of its superintendent have contrasted sharply with the objective approach of the "remonstrators." It is a shame that so many are being hurt by so few—in dollars and cents, and in total educational opportunities.

It is a shame that the central board has lost its "cool" and has closed the doors on a golden opportunity to spearhead a drive toward equal and greater educational opportunities in DeKalb County.

—It is not too late to re-open the door.

Ridicule Rather Than Fact

It has been a consistent practice, of those in the eastern school district of DeKalb County who unswervingly seek to keep the high school in the city of Butler, to ridicule those who do not agree, those who offer other ideas. The ridicule has seldom, if ever, been accompanied by factual evidence to justify the ridicule.

Back in the beginning of the site controversy, Frank Sechler of Saint Joe presented a review of information concerning water and sewage for a central site location at a public meeting held in the eastern school district for the purpose of hearing public response concerning selection of site. He was ridiculed by the Butler newspaper in a report about the meeting, and the newspaper stated it would publish proof the following week or thereafter that such water installation would cost something like two hundred thousand dollars or so.

There never was any such article published—but the ridicule still stood on public record.

A member of the board, Frank Laub of Spencer Township who suppotred a central and rural site, was later ridiculed by the same newspaper for an alleged outburst of rage at a school board meeting, such outburst reportedly requiring the use of a gavel by the presiding officer. Such outburst did not occur, no gavel was even available—but the ridicule still stood on public record.

The word "selfish" was used originally by the former superintendent of the school district to describe those who supported the selection of a central and rural site some five years ago. No logic was used to support the charge of "selfish"—but the ridicule still stood on public record.

There has been a constant effort to ridicule the current remonstrance effort by associating that effort with but one individual. The hundreds of patrons who have also disagreed with the current site selection—and those who desire consolidation with the central district—have been ignored and overlooked in the effort to publicly minimize the opposition to the present school board's attitudes and actions.

Some two or three public statements were issued in The Saint Joe News, in behalf of the eastern "remonstrators," offering to abide by the results of a public referendum, to help settle the site question. Despite what may be said by others, the school board never made any attempt to determine public opinion, to compromise on its stand and agree also to accept such a referendum.

It would take considerable space to give a detailed account of other efforts to ridicule and reject. The most recent occurred in a news article in the Butler newspaper a few weeks ago when it was charged that the editorial policy of The Saint Joe News had changed drastically since 1962 in school matters. It was stated or inferred that this newspaper supported consolidation with Butler at that time, but now the policy had been changed. This is the same charge made by legal counsel for the eastern school district in a hearing before representatives of the state tax commission held at Butler several weeks ago.

Both the newspaper and the counselor conveniently overlooked the remainder of the total story, that such editorials and newspaper articles encouraging consolidation with the Butler school district came in connection with county reorganization and AFTER the county reorganization committee had made its final recommendation. This newspaper editorially admonished those in the Riverdale area who said they would vote against reorganization with Butler that the time for voicing dissent had passed (and this newspaper had voiced strong dissent), that reorganization was a reality and could bring benefits to all.

It is also a matter of public record that the editor pointed out the makeup of the reorganized board, naively stating that the geographic division of the district's school board representation prevented control of the board by the city of Butler as some people feared. In this respect, the editor was shown to be totally wrong.

In all the efforts to discredit, to ridicule, to denounce, there seldom if ever has been evidence to substantiate such efforts. This newspaper has never changed its view on the best program for education in DeKalb County. It supported the idea of a single administrative unit in the beginning and it continues to seek that goal. Consolidation of the eastern and central districts would come close to that goal. This is the approach shared by State Senator Dean Kruse whose great concern is over tax inequalities and related educational inequalities.

The support that was given to consolidation of Riverdale with Butler years ago came as the result of the desire to make a smoother road for the reorganization program, despite disagreement with the accepted four-unit plan. There were hundreds of others of the same opinion then; there are yet hundreds of the same opinion.

The fact that disagreement was valid was substantiated within two years. This newspaper's efforts were proven justified when the central and northwest districts combined IN ORDER TO AVOID UNNECESSARY DUPLICATION OF FACILITIES, IN ORDER TO OBTAIN GREATER TOTAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES. The eastern and central districts face EXACTLY the same situation today. That is why this newspaper has spearheaded efforts to bring about consolidation, that is why it has unswervingly supported the "remonstrators."

This newspaper, far from being on one side of the fence, then on the other, has in reality been consistent in its efforts. Despite the accusations and inuendoes coming from the superintendent's office and its legal counsel in public statements, the policy of this newspaper is consistent—and is a matter of public record for those who may wish to investigate.

Why is the opposition so intent upon destroying persons and personalities? Why does the opposition so consistently dodge this almost obvious fact:

ANOTHER NEW HIGH SCHOOL IN DEKALB COUNTY AT THE PRESENT TIME IS AN UNNECESSARY EXPENDITURE OF PUBLIC FUNDS.

All Students Deserve 1st Class

One of the "sore points" in the "remonstrators' " efforts to gain curriculum benefits through consolidation has been the comparison of total programs of the eastern and central districts. The curriculum at Eastside has been justified by the administration by showing that certain courses are available. One very important point is not covered, however, in such justification; that point is WHEN the subject matter is offered.

It is not desirable curriculumwise to rotate the availability of certain basic courses. Eastside may have chemistry this year, for instance, but it did not last year. It could not obtain a teacher. Eastside may have had physics last year, but it is not available this year.

Such criticism is often taken as a downgrading of a school system and a personal insult to the teachers. However, the attorney for the "remonstrators" has stated that the group's efforts have not condemned the quality of education in the district; criticism has involved the scope of education in the district.

The central district has a more consistent total program than the eastern district. This is no insult; this is a fact. The central district will soon be classified officially, if not already, as a first-class commissioned high school. Eastside has a continuing commission. Whether or not a new building in the eastern district would change its classification is conjecture. A new building will not necessarily mean an expanded curriculum; it means basically a nicer place to go to school, a nicer place to teach.

Expanding a curriculum means additional expense to hire additional teachers. State aid for teachers' pay is based on enrollment; you can't just go out and set up a curriculum on what you would like to offer. It must be tempered with how much money is available. When a smaller district such as Eastside undertakes such expansion, it means greater cost per taxpayer for no greater benefits than are available in a larger school district just 10 miles away.

Eastside has some outstanding faculty members. Eastside students have been fortunate to have been under their tutelage. It is no insult to these teachers, however, to state that students at DeKalb Central have greater educational opportunities. Total education revolves not around personalities totally; it also involves "how much" and "how often."

SEPTEMBER

Objective consideration of the matter brings the realization that the students at Eastside are short-changed in education and their parents are short-changed in the pocketbook. With consolidation possible, why should Eastsiders pay more for less?

Concrete Proposals Given

When the annexation of the Riverdale area by the central school district of DeKalb County was being discussed last fall, several residents from the Riverdale area had attended a meeting of the central board at which the eastern board made its official offer to release Riverdale. At that meeting, in a discussion of possible alignment of classes under the annexation proposal, the superintendent of the central district stated that the new building in that district can accommodate 1,500 students. With certain adaptations in the building, its capacity had been increased from a previous accommodation potential of around 1,350 students.

After the Riverdale annexation proposal was dropped officially due to lack of agreement on financial matters (unofficially the Butlerites on the eastern board "panicked" when they realized that release of Riverdale would leave them too small to do anything), those who undertook to seek unification of the two entire districts based their efforts on the following practical proposals:

House the top three grades from the combined districts in the new central building. Approximate enrollment of the top three grades would be 1,300. This would leave room for 200 more students before the capacity of the building would be reached. With 2,000 students generally considered to be the maximum enrollment in a high school for efficiency, according to information from the central district superintendent, classrooms could be added to that facility to accommodate another 500 students. Such expansion would take several years, with the county following a somewhat normal population growth pattern. Such an arrangement would be more efficient than building another complete new high school complex now in the eastern district and duplicating faculty, classrooms, gym, cafeteria, and so on—but not necessarily curriculum.

Build a new junior high school on the central district's site, as the central board has been planning for itself, but large enough to accommodate all junior high students in the combined district. However, under unification it might be possible to construct two junior high schools, one in the central area and the other in the eastern area. This would be a matter for the new school board to decide after unification. There is also the remote possibility that some of the present junior high and high school facilities in the eastern district could be utilized for junior high purposes, what with the high school students housed elsewhere. This would also be a matter for the new board to determine.

Those who turn up their noses at the thought of using old buildings, without investigating the possibility thoroughly, do a disservice to the process of education. The idea that "it has to be new to be any good" is a falsehood.

Some $500,000 or so would be available from the eastern district, under consolidation, toward needed junior high facilities. This is a sizeable "nest egg" to start with, to add to the central district's funds.

Central Area Control Retained

Under the consolidation petition which has been filed with the school board in the eastern district, a similar petition yet unfiled in the central district, the new school board would be basically the same as the present central board. However, instead of five members, there would be seven. Four would come from the present central district area, one from the city of Butler, one from the remaining eastern district area excluding the city of Butler, and one at-large member.

Thus, the planning of construction under consolidation would remain under the basic control of the cetral area, which is as it should be considering population and student enrollment. The manner in which that board has conducted its affairs after consolidation of the Auburn and Waterloo areas indicates a general attitude of cooperation and consideration.

The efforts of the "remonstrators" in the eastern district have been with the knowledge of not only curriculum and pocketbook benefits but also of progress made by those who have directed the affairs of the central district. The efforts have been made with confidence in such leadership.

Although the efforts of the "remonstrators" are now concentrated in a petition to consolidate, the underlying issue is that of allowing the public in both school districts to make the decision. Those who discourage the signing of the petition perhaps unwittingly are denying the public the opportunity to decide the question of consolidation. Though specifically requesting consolidation, the petition in effect would bring a referendum.

The "remonstrators" have expressed their desires, but have also expressed their wish that consolidation come not by force but by vote of the people.

The "remonstrators" also do not want to be defeated in their purpose by the denial of the right to vote on the matter.

Signing the consolidation petition upholds that right.

Tokyo Congratulates Apollo Success

On the night of the astronauts' moon-walk, a Tokyo office building lit up the message: Shuku Aporo, or Congratulations, Apollo. These words, illuminated on the 36-story Kasumigaseki Building, tallest in Japan, expressed the admiration, enthusiasm and excitement the Japanese felt toward America's historic achievement.

By means of a satellite hookup, the great majority of the Japanese people watched over 100 hours of live television coverage of the Apollo 11 mission.

Cancer Films Next Tuesday

Mrs. Forrest Bevington, the Riverdale area's representative in the DeKalb Cancer Association, has announced that three films, directed to men, women and teenagers, will be shown at the Gala Theatre Tuesday evening, October 7, as a part of the association's program of education.

Offered as a public service free of charge by the Gala Theatre manager, Vincent Westfall, and the cancer association, the films will be followed by a question (written or oral) and answer period, with a physician in attendance. This is the only showing scheduled in DeKalb County at this time.

As part of the United Fund Drive of October 6 through 18, the program Tuesday evening will run approximately one hour and will feature the three films:

Cancer—"Life Against Itself";
Smoking—"The Inside Story";
"Time Out For Living."

Man's best protection against lung cancer is knowledge of the disease, what its causes are, the early signs, the preventive measures. Literature about cancer control for men and women and suggested helps to stop smoking will be distributed during the evening.

A United Fund agency, the DeKalb Cancer Association has a three-fold purpose: one, Education, for early detection and prevention, and the film scheduling is a part of this purpose. A second purpose is Research, which has revealed in the area of lung health that no matter how long a person has smoked, if he stops and no irreversible disease has started, the lungs will gradually repair themselves.

In ten years, a person will have the same health prognosis and life expectancy as one who has never smoked. Other startling facts revealed by research are that three out of four lung cancers can be attributed to cigarette smoking and out of every 100 patients hospitalized with lung cancer, it is considered fortunate if six of them will be alive after a five year period.

The third purpose of the DeKalb Cancer Association, Service, has provided families of cancer patients in the county with many types of assistance, including dressings and use of equipment.

The promotion committee in charge Tuesday evening includes Mrs. J. D. Brinkerhoff, chairman, of Garrett; Mrs. Bevington; Mrs. Clifford Shults of Butler, Mrs. James Carper, Mrs. Howard Bates and Mrs. F. J. Longden of Auburn, Mrs. H. N. Grimm of Waterloo, and Mrs. Wiley Phillips of Ashley.

EHS Band Wins

The Eastside High School Band, represented by 98 students marching as a unit, was awarded first place in Class B competition at the DeKalb County Fair held at Auburn last week. The award was given for the unit's performance in the grand finale parade Saturday.

The band was headed by Rodney Alwood, drum major, Rex McClellan, assistant drum major, Debbie Warstler, featured twirler, and majorettes Christine Hicov, Janelle Moore, Ann Knox, Vicki Kelley, Wendy Wilson and Sandy Warstler. Following were the Blazettes and the band.

On display for the first time was the new band marching banner, which was purchased earlier this year by the Music Boosters. The banner is carried by two Blazettes, Toni Alwood and Diane Obendorf.

The various schools represented by their bands are classified according to enrollment, either Class A, B or C.

Due to rainfall, the parade was delayed from its original starting time until 1:00 p.m. Since the late start conflicted with arrangements made previously by several bands, many were forced to withdraw.

Remonstrators End Efforts; School Bond Issue Sold

The school building corporation in the DeKalb eastern school district had the way cleared for them the past week end when no appeal was filed in the DeKalb Circuit Court against the proposed lease agreement which will bring a new junior-senior high school to the district to be located on a contested site in Butler.

The 30-day deadline period for filing such appeal occurred over the past week end, and no authorization was given to the remonstrating group's attorney to file the appeal.

Ted Haberkorn, spokesman for the group, stated this week that it had become apparent that despite continued strong disagreement with proposed construction on the contested site, there was a general feeling of futility in the group.

"I did not receive an overwhelming number of calls or letters, in fact there were only four or five such contacts. However, my own inquiries brought the same general response: 'We tried, but there is no hope. Let's quit.'

"This opinion," he said, "plus tremendous pressure from members of the school board, the building corporation and its legal counsel, brought the decision to refrain from filing an appeal."

The decision had the effect of removing any hindrance to the bond bids which were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon of this week. The bonds could not have been sold if there had been any litigation pending.

As a result of the lack of further action by the remonstrators, the $3,060,000 issue of school bonds was sold Wednesday at an interest rate of 6.6912%. Buyers were City Securities Corporation and Associates; Merrill, Lynch, Fenner & Smith and John Nuveen & Co., all of Indianapolis.

Total interest which will be paid on the issue will be $2,496,489.00.

There was one other bidder, Halsey Stewart & Co., Inc., of Chicago, with interest rate of 6.9406%.

UNITED FUND OCT. 6-18

Donald Ruegsegger of Waterloo is the 1969 general chairman of the United Fund campaign which will be held October 6-18.

Mr. Ruegsegger this week challenged his area chairmen in a letter pointing out that "the United Fund Campaign is a noble challenge in many ways:

"1. We hereby become involved with our community needs.

"2. We aid the needy.

"3. We support good causes in a total program of ministering where government is not providing for need.

"4. We are pleasing God.

"5. We satisfy our own innate need for a sense of well-doing."

The goal for the coming campaign will be $84,000. The 12 participating agencies are the DeKalb Cancer Association, DeKalb Heart Association, DeKalb Mental Health Association, Cerebral Palsy, Red Cross, Salvation Army, U.S.O., DeKalb Community Services, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Wee Haven Home For Retarded Children and the Y.W.M.A.

Ted Haberkorn is serving as the Riverdale chairman, with the following co-workers having indicated their willingness to to help in the local campaign:

Sharon Bowser, Corky Hershberger, Zoe Smith, Betty Bevington, Forrest Bevington, Gertrude Reinhart, Marcia Sible, Hazel Schrader, Norman Rinard, Eleanore Benninghoff, Evanna Keener, Marilyn Laub and Frank Laub.

Other volunteers are expected in the next week, with an organizational and planning meeting set for Thursday of this week at the Lutheran Church in Saint Joe at 8 p.m.

Following approval by the board of directors of the United Fund of DeKalb County Tuesday evening, the Butler Community United Fund has joined with the county organization to unify United Fund efforts in a single organization.

Seven board members will be placed on the county board from the Butler area: one each from Franklin, Stafford, Troy and Wilmington townships and three from the city of Butler.

In taking this step, the board of the Butler Community United Fund feels the efficiencies obtained by unified countywide effort are necessary to meet the increased need of the United Fund agencies.

Gun Clinic Oct. 11

The Annual Gun Clinic, sponsored by the conservation department and local conservation clubs, will be held this year on Saturday, October 11. Boys and girls from the age 10 and up are invited to attend, as well as their parents and any other interested adults.

Registration begins between 9:00 and 9:30 a.m., according to Estil Taylor of Saint Joe, who will participate in the program. The fee is $1.00 and includes a lunch.

The clinic, which will be held at the Moore Conservation Club this year northeast of Auburn, will include demonstrations on all types of firearms. Mr. Taylor will give a demonstration on the use of bow and arrow. All participants will have the opportunity to take part in supervised shooting.

Anyone from Saint Joe or the surrounding area with transportation problems in getting to the clinic should call Mr. Taylor for assistance.

CC Fish Fry

The Spencerville Community Club will hold a fish fry and carnival Saturday, October 18, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The club's usual—and famous—menu will include fish, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, pies, cakes, and beverage.

Also included during the evening will be bingo and other games as entertainment for both young and not so young.

Proceeds from the fry will be used for equipment for the Spencer Township Fire Department.

Dear Publisher:

I note in your September 18th issue of the News that students of your local schools are seeking information regarding the Village of Spencerville.

They are referred to the "History of Spencerville," a volume of 123 pages published by Dr. Willis W. Carey in 1966.

I have found this volume very interesting. I am sure there must be some of these volumes in homes in and around Spencerville. If none can be found I will let the students have the use of mine. But copies should be around Spencerville much of it recording the day when Spencerville Township was one-half of Concord, a six mile square political division.

Lions Club

by Frank Amstutz

The Saint Joe Lions Club held its first meeting of the fiscal year at the Spencerville Methodist Church with Harold Curie in the chair as president.

Lion Tamer Harold Murphy made a little speech and explained that we were all lacking in public spirit and that therefore he would have to fine each one of us 10 cents.

He went into an adjoining room and returned with a collecting device that somewhat resembled a vacuum sweeper and wearing what he called his official Lion Tamer's hat, but not before we had fined him for being absent from the room.

Sometime you come with one of our brother Lions and visit our club and see the hat. It is a bright red, little boy's hat with three horns on it. One horn looks like a rhinoceros horn and the other two look like he had swiped them off some child's tricycle.

Harold was delighted with everything and sounded off his horns quite frequently and especially so when he cut off President Curie's necktie for non-payment of his fine.

Then the president got down to business and proceded, in record time, to line everyone up on his duties at the fair. He reported that the tent had been set up on the Karl Hart farm and that everything not shipshape was being replaced and would be ready by Monday evening, September 2%.

He announced that on that date, which was our regular meeting date, there would be no roll call, but that the secretary would check on the membership as we set up the tent on the south side of the court house at Auburn.

The secretary, Cliff Billow, was absent and on inquiry we learned that he had gone to South Carolina to see his new grandchild.

Harold Kagey and Frank Amstutz, two of our institutional representatives to the Boy Scout troop, then quietly left to attend and sit on a court of honor at the Spencerville Community Building. And we don't know what happened after that!

Did you know-

—that Jack Bowser and Norman Morr of the Saint Joe Wash-A-Teria gave the highest bid, $1.35 per pound, for the county fair's grand champion barrow at the 4-H auction last Friday. The animal was shown by Nancy Sutton of Butler Township. Norman also bid up to $3.05 for Tom Dwyer's grand champion sheep before yielding to the Grabill Bank's bid of $3.10 per pound. This was more than double the amount ever paid in past history for the grand champion sheep. The grand champion steer was purchased by White's Westwood Market for 97 cents per pound.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fell of Rl Saint Joe are parents of a four lb. 13½ oz. daughter born Friday at Memorial Hospital.

—that the Eastside High School marching band won the Class B Division first place award in Saturday's grand finale parade at the county fair. Napoleon, Ohio, won the Class A and sweepstakes trophy. Brent Shull of Butler won the boy-on-pony award in the parade.

—that Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Riser of Butler are parents of a 6 lb. 14 oz. son born Friday at Memorial Hospital.

—that Cindy Dickman of Auburn was named Queen of the county fair last week. Debbie Warstler of Eastside tied for second runner-up in the contest. Also participating from Eastside was Kay Hollinger.

—that two Garrett seniors have qualified for National Merit Scholarship finals. They are Terry LaLone and Phil Wheeler.

—that Eastside was swamped 68-0 Saturday in a football game against Lakeland.

—that the proposed new Garrett hospital has hit a snag due to problems encountered in obtaining sufficient money for the bid costs of $780,000.

—that Butler mayor Raymond McCann will resign in the near future, having accepted Fort Wayne employment with a major petroleum products corporation.

—that the chest x-ray unit will be in Saint Joe next Wednesday, October 8, at the Lutheran Church from 10 a.m. unil noon. The free service is provided the DeKalb County TB Association through the sale of Christmas seals, and is available for those 18 years of age and over, but no expectant mothers.

—that Tom Studebaker's address is: AMN 1-C Thomas Studebaker, Box 34, Howard A-FB, Canal Zone, Panama.

—that Mr. Floyd Gee and Mrs. Gordon Gasch of Conneaut, Ohio, and Mrs. Harry Underwood of Tampa, Florida, have been visiting their cousin, Mrs. Leonard Jarrett, this week. Other guests entertained in their honor were Mr. and Mrs. Milo Provines of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gee of Auburn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans and family of Hicksville, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Curie and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jarrett and family.

—that WOWO is broadcasting Indiana University football games on October 4, 11, 18, 25, November 1, 8, 15 and 22.

—that Tri-State College is extending its Institute of Drafting to include a two-year course in Machine Design Technology, to help fill a growing gap in the field of engineering.

Dale Wegmann Is NMS Candidate

Dale R. Wegmann, a senior at Eastside High School, has been named a semi-finalist in the 1969-1970 National Merit Scholarship Program. Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wegmann of Rl Butler. He plans to enter Purdue University next fall to major in electrical engineering.

In announcing the accomplishment of the Eastside senior, Principal Robert E. Williams pointed out that the 15,000 national semifinalists are among the most intellectually talented high school seniors. They will compete for about 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1970.

Semifinalists advance to finalist standing by receiving the endorsement of their schools, substantiating their high qualifying test performance on a second examination and providing information about their achivements and interests.

1,000 National Merit $1000 Scholarships are allocated by state. There are also renewable four-year Merit Scholarships provided by some 400 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, other organizations and individuals.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities and extra-curricular achievements of the finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

Names of he 1969-1970 Merit Scholarship winners will be announced next April.

FARM BUREAU BOARD

At the regular meeting of the DeKalb County Farm Bureau Board of Directors held September 28, Lassal Boger used "True Values" as the theme for her devotions.

Time of meeting for Policy Chairmen, October 16, and the Delegate Meeting, October 20, was changed from 8:00 to 7:30 p.m.

County president Floyd Pfierman, county woman leader Edna Perkins and policy development chairman Paul Brenneman were chosen as voting delegates to the State Convention November 9-12. Vice president Norman Gerig and secretary-treasurer Mildred Jarrett were chosen as alternates.

Mr. Pfierman appointed the following 1970 membership committee: Robert Blech, chairman, Helen Wagner, Lester Boger, Jo Ann Scattergood, Carl Carpenter, Paul Brenneman, Floyd Pfierman and Edna Perkins.

Committees for the annual meeting October 23, are: song leader and devotions, Wilmington-Stafford; entertainment, county; table decorations, 4T; and refreshments, Richland.

Mrs. Perkins reported that 67 1970 memberships were paid at the fair. $5 awards were won by Harry Hensil, David Deetz, Ralph Meidle and Helen Wagner. The blanket was won by a woman from Wawaka, the coffee maker went to Fort Wayne, and the portable mixer to R. F. George of RR Auburn.

All 4-H flower exhibitors received gifts. Cash was won by Jeff Morr, Teresa Pfierman, Lynn Reinhart and Darla Porter. Suckers were given to children and meat promotion material and insurance pencils to adults.

The state is sending all county chairmen to the national convention, December 7-9. The county voted to send its woman leader, Mrs. Perkins.

The district will send a 39 passenger bus to the convention. It will cost approximately $30 per person. Hotel rooms must be reserved through the State Farm Bureau and paid for by individuals or local units.

Mr. Gienger presented anti-grape boycott material and showed slides prepared by the Texas Farm Bureau on "Solutions To Agricultural Adjustment Problems."

Norman Gerig and JoAnn Scattergood were appointed on the nominating committee. A woman leader and new secretary-treasurer are to be elected this year.

Earl Hodges will have devotions in October.

School Reunion

The reunion of Concord Township High School was held Sunday, September 14, at the conservation club.

After the welcome by the president, Carl Perkins, grace was given by William Quance and all partook of a bountiful carryin dinner.

The afternoon meeting was opened by the president. There were four members of the Class of 1919 who celebrated their 50th year after graduation. They were Carl Perkins, Ima (Scoles) Eplor, Joe Shull and Blenn (Kain) Moore.

Seven members had passed away during the year.

Regrets were sent by many who were not able to attend this year's reunion.

Jr. High Football

—by Phil Miller

Last week the Eastside Junior High football team played two games, tying Hamilton 6-6 and losing a hard-fought battle to Leo 24-12.

Hamilton scored in the final 15 seconds to gain the tie after trailing the young Blazers since early in the second quarter.

Leo scored on the final play of the game to increase their lead from a narrow 16-12 margin.

In the Hamilton game, Steve Bellamy scored for Eastside on a 45-yard slant off tackle. George Carper and Doug Shockley were defensive leaders for Eastside with 11 and 7 tackles respectively.

In the Leo game Scott Parshall scored on a 15-yard pass from Shockley, and Parshall picked up the second touchdown on a 14-yard run. Tom Hellabaugh helped set up the touchdown, catching a Shockley pass good for 23 yards.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB

The first meeting of the Ladies Literary Club was a dinner held at the Heritage House in Fort Wayne on September 10, 1969, at 6:30 p.m.

After a bountiful dinner, the club books were distributed and members enjoyed a social hour.

On September 17, the club met at the home of Mrs. Forrest Bevington. Mrs. Wilbur Yeiser, president, called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. and the collect and pledge to the flag were repeated in unison.

A most interesting and intriguing lesson, "The Sign of the Zodiac," was well presented by Mrs. Maurice Kline.

Mrs. Carl Perkins was in charge of entertainment and the game of "Trade-marks" was played and enjoyed by the group.

11 members responded to roll call and Mrs. Maude Krontz was a guest.

After adjournment, the hostess served refreshments.

UNITED FUND OCT. 6-18

Around the Town

WITH THE EDITOR

It appears that some of the troubles in Fort Wayne concerning United Fund and one of its agencies there might be affecting our local campaign. If you've read the Fort Wayne papers, you know what I'm talking about.

It would be foolish to say that every agency of United Fund is run perfectly and to everyone's satisfaction. So, before anyone hedges on giving to United Fund because of their dissatisfaction with one agency, it would be appropriate to consider that you don't junk your car just because a tire goes flat.

John Crothers stuck his head in the door this week to say that there are three or four bushels of pears out at his place for the taking, if anybody wants 'em.

Anybody lose their Ford car keys and maybe a house key on a key chain? They're at the News Office—found by Susie Baker near the dairy.

The owner can claim them at the News Office.

We've had the best smell in the house for the last few weeks. Esther has been canning tomatoes, making chili sauce, canning a concoction of tomatoes, celery, green peper and seasoning, and man, if you don't think the aroma isn't wild, you just don't know.

She's been putting up some beats, too, plus corn and green beans.

And on the side she's been fooling around with making balloon wine—instead of the corks and hoses, you just stick a 10-cent ballon on the jug, let it blow itself up, then deflate—and the wine is ready. It takes about four or five weeks to process—for a good batch.

You have to be careful, though. Kids with pocket knives are a hazard around the balloons—and one time we heard a pow from a kitchen cupboard, followed by a purple stream flowing from the cupboard. The jug was too full and the balloon blew up.

Then there was the time she was tasting the various bottles on the cellar steps, to determine which ones were "ready"—and she got herself half schnockered before suppertime.

Gun Clinic Oct. 11

The Annual Gun Clinic, sponsored by the conservation department and local conservation clubs, will be held this year on Saturday, October 11. Boys and girls from the age 10 and up are invited to attend, as well as their parents and any other interested adults.

Registration begins between 9:00 and 9:30 a.m., according to Estil Taylor of Saint Joe, who will participate in the program. The fee is $1.00 and includes a lunch.

The clinic, which will be held at the Moore Conservation Club this year northeast of Auburn, will include demonstrations on all types of firearms. Mr. Taylor will give a demonstration on the use of bow and arrow. All participants will have the opportunity to take part in supervised shooting.

Anyone from Saint Joe or the surrounding area with transportation problems in getting to the clinic should call Mr. Taylor for assistance.

CC Fish Fry

The Spencerville Community Club will hold a fish fry and carnival Saturday, October 18, starting at 5:00 p.m.

The club's usual—and famous—menu will include fish, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, pies, cakes, and beverage.

Also included during the evening will be bingo and other games as entertainment for both young and not so young.

Proceeds from the fry will be used for equipment for the Spencer Township Fire Department.

'50-Plus' Club To Meet

Russell Sink of Spencerville has announced that the "50-Plus Club" will hold its next meeting Thursday, October 16, at the Spencerville Community Building.

The meeting will be a pot luck starting at 6:00 p.m. A program of fun and entertainment is promised for those who attend. Coffee will be provided.

The club is an organization of adults 50 years of age and over who get together for social meetings to provide activity for the over-fifty members of the community.

Rick Fuller Named To FFA Band

Rick Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Fuller of R1 Butler, has been selected to play baritone saxophone in the National FFA Band which will perform at the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, October 11 through 18. The announcement comes from Richard Foster, director of music at Eastside High School.

Rick, a senior, has been a member of the high school band for four years. He has also played in the saxophone quartet and the large woodwind ensemble. In addition to his music, Rick has been active in vocational agriculture, serving as president this year. He has also played football four years and was selected as a member of the National Honor Society in his junior year. This year he is serving as president of that organization.

FFA band, nationwide in membership, will have three other boys from Indiana. The conductor is B. S. Cedric Anderson of Kansas City, Missouri. In addition to performing at the FFA Convention, the band will play at the American Royal Livestock Show.

The Saint Joe Mill - Then And Now

In the accompanying photos are views of the old mill located at the east B&O Railroad crossing in Saint Joe. The larger photo shows the mill around 1911; the middlee photo was taken in July of this year and the third photo thereafter when shrubbery had been removed.

Walter Keesler stopped in the News Office recently and gave some interesting information about the old mill. His father, Sam Keesler, was the owner and Walter was employed at the mill. In the old days the mill had a steam engine, located at the left end of the building in the larger photo. There was a duplex pump from a well, to provide water for the boiler.

Walter told of his father's meticulous care with the screens which were used in processing flour. Made of fine mesh silk, the screens occasionally got holes in them, no larger, however, than the head of a pin but large enough to effect the quality of the flour. Walter says his father seemed to be able to sense the location of the damaged screen, which was then repaired with a touch of glue and a patch.

In later years, Walter worked in a feed store where Jiggs' Motor Service is now located. He then moved to Nappanee, then to Florida. The Keeslers now commute between Florida and Saint Joe from winter to summer.

Mrs. Dale Collins of R1 Saint Joe is a daughter of the Keeslers.

School Board

Two matters were considered by the school board of the DeKalb County Eastern Community School District Monday evening of particular interest to Riverdale area patrons.

One was the matter of irregularity in the "activity bus" which brings Riverdale area high school students to Saint Joe and Spencerville on an evening run.

Complaints concerning the variation in time influenced the board to direct Superintendent Kenneth Cole to investigate the situation and take whatever action is necessary to stabilize the bus time schedule.

The other matter concerns the safety of students who are transported on State Road 1 between Saint Joe and Butler.

A motion was passed directing school attorney H. Charles Winans and the superintendent to investigate the possibilities of highway improvements.

Steve Keuneke Gets Commendation

Stephen F. Keuneke of R1 Butler has received a letter of commendation, honoring him for his high performance on the 1969 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT). He is a student at Eastside High School.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Keuneke, Steve is among the 39,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper 2% of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1970. The Commended students rank just below the 15,000 semi-finalists announced recently by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

Although Commended students advance no further in the Merit Scholarship competition, their outstanding record in a nationwide program deserves recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK—

An Appeal

Somewhere during the last few days I read that this is National Newspaper Week. I mention the fact at this particular time because it is especially appropriate to consider the existence of a small town newspaper and the function it performs in the small community.

With today's emphasis on bigness—a forced emphasis, I might add since bigness is sometimes the only means of self preservation,—it is particularly significant that the only instrument by which a group of people were heard in our school district for the past four or five years has been a small town weekly newspaper—this one.

The fact that the newspaper fought for a losing cause is not the most important point; someone always loses when there is a contest. Rather, the most important point is that a small town newspaper "went to bat" for a group of people who were not being heard. This newspaper stuck its neck 'way, 'way out for a group of people with a grievance. Eventually, whether they knew it or not, this paper was going to bat for every citizen in the county.

This sounds like boasting, perhaps, but some things must be pointed out at this time for a very practical reason. In serving the community, this paper has become responsible for financial indebtedness incurred in behalf of those it seeks to serve. Although a lot of people were involved in our school situation, there is only one source to which legal obligations are billed—this newspaper.

Therefore, this newspaper hereby makes an appeal that those for whom many miles were traveled, many hours were spent, and, yes, many dollars were spent, now assume a share of the financial burden which is now borne by this newspaper.

Approximately $3,000 in obligations are yet to be met. Some $2,200 has already been raised and paid for legal counsel. Incidentally, that legal counsel, Nelson Grills of Indianapolis, has "bent over backwards" in our behalf, has put forth efforts beyond reason in attempting to bring fuller education for less money to our area.

In the past, this newspaper has undertaken to gain financial support for community projects, giving its readers and friends an opportunity to help out. Remember?—The News started a fund for a lighted ball diamond years ago—and we got it. Remember?—The News started a fund for a fogger years ago—and we got it, with the cooperation of the town board. Remember?—The News started a fund for a backstop a few years ago—and we got it.

Now The News itself needs public response to help defray the expenses incurred in fighting for the people it serves. There are those who have already expressed their willingness not only to give but also to help get others to give. $3,000 is a lot of money, but the more there are carrying the load, the less the load becomes for each one.

A small group of citizens are concerned enough to be seeking your help. It has been suggested that a bearable burden is a pledge of $5 per month until obligations are met. Whatever way in which you may wish to support this paper in a public obligation, make it known to any of the following: Connie Hollabaugh, Ivan Brown, Harold Kagey, Lora Hart, Dick and Paula Roberts in the Riverdale area; Vic Timmerman, Lavon Boylan and Dick Coll in the Wilmington Township and Butler area.

At a time when United Fund is seeking your help for its worthy purposes, it is hardly desirable to have another request for financial support. The timing is bad, but it cannot be helped. But—with all the new cars we buy from year to year, with all the money we hand out for our own worldly pleasures, there are few families who can't afford to give substantial support for an obligation incurred in the public's behalf.

EHS Homecoming

—by Janet Ankney

The students of Eastside High School are busily working to make the coming week end the most memorable of the year.

The week end of October 10 has been selected as the Eastside Homecoming. The student council, which is in charge of the affair, has arranged various activities for the student body.

On Friday, the Homecoming Queen for 1969-70 will be chosen from a group of well deserving girls. These young ladies have been nominated by various school organizations such as Band—Janelle Moore, Blazettes—Cathy Nichols, Booster Block—Diane DePriest, Chorus—Janice Arranta, F.T.A.—Debbie McDowell, F.F.A.—Nila Shockley, F.H.A.—Sharon Flood.

Then for an exciting evening you are invited to the Talent Show at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

Various clubs are entering skits and acts along with many individual talents. Cash awards will be given to the most outstanding acts.

Also at the talent show, Little Miss Homecoming will be selected. The candidates are Jewel Meeks, Sandy Eck, Stacy Kurtz, Lesa Shultz, Lesa Divine, Patty McDowell and Janie Smith.

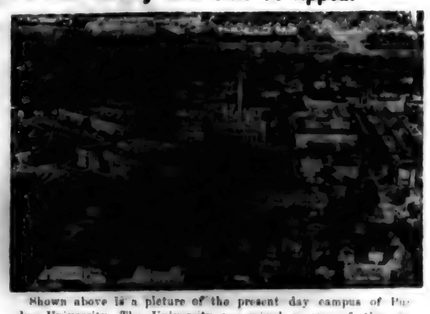
Saturday is the big day. It starts off at 12:45 p.m. with the parade of candidates and class floats. Then to the football field at 2:00 for the big game. Eastside will play Hamilton.

Parade chairman Steve Flood has announced that the parade will start at the high school parking lot and proceed down Canal Street to Green Street. It will turn right and proceed to Broadway, then left to Railroad Street, left to Canal, then left on Canal through Main and on to Green, turning east on Green to proceed to the football field.

At halftime, the Homecoming Queen and her court will be announced and the 1969-70 Miss Homecoming will be crowned by last year's queen, Kathy Houser.

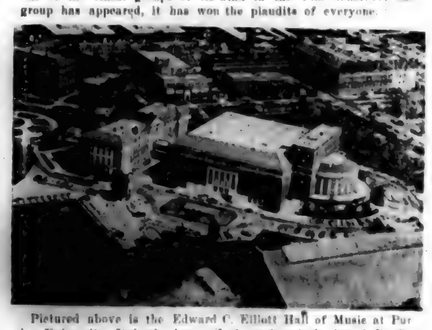
For the grand finale, there is a dance at the Butler Elementary gym from 8:00 to 11:00 p.m. The queen and her court will reign also for this, the climax of the Homecoming weekend of Eastside High School.

Purdue Varsity Glee Club To Appear



Shown above is a picture of the present day campus of Purdue University. The University, recognized as one of the nation's finest educational institutions, is observing its 100th anniversary.

DeKalb County will pay tribute to this celebration by bringing the university's famed Varsity Glee Club to the DeKalb Central High School for a performance Sunday, Nov. 2, at 8 p.m. Area citizens will thus have an excellent opportunity to hear one of the finest groups of its kind in the U.S. Wherever the group has appeared, it has won the plaudits of everyone.



Pictured above is the Edward C. Elliott Hall of Music at Purdue University. It is the home of the university's famed Purdue Varsity Glee Club, which is coming to DeKalb County Nov. 2.

The club is reputed to be one of the outstanding collegiate organizations in the United States and is generally sold out more than a year in advance. This Glee Club is composed of engineers, scientists and agriculturists who work on the premise that there is "no fun without music and no music without fun."

DeKalb Memorial Hospital suffers a great loss with the passing of Rola Cooper who was the creator and author of this column.

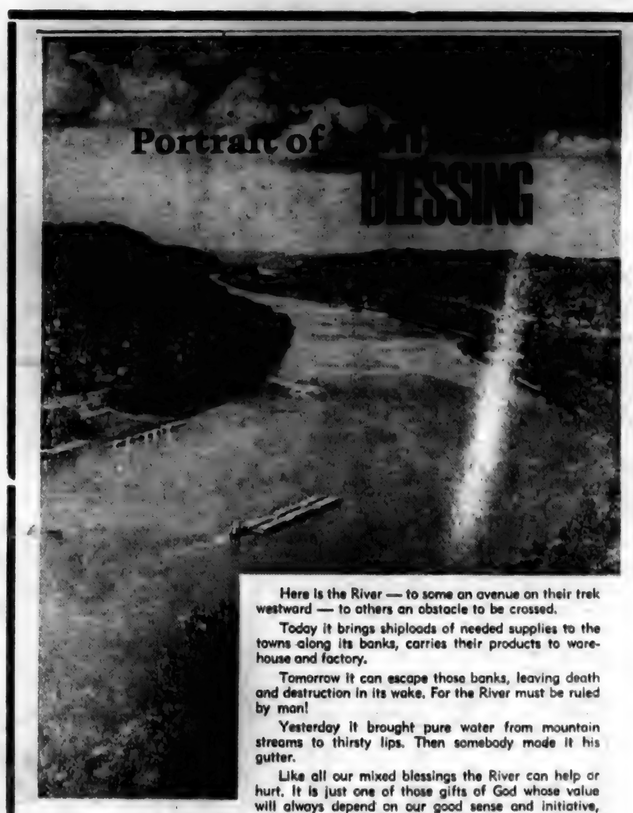
We are not at all certain what constitutes greatness in human beings. But we are certain that by any criterion Rola Cooper was a great woman. Her record of unselfish devotion and service to her chosen community and her deep regard and concern for her fellow beings earn her that distinction. Her willingness—no, her eagerness—to tackle civic jobs of importance was unique. Her keen insight in problems of human need and her gentle determination to make right those things that needed her special kind of attention was a rarity.

We always gained in one way or another in our association and work with Rola. We were particularly lifted each time we visited her in her room here at DeKalb Memorial during the last weeks of her life. Her Christian faith was unshakeable, solid, and sound from years of church going and service to God through His church.

Rola devoted much time to this column. In her own unique, human, tender way, she wrote of the hospital, its people and its patients. She was the voice of DeKalb Memorial Hospital in many ways and "Heartbeat" was her means of getting the hospital story to the people.

Rola created the format of the column. She selected the title "Heartbeat" and, indeed, did the art work from which the column head was made. Some may feel that the column, or at least the title, should be retired out of respect for Rola. While the thought did cross our mind, we immediately erased it, and the column and title will be continued, for this is the way Rola would want it.

"Heartbeat" will be written in the future by Virginia Nixon. "Ginny" is relatively new in Auburn, but is immensely interested in DeKalb Memorial and its place in the community. She has served on the Public Rela-



Here is the River — to some an avenue on their trek westward — to others an obstacle to be crossed.

Today it brings shiploads of needed supplies to the towns along its banks, carries their products to warehouse and factory.

Tomorrow it can escape those banks, leaving death and destruction in its wake. For the River must be ruled by man!

Yesterday it brought pure water from mountain streams to thirsty lips. Then somebody made it his gutter.

Like all our mixed blessings the River can help or hurt. It is just one of those gifts of God whose value will always depend on our good sense and initiative, our respect for God's intent and our concern for the needs of others.

Call it a by-product if you please — but one of the results of faithful religious worship and service is that so many mixed blessings become real blessings!

CONCORD JR. EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS CLUB

—Katy Crow, Reporter

Katy Crow was the hostess for the October 6 meeting which opened with the collect. A sermonette from "Prairie Farmer," entitled "Press On," was given by Doris Prentice. "Let There Be Peace On Earth" was sung by the group, after which Betty Bevington read the history of the song. Margaret led the group in the Lord's Prayer.

The lesson on selection of used furniture and points on refinishing them was given by Katy Crow. Edna Perkins added additional items. Much interest was shown.

Roll call was answered with ... tions Committee of the hospital since coming to Auburn. Active in volunteer hospital work in Wabash, Indiana, for a number of years, Ginny is a "natural" to take over "Heartbeat." We welcome her and wish her well in this new assignment.

Jr. High Football

—by Phil Miller

Eastside's Junior High football team took a 6-0 lead early in the game with Churubusco last week, but the host team scored in the 3rd quarter and tied the young Blazers 6-6.

The Blazers' touchdown came on a Shockley to Bellamy pass play which covered 32 yards.

'Busco's score came on a 32-yard run.

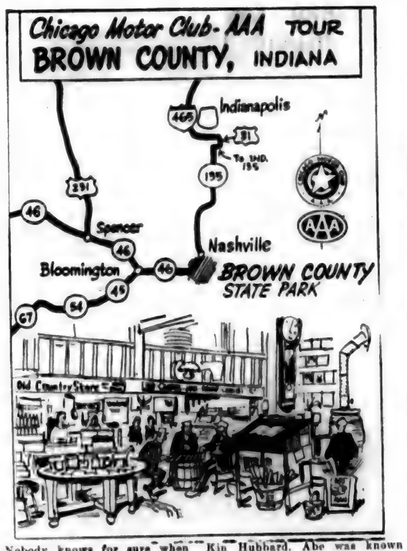
Both teams had trouble keeping hold of the ball and several fumbles resulted.

Bellamy was the leading ground gainer for the Blazers, rushing for 76 yards in 4 carries and catching two of Shockley's passes for 37 yards.

George Carper was the defensive standout again, getting 15 tackles, several of them resulting in 'Busco's loss of yardage.

The Junior High has now tied two games and lost one.

OCTOBER



Nobody knows for sure when it will happen—even the natives. But there's one thing for sure: about mid-October, a peaceful riot begins in Brown County, Indiana. It is a riot of color in the hills of an area that reveres the past and glories in the wonders of nature's ways.

The Chicago Motor Club points out that, on a Brown County tour, you may be on a road that climbs to an elevation higher than the hills that almost are mountains of the famous Hoosierland county that is misnamed Brown.

As you reach the crest of your approach route, you may not shout "Wow," for you may be more than a little overcome at the awesome sight of the extravaganza created by nature's autumnal artistry.

You will find Brown County anything but brown. For at the height of the color season, you will see miles of foliage smeared with beige, yellow, gold, flaming red and you-name-it.

Truly a riot of color that brings a word of admiration even from the usually reticient hill folk who populate the area —along with artists, naturalists, handcrafters and those who get up early in the morning so they will have more time to warm the benches along the main street of Nashville, the county seat.

Brown County, not far south of Indianapolis, is the home of "Abe Martin," the hill country philosopher created by the late Kin Hubbard. Abe was known for his succinct comment on the vagaries of man, and particularly a fictional gossipy woman known as Fay Lippincut. But, so far as is known, his creator resisted when it came to trying to describe the autumnal color extravaganza.

One of Indiana's largest parks in one of Hoosierland's smallest counties, Brown County State Park covers 16,000 rolling acres of wooded hills that appear as mountains, and with enough room for 27 miles of roads, about 100 miles of bridle paths, seven foot trails and many overlooks.

Created in 1929 as a memorial to Hubbard, the park is in most ways in keeping with the natives' reverence for the past. However, Abe Martin Lodge, built of native stone and timber, is as modern as now and is known for excellent food year around.

Located around the ridge on which the lodge stands, partly hidden by folinge, are furnished cabins, including private baths and showers. Rates are set up on the American plan, so you get meals at the lodge.

Nashville, a century-old village whose folks are of the no-nonsense, homey variety, and whose artists are among the best, has merchants from whose interesting shops you can obtain everything from sassafras-smoked ham to handicraft work to butternut cookies and elderberry jam.

HINTS ON HEALTH by the INDIANA STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

DIZZINESS

HAVE you ever experienced a brief sensation of dizziness when you turn your head sharply or rise quickly from a stooping position? This happens to many of us.

This momentary feeling occurs when sensitive factors in the inner ear do not keep up with a quick movement and are delayed in relaying your change of position to the brain.

Sometimes, however, dizziness may occur when there is no motion at all. When this happens, the dizzy sensation may produce a strong feeling that your whole body is rotating, or that your environment is revolving around you —a condition known as vertigo.

If vertigo is persistent or severe, or is accompanied by nausea, it is a definite warning that something's wrong — most likely in the inner ear. There are a variety of causes for inner ear disturbances. Sometimes merely correcting a simple digestive disturbance will give relief. Drugs that open up blood vessels often help too.

If you suffer persistent or severe dizziness, see your doctor before you have an accident, an before the condition b comes chronic. Although not all forms of dizziness can be cured, they all can be relieved.

I was warned electric heat would cost me more.

"It does. $4.16 a month more."

"Some people tried to tell me electric heat was expensive. I don't call $4.16 a month 'expensive'," says Ralph Gribble of rural Muncie. "When we remodeled we switched from gas to electric heat and my electric bill for heating and everything else electric runs $50 a year more than my gas and electric bill used to. But, when we remodeled, we added 280 square feet that we didn't have before, so I'm paying a little more but I'm heating more living area. And there's just no comparison in comfort. It's great."
